
I have known men of fifty to dye their gray hair and whiskers that the world might take them for forty, but the world didn't do no such thing. It added five years to their age and called them fools besides. The world at large refuses to be perturbed over any one's age, but it doesn't like the smell of hair dye.

I met a man the other day who had no suggestion to make as to how fathers should bring up their sons and mothers their daughters. You will regard this as unbelievable until I add that the man was in a lunatic asylum and had been there for twenty years.

My wife and the wife of a neighbor quarreled over the question, "Should a young baby be fed apple sass or prunes?" and they didn't speak to each other for seven long years. Then a doctor told them that both had been wrong, and it took the state a year after that to get tipped back on a level keel.

Her Promise.

Life looks—well, pretty good to me
Since I have heard her say
With sweet and gentle modesty
She'll marry me some day—
If I will give up smoking,
If I will go to church,
If I will grieve my friends and leave
My old chums in the lurch.

If I'll be always pleasant
And never frown or scold,
Stay as I am at present
And not get sour and old;
If I will be an angel—
And that is easy, gee!—
If I can seem just like her dream,
She says she'll marry me!
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Amundsen's Training.

Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian who put the south pole on the map, was born in Sarpsborg, Norway, July 16, 1872. His youth was spent in Christiania and on board sealers and whalers commanded by his father, Captain Jens Amundsen. He was twenty-five when he entered on his first south polar trip as the first officer of the Belgica expedition. This journey lasted two years and filled the young sailor with aspirations for further explorations in the frozen regions. His parents wanted him to become a physician, and he spent a year in a medical college. Later he went to Germany to study sciences that would aid him as an explorer. His first notable feat was to take a ship through the northwest passage, and on this trip he twice wintered in the ice.—New York World.

The Norman "Oyez."

Not many persons realize that the court crier says "oyez, oyez, oyez," instead of "harken, harken, harken," because of a chance visit that William the Conqueror made to an English court almost 900 years ago.

William had overrun England, seized the government and placed himself at its head. Happening to enter a courtroom, he heard the crier call the assemblage to order in English. William rebuked him and on the spot decreed that the business of all English courts should be transacted in Norman French, his native tongue. Afterward the courts went back to English, but to this day "oyez, oyez, oyez," clings to court customs wherever the English language is spoken as a reminder of the great Norman who whipped King Harold in the battle of Hastings.

The Governor's Dog.

A certain ex-governor of a certain state was extravagantly fond of his dogs. One day he saw his youngest son kick a favorite blooded pup.

"You unmannerly young cub!" thundered the irate parent. "How dare you kick my dog? I'll teach you to behave yourself better, sir!"

When the offender was soundly thrashed the father wiped the perspiration from his forehead.

"Let this be a lesson to you," he said, "how to treat my dogs. And, now that I think of it, you've been disrespectful to your mother of late, sir!"—New York Post.

On the Last Lap.

"Saw an odd race yesterday."

"Indeed?"

"Yes, it was between two dogs—a fox terrier and a dachshund."

"Well?"

"Two saucers of milk were placed in front of them and the object was to see which could lick up his first."

"Which won the race?"

"The dachshund won in the last lap."—Florida Times-Union.

AN ANCIENT SHIP.

Timbers Found In England May Date Back 400 Years.

At the present time there is a controversy raging in England over some old ship timbers. One party contends that the remains are those of a warship of the time of Henry VIII., the Henri Grace a Dieu; while the other believes them to be portions of Sir Francis Drake's famous flagship the Golden Hind.

J. Seymour Lucas, R.A., the British artist, after seeing the relics, has come to the conclusion that they are those of a sixteenth century vessel, possibly the famous Henri Grace a Dieu. This craft was burned at Woolwich in 1553. It was little more than 12 months ago that the borough council of Woolwich, in preparing a site for a new electricity station on the south bank of the Thames first unearthed the timbers of this old ship. The late Sir William White then inspected them and was of the opinion that they came from an eighteenth century merchant vessel. The authorities were not very keen, if this was so, to preserve the remains.

The theory of Mr. Lucas, the artist who painted "The Armada in Sight," has put quite a new aspect on the matter. He considers that the closeness of the ribs and size of the keelson are irrefutable evidence of the date of the hull. In addition, he has seen two wheels, evidently from a gun carriage of the time of Henry VIII.; some stone cannon balls and pieces of Elizabethan pottery, all taken out of the hull.

The theory that the vessel is the Henri Grace a Dieu is put forward by the Woolwich antiquarian society. There was a dock built at Woolwich in 1521, to which the hull of the Henri Grace a Dieu was taken, after the fire which destroyed her upper works and rigging. The question then arises, How came the hull to be buried? It is believed that after the hull had been placed in the dock something in the nature of a landslip occurred which removed both ship and dock bodily.

This, at any rate, is held to explain the circumstance that part of the timbers are still sunk beneath an old house. Very little is known concerning the methods of ship construction in vogue in the reign of Henry VIII., and it is not surprising that expert opinion is divided as to whether the Woolwich wreck may be taken to be that of the Henri Grace a Dieu.

It was the Henri Grace a Dieu which Henry VIII. built in 1515, that was burned at Woolwich in 1553. In this vessel Henry VIII. embarked at Dover on May 31, 1520, to meet Francis I. at the Field of the Cloth of Gold, the incident being the subject of a picture by Holbein in Hampton Court Palace.

For the present there is a good deal of doubt about the identity of the relics of the Woolwich, and it would, therefore, be premature to accept the theories put forward, but undoubtedly the possibility of a ship of Tudor times being recovered is causing widespread interest, and already there have been several offers of financial help to reconstruct the hull of the vessel.

Modern Business Man.

Dean Inge, of St. Paul's, whose lectures on things modern have won for him the sobriquet of "the gloomy dean", declares that Protestant asceticism is responsible for that singular product of our civilization known as the modern business man. He said recently:

"When one reflects that a man is constitutionally indolent, that his natural desires are easily satisfied, and that unremitting attention to money-making disqualifies its votary from enjoying the finer pleasures of life, it must be clear," he said, "that nothing but a queer sort of religious self-mortification could induce many persons to choose the life which the successful business man has to lead.

"When the money-maker was an honest merchant, subduing the earth and really creating wealth to the public advantage, his work might be an instrument of valuable moral discipline. But now that the financier had dethroned the merchant; now that wealth was appropriated rather than created, the connection between religious austerity and business was almost dissolved, and there was the underlying spectacle of the unscrupulous speculator, who made his home in his office, while his wife squandered his ill-gotten millions in vulgar and senseless extravagance."

Hotel of 1,140 Rooms.

Six thousand tons of steel, 100 miles of piping and an amazing quantity of scaffolding have contributed to the gigantic framework, completed recently, of the new Regent's Palace Hotel, of Piccadilly Circus.

When the topmost girder was swung into position more than eleven months had been occupied in the construction of the vast skeleton alone. Many more months will elapse before the hotel is ready for the public, and by that time half a million sterling will have been expended upon it.

The hotel will have 1,140 rooms upon its thirteen floors, and it will stand nearly 140 feet high. It will cover about an acre and a quarter of land.

Australian Bushmen.

Although the bushmen of Australia are the very lowest in the scale of ignorance, they possess a rare instinct that equals that of many animals and is in its way as wonderful as man's reason. It is almost impossible for them to be lost. Even if they be led away from their home blindfolded for miles, when released they will unerringly turn in the right direction and make their way to their next homes, and, though these are all very similar, they never make a mistake.

Prospects Later.

The birds have slipped us a goodby
And to the south are fleeting
To find a warmer place to sleep
And more abundant eating.
And for the winter's traveling
Their broods have been collected,
And some day we may join them there
When flying is perfected.

On airy wings they rise and flit
To places more inviting.
A summer climate suits them best,
Though maybe not exciting.
We watch them as they fly away,
And, though we feel forsaken,
We say, "Some day we'll join you there
If Wrights are not mistaken."

Oh, that will be a glorious day
When we can rise and flutter
To where the climate is so warm
That it will melt the butter,
When we can pack our little grips
And have the rest sent later
And through the chilly autumn air
Make straight for the equator!

Inventors, tighten up your screws,
Your engines get in training,
So we can scoot away to climes
That are not mussed by raining.
We know you're busy, and we hate
The subject to be broaching,
But, oh, mankind would be a bird
When winter is approaching!

Has Health Inspection Act.

British Columbia is the only province in the Dominion having provincial legislation governing and controlling medical inspection of schools. The "School Health Inspection Act" provides that the Board of School Trustees of every city, town, and district municipality shall appoint one or more School Health Inspectors. Many of the other provinces have medical inspection, although not perhaps so well organized. Ontario is making notable strides in this direction. The rural schools are not to be neglected. It is felt that in the past they have too often been supposed to be entirely healthy institutions.

Alberta Joins Movement.

The days of rough trails and roads built merely for pioneer purposes in Alberta are now numbered. The public works department of the Provincial Government is co-operating with the various municipalities throughout the province for the purpose of constructing main truck roads between the principal market centres. Half a million dollars which has been set aside out of current revenues for road construction by the public works department this year will be spent largely in improving the most important traffic roads and with a view to completing, in the course of the next few years, a system of main trunk roads.

Capital estimated at $26,908,950, invested in 8,545 Canadian vessels, while 43,968 men and boys are employed in the marine service, according to the annual report just issued by the registrar of shipping. The number of vessels registered is 8,545, and the tonnage is 896,965, an increase last year of 344 vessels.

TO STUDY FISH.

Prof. A. B. Macallum Establishing Research on Pacific Coast.

Dr. A. B. Macallum, professor of biochemistry at the University of Toronto, has been in Vancouver recently in connection with the work of the Board of Biological Research, under the Department of Marine and Fisheries, of which he is secretary-treasurer without salary.

Two biological stations are maintained by this board in Canada, one at Nanaimo and the other at St. Andrew's, N.B., while it is planned to establish another at Hudson Bay. Their subject matter is halibut, salmon, herring, lobsters and oysters, on the economic side, and their object is to adduce the facts regarding these sea denizens in accepted scientific form, so that governments may govern themselves accordingly.

Take the matter of halibut, for instance. It is said that halibut are becoming scarce in Pacific waters. Is it true? That it what the biological board wants to know. Very little is known of the habits of halibut. Its eggs have been obtained only in limited stages, its time of spawning is unknown, its food is not definitely recognized.

The greatest living expert on halibut is Dr. Hjort, head of the Norwegian fisheries, only forty-six years of age, but internationally famous. It is the intention of the board to engage Dr. Hjort to devote his time to the investigation of the life and habits of halibut on the Pacific coast. He is expected here about the end of September.

Another question that the biological station at Nanaimo is grappling with is why the herring are disappearing from Pacific waters. Has it anything to do with the movement of the planxtone life of the sea, that is the microscopic animal life on the surface of the water? This planxtone life may give indications of the migration of the halibut constantly further north.

The sea salmon has never been definitely described as to nativity, maturity and death. Many have guessed at these problems, and Prof. Gilbert has made important discoveries. These are being verified if possible, and when scientifically demonstrated the facts will be used to conserve the salmon.

The reason why oysters do not seem to thrive when transplanted from the Atlantic to the Pacific, whether it is due to the scarcity or the plentifulness of brine in the sea or to the temperature of the water; why lobsters reproduce their species, but their growth seems to be arrested, whether they shed their shells or not—these are some other problems to be worked out.

Prof. Willy of McGill University, another member of the biological board, is going out there on a tour of investigation in April, and Mr. Macallum plans to return in June for a longer stay. Both will go out to the halibut banks with the halibut fishermen and get first-hand information.

Dr. Macallum has been interviewing officials of the Provincial Government and the Dominion Fisheries Department and co-operating with them in their work. He sees much good to be done for the conservation of the Pacific fisheries in the work to his hand.

Bird Structure.

Birds belong to the vertebrates, or backboned animals. They are distinguished from the rest of the vertebrates by the graceful outlines of their bodies, by their clothing of feathers, toothless jaws and the fore limbs, or wings, being adapted to flying. Nature has made many wonderful provisions in the bird, especially in the formation and arrangement of the bones. These are compact and in many cases hollow, thus combining lightness with strength. The first bone of the backbone is so freely jointed to the skull that birds can turn their heads around and look directly back.

Touchy.

In the little town of H— lived a young man who was not likely to "set the river afire," not over bright, to put it plainly and truthfully.

He had been telling of his engagement to a belle of the town, but no one took his announcement seriously. One day he gave out that he had broken his engagement.

"So you really broke the engagement, Henry?" he was asked.

"That's what I did," he boasted.

"Dear me, tell us why you were so cruel?" one of his hearers begged.

"Well, it's like this," explained Henry, "Hattie told me she wouldn't marry me and I ain't going to be engaged to any girl what won't marry me!"—Lippincott's.

Susie Wants to Know.

A Sunday school teacher, after conducting a lesson on the story of "Jacob's ladder," concluded by saying, "Now, is there any little girl or boy who would like to ask a question about the lesson?"

Little Susie looked puzzled for a moment and then raised her hand.

"A question, Susie?" asked the teacher.

"I would like to know," said Susie, "if the angels have wings, why did they have to climb up the ladder?"

The teacher thought for some moments and then, looking about the class, asked, "Is there any little boy who would like to answer Susie's question?"—Everybody's.

DAINTY MOUCHOIRS.

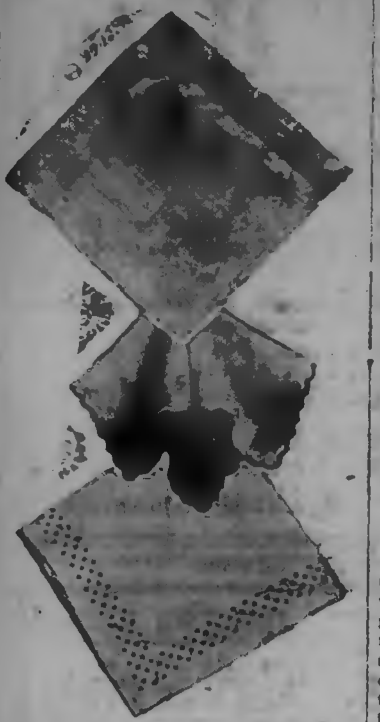
Hand Embroidered Trifles in White or Colors to Match the Summer Blouse.

Very charming handkerchiefs are being shown in the shops. Many of the most attractive styles are in colors, the call for these always being considerable in the summer. These handkerchiefs are very smart and may match the colored handkerchief linen blouses with which they are carried. The daintiest tones are shown, ranging from soft rose to deep blue or green.



EMBROIDERED HANDKERCHIEFS.

Narrow white rolled hems are seen on some of these colored handkerchiefs. This effect is used on glove handkerchiefs of tan, lavender, rose, purple, green and blue.

Another effective style has a white center with wide colored hem finished by a narrow white one.

On some white handkerchiefs the wide hem is finished with a double row of hemstitching.

The woman who can embroider may have very dainty handkerchiefs at little cost. A little spray embroidered in one corner with an initial or monogram is very effective. The hem should be edged with a row of hemstitching in that case.

Handkerchiefs have scalloped edges embroidered in colored floss like the middle one shown here. An effective decoration and one simple enough for any needlewoman is the lower one, with narrow hemstitched border, above which is a band of embroidered dots applied in colored floss.

Uses and Value of Timber.

In order to know what a tract of timber is worth it is necessary to know the value of the products. Not only should the general uses of the different kinds of wood be known, but careful attention should be given to any special use for given kinds or sizes of trees which may result in increased value. The market for wood lot timber is chiefly for ties, poles, firewood, posts, piles, rails, lumber and very frequently in the round for pulp wood, acid factories and box manufacturers, while special kinds, such as fine white oak, ash, second growth hickory, cherry, etc., have a large number of special uses, such as in the vehicle industry, furniture making, etc. It is again urged that owners should be particular to inquire into their special markets both for the different kinds of timber and for the most profitable form into which given sized trees may be worked. By taking advantage of this they can very frequently double the price received for their products.—R. Rosenbluth in American Forestry.

Punctuation Marks.

Punctuation by means of stops and points, so as to indicate the meaning of sentences and assist the reader to a proper enunciation, is ascribed originally to Aristophanes, a grammarian of Alexandria, Egypt, who lived in the third century B. C. Whatever his system may have been, it was subsequently neglected and forgotten, but was reintroduced by Charlemagne, the various stops and symbols being designed by Warnefried and Alcuin. The present system of punctuation was introduced in the latter part of the fifteenth century by Aldus Manutius, a Venetian printer, who was responsible for our full stop, colon, semicolon, comma, marks of interrogation and exclamation, parenthesis and dash, hyphen, apostrophe and quotation marks. These were subsequently copied by other printers until their use became universal. Most ancient languages were innocent of any system of punctuation.

Tommy's Hobby.

The following happened in a Manchester school the other day. The teacher had been speaking of unique and valuable collections of objects of art and interest and spoke of the fabulous wealth that had been expended by some of the collectors on their peculiar hobbies.

Thinking to obtain some idea of the characters of the members of his class in this direction, he asked them what they thought they would like to collect if they had plenty of money.

Up went the hand of a boy who was not noted for particular brilliance—in fact, answers from him were very scarce on any subject. So this opportunity was seized by the teacher.

"Well, Tommy, and what would you collect?"

"Rents, sir," was the prompt reply.

The lesson was changed and the teacher is recovering from the shock.—London Tit-Bits.

The Wonderful Aphis.

The aphis is in one way the most startling of all forms of insect life, for, although the females can still do lay eggs, its usual method of increase is by a sort of budding process, the young growing on the bodies of the parent exactly as brussels sprouts grow out of the stalks of the plant. The old produce young at the rate of twenty-five a day, and as the young are at once mature each can produce its twenty-five on the following day. It positively frightens one to work this multiplication out to a conclusion, for it means this: Supposing that the aphids could increase and multiply without interference, the twenty-fifth generation would be a number too long to quote here. Put down a 1 and follow it with twenty-eight naughts and you will be within a few millions of it.

A Helping Hand.

Among the contributors to a minister's donation party was a small but very bright boy belonging to one of the families of the congregation. After obtaining his mother's permission to spend his money for anything he pleased he went to the village store and returned home with a neat package. In it was a pair of suspenders, and attached to them was a card upon which was written in a scrawling hand:

"For the support of our pastor."

If All Candidates Were White.

The word "candidate" is from the Latin "candidatus." Literally it means white robed, and it was thus called because in Rome those who sought office wore glittering white togas. Fancy, if you can, all our modern Americans dressed in accordance with their political ambitions. In some sections there would be no such thing as a dark suit of clothes. Washington would simply be one shining center of universal whiteness.

The Apple of Discord.

At the marriage of Thetis and Peleus, where all the gods and goddesses met together, Discord threw on the table a "golden apple" for "the most beautiful." Juno, Minerva and Venus put in their separate claims and, not being able to settle the point, referred the matter to Paris, who gave judgment to Venus. This brought on him the vengeance of Juno and Minerva, to whose skill is attributed the fall of Troy.

Probably Not.

"He can," stated the weary salesman, "but he seldom does."—Kansas City Journal.

Calling on the Poor.

"Did you call on those poor people?"

"Oh, yes," answered the amateur welfare worker.

"And what do they need?"

Crime and Punishment.

Imp—Here are two spirits—one sinned knowingly and the other ignorantly. Satan—Put them both in the same furnace, but let the knowing one see the thermometer.

Any coward can fight a battle when he's sure of winning, but give me the man who has pluck to fight when he's sure of losing.—George Eliot.

CHILE'S CITY OF HILLS.

Valparaiso Is One of the World's Architectural Curiosities.

The city of Valparaiso is built upon nineteen hills like Rome upon her seven. It is one of the most curious cities in the world. Its hills rise from three to eleven hundred feet high, and the city is ranged upon them, tier above tier, in sections that are separated by deep gullies, through many of which flow lively little rivers. Winding streets climb, as in Lisbon, by the aid of stairways, lifts and inclined tramways up from the docks to the hilltops. The houses are modern, but not notable architecturally. Those of the wealthier people are mansions and have fine grounds, though many of the aristocratic families spend most of their time at Santiago or at summer villas farther south.

Everything in Valparaiso is distinctly a part of the twentieth century restless business world. The traveler finds as many comforts though far less of luxury than at Buenos Aires, which lies 1,200 miles away at the opposite end of the great Transandine Railroad.

The poorer people live on the lower levels of the city not far from the narrow strip which contains the shipping offices, shops and banks. They are industrious, steady workers, and gave me the impression of a virile, worthy, thrifty folk.

The tramway system was put in by Germans and is still owned by a German syndicate. The cars are double-decked, and some genius divided them into first and second class compartments, the first-class passengers riding inside and the second class climbing up by a winding narrow staircase to seats on the top. First class fare is 5 cents, second class half fare is 2½ cents. And what Anglo-Saxon would not prefer the fine sight seeing seats on top? Most of the conductors are women. During the campaign against Peru and Bolivia it was necessary to have women for car conductors, the men being away at the war. The women proved to be more efficient and honest than the men, and they have been continued ever since.

Getting a "Thrill" in Formosa.

The traveler who is tired of conventional journeys and who is anxious to visit an "unspoilt" country where he can enjoy the comforts of civilization and at the same time taste some of the thrills and excitement attendant upon encounters with unsubdued savage tribes should certainly make a trip to Formosa, that wonderful island lying off the coast of China which passed into the possession of Japan in 1895.

Here, along the eastern coast, he will find prosperous towns with fine harbors and wharves, spacious streets and magnificent residences, schools and churches, electric light and ample water supply—all the luxuries, in fact, of a European city. He can journey comfortably by train from one place to another, passing through vast tea gardens and rice fields. Everything is civilized, orderly and safe. Yet only a few miles inland, among the mountains and forests, dwell fierce, unconquered tribes, whose chief aim and ambition in life is to gather human heads.—Wide World Magazine.

Boissier's High Priced Autograph.

A good Boissier-Renan anecdote is told by a French paper. One day Boissier arrived at Renan's home with a beaming face, saying: "Now I'll tell you a piece of news that will humiliate you. My autograph has fetched a higher price than yours." "That does not surprise me," Renan said serenely. "And where did you hear this?" It then turned out that at an auction a day or two before a Renan autograph had been sold for 3 francs and a Boissier for 5. "Well," Renan went on, "now let me tell you the reason. There were three faults in the spelling of your letter, which is now lying here on my writing table. A friend of mine was at the auction and made a higher bid for the letter after noticing the artificial gems that adorned your prose. He brought it to me in order that I might return it to you instead of its reaching the public, which might get a bad impression of the accomplishments of members of the French academy."

Painless Death.

William Hunter, the celebrated anatomist, who died in 1783, said to a friend in his last moments that if he had strength enough to hold a pen he would write how easy and pleasant a thing it was to die, and the late Professor Jowett, after an illness which had brought him very near to death, described the experience as being "full of interest and devoid of alarm."

On one occasion a well known public man described the act of dying as "a great adventure that must be much more interesting than setting out for the north pole." While few will agree with him, it is a great thing to know that science has robbed death of its terrors and has taught us that no matter how much a dying person may appear to be suffering, he or she, immediately before death, can feel no pain whatever.—Pearson's.

Forgetful.

An eminent painter was once asked if he thought art students did well to go to Europe to study. He said that undoubtedly the atmosphere was more artistic in Europe than anywhere else, but that Paris as a city to study and work in was overrated.

To illustrate his meaning he said that a certain rich man's son after three years in Paris wrote home to his father:

"Dear Father—I have made up my mind to get to work. Please let me know at your earliest convenience whether it was painting, architecture or music I came to Paris to study."

Accepting Invitations.

When an invitation to any sort of an entertainment is received its recipient should at once conclude that whoever invited him or her wished to offer a courtesy and that the only way to reciprocate would be to make him or herself as agreeable as possible in return. If young people are in the majority there is no surer evidence of proper rearing than their behavior to their elders, as a want of consideration for the convenience and comfort of everybody present shows plainly that they have never been taught the first principles of the laws of social usage we call etiquette.

If it is older ones and they have no regard for host or hostess they do not deserve to be honored again by invitations, and they may possibly in the future wonder why it is they are not. Those who do not care for music ought not to attend a musicale, as in their indifference they give offense by loud talking and more especially by the half suppressed but almost constantly moving about, showing impatience and preventing the enjoyment of those others who, loving music, wish to listen quietly and with understanding.

A point that may not be generally understood when attending private concerts, vaudeville or indeed any form of entertainment offered for them at a private house is that, while appreciation should be shown, very loud or prolonged clapping of the hands or stamping with calls for encores are in exceedingly poor taste. Such manifestations may be and are quite all right in a circus or public place of entertainment, but are considered quite wrong in private.

It is in the observance of these very small but very particular things that the well bred men and women show their training; to be reasonable in all ways and to contribute to the enjoyment of all present is to follow the laws of etiquette.

Announcing an Engagement.

"What is a pretty and novel way of announcing an engagement?" asks a correspondent whose love affair has culminated so happily that she wishes to tell her friends of the gladsome news. "I am going to entertain about twelve of my friends at a dinner Saturday night and want to make my engagement known to them. What is the best way to do it?"

An original and rather clever idea was carried out recently by a newly engaged girl, an idea which could be copied with very good effect by any one in the same happy situation.

Of course you have heard the expression "all in a nutshell." Well, the hostess took this as her motto and determined to give her news away "all in a nutshell." Her entertainment took the form of a luncheon—a dinner would do just as well—and there was nothing unusual in the table decorations to disclose the impending engagement except that at each plate, sitting directly in front of the place card, was a good sized horse chestnut tied with pink ribbons.

Of course the guests became curious the moment they sat down. They wanted to know what the shell contained.

"Open it and see," said the hostess, with a sly smile. The guests untied the ribbons. The shell, which was cut in two, fell apart, and a tiny slip of paper fell out of its hiding place. Of course each guest pounced upon the slip of paper and eagerly read the following: "Engaged—Mary Louise Brown to James Henry Smith." The date and the year followed, and that was all there was to it.

"There's all the news in a nutshell," said the radiant hostess as her guests showered congratulations on the fiancee.

Etiquette For Business Girl.

The young business woman never should receive personal callers in her office. She should have her personal mail sent to her home address, and she should be careful about the number of telephone calls she receives or makes. Some offices, perhaps wisely, have a "No telephoning" rule. Where there is no such rule the office telephone should be used only in case of emergency.

There are several reasons why these no calls, no telephoning, no letters rules are wise.

To begin with, a young woman's employers and associates have much more respect for her if they know she has the good taste to wish to keep her own personal affairs more or less to herself.

For another thing, the employee is obviously paid for her time. The time she gives to telephoning and receiving callers and opening her personal mail is time wasted, from her employer's point of view. The time the telephone operator and office boy give to taking care of her mail, her telephone messages, and her callers is also time wasted, from the business point of view.

Good Form In Quarrels.

In a quarrel it is much more dignified to observe a silence and allow the other one to forget himself or herself and to have all the regrets. In this kind of an experience, which is not unusual in family or business life, there is such a chance to lose the self control and poise that we value so highly and is such a comfort to preserve.

Italy imports more than 10,000,000 tons of coal each year.

SOME STORIES OF FISH.

Pet Goldfish, Who, Missing Its Owner, Died.

There are fishermen and fishermen. There are knights of the rod and line, and lovers of the finny tribe, whose stories of the fish they have caught and seen arouse the derision of the sceptics. There are others, alas! too few, who at times confound those deriding sceptics by providing proof of their seemingly incredulous statements.

We welcome therefore, the story of the man who had a goldfish to whom he attributed, if not human intelligence, at any rate human emotions. He claimed that this goldfish came to the surface of the aquarium every morning to have its back scratched, and after the comforting caress the little creature would sink to the bottom with a contented smile.

Unfortunately the owner of this wonderful goldfish was called away from home for a couple of weeks. During his absence, it languished for its daily scratch, grew morose, refused all nourishment, and died. Of course, some people to whom he told the story made some subtle remarks about a relative of Ananias, but the sorrowing owner of the pet goldfish, it is related, promptly produced the dead fish and showed the marks left by the scratching.

There may be those who doubt the truth of this story, but they would have had work to convince the worthy people of the little village of Worcestershire, who still talk of a wonderful trout which was so tame that it would eat out of the people's hands, and that fish have no human intelligence. Indeed, there was a stone set up, which may still be in existence setting forth the wonderful qualities of this tame trout.

According to the experts who have studied the manners of the finny tribe, fish have many of the emotions of the human race. Among their means of expression, it is pointed out, is the habit they have of erecting their scales or fins under the influence of anger or of terror, much in the same way that feathers and hairs are erected in birds and mammals.

Linoleum Economy.

I needed a new kitchen linoleum badly, said a contributor in the Woman's Home Companion. After pricing several designs and qualities, I found that the least I could cover the floor for would be $20, and that I could not then afford. While looking about, I had seen in some of the stores remnants of good grade linoleum very reasonably priced. I bought three of those (as nearly the width of my kitchen as I could) of any pattern and color I could procure in the remnants.

One was quite a bit longer than the other two, and the surplus was just right for the pantry. Of course, after it was laid, the floor looked like Joseph's coat of many colors, so I applied a coat of light oak stain and then a coat of shellac. I had a fine looking plain linoleum at just one-fourth the cost of one purchased and laid in the regular way, thanks to my happy thought.

WHEN ROASTING LAMB.

Remember all young meat requires thorough cooking.

If frozen meat is used allow it to stand some time in a warm place before cooking.

Allow twenty minutes to each pound of the joint weight and twenty minutes over.

Not Proud of It.

"If those boys don't quit their racket I will kill a few of them."

"Have you forgotten that you were a boy once?"

"Suppose I was. Is that any reason you should throw it up to me? Haven't I been trying all of these years to live it down?"

Tired Waiting.

"Christmas is coming, Freddie."

"Gee! I wish old Santa 'ud take a flying machine an' git here quick."

But in their mental process, say,
You bet they cut it out.

Chum Saved Himself.

A little dog, unlicensed, had been found in the streets and taken to the pound. He was an affectionate animal and greatly endeared himself to all about the place. They called him Chum and he joyfully responded whenever his name was spoken. As the days passed other poor, homeless dogs were put to death. Finally came Chum's last day of grace, and no one had come to claim him. The next morning dawned, and the man who was to kill Chum called him into the yard. Chum danced and wagged his tail, no doubt thinking something good was in store for him. The man then said: "Well Chum, your time has come. You'd better say your prayers." Immediately the little forepaws were crossed, the little head bowed, and Chum said his prayers. As the little body was still in this attitude of reverence a step was heard. The attendant looked up and saw the superintendent standing there. There were tears in the eyes of each. Chum is still living, but instead of being nobody's dog he is now everybody's.

Fifteen of Crew Arrive.

MONTREAL, June 11. — Fifteen members of the crew of the sunken C. P. R. liner Empress of Ireland, arrived at the marine department of the C.P.R. here yesterday. They came to arrange for payment of their allotments, also for advances of salary while they are being held as witnesses at the investigation. The crew are being lodged at the Place Viger Hotel, owned by the C. P. R.

Captain Kendall called at the office of Captain Welsh, marine superintendent of the C. P. R. yesterday. He left for his hotel without waiting for the settlement of the allotments and advances to the crew.

Manitoba Elections July 9?

WINNIPEG, June 11.—The Free Press yesterday afternoon said: "Information which is believed to be entirely reliable fixes Thursday, July 9, as the date of the provincial general elections. The writs will be issued on or about June 18."

Sympathy is like a kiss, good for nothing till it is divided between two.

FOSSAL BALM
Goes Right to the Spot

If you have a cold in the head—if your nasal passages are inflamed, stuffed up, smarting—or if you suffer from chronic nasal catarrh—you can get quick relief by using Fossal Balm.

This is an antiseptic, healing salve put up in a collapsible tube so formed as to make it remarkably easy to use. When the elongated cap is removed it uncovers the nozzle-shaped end of the tube, about half an inch long. This is inserted in the nose and the tube squeezed gently, depositing a little of the Balm well up in the nasal passages. A little rubbing of the nose, and the indrawn breath, distribute the Fossal Balm throughout the passages, where it comes directly into contact with the inflamed membranes and the germs of disease. The latter it kills — the former it soothes and heals. The smarting irritation disappears — the nostrils are cleared, making breathing easy—and the catarrhal conditions, if they exist, are corrected.

Get a 50c tube of Fossal Balm from your Druggist, or write for it direct to us. National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

MAIDS' GARMENTS

One May Judge the Housewife by the Servant's Dress.

ATTRACTIVE NEW APRONS.

Their General Style the Same, Although From Season to Season Fashion Demands Some Slight Variations In Cut or Materials.

The servant in the house stands before the world as the visible sign of the order or disorder of the home in which she serves, says Vogue. The good management of an establishment is immediately made manifest in the neat appearance of the servants, as is also the good taste of the mistress. Whether the menage is on a large or a small scale, it is possible to have it well run and the servants properly dressed, for here is no question of expense, but one of forethought and care.

For the morning housemaids and waitresses in a small household wear, as a rule, white linen or pink or blue chambray dresses. These are changed for black as soon as the more exacting work of the day is over, before luncheon if guests are expected, and in any case by half past 2 in the afternoon, though the time should always be so arranged that before dressing the maids may have time for rest and recreation.

In some large establishments all the maids, with the exception of personal ones, instead of wearing black are dressed in a livery, as it were, to correspond with that worn by the men servants and to suit the color prevailing in the decoration of the house. In such instances brown, gray or deep prune color is used for both luncheon and dinner dresses, and the various hours and occasions are marked only by a difference in aprons.

Chambray and white linen dresses are used as morning costumes for housemaids or waitresses. The long apron is required for a housemaid and permissible for a waitress during the serving of breakfast. This morning apron should be plain, have a bib and bretelles and be worn with collar and cuffs to match. A very simple scalloped edge is correct, although a plain or a hemstitched hem is perhaps even smarter.

DOTTED SWISS APRON.

The waitress need not change her light dress before serving luncheon, if the meal is to be an informal one at which no guests are present, but it is an essential of correct form that she discard the long apron for a shorter one.

If guests are expected for luncheon either a black dress or the livery of the household—in gray, brown or prune, as the case may be—or a dress of French sateen, mohair or of English cashmere, is worn. The standing collar and deep cuffs, which are the correct thing with this costume, should be made of scrim and match the dainty little apron, which is trimmed by a narrow edge of cluny lace.

A parlor maid or a maid who assists a butler is dressed for luncheon, tea and dinner either in black, which is preferred by the more conservative, or in a color matching the house livery, with apron, collar and cuffs of scrim or batiste. The cap may be of the same material.

A personal maid, who is apart from the staff of the household servants wears in the morning a black dress with a short apron without bib or bretelles. Her collar and cuffs should match the apron, which may be of batiste hemstitched or perhaps daintily embroidered by hand. For the afternoon it is smarter to replace this apron by one of black silk, which is usually hemstitched at the edges and attached to the waist by velvet ribbon.

The attractive apron shown here is suitable for the maid or mistress. The maid may don it for gala occasions or the mistress may wear it when she presides over the chafing dish. It is of white dotted swiss with insertions and edgings of valenciennes lace. There are bretelles to go over the shoulders, and a narrow satin ribbon is knotted about the waist. The turned over collar and cuffs are of organdie.

Vinegar and honey mixed in equal parts is a great relief for a cough.

SUMMER COATS.

Wraps For the Little Ones Follow the Lines of Adult Garments.

Coats for children have followed, in the main, the styles of their elders. For spring and summer wear the garment with the flare has been well exploited. Another popular model is the coat finished at the bottom with one or two flounces. Coats with the lower plaited section joined to the upper by a wide belt are considered very smart.

Jaunty little capes are now to be seen. These are carried out in the fashionable materials and are adorned with hoods or sailor collars.

As to fabrics, the materials which have been used for adult coats find favor for juvenile garments. Shepherd's checks, gabardines, serges and silks have all had their share of patronage.

MOHAIR AND WOOL COAT.

Just now coats made up in washable materials are being shown. These are of pique, linen eponge or cordeline. They are quite simply made, in order that they may be easily laundered.

Illustrated here is a jaunty coat for the little miss developed in white mohair and wool, which is soft in texture, according to the fashion uses of this season. It is trimmed with a bit of cotton velours, lighter of weight than velvet. Just a bit of white soutache braid run about the collar adds the decorative effect that is pleasing to the little maid. A pert hat of white straw and fashionable button strap slippers complete the costume.

ABOUT THE HOUSE.

Heavy window hangings are practically a thing of the past.

Linen is a fabric which can be quite easily dyed at home.

If the kitchen range requires a spot of rust use sandpaper on it.

A washable cotton rug is a convenience in the up to date kitchen.

Clean white enameled woodwork with whiting on a moist cloth.

Every room in the house should be thoroughly aired once a day.

Each child should possess a laundry bag and put its soiled clothes in it as soon as they are taken off.

To remove coffee stains stretch the napkin or tablecloth over a basin and pour hot water through the cloth.

Stained floor boards can be cleaned by scrubbing with chloride of lime, using but a tablespoonful to a pail of water.

CHIC SHOES.

The Low Styles Are Worn With Trim Overgaiters.

Though there is no diminution in the favor for buttoned boots, which are the accepted form of correct footwear for women who dress well, a passing craze for buttoned overgaiters has arrived. "Spats," as they are called in England, invariably lend a touch of elegance and formality to the street costume, and when the "spat" or overgaiter fits instep and ankle trimly it is really a very attractive dress detail.

An ultra smart type of buttoned overgaiter is the light gray shade and is worn over a patent leather colonial pump. The costumes are all rather short because of the craze for dancing, at which pastime society is indefatigable, and, of course, the short skirt, closely draped about the feet, makes the footwear very prominent.

The daintiest little boots are worn, gracefully built affairs, with arched insteps, high, curved heels and buttoned tops of contrasting material. The buttoned overgaiter gives this smartly contrasting buttoned top effect, yet makes it possible to wear a low spring pump with the tailored street costume.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XI.—Second Quarter, For June 14, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xviii, 9-14; xix, 1-10—Memory Verses, 19, 10—Golden Text, Mark ii, 17—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Perhaps there are no people more difficult to deal with or to live with than those who, like the Pharisees, pride themselves upon their own righteousness, which in the sight of God is only as filthy rags (Isa. lxiv, 6) and can in no case entitle one to enter the kingdom (Matt. v, 20). The righteousness which is required by God must be absolutely perfect, an unbroken law, for "whosoever shall keep the whole law and yet offend in one point he is guilty of all" (Jas. ii, 10). The law is so holy and righteous that no sinful man can keep it, and it was never intended to give life, but to prove our guilt, shut our mouths and lead us to Christ, who is God's perfect righteousness and the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth.

There is no Saviour or salvation for a righteous man in the Bible—that is, for such as think themselves righteous —but only for sinners.

In connection with the murmuring of the Pharisees when our Lord called Matthew or Levi, the publican, and Levi made Him a feast in his own house, at which a great company of publicans and others were present, our Lord said: "They that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance" (Luke v, 31, 32).

On another occasion He said to the chief priests and elders, "Verily I say unto you that the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you" (Matt. xxi, 23, 31). To this day there are churchgoers and church members who, "being ignorant of God's righteousness and going about to establish their own righteousness have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God" (Rom. x, 3).

It is indeed a fearful thing to be satisfied with oneself and have no conviction of sin. In the first part of our lesson today the Pharisee did not pray to God, did not ask God for anything, did not seem to need anything, but prayed with himself and told God what a good man he was and how much good he did and how thankful he was that he was not a bad man nor even like that publican. Truly he was well satisfied with his righteous self. The publican had no goodness to prove his righteousness, nothing good to say of himself, but he did have a consciousness of his own sinfulness, and from his heart he said, "God be merciful to me a sinner." In the margin of the revised version it is, "God be propitiated to me, the sinner." Weymouth has it, "O God, be reconciled to me, sinner that I am." The Lord Jesus Christ, who reads all hearts, the only Saviour of sinners, the only Judge of all men, said that the publican went to his home justified.

I like the definition of justification which I learned in Sunday school when I was a boy, and, if I remember correctly, it read thus: "Justification is an act of God's free grace, wherein He pardoneth all our sins and accepteth us as righteous in His sight only for the righteousness of Christ, imputed unto us and received by faith alone."

In the second part of our lesson we have a rich publican who had a desire to see Jesus, and, though he did not seem to have the same conviction of sin as the poor publican, he, too, was welcomed and saved. He was a prominent man, chief among the publicans. He was not prominent as to his physical appearance, for he was little of stature. He was not what one might call dignified, for he ran and climbed up into a tree. His thought evidently was to see without being seen. How surprised beyond measure he must have been to see Jesus look up and to hear Him call him by name and to hear Him say, "Make haste and come down, for today I must abide at thy house" (verse 5).

Was this something exceeding abundantly above all that Zaccheus had ever thought to come his way, or was it the Saviour's recognition of a desire which He had actually seen in the heart of this man? (Eph. iii, 20; Ezek. xi, 5; Ps. cxlv, 19.) I cannot tell, but I do know that the "handfuls of purpose" which the Lord drops for those who seek Him and for those who seek to serve Him are truly wonderful (Ruth ii, 15, 16).

We do not wonder that Zaccheus made haste and came down and received Him joyfully (verse 6). Any one but a Pharisee would if he only understood what it meant. According to John i, 12, Zaccheus thus became a child of God and according to I John ii, 12, had there and then the forgiveness of his sins—freely justified, as was the other publican. There is only one salvation and one way of salvation for rich or poor. It was foreshadowed in the atonement money of Israel, concerning which it was commanded, "The rich shall not give more and the poor shall not give less than half a shekel" (Ex. xxx, 11-15). That which Zaccheus said he did in verse 8 was part of the evidence that he had become a child of God, for, while no works of ours can obtain or help to obtain salvation, the good works must follow as a result (Eph. ii, 10; Tit. iii, 8). Weymouth translates: "Here and now I give. * * * I pledge myself to repay to him four times the amount."

Oh, only a free soul will never grow old.—Richter.

Over and Over.

In June the old, old story
  Appears as fresh as though
It hadn't been related
  Ten thousand times or so,
And those who listen to it
  And those who hear it through
Don't wear a bored expression
  And call for something new.

With just the proper setting
  Beneath an apple tree,
Where no one but the moon man—
  And he won't tell—can see,
The story has a freshness
  If told with proper art,
And any one will listen
  Who knows the lines by heart.

The stories of the ancients,
  The rhymes of Mother G.,
The pleasant little legend
  About the cherry tree,
For every generation
  And age still have the call,
But there's the old, old story
  That quite outranks them all.

With youth and health and vigor
  It falls upon the ears
And sounds a note compelling
  Like music of the spheres.
Nor does it with the telling
  Grow stale and flat and old.
It sounds as good at forty
  If by the right one told.

Promising Chip.

His Mother (suddenly entering the children's room)—Why, Tommy, you ought to be ashamed to have so untidy a desk! And why have you scattered these scraps of paper all over the floor?

Tommy (with a pencil behind each ear)—I'm playin' I'm carryin' on a real business, same as papa does.

Her Titled Suitor.

"Have you heard it?"

"What?"

"Ethel's engagement is announced by her mother."

"No; but I heard something else."

"What?"

"Her dukelet denounced by her father."

Upward Revision.

"When first I consulted you about my eyes you told me it would cost 10 francs, but your bill is for 100 francs."

"That only shows the excellence of my treatment. Now you are ten times better."—Paris Pele Mele.

SMART COMBINATION OF TAFFETA AND WOOL

Here is a snappy walking suit in the newly fashionable combination of taffeta and serge—a bottle green serge with coat trimmings and skirt peplum of striped pussy-willow taffeta in red, green and blue, an excellent suggestion for a new or made over suit. Inside the coat collar is a flaring collar of wired white crepe lisse. A hat to match the shades of the suit and fashionable buttoned boots perfect the costume.

TWO ATLANTIC LINERS IN COLLISION DURING FOG

New York, June 13.—The American line steamer New York reports by wireless that during a thirk fog at three twenty-six this morning, she was in collision with the Hamburg American liner Pretoria. The New York was stopped at the time and the Pretoria struck her a glancing blow just aft of the bow, so slight that many of the passengers did not waken. No damage resulted. There was no excitement and both boats continued on their way. No report has been received direct from the Pretoria.

GOLD WATCH FOR HIGHEST MARKS

Keener Competition Assured for J. H. Burnham Watches

The competition for the gold watches offered by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., at the entrance examinations will likely be very keen this year. A gold watch is offered by Mr. Burnham to the pupil from each township who ranks highest at the entrance examinations. The competition has had an excellent effect on stimulating the youth, and it is believed that this year will see greater rivalry.

REGISTRATION

164 Names Are Entered at Police Court Chamber

The registration all over the city is just about half the number that registered during the memorable reciprocity campaign of 1911. At the city hall chamber only 118 had registered up until 2 o'clock this afternoon, while in the police court chamber 164 had registered. The registration in the centre of the city is a little below the number on the outskirting wards, but the registrars in those wards report a very light registration. There seems to be enough interest in the coming contest, and the fact that very few newcomers have arrived since the first of the year probably accounts for the small number who are registering.

MRS. McELHINEY IS ILL AT HER HOME

Mrs. McElhiney, wife of the local Salvation Army adjutant, is confined to her bed suffering from a heavy cold and a general breakdown which it is thought was brought on by worry over the Empress of Ireland disaster and the long hours she spent in Montreal caring for the survivors. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery and are sincere in their extending sympathies to her during her illness.

The local band arrived in Liverpool O.K. Mrs. McElhiney received a cable from her husband to that effect. The congress which the band will attend opened in London yesterday.

WIND CAUSED SOME TROUBLE FOR STEAMER

Excursionists Had an Extra on the Program

The C.O.F. of Chemong held a very delightful excursion via steamer Stoney Lake to Lindsay and return. The excursionists were given a slight thrill right off the start. When the steamer drew away from Kelly's Wharf the wind caught the boat and despite the efforts of the man at the wheel, it was drifted back against a boom of logs. The rudder came in contact with a heavy chain and automatically the rudder went out of commission. The wind was so strong that both the steamer and the boom were carried along and before anything could be done to prevent the drifting, they went crash up against the shore. Luckily the boat was not damaged and after considerable delay, was freed and able to get away.

FARMER IS ARRESTED

Missing Goods Wanted Are Found on Farm

GUELPH, June 13.—As a result of the discovery of a case of missing goods in a woodpile on the farm of S. Davidson, three miles from Erin Village, and the identification of them as having come from the Toronto stores of his sister-in-law, Annie Roberts, who is being searched by the police, Davidson was arrested by County Constable Elliott on a charge of having stolen property in his possession, and arraigned before Magistrate Watt here yesterday. Miss Roberts is charged with departing from Toronto with this stock and leaving only $5,000 worth to satisfy her creditors. Her present address being still unknown to her creditors, they engaged a detective on the case. He traced some of the missing goods to Erin Village, to which place they had been consigned by express, and as a result of further enquiries, a case containing some of the missing property was found on the farm of Davidson. He denied all knowledge of having the goods and of how they came on his farm.

MOTHERS BITE BAD BABIES

Common Practice Among New York Italians

NEW YORK, June 13.—Instead of standing trial as she had intended, Mrs. Maria Riszuto of 208 Ellery street, Brooklyn, who had bit her 11-year-old stepdaughter Carolina because the child refused to do housework, pleaded guilty yesterday in Brooklyn Special Sessions to a charge of assault.

"It is a pretty common practice among Italian women to bite their children when they are disobedient," said her counsel.

"Frightful!" said Justice Collins.

Justice Fleming called the child behind the bench. In whispers she told her story to him and Justices Collins and Forker. She bared her arm and showed the scars of three wounds made by her stepmother's teeth.

The court postponed sentence until next Friday.

CELEBRATION OF SILVER WEDDING

Friends Congratulate Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Tooley

Twenty-five years ago yesterday, amid the ringing of June wedding bells in Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Tooley, 273 Rubidge Street, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Father McEntee in St. George's Church. Last evening their residence was the scene of the silver wedding which was fittingly celebrated. Upwards of forty guests were present and showered hearty congratulations and presented numerous appropriate gifts. The guests were received by Mrs. Tooley, assisted by her niece Miss Ethel Judge.

A delightful luncheon was served, the table being very artistically arrayed with bride's blossoms. Among those who sat at the table were:—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards, Mr and Mrs. A. W. Pratten, Mr. and Mrs. W. Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. C. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Tooley, Mrs. Fred Hickey, Mrs. J. Dutcher, Mrs. A. During the evening the gathering were favored by solos by Miss A. Simmons, Mr. E. Hanrahan and Mr. E. Lee. Miss Marion Gorman played the accompaniments most acceptably.

REDMOND OPENS WAR ON THE COMMITTEE OF NATIONALIST VOLUNTEERS

Leader of Home Rule Party Says Provisional Heads of Body Organized to Offset Ulster Volunteers Are Not in Sympathy With Nationalist Party.

LONDON, June 13. — John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, yesterday declared war on the provisional committee of the Nationalist volunteers, a majority of whom, he asserts, are not supporters of the Irish party.

Although the provisional committee, at a meeting held in Dublin on June 10, verbally welcomed Mr. Redmond's co-operation in the Irish volunteer movement, it followed this up with a call to the volunteers in each county to elect a representative to serve on the committee, and this action the Irish leader interprets as a refusal of the committee to accept his proposal made on June 9, that 25 representatives of the Irish party should be added to the committee in control.

A meeting of the Irish Nationalists discussed the matter in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon and subsequently Mr. Redmond issued a letter declaring that the action of the committee "amounts to a refusal to accept my offer of co-operation."

Pointing out that the committee originally was a self-constituted body Mr. Redmond proceeds:

"I am informed on good authority that a majority of them are not supporters of the Irish party, while of the rank and file of the Irish volunteers at least 95 per cent. are supporters of the party and of its policy. This is a condition of things which plainly cannot continue."

Declaring that the rank and file and the responsible leaders of the Irish people are entitled to demand some guarantee that an attempt shall not be made in the name of the Irish volunteers to dictate the policy of the National party, Mr. Redmond finds the best guarantee of this to be the presence on the governing body of men of proved judgment and steadiness, as suggested by him. He regrets that the committee "should hastily have repudiated" his suggestion.

"It is of the most vital importance to the national cause," the Irish leader says, "that this matter should be settled in an amicable spirit, and unless the committee can see a way to reconsider its decision and adopt the proposal I have made I must appeal to all supporters of the Irish party in the volunteers to at once organise county committees quite independent of the Dublin Provisional Committee, and to maintain an independent county government of the volunteer movement until it is possible to elect a governing body which shall have the full confidence of the country."

CONTROLLERS ARE UNSEATED

Judge Says They Were Irregularely Elected

OTTAWA, June 13—The four civic controllers, Joseph H. Kent, J. W. Nelson, E. R. McNeill, and Dr. R. H. Parent, have been unseated by Judge MacTavish owing to irregularities in the January election. The formal judgment was delivered this morning.

The action to unseat the controllers was taken by a ratepayer, Thomas Clarey on the ground that there had been much irregularity in the conduct of the January election in the various polls.

In view of the quashing of the liquor license bylaw on similar grounds by Mr. Justice Middleton at Toronto the unseating of the controllers was generally expected.

MINISTRY FALLS

French Senator Gives up his Portfolio

PARIS, June 13. — Amid frantic applause by the members of the left and the extreme left in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, the Ministry of Alexandre Felix Ribot, which was formed only Thursday to succeed that of Gaston Doumergue, was defeated in a vote on its declaration of military policy and then given a vote of lack of confidence. Premier Ribot and his Ministers picked up their portfolios and left the chamber to present their resignations to Premier Poincare.

The division on the military service law showed a vote of 306 to 262 against it, and later a motion disapproving the Cabinet, proposed by Deputies Albert Dalimere and Louis Jean Fuegh, was adopted by a vote of 374 to 187.

Following the defeat of the Government it was rumored in the corridors of the Chamber of Deputies that M. Viviani would be requested to again try to form a new Ministry.

UPPER HOUSE ONCE MORE THWARTS WILL OF GOV'T

Just at Moment of Prorogation Liberal Majority Amends Postal Act and Petition to Increase Western Senatorships—Government Refuses Both Changes and Measures Are Dropped.

OTTAWA, June 13. — Parliament was prorogued late yesterday afternoon, but a spectacular situation occurred before this formality was over. In the first place the Senate again amended the postoffice bill, and in the second place amended the address which the Government proposed to send to the Imperial Parliament asking for change in the clauses of the British North America Act, which affect representation in the Senate, in order that the Governor-General appoint nine more representatives from the western provinces to the Upper Chamber. The Government refused to accept the amendment and so the measures were dropped.

The redistribution bill was passed by the Senate without amendment.

The situation caused an immense amount of interest. Prorogation had been announced for three o'clock, but the changed state of affairs prevented this, and the Duke of Connaught was informed by telephone that the second chamber was not ready for his attendance. Militia men who had been ordered out to take part in the prorogation ceremony paraded the streets, and soon the whole city was alive to the fact that something unexpected had happened. Finally the Governor-General was informed that the Senate had promised to get through by 4.30.

A day or two ago the Senate amended the postoffice bill, which gave the Postmaster-General the power to impose rates on mail matter other than letters. When the bill came back to the Commons with the amendment of the Senate Mr. Pelletier refused to accept it, and it was sent back again to the Senate with the amending clause struck out. It came before the Senate again yesterday, and the Upper Chamber reinserted the amendment. When it was returned once more to the Commons Mr. Pelletier for the second time refused to accept it.

The other question which provided the general situation of deadlock was the refusal of the Senate to pass the bill to increase the number of Senators in the form in which it left the Commons. Senator Bostock moved an amendment to the effect that the increase should not take place until after the dissolution of the present Parliament. Senator Lougheed, on behalf of the Government, refused to accept the amendment. A vote was taken and the amendment carried on a party division.

When the amended bill came before the Commons, Premier Borden moved that the Senate amendment be not concurred in for the following reasons: Because the appointments to the Senate have no relation to the date of election of members to the House of Commons; because the address to the Imperial Parliament asking for an amendment to the clause of the B. N. A. Act which deals with Senate representation relates entirely to the last decennial census; because the amendment is inappropriate and incongruous there being no occasion for it; and because no sufficient reason had been adduced for the change made, and for the delay which would be caused by it.

The bill was then sent back to the Senate, and on the statement that the Commons refused to accept the Senate amendment, Senator Bostock moved that the Senate insist upon the amendment. This was carried, and the upshot is that there will be no increase in the western representation of the Senate until next session at any rate.

The Governor-General arrived at 4.30 o'clock, and after some delay the Commons were summoned to the Red Chamber, the Duke of Connaught delivered the speech from the throne, listened to the Parliamentary address of formal farewell, and at 5.45 declared the third session of the thirteenth Parliament prorogued.

In the Commons yesterday the question of the refusal of the Militia Department to allow the 5th Regiment of Montreal to parade at the Corpus Christi celebration carrying arms was brought up. The intimation was made that the regulations must be obeyed. The regulations state that only side arms can be carried in a religious procession.

GREECE DEMANDS CESSATION OF PERSECUTION BY THE TURKS

Premier Venezelos Utters a Warning to Turkey Which Falls Little Short of a Formal Declaration of Hostilities—Greek Minister is Instructed to Present Demand to the Turkish Government.

ATHENS, June 13. — The Greek Minister in Constantinople has been instructed to demand the cessation of persecution of Greeks in Asia Minor and the reinstatement in their homes and on their properties of 50,000 refugees who sought shelter from the Turks in Greek territory. A guarantee also is demanded, according to the correspondent that these refugees be not again molested.

A warning to Turkey, which fell little short of a formal declaration of hostilities, was uttered yesterday by Premier Venezelos of Greece in the Chamber of Deputies. He was speaking on the treatment of Greek subjects in Turkey.

M. Venezelos, who obviously found difficulty in restraining his language when he spoke of the way in which the Turks had treated his fellow countrymen, said:

"I do not wish to allow to escape words which cannot be recalled, but I should fail in my duty if I did not inform the Chamber of Deputies that the situation has become grave—even very grave. If a stop is not put to these conditions, the Hellenic Government will be forced not to content itself with joining in the lamentations of unhappy refugees."

The Premier characterised the Turkish persecutions of Greeks as being "of a character such as history had never known until to-day, their object being the elimination of populations which had been living in those places for several thousand years."

WHITNEY ADMINISTRATION BEST TEMPERANCE GOVERNMENT THE PROVINCE HAS EVER HAD

(Hamilton Spectator)

"I am anxious to see the bars abolished, but I am not anxious to see the best temperance government Ontario ever had abolished. I think that the Whitney Goverment has done more for the temperance cause than the Liberals did all the time they were in power, and I think a change at the present time would not be desirable. No man in Hamilton is stronger for temperance than I am, but I believe that there is nothing to be gained by dragging the issue into politics. We are gaining our point slowly but surely, and the Whitney Government is doing more for us every day. Let well enough alone."

In those words, T. F. Best, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., last night told where he stood in the matter of the present provincial campaign. He was not sure that the promises made by the Liberals would be carried out, whereas the Whitney Government had shown that it was willing to do all in its power for the cause.

The Liberals made a request that they be allowed to have rooms in the Y.M.C.A. for headquarters, but both Mr. Best and the executive felt that the institution should not be dragged into politics under the temperance cry, and the offer was given a deserved turn-down.

IS MR. GILLESPIE SINCERE?

IN ITS EFFORTS to make out a case against Mr. Soden, the Conservative candidate, our evening contemporary has twisted itself in a tangle of inconsistency and prevarication. It says Mr. Soden cannot point to a single sentence warranting the world scurrilous. The Review has already pointed out one editorial remark of the Liberal paper here that was essentially scurrilous.

But that is not all. It says Mr. Soden is politically insincere because he promises what he cannot bring about. If this statement is not false, it is at least a deceitful attempt to discredit Mr. Soden's position. If our friend wished even to approach fairness and lend just a bit of weight to his insipid attack, he would have stated how Mr. Gillespie could give what he promises. Mr. Gillespie has not told how he can do this. He cannot do what he promises. He promises to include the shop in the abolish the bar policy, which is contrary to the policy of Mr. Rowell in that shops are left out—are left to a municipal vote—yet he says, "Rowell's Policy is his Policy."

On that ground Mr. Gillespie is politically insincere. It is a specious argument to say Mr. Soden promises what he cannot give, when Mr. Gillespie is subject in a greater degree to that criticism. Notice this if Mr. Gillespie were elected and the Whitney Government returned, as it is almost certain to be, how will Mr. Gillespie give what he promises? Even if the Liberals were returned to power, Mr. Gillespie could not secure the abolition of shops when his leader is committed to a different policy. Mr. Soden was not even given credit for the stand he did take when his courage was discounted by "calculation." Very well, Mr. Gillespie has certainly included Mr. Soden's amendment in his platform—that referring to shops—for no other reason than calculation—an endeavor to catch temperance votes.

Further, Premier Sir James Whitney's statement was denied in that he would not do as he promised. If we are to judge Premier Whitney by his past record, his promise is as good as a bond, for he has never made a promise he has not fulfilled, nor has he told the temperance people one thing and done another. "Send me men that will support advanced temperance legislation and we will give it," says Premier Whitney. That promise is as good as gold, and is the one reason why every temperance man in this riding should stand solidly behind the candidature of Mr. R. J. Soden. Because of his strong position Liberals are trying to influence temperance votes, but the means they are adopting, far from gaining support are causing them to lose the respect of all fair-minded people.

WHY DON'T MEN GO TO CHURCH?

THIS QUESTION from one point of view is amusing. It sounds like a foolish question. When preachers relieve themselves of a lot of contradictory philosophy, they cease to convey a message to those inquiring minds seeking an answer to some of the deepest problems of modern life. Time and again, have we heard preachers who did not stick to their reasoning. Others do not relate their preaching to the needs of modern life. Possibly only a few in a congregation detect contradictory statements, but that does not alter the charge.

Ministers do not regard the above question as amusing. They look at it very seriously, and nine times out of ten, they blame their listeners for waywardness, stubbornness and other characteristics which prevent them from going to church. We have never heard a preacher question the ministry as the cause of empty pews. Yet note this fact. When a "good preacher" comes to a church, there is invariably a large congregation. If the regular minister delivers teaching that satisfies the needs of the people, why should they be indifferent or even make light of sacred things? Ministers must remember that they are never looking or speaking to a constant or stationary congregation, but that it is forever changing, always being influenced by new factors and ever applying old truths to fresh necessities. The philosopher may find in Kant, Hegel or Aristotle the food that satisfies him; he may look out of his study window and pity the masses who know not the ideals he loves. He may thus get far from his people, and it is possible the church is not facing the task for which it stands. It is possible the church is not relating itself closely enough to the life of the people. We say possible, because priesthood and congregation are both subject to change, but the possibility of such a condition arises from facts that are well known, and the church should therefore receive careful introspection.

Preaching is no easy task and requies constant watchfulness, but when a man is privileged to be a teacher on religious questions, he should be careful that his teaching is true and reasonable and confined to the spiritual requirements of his flock. There may be too much church—that it has become common, but however this may be, the problem is one that rests more with the spiritual advisers than with the people.

The attitude of the church to politics is one phase of this problem, and a very judicial and discerning mind is required to draw the line between what the church should discuss and what not. To try to raise the standard of politics is quite within its sphere, but the following from the Hamilton Spectator shows what is a wrong way to go about this phase of the problem:

> "The average man would like to go to church to worship and hear the word of God intelligently and profitably expounded, but when he finds, as many did yesterday, that he has dropped into a gathering given up to the laudation of a political candidate and party policies, the preachers must not resent it if he prefers to stay away until they get the proper perspective of their professional duties.
>
> "There are thousands of good conscientious men in this city who honestly think that Sir James Whitney has done more real work for the advancement of the temperance cause than any man who figured in the public life of this country.
>
> "It was not pleasing to see such service rewarded so ungraciously, even contemptuously, and the exploitation from the pulpit of candidates opposed to Sir James Whitney's splendid plan of handling the liquor question was not only in very bad taste but mighty poor politics."

The preacher in this case may have been quite conscientious, but when he himself decided what position the conscience of his hearers should take, he was not leaving the problem to their good judgment. For those who believe they have a conscience and can decide matters as they think right, such preaching rubs against the grain and does more than fail in its object—it antagonizes the listeners.

FLAX ACREAGE IN WEST.

REPORTS from 75 points in Saskatchewan and Alberta indicate that the decrease in flax acreage this year is likely to be from 35 per cent. to probably 40 per cent. However, as some of the land originally intended for wheat has not been sown, owing to the delay from the land being wet, it is possible that the flax acreage may to some extent be increased by using this land. The acreage in flax last year was 1,106,000 and the yield approximately 14,600,000 bushels. This was a decrease of about 20 per cent. compared with 1912. The continued decrease in flax acreage in Canada will be a source of regret to linseed oil men generally, and it is possible that a revival of flax growing may be effected by utilizing the straw, all of which now goes to waste.

Insurance Against Strikes.

Germans lead the world in many things, but it is rather surprising to note that in the field of insurance in certain respects she is first. Take strike insurance for illustration, this has been in successful operation in Germany for upward of ten years, and no less than fifty companies are writing this kind of insurance.

The figures indicate that the average duration of strikes has been reduced more than 66 per cent. since the time when these hard-headed Deutsch brothers of ours first began to insure against them. Obviously, the moral element was always present; it appeared useless to strike if it also appeared certain that the employer could not lose anything.

THE WAY IT GOES

By Walt Mason

Most all the big men in the land came up from small beginnings; in youth they toiled to beat the band, and wisely used their winnings. But having won the victor's crown, their senses seem to wander; they keep on salting dollars down for idle heirs to squander. The self-made man too often cries, "My Algernon, dear laddie, won't have to bust his hooks and eyes, and labor like his daddy." So Algy loafs upon the earth, expensive, gallivanty, and when grown up he isn't worth three whoops in Ypsilanti. He leads a life of gilded ease, all foolish fads pursuing, and yet the blind old daddy sees no harm in what he's doing. Far better for poor Algernon if he had harsher masters, who'd make him rise at break of dawn and earn his own Piastres. A life of idleness and sloth is scorned by men who've sweated, and few will ever cut a swath who pampered are and petted. Whene'er I hear of gilded youth receiving unearned riches, I say, "The lucky lad, forsooth, is he who's digging ditches."

THE GRASSHOPPER

THE grasshopper is a despised insect. Nobody has any use fer him. Boys chase him and farmers grit their teeth when they see him, with thousands of his kind, makin' waste places of their grasin' medders. No bird will eat him, less it's one that's tired of life and wants to commit suicide. The only thing I know that has any rale use fer a grasshopper is a fish, and everybody knows that a fish ain't got any sense when it comes to feedin'. A hen will sometimes gobble a grasshopper, if she's doin' penance of things you're watchin' her. She knows you eat her eggs and if she kin make you feel uncomfortable, she's goin' to do it.

But, jest the same, a grasshopper kin teach you a lesson. If you notice, he eats clean, as he goes along. He's thorough, that's what he is. He's harmful but the harm he does he does as well as he knows how. And another thing in his favor is his cheerfulness. You and me don't have to eat grass and be destructive in order to copy the grasshopper. Let's be cheerful and thorough.

The DAUGHTER of DAVID KERR

By Harry King Tootle

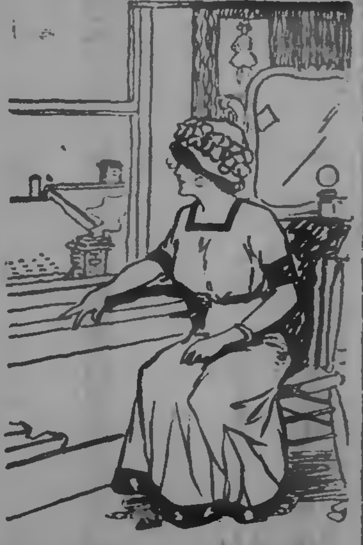
It was just two o'clock when they reached the mission. They had not been there long before Mrs. Wallace suggested that they call on a poor girl who was ill in a room over Mike Noonan's saloon. The sick woman was known to her, but she told nothing of her story. It wasn't much different from any one of half a hundred she might have told.



Two Windows Looking Out Over the Roofs of Neighboring Houses.

The two women felt not the slightest fear in walking through such a tough quarter of the town. Mrs. Hayes was an experienced settlement worker, and knew many of the persons whom they passed. They for their part knew her and respected her for the kindly charity she dispensed so unostentatiously. As for Gloria, she could fear nothing since she was almost in total ignorance of what dangers might beset their path. Then, too, she was busy with her own thoughts.

Mrs. Hayes had been told in what room the sick woman lay, and without a word to anyone, in fact they saw no one, they went in the door on the side street and climbed the dark, uncarpeted stairs to the third floor. At a door just at the foot of the flight of steps which led to the fourth story, Mrs. Hayes knocked gently. There was no answer. She decided that if there was no response to the next knock she would open the door to see if the girl were asleep. A second and louder knock, however, aroused her and she called to them to enter.

Gloria and Mrs. Hayes walked into the room, and as the latter went to the bedside to explain how they happened to call, the daughter of David Kerr stood stock still and gazed about her with undisguised curiosity.

The occupant of the room, a frail little creature with uncertain, golden hair, was known to her companions as Little Ella. Upon the blotter at the police station she was always booked as Luella Windermere. She had found the name in a novel and, liking it, had taken it for her own. In the unkindly daylight, without the paint that mocked the cheek that once had bloomed a healthier hue, the pallor of her face was heightened by the dark circles under her eyes. Yet the ravages of a life too harsh for one so weak had not been so great as to blot entirely from her face the traces of a simpering sweetness.

If Little Ella's room could be summed up in one word, that word would be—sham. It was not a poverty that honestly confessed itself to be such, that room. Instead it was a poverty that slunk away into corners and hid behind the rankest imitations of better things. Everything seemed to have been purchased at the cheapest booths at Vanity Fair. There were few things of substance, but many things of vain and empty show. Had Gloria been more skilled in reading the world aright, every bauble, every useless ornament would have preached a sermon. As it was, there was for her in large part only the interest of novelty.

To the right of Gloria were two windows looking out over the roofs of neighboring houses. Between them was a scarred maple dresser. It was littered among other things with postcard photographs, business cards, a calendar with a picture in many colors and a bottle of Florida water. Directly in front of her was the sick girl's bed, a cheap iron affair with massive tarnished brass trimmings. Beyond it was a frail-looking trunk painted in imitation of leather. The only things which boldly confessed themselves to be just as represented were two wooden kitchen chairs.

Looking close beside her, Gloria saw a battered maple washstand and beyond it a door which led into a closet under the stairs. She glanced curiously at the walls, which boasted some cheap prints, most of them showing by the advertising matter upon them from which whisky house they had emanated. Some of the girl's waists and skirts hung upon nails, but the clothes which she had taken off the night before on retiring were upon a chair beside her trunk.

"I heard you were sick," Mrs. Hayes said sympathetically, "and I want to know if I can do anything to help you."

Little Ella viewed them with cold antagonism. They were not of her world and she both feared and hated them.

"Naw," she growled. Then against her real wishes something out of her old life made her add grudgingly "Much obliged."

Mrs. Hayes had worked too long among such people not to understand, and she ignored the girl's unfriendly manner by asking: "How do you feel today?"

"Rotten."

"No wonder; it's so close in here. I think it would be better for you if you'd let me open a window. It's mild out. May I?"

"Go as fer as yuh like; I don't feel like fightin'."

A nod from Mrs. Hayes sent Gloria to open a window.

"There now," exclaimed the younger visitor. "You'll feel better."

"Gloria," Mrs. Hayes asked, so the sick woman could not hear, "do you mind staying with her while I go to the mission for a few minutes? I want Mrs. Wallace to come over if she can; and the doctor, too, as soon as I can find him."

"Certainly, I'll stay," was the prompt response. "What's the matter with her?"

"I can't say until I see the doctor, because I'm not sure. I want Doctor Hayes to see her. If I can't get him I'll get Doctor Norton. You're not afraid to stay?"

Gloria smiled. What was there to fear? The girl surely could not become so ill in the short space of time Mrs. Hayes should be away as to render her inexperienced nurse absolutely helpless.

"Of course I'm not afraid," she replied. Then impulsively, "Besides, I want to do some good in the world. I've been too selfish."

"No, dear, not that," her companion gently remonstrated. "Thoughtless, perhaps, because you didn't know, but not selfish." Then she turned to Little Ella and said in the same quiet tone: "I think you'd be happier where there'd be some one to take care of you."

"I'm not sick, I'm just tired."

The ignorant fear sickness and disguise it as long as they can, shirking the fight and thereby making it all the harder. Understanding this, Mrs. Hayes answered lightly:

"If that's the case, I hope you'll entertain my friend for me until I return. She's interested in the work at the mission."

"You're on," Little Ella replied with an air of resignation as Mrs. Hayes left the room. She rolled over on her side and closed her eyes. Already she began to feel bored.

Although Gloria had professed that she had no fear about being left with the sick woman, when she said it she had in mind only a fear of being alone in such a dismal lodging house and fear that she might be called upon to act as doctor and trained nurse both were her patient to take a turn for the worse. Now, however, a new thought came to her. How was she to act? What was she to do to amuse her? She felt instinctively the antipathy she had aroused. She cowered like a lamb before this young she-wolf of the city. She was alone, defenseless, with this creature that had so far reverted to type that she might rend and tear. Even in a battle of wits, and that was all there would be if the girl did not ignore her entirely, Gloria felt herself no match for this brazen child of misfortune. Her comparisons were physical, but it was not a physical fear she felt. Sheltered inexperience was pitted against the most cruel experience society could ever devise or tolerate.

Just think of it! One ten-cent packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS has actually killed a bushel of flies.

No other fly killer gives results at all approaching this.

For Round Shoulders.

A splendid exercise to correct round shoulders is to lie face down on the floor and raise the body on the hands and toes ten times. Do this several times a day and increase the number of movements each time.

Another exercise is to stand in a doorway and, with each hand on the door frame, try to walk through the doorway. You will feel the effect of this movement on the shoulders.

You should always stand or walk with the head held erect, the chest out and the abdomen in. This position will force the shoulders to be straight.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Logansport, Ind. — "My baby was over a year old and I bloated till I was a burden to myself. I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pricking me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. I told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I would try it before I would submit to any operation. He did so and I improved right along. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine.

"I hope other suffering women will try your Compound. I will recommend it to all I know." — Mrs. DANIEL D. B. DAVIS, 110 Franklin St., Logansport, Ind.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

LATEST FROM DAME FASHION

SOME KIND OF COAT FOR SUMMER.

For the all necessary summer coat that is not too warm and just warm enough for a country breeze or the sea air of cotton golf cord is an excellent stuff. These cords come in several widths and in many prices, the cheapest extremely pretty, and in the bright colorings that are in for summer. The cut of the coat is simple enough, yet must have a smartness and a dash to it. The one shown is in orange golf cord with white pearl buttons and a dainty Medici collar of ecru machine embroidery, wired.

Keeping Hair From Darkening.

When a child has pretty light hair it may be kept from darkening in this way: Wash the head once a fortnight with a good shampoo and add to the rinsing water the juice of a lemon. Every day well rub this lotion into the scalp and hair: Oil of orange flower, four drops; alcohol (90 per cent) four drams; acetic acid, four drams; tincture of cantharides, five drams; distilled water to make eight ounces. Do not forget that scalp massage keeps the hair bright and in good, healthy condition. The scalp should be rubbed round and round in a circular movement every night for five minutes.

The Irritable Mother.

Even cleaning can be overdone There is a type of woman who seems to think of nothing in the world but cleaning and tidying her house. Not a speck of dust or dirt can be found in her house. All this is very admirable no doubt, but she's scouring and cleaning all day, and the consequence is that when her husband and children come home she is thoroughly worn out and irritable.

Surely a tired, irritable mother and a spotless house are less desirable than a little dust and a bright mother ready to welcome husband and children after the day's work is done.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

Milady's Mirror

Care of Arms and Neck.

Since fashion has decreed that women shall wear gowns in which there appears not the vestige of a sleeve, waists that are cut low in the front and more than low in the back, it behooves the woman who wishes to wear them to pay a good deal of attention to the appearance of her neck and arms.

Most women who have not bestowed some care on this part of the anatomy will find the elbow hard, callous and unsightly, but a nightly massage of the joint with a good cold cream after the elbow has been thoroughly cleansed with pure soap, warm water and a brush will drive away the callous spots and make the skin soft, pink and beautiful. When massaging the arms always remember to rub downward with long, strong strokes.

As for the neck, any disfiguring marks should be dabbed with lemon juice or diluted peroxide. In fact, to sponge the entire neck and shoulders with some powerful astringent of this order would be a good idea before beginning treatment, as the lemon juice or peroxide will do much to whiten the skin. After this bleaching fluid has been allowed to dry and remain on the skin for an hour or more the neck and shoulders should be washed free of the astringent with a good soap and warm water and a good cold cream rubbed into the skin.

Remember in massaging the throat that a downward stroke is the one to employ. As for massage of the shoulders, no woman can do this for herself, and if she needs this treatment to improve her appearance she will have to call to her aid a mother, sister or a professional masseuse.

For the Tired Woman.

When the business woman comes home from work tired and fagged there is nothing so restful as a little massage of the forehead and eyes. It soothes and quiets the nerves and improves the appearance as nothing else could possibly do.

First wash the face with warm water; then rub a very little skin cream on the fingers—only a very little. Lay the tips of the fingers together in the center of the forehead and draw them gently outward to the temples.

Do this on the forehead and on the eyes. If one of those people who feel tired in the lower part of the face, do it on the mouth also, beginning in the middle of the lips and working outward to the ears.

Rub very lightly and very steadily, keeping on for perhaps five minutes. This process takes all that dragged and worn appearance from the face and makes one look many years younger than before it was tried.

Care of Eyebrows and Lashes.

Don't neglect your eyebrows and eye lashes, allowing them to get straggly and thin. Use an eyebrow brush regularly, brushing the brows smoothly and firmly and gently brushing the eyelashes upward.

Petroleum jelly is splendid for thickening and darkening the brows and lashes, and so, for the matter of that, is cocoa butter. Apply a little every night, and you will find in a very short time your eyebrows and eyelashes will improve.

Be careful, though, how you apply either petroleum jelly or cocoa butter to the lashes. You require only the least little bit. Take a match, round the edge of which a tiny piece of cotton wool has been tightly twisted, and dip into petroleum jelly or cocoa butter. Apply under the eyelashes, working upward. This will cause them to take a pretty upward curl. Never clip the eyelashes. By doing so you will work them lasting harm.

Mouth Breathing.

Mouth breathing is the cause of many undesirable things. It is said to lead to adenoids and other throat troubles, also to chest ailments.

At the same time one should remember that mouth breathing is sometimes a symptom of adenoids. The back of the nose being blocked by these, the child cannot inhale air in sufficient quantity through its nostrils.

When you notice that a child keeps its mouth continually open and cannot breathe comfortably through the nose you should at once consult a surgeon.

Eating with the lips unclosed is a very bad habit. It may not perhaps affect the health, but it may affect the child's future socially and affect it very seriously. People fight very shy of those whose table manners are distinctly unpleasant. Correct this habit when noticed.

Exercising For Grace.

To be graceful one must learn how to relax readily. Stiff, hard muscles are ever foes to grace, for, as a rule, grace should mean relaxation well controlled. To this end all of the muscles of the body should have more or less exercise, not necessarily violent, but at least sufficient to bring unused muscles into play.

One excellent exercise for bringing into play unused muscles is that of steadying oneself by holding lightly to the back of the chair and then kicking, not exceedingly high, eight times with each leg—twice forward, twice backward and twice to each side. It is said, too, that besides exercising unused muscles this exercise frees and stimulates the large nerves of the lower portion of the spinal column, and this, of course, makes for health. This exercise may be repeated every day or every other day to advantage.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a Government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the new-born babe. They are especially good in the summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MAZATBAN ATTACKED

Constitutionalists open Attack on City

On Board U. S. S. California, Matatlan, Mexico, June 11, via wireless to San Diego, Calif., June 13.—The Constitutionalist army under Gen. Obregon began yesterday its first concentrated general assault on the Federal fortifications at Mazatlan. The battle raged all day.

FIVE TIMES WEDDED

NEW YORK, June 13.—Mrs. Maria Lassaso, 110 years old, of Paterson, N.J., who five years ago was married to Anthony Lassaso, thirty years her junior, died at St. Joseph's Hospital, this city. Old age was the cause, according to hospital surgeons.

Mrs. Lassaso enjoyed the best of health until recently, and when her bridegroom died, eight months ago, her friends predicted that she would live to take a sixth husband. It was said at the hospital that the aged woman's general attitude toward life was most cheerful.

NERVOUS CHILDREN

The Trouble is Often Really St. Vitus Dance—Do not Neglect it

Many a child has been called awkward, has been punished in school for not keeping still or for dropping things, when the trouble was really St. Vitus dance. This disease may appear at any age, but it is most common between the ages of six and fourteen years. It is caused by thin blood which fails to carry sufficient nourishment to the nerves, and the child becomes restless and twitching of the muscles and jerking of the limbs and body follow. In severe cases the child is unable to hold anything or feed itself. St. Vitus dance is cured by building up the blood. The most successful treatment is to remove the child from all mental excitement, stop school work and give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills renew the blood supply, strengthen the nerves, and restore the child to perfect health. Here is proof of their power to cure. Mrs. Geo. A. MacDonald, Harrington, N.S., says : "My son was attacked by St. Vitus dance ; at the outset his muscles would twitch and his step was weak and jerky. We called in a doctor who treated him, but notwithstanding he continued to grow worse and at last grew so bad that he could not hold a cup in his hand, while his head constantly twitched, and his speech became rather indistinct. At this juncture I saw in a paper the cure of a boy from similar trouble through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. We at once sent for a supply, and in a few weeks after he began their use there was considerable improvement, and it was not long after this before he was completely cured, and has never had a symptom of the trouble since. I am convinced that there is no medicine like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the cure of St. Vitus dance.

If your dealer does not keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PEACE PACTS

Britain, France and U.S. all but Ready

WASHINGTON, June 13. — Secretary Bryan for the United States and Ambassadors Spring Rice for Great Britain and Jusserand for France, will soon sign on the same day peace treaties, modeled after those already signed by Secretary Bryan, with sixteen nations. The signing of these treaties awaits only the approval of the British pact by the British self-governing colonies, to which it has been submitted.

The Anglo-American and the Franco-American treaties will in a general way, follow a similar pact already signed by Secretary Bryan, with the Netherlands. They provide that all questions arising between the United States and the respective European powers, which cannot be settled by diplomacy, shall be submitted for investigation for a period of at least one year to an international committee of five members. During the investigation hostilities would not be entered into, but the findings of the committee would not be binding.

King Wore the Kilts.

LONDON, June 13.—Elaborate arrangements, which garrisoned Buckingham Palace like a fortress, effectually prevented any such militant manifestation at last night's state ball as marred the last court.

The scene in the ballroom was unusualy brilliant. The King himself lent a picturesque note by appearing in the ornate kilted uniform of the Black Watch of which he is colonel-in-chief.

The Queen wore a gown of pale blue with a corsage of sequins arranged with gold lace over the palest pink satin; her crown was of pearls.

Storstad To Be Released.

MONTREAL, June 13.—The Norwegian collier Storstad will probably be released from custody by the Admiralty Court some day next week on giving bonds in connection with the action of $2,000,000 damages taken against the Storstad's owners by the C. P. R. Co. because of the sinking of the steamship Empress of Ireland. It is said the case will not be heard in the Admiralty Court until the official enquiry into the Empress disaster under the chairmanship of Lord Mersey is well advanced.

LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE

SUFFS AND ULSTER.

Editor Review,

Dear Sir,—What utter rot for the Westminster Gazette to blame Ulster for militancy of the suffragettes when this militancy originated years ago, while the mere preparations of the Ulster volunteers is a matter of the last few months. You might as well blame the overflow of Downie Street Creek for Noah's flood.

Yours truly,

OBSERVER.

POLITICAL CHURCH TEMPERANCE.

Editor of The Review,

Dear Sir,—May I ask permission for space in your valuable paper to explain a few thoughts which came to my mind while listening to a learned gentleman give what was supposed to be a temperance sermon from a Methodist pulpit on Sunday, June 7th. However I cannot see how he could call it anything but a political address.

In the first place he told us how he happened to be at the convention the day before. He did not tell us that he was one who spoke at that convention. Then he went on at some length to give in detail what work the party for whom he was speaking were doing in our Province, yet at the same time taking good care to make mention of the Prison Farm which I believe was the only thing he did (in a sort of a way) give the present Government credit for. Then he had the Good Roads Bill, the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Bilingual School Act, which all went in to make up the greater part of what was expected to be a temperance sermon.

Now sir, if a political address in God's House and on His own day, is work that he feels he can conscientiously do, then I contend that we as farmers would not be committing as great a sin if we were to go about our daily work on the Sabbath. What harm we would do would be chiefly on ourselves; and again we would not be desecrating the House of God by delivering political addresses in it and also by taking up the time which could have been profitably used in many ways to help all who were present.

Now if this gentleman thinks he is helping along the great cause of temperance, there are very few in this neighborhood who agree with him. There are many who think and sincerely believe he is hindering that great work. He also told us who were the proper ones to support in both ridings.

Now I consider we are in a far better position to know who to vote for than this gentleman. Because we all know more or less of the candidate's daily life up till now and can judge from that, while he knows—practically speaking, nothing about them. So I think when we hear the speakers on both sides discuss their views at the meetings held on week days, we will not need the above gentleman again on Sunday. In conclusion I might say if he should ever be prompted to visit our hamlet again I trust that we, as officials of the church, will first ascertain whether he is going to give a political address or preach a sermon and by so doing help to put an end to such sinful practices.

Thanking you, I remain,

Yours for the cause of real temperance,

A TIRED LISTENER.

"TEMPERANCE EXECUTIVE."

Editor Review,

Dear Sir,—You publish in Thursday evening's paper under the heading, "Temperance Executive held meeting," some statements that are very far afield even for election time.

1st. It was not a meeting of the executive at all, but an informal meeting of former committee chairmen and workers to discuss what action if any was necessary under present conditions.

2nd. The statement "that the majority of the members of the executive present were men who always supported Liberal candidates" was not the case, and your informant by this and other statements does not know the personel of the executive. The fact is there were four members of the executive present, three of these were Conservatives and one a Liberal.

Your statement that I resented the insinuation that Mr. Soden had stolen his nomination is true. I was referring directly to the scurrilous belittlement of the party organ and contending it should deal with real issues.

At no meeting of our Executive has any member either Liberal or Conservative stated directly or indirectly that Mr. Soden obtained the nomination by unfair means.

The only reason we cannot fully endorse Mr. Soden is the he gives us only the professional political answer to a definite course of action on the temperance issue, coupled with the policy of the Conservative Government on the three-fifths clause.

But although we cannot endorse his candidature, we most emphatically deprecate the unfair and untruthful insinuations made concerning him in the party press, and some of Mr. Soden's statements regarding our action being governed by Liberal influences are also very far from inside facts as we know them.

Yours truly,

A. B. CUNNINGHAM.

Peterboro, June 12, 1914.

THE LIQUOR SHOP.

Editor of the Editor,

Sir,—The Revs. Pogue and Peever are two able and influential ministers and had the right of all electors to be present at Mr. Soden's meeting. They had the right also to ask questions of those who are seeking the votes and confidence of the electors. A voter has a right to satisfy himself within reason that the candidate is a proper man to vote for. But in the present campaign why do these gentlemen favour the liquor-shop? Is that not a terrible responsibility for them to assume? Here are two men, one, Mr. Gillespie who says that Mr. Rowell's policy is his policy and Mr. Rowell says that he will not abolish the shop but will leave it to local option. Mr. Soden says that his policy is more advanced that the present policy of his leader although his leader says if the electors want the Soden policy let them send Soden men. Now what is Mr. Soden's policy? It is to abolish the manufacture and sale of liquor in every shape, form and place. How can any sincere temperance worker vote for Mr. Gillespie as against Mr. Soden? The one who does so votes for the liquor-shop not against it. We cannot buck against facts. Shouting and waving hands are not arguments. If you are against the whiskey shop vote for Soden. If you are in favor of it vote for Gillespie. "Take heed lest ye fall."

Yours,

READER.

P.S.—What could have been the object of those who would have had Mr. Soden sign an endorsation of the Rowell policy and thus tie himself to the liquor-shop?

A special meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilson Taylor, 780 Water St., to consider a letter from the Provincial Union, regarding the temperance situation.

The Unions of the Province are asked "to cast aside all party affiliations, and to aid by voice, pen and influence, the man who has come out boldly on our platform of abolishing the bar.

Let us feel that we have the right to ask the men who vote upon this supremely important question to cast their ballot this time in the interests of the home, the women and the children."

The meeting was well attended and after a most interesting discussion the following resolution was passed:

Resolved that we, the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Peterboro most heartily endorse Mr. Rowell's policy, to abolish the bar, and that we will support by our influence the man who will vote to abolish the bar-room.

A stirring address on the needs of the hour was given by Miss Lucy Broad, a white ribboner from England, who is visiting at Judge Huycke's and has recently been taking part in the temperance campaign in Portland, Oregon.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting on June 26th instead of in September, this year.

POPULAR VOCALIST SANG AT BAND CONCERT

The large crowd that attended the 57th Band concert held in Victoria Park last night were afforded a most delightful evening, when some of the latest hits of the season were rendered. The singing of Joe Minicola in "Last night was the end of the world," was well received. His range of voice combined with its sweetness captivated the gathering. He was forced to respond to an encore.

NEW SOUTH-END STORE.

Another evidence of the growth of the south end. The new grocery store at the corner of Romaine and Park Streets recently opened by Brioux Bros. is complete in every detail. The building itself put on a finishing touch to that section of the city and the manner in which residents of the south ward are patronizing the store demonstrates that it is a welcome asset. All lines of groceries are carried and under the careful supervision of Mr. Alphonse Brioux the store is bound to meet success.

REGISTER NOW

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF FORGERY

Peterboro Man Said to be R. Collins in Trouble

(Sudbury Star.)

Charged with forging and raising a cheque of the Mond Nickel Company, Coniston, from 80c. to $60.80, a Peterboro man who gave his name to the police as Robert Collins, pleaded guilty this morning and was remanded for sentence. In the meantime his record will be looked into.

When the cheque was presented to the cashier of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, his suspicions were aroused and the customer was told to come back later, the cheque being held in the bank. Upon investigation the suspicions were confirmed and the police on Tuesday arrested Collins in the Majestic Cafe at the instance of the Mond Nickel Co.

Although the prisoner gave his name to the authorities as Collins, it is now known that his right name is R. L. Gardner, in whose favor the original cheque for 80c. was drawn. Also several letters from his wife in Peterboro were found on him bearing the name of R. L. Gardner.

The work on the cheque is fairly clever, but is said by the bank officials not to be the work of an expert.

TORONTO FIRM OPEN ON CHARLOTTE ST.

The Globe Tailoring Co., of Toronto, who held their formal opening in Peterboro yesterday at the premises, 181 Charlotte St., met with a much greater success than expected.

The new firm needs no introduction as high-class gents' tailors, having been established at Toronto for a number of years, and their goods and workmanship have met the approval of their many patrons, and no doubt they will share in a large portion of business in this city. For one week they are offering suits made to measure for $14.50 and are giving away free of charge a pair of workingman's trousers with each suit and many of the workingmen will take advantage of such a rare opportunity.

TORTURE RELIEVED RHEUMATISM CURED.

Superintendent Of Sunday School In Toronto Says "I Am Pleased To Tell You That I Am Cured", After Taking "Fruit-a-tives".

R. A. WAUGH, Esq.

55 Dovercourt Road, TORONTO, Oct. 1st, 1913.

"For a long time, I have thought of writing you regarding what I term a most remarkable cure effected by your remedy "Fruit-a-tives". You may publish this letter, whole or in part, if you wish to do so. I have lived in this city for more than 12 years and am well known.

I suffered from Rheumatism, especially in my hands. I have spent a lot of money without any good results, until I used "Fruit-a-tives". I have taken "Fruit-a-tives" for 18 months now, and am pleased to tell you that I am cured. All the enlargement has not left my hands and perhaps never will, but the soreness is all gone and I can do any kind of work. I have gained 35 pounds in 18 months. I am very grateful for what "Fruit-a-tives" has done for me".

R. A. WAUGH.

Rheumatism of any kind—whether in hands, arms, feet, legs, joints or back—is caused by uric acid in the blood. Uric acid is formed when there is any stomach trouble, coupled with any disturbance of the kidneys, bowels or skin, which prevent these organs from properly ridding the system of waste matter. This waste, or urea, acted upon by an acid condition of the stomach, forms uric in the blood. The only way that Rheumatism, Sciatica and Lumbago can be cured, is to cure the kidneys, regulate the bowels and improve the digestion and skin action. "Fruit-a-tives" cures Rheumatism because this wonderful fruit medicine gives new strength and vitality to the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys and skin—purifies the blood and prevents the formation of an excess of uric acid. Rheumatism is a stubborn disease, but "Fruit-a-tives" will always cure it when faithfully used according to directions.

Wanted Excuse for Tardiness at Church Social

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 13.—Rev. J. W. Chambers, young assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, who was found lying bound and gagged on the trolley car tracks near Stratfield, has admitted that he had bound and gagged himself. The alleged admission came after two hours of sharp questioning by detectives.

Chambers said, the police assert, that he had been scheduled to attend a festival given by his church, that he was late and did not know how to explain his tardiness satisfactorily, so he scratched his face, rolled around in a stone quarry, stuffed a handkerchief in his mouth and bound his wrists. When he was found, he told of having been held up by two mysterious men.

CANADIAN GIRL AT Y.W.C.A. CONGRESS

STOCKHOLM Sweden, June 13.—At yesterday's session of the International Congress of the Young Women's Christian Association, Miss Una Saunders of Canada moved a resolution in favor of woman suffrage, but condemning militancy. An address by Miss Mabel Gratty last Tuesday on the subject of ideals for women has aroused much interest among the delegates as likewise has a paper read by Mrs. Fraser on "How to Take Care of Young Girls Coming to Cities from the Country."

In all the discussions before the congress the American and English delegates are taking leading parts.

Strike Like a Revolt.

ROME, June 13.—Movements of a revolutionary character were reported yesterday throughout the four provinces of Bologna, Ferrara, Ravenna and Forli.

Although a cessation of the general strike which began on Monday had been ordered by the labor organizations, the workmen of extreme views in these districts have refused to return to work.

Nothing has been heard from Ravenna since the despatch of a detachment of troops from Bologna to assist in restoring order.

Boys Act as Bandits.

PRESQUE ISLE, Maine, June 13.—Attacked by other boys while fishing Thursday, Victor Porter and Hartley Webb, 11 years of age, were stripped of their clothes and left bound with shoestrings tied tightly about their necks. Webb rolled into the edge of the stream and was drowned. Two boys named Cole were arrested.

STABBED IN DISPUTE OVER A WOMAN

TORONTO, June 13.—Following a dispute over a woman, Cerial Bremento, of 167 Centre avenue, stabbed a fellow-countryman, Michael Partello, 132 Elm street, five times at the corner of Elm and Centre avenue at 9.30 last evening. Partello is in the General Hospital, and is reported to be in a serious condition.

According to eye-witnesses, the two were talking quietly enough until Bremento suddenly drew a long knife and lunged at Partello, who at first evaded the thrust, but was subsequently wounded by Bremento.

Ways of Great Singers.

The celebrated impresario Schurmann once said it was a precarious matter to draw up an agreement with a star, for each one had some strange little provisos which he insisted on inserting.

In one contract Tamagno exacted that he should be allowed thirty-seven candles each night in his dressing room. Schurmann was amazed that even a great tenor should require so much illumination, but he consented. When Schurmann visited Tamagno's dressing room he found only two candles alight. On another occasion he discovered only one. Inquiries led to the discovery that the provident tenor saved up the other candles and sold them at a profit.

Schurmann said that a small boy whose father was a great friend of Caruso's, having asked the tenor for a signed photograph, received as a reply, "Certainly; go to my photographer; he will sell you a photograph, and if you bring that to me I will write on it whatever you like."

Rising at Dawn.

Men nowadays seem to assume it is a great virtue to be abed late in the morning. In the wise old days of Greece it wasn't so. Here is a quotation from the dialogue of Charmides:

Lysimachus—Let me beg a favor of you. Come to my house tomorrow at dawn, and we will advise about these matters. For the present let us make an end of the conversation.

Socrates—I will come tomorrow, Lysimachus, as you propose, God willing.

Think of rising at dawn these days just to have a talk. Yet that is just what "Athena's wisest son" agreed to do and did. What a contrast to our modern morning laziness! But think what a fine time it was to meet and talk; when the air was cool and full of fragrance and the songs of the birds. The world was just freshening up and putting on its beautiful smile. Socrates knew all this, and so promised to be there at dawn.

THE MILITANTS

London Police Giving Them No Rest

LONDON, June 13. — The police are persisting in their harrying tactics against the militant suffragettes, to whom they are determined not to give any rest.

Yesterday they raided a private house in Kensington where the "Wild Women" established their headquarters, after their offices in Westminster had been invaded and closed a few days ago. Great quantities of papers were seized, but no arrests were made.

Attempt To Burn Church.

LONDON, June 13.—A determined attempt was made by militant suffragettes yesterday morning to burn the ancient church of St. Margaret's at Chipstead, about 14 miles to the southeast of London. Three distinct fires fed by fire-lighters, composed of squares of felt saturated with oil were set by the "arson squad."

The rector, Rev. Wm. H. Stone, and the villagers were soon on the scene and were able to extinguish the flames before much damage had been done to the church, which dates from the 12th century.

Spanish Convicts' Mutiny.

CERBERE, France, June 13.—Convicts in the Spanish prison of Figueras, just over the frontier line in Catalonia, took advantage of the absence of most of the guards, attracted by a procession outside the jail in celebration of the religious festival of Corpus Christi, seized the governor and beat him to death. They broke into the store of arms and ammunition and attempted to escape. Detachments of troops and wardens fired upon fleeing convicts and fierce fighting ensued within the prison before the convicts were eventually mastered, many being shot down.

Half Million Against Union.

MONTREAL, June 13. — The collection by Presbyterians of $500,000 to fight church union was announced yesterday at the annual meeting of the Montreal Methodist Conference in St. James' Church, by Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown of Winnipeg, a general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada. He said that the Presbyterians wanted a survey of the country. He had no objection to this provided the Presbyterians paid for it. He thought the matter of property could be adjusted by Parliamentary legislation.

Rev. Dr. Sparling of Ottawa was elected president of the conference.

Sues U. S. For Millions.

WASHINGTON, June 13. — Frank Gunn Farnham, of Honesdale, Pa., has succeeded in bringing before the Supreme Court a suit for millions of dollars against the Government under a patent for a "vest pocket stamp book." The Postoffice Department sells millions of these annually. He said he was led to the invention because stamps in his pocket stuck together on rainy days.

Mustn't Marry Divorced People.

REGINA, Sask., June 13—The Anglican Synod, in session yesterday morning, decided that "no clergyman within the jurisdiction of this diocese shall solemnise marriage between persons either of whom have been divorced from one who is living at the time."

THE CHINOOK.

The West Coast King of Fish Is a Fighter and a Jumper.

Trained in the most powerful of currents, the famous chinook salmon of the west coast can seldom be drowned by running or exhausted by playing, for least of all the hazards which beset the strenuous life of this fish is the hook of the angler and no such genius, or prowess to escape is, according to Dr. W. H. Ballou, possessed by another. The doctor has fought the fish, and ought to know its might. He speaks of a fifty-two pound salmon that took five and one-half hours to bring to gaff. "A salt-water fish that can swim six hundred to two thousand miles in fresh water, that is bred at enormous altitudes, and that takes leaping up precipices as part of its life's game, naturally declines to stop for every angler."

There are numerous devices to catch such fish, but the enormous size they attain shows that millions of them escape for years even nets, sharks, and other set monsters. An average fish of forty pounds shows perhaps twelve years and upwards of growth, and thousands of miles of wanderings from its initial home in a minute egg deposited, perhaps, at the very border of perpetual snows. Most of his life has been fought out in stupendous currents. A fish so trained, repeats our authority, can neither be drowned nor exhausted by the art of the angler.

In the torrential rivers of British Columbia picturesque and dramatic scenes are visible, usually the last week in April, or later, if heavy floods hold back the season. Above the dead line salmon are massed solidly, even on the stairways. So many try to jump at once that only a few succeed at a time, the others falling back into the mass. The small three-pounders and the big forty-pounders—some of them weigh up to one hundred and forty pounds—seem to have the hardest luck getting up. The little fellows lack sufficient weight for catapulting themselves and the big fellows are too clumsy for it. All succeed eventually, however, the small salmon practicing up and the big fellows training down. In the dead line area, many fish may be seen with bruised heads and battered fins, from contact with unyielding rocks.

Dead females found after spawning in small numbers occasionally have, without proper autopsy, been considered victims of exhaustion, due to jumping falls. In Dr. Ballou's opinion, a proper autopsy would show that a fungus attack would kill the females, taking advantage of their low vitality. Great advances are being made in diagnosing the deaths of fishes, due to fungoid diseases, no species examined being immune. While science has discovered no instance of salmon breeding in salt water, the subject is an open one, very difficult to investigate.

Even as late as 1904, authorities asserted that after ascending streams and spawning, all salmon, male and female, without exception, died. Up to that time there had been no official investigations on the subject. Since then, the theory has been completely destroyed. At the great western fish hatcheries, as already mentioned, salmon have been tagged with brass tags after spawning and hundreds of them have returned annually to spawn. Even "stripping" the females of their eggs at the hatcheries has been found to cause no inconvenience to them. Further, salmon that have been found dead, on examination disclosed that death was caused by parasites.

ATHLETICS BIFFED THE PILL ALL OVER THE PARK

Petes Did Some Biffing Too but the Swatsmiths Were Idle When Runs Looked Promising

David was supposed to have some stuff on the sphere when he beaned Goliath but David and all the hurlers in the league could not have stopped Hamilton yesterday and the visiting crew pounded their way to a 10-5 victory. Schettler's snoois were no puzzle at all and the visitors hit fast ones, slow ones, curves and anything else he served up. On the other hand Donohue for the Hams was wild and issued nine passes but was lucky in extracting himself out of several bad holes. His team did not field perfectly behind him by any means, five errors being chalked up against them of which Baldwin had three. Sterling who relieved Schettler did not extend himself. On the other hand the Petes hit the ball in good style but could not deliver the poke when a poke would have sewed up or broken up the game.

Dudley led the visiting clubbists with four hits. Gilhooley poled out two doubles while Corns, Baldwin and McGroarty also collected two hits. For the locals Blount had two hits, one of them a double, while Fox also had two. Harry Corns pulled down a slam in the sixth with three on which choked off a Pete rally. In the seventh and eighth the Petes had three on but failed to come through, Miller fanning out in the seventh when he was sent in to pinch hit for Schettler.

The Hams grabbed two in the first on hits by Dudley, and Corns and King's error. Two more came in the second after two were down when Dudley singled, Gilhooley doubled and Baldwin dropped one into center. In the sixth a pass, a passed ball and Dudley's hit accounted for two more. In the seventh Baldwin's poke, Corn's single and two sacrifice hits sent two more runners across the plate. Two more were added in the eighth on a pass and hits by Dudley and Gilhooley.

The Petes collected two in the first on a pass to Byrne, Welsh's triple, Baldwin's error and King's single. One came in the fourth on a pass, a sacrifice and Baldwin's error. In the sixth Fox singled, Schettler's single and White's error accounted for one more while another was added in the eighth on Blount's double, a pass and Stewart's double.

PTE. MOORE MAKES TEAM FOR BISLEY

Was Notified Last Night That he Had Been Appointed

The Peterboro regiment may be represented at Bisley, as Pte. W. H. Moore received word last night that he had been successful in obtaining a position on the Canadian team.

Pte. Moore was well up on the waiting list. He is unable to state definitely that he can find time to make the trip. Pte. Moore has been at Bisley, and his comrades of the regiment and citizens in general will hope that he will be able to join the team.

BILL RITCHIE BUT NOT THE BIFFMAN

The bell boy in the Oriental caused a stir this morning when he paged William Ritchie. The sporting element of the guests pricked up their ears and one drummer said, "Gee is that guy Ritchie here? ## TYPOS WON THE GAME

Defeated Wm. Hamilton by Six Run Margin

Playing ball, in every sense of the word, the Typos had an easy task dispensing with the aggregation representing the Wm. Hamilton Co. last night at the Exhibition Grounds. The printers showed vast improvement in every department and can be relied upon to take a fall out of other teams in the league when they get a few more workouts under their belt. The Wm. Hamilton crew are prospects, but display lack of condition and team work.

In the opening stanza the Typos secured one and in the second, hits by Neary, Rose, Moore and Curtis and a little speed on the paths resulted in four more, and from then on they were never in danger. They added two more in the fourth and another in the seventh, making a total of eight while their opponents were contented with two in the fourth.

O'Connell pitched a nice game and received good support, one single error being credited to his team. "Abbie" Rose, the opposing twirler also did well on the slab, but his support was not the best. The teams:

Typos—Neary m., O'Connell p., Taylor c., Henry 1b., Rose l.f., Moore 2b., Curtis r., Cook s.s., Butcher 3b.

Hamiltons—O'Dette c., Murphy 2b., Newbiggen 3b., Crane 1b., Giroux s.s., O'Hearne r., Rose p., Condon l., Quartermaine m.

COMMENT
As You Like It

There should be a bumper attendance at the closing game of the present series this afternoon. Yesterday's defeat should in no way affect the crowd as the best pitching in the league would not have checked the Hamilton bunch yesterday. They simply had their lamps on every sort of a shoot and got hold of the leather with a vengeance. The Petes also hit in a timely manner, but the break in the luck which prevented pokes where pokes should go, with men on, turned the tide. Donohue did not hurl what could be called a good game, but he was lucky and had he pitched on any other day like he did yesterday, he would have been beaten because luck does not always hover within the same area.

You have to take your hat off to Charlie Good, sporting editor of the Toronto News. Good is certainly a great booster, and with several more like him around the circuit the league would be an assured success. Only one hundred and fifty attended Thursday's game at the Island between Toronto and St. Thomas. The News points out that the class of ball being played by the Toronto team, which by the way, is not in the first division, is worthy of great patronage. He also pans the Toronto fans for kicking over the admission prices asked for "B" class ball, and points out that cities much smaller than Toronto are paying more and drawing better than the Queen City.

Doc Yates, manager of the Hamilton team and Ted. Baldwin, are celebrating their birthday to-day. The doctor is just 30 years young, while Baldwin is standing on his 20th milestone. Doc bought the gang peanuts, buttermilk and so forth.

The league race is still close. Ottawa in front, but any team that can win five or six in a row will be right on top of them. The race so far as all the teams being within striking distance of the lead is the best that has been provided since the league was organized.

FIRST MEET OF RACING ASSOCIATION

Attractive Bill of Races for Exhibition Park

The Central Ontario Racing Association should get away to a good start on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, when the first meet will be pulled off at the local exhibition park. Reduced railway fares for a radius of 200 miles have been secured and many outsiders are expected. Good horses will face Dr. Sinclair of Cannington, who will act as starter, in fact it will be something altogether different from the racing bills heretofore. There will be three races on Wednesday, starting at two o'clock and three more on Thursday, and the prizes are such that some of the prettiest steppers on the turf will be entered.

The Unchanging Past.

This is the reason why the past has such magical power. The beauty of its motionless and silent pictures is like the enchanted purity of late autumn, when the leaves, though one breath would make them fall, still glow against the sky in golden glory. The past does not change nor strive. Like Duncan, after life's fitful fever, it sleeps well. What was eager and grasping, what was petty and transitory has faded away. The things that were beautiful and eternal shine out of it like stars in the night. Its beauty to a soul not worthy of it is unendurable, but to a soul which has conquered fate the past is the key of religion.—Bertrand Russell.

Relative Values.

Dunbar—Did the woman who sued Pollard for turning her down and marrying Miss Doubleday get anything?

Sprague—No, but she got more than Miss Doubleday did.—Judge.

Masculine Precedence.

Bluebeard swelled with pride.

"I'm a little bit ahead of the women who are wearing colored wigs!" he cried.—New York Sun.

UNGAVA'S FAUNA.

Canada's Great North-Eastern Territory Is Rich In Animals.

The animal, bird and fish life of Canada's great territory of Ungava is as interesting as it is varied. The mammals most worthy of note are those of value for food, and those which furnish the rich furs for which the Labrador country has so long been noted.

The barren-ground caribou, a species of reindeer, ranges in enormous herds over the barren and semi-barren grounds. In the north these valuable animals are still remarkably plentiful. Mr. Peter Mackenzie, who died in Montreal only a few years ago, where he was at the head of the Hudson Bay Company's establishment, had a remarkable experience in hunting these deer for food at a point of Koksoak river where they cross it on their autumnal migration. This was not far from the Hudson Bay Company's post, at which Mr. Mackenzie was then stationed. Assisted by three other men, he went out upon the river where the stream is only a mile and a quarter wide, and in the course of a few hours speared and killed three hundred deer.

A drove of over five hundred were seen to be approaching the river for the purpose of crossing it, and while two Esquimaux were sent in one kayak to head them off from the shore towards which they were swimming, another put out behind the herd to prevent their hasty return. Mr. Mackenzie and his three assistants, in two other kayaks, armed themselves with spears to do the killing, and the suction of the water caused by the rapid swimming of the herd down stream was strong enough to draw the canoes rapidly after them. It was of course an awful butchery; but the slayers were hunting for their own existence. The carcasses of four to five hundred deer are required every winter at the post in question for the sustenance of the men employed there and for the thirty or forty dogs which form part of the establishment.

Upon another occasion, Mr. Mackenzie took his rifle to go out and shoot some fresh meat. It was on the 25th of October, and he took with him fifty cartridges. He spent two hours in hunting, and when he returned had killed no less than forty-four deer.

Of late years, this last herd has become very small, and many of the Indians who lived on it have migrated from Hudson Bay to Fort Chimo, where the second herd is understood to be undiminished. The first herd supports the Indians frequenting the very interior of the Labrador peninsula, and especially those from the George and the Hamilton rivers. Here, as on the Koksoak, in the case of the other large herd, the principal hunt is made during the fall migration, when the bucks are fat and have not yet mated with the females. The Indians congregate along the George river, about a hundred miles beyond Lake Michikamou. They spread out along the river and await the crossing of the bands of deer on their way from the coast to the wooded country. As soon as a large body begins to cross, signals of smoke are made, and the Indians soon congregate and kill great numbers from their canoes by spearing them in the water.

The crossing season there last from ten to fifteen days. Much of the flesh is smoked for winter use, while the skins are preserved and dressed, either for clothing and other purposes, or for sale. In the spring, the deer migrate in small bands and are not so easily taken, as the snow and ice are then beginning to melt and they have to be killed by shooting, and after a chase. The migration of the second band is very similar to that already described.

These barren-ground caribou are much less plentiful on the Hudson Bay side of Ungava than further east, though formerly they were abundant on the coast of the bay as far south as the mouth of James Bay.

The polar bear, though usually found either upon the coast or on the ice floes adjacent thereto, often comes as far as thirty to fifty miles inland to produce its young.

The Death of E. J. Adams.

KINGSTON, June 13. — After an extended illness the death occurred yesterday of Edward James Adams, 57. For many years he was connected with the Department of Justice at Ottawa, as penitentiary architect. Mr. Adams was born at Ottawa, and when nine years of age he came to Kingston with his father, the late James Adams, who at that time was architect for the provincial penitentiary. Some years later Edward James Adams became assistant to his father and in 1900 he became architect for all the penitentiaries in Canada.

"Oh, pa, my Harold is so handsome he is a perfect picture!"

"That's all right, but you let him know that when I stamp my feet upstairs he's to get busy and be a moving picture."

Simple.

Lawyer (at the theatre on the first night) — I can't imagine how the piece can be drawn out into five acts.

Author—Oh, that is very simple. In the first act, you see, the hero gets into a lawsuit.

For Those Who Like the Finest of Summer Lingerie

A MERE WISP of Mull, a mere cloud of daintiness, a mere network of airy stitchery—this is what Lingerie amounts to in these days of clinging draperies and loose bodices. Not a gather, or a band remains, not a frill, not a flounce.

And for those who seek an ultra slimness—the combination garment and the Princess slip dispense with any suspicion of bulk about the waist and hips.

The little undermuslins that have just come in from New York, answer this description to the letter. They are the embodiment of daintiness and beauty—sewn and embroidered by hand—the material being that exquisitely fine American Nainsook which looks so delicate and wears so well.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Princess Slips | $3.50 to $10.00 | Corset Covers | $1.25 to $3.50 |
| Underskirts | $3.50 to $9.00 | Drawers | $1.25 to $5.00 |
| Gowns | $2.50 to $7.50 | Bridal Sets | $15.00 to $22.50 |

OBITUARY

MRS. WM. WATTERS.

(Campbellford News)

One of the oldest residents of Campbellford passed away on Monday afternoon at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. D. S. Archer, Bridge Street, in the person of Mrs. Wm. Watters. The deceased, who was in her eighty-sixth year, had been in failing health for some time and her death was not unexpected. The late Mrs. Watters was born in Musselborough, Scotland, but came to this country in the year 1851 with her parents, settling in Seymour West. Her maiden name was Jessie Waddell. She was married fifty-eight years ago, her husband having predeceased her by over forty years. She was widely known and highly esteemed by a host of friends, who remember her for her loving and thoughtful kindness. She was an earnest member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and in her years of health a regular attendant. To mourn her loss are left one son, Mr. Alex. Watters of Pembroke, Ont., and three daughters, Mrs. Wm. Crane of Peterboro, and Mrs. Alfred Denmark, and Mrs. D. S. Archer of Campbellford. Two brothers and two sisters also survive her.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon, interment being at Burnbrae.

Poison Hemlock.

Water hemlock is a deadly plant common in most country neighborhoods. Its roots are eaten often in spring by mistake for some edible root, and death frequently results. Cattle are often poisoned by drinking water in marshes where it grows. The poison hemlock from which the Greeks made poisons is a near relative to the water hemlock. It stands from two to seven feet high and has clusters of small white flowers and large, parsleylike leaves. The stalk, being hollow, is often made into whistles by country boys, and many children are poisoned in this fashion.

The Inspired Office Boy.

"Ma, I ain't goin' to work for that man any more," said Johnny after his second day as office boy for Horatio Smithers.

"What's the matter?" his mother asked.

"I'm afraid I won't git my money. He always makes me find out what a man's business is before I let him into the office. I guess he must be afraid of collectors."

FIRE DRILLS IN SCHOOLS

Pupils Made Good Time When Alarm Sounds

Satisfactory results, with the exception of the Queen Alexandra School was greatly in evidence in yesterday's annual fire drill inspection of the Public Schools conducted by Fire Chief Howard.

The matter with the Queen Alexandra would prove a great detriment and probably a disaster in case of fire. The door leading to the outside was locked and closed in such manner as to take some time to unlock. Dr. Morrison of the Board of Education will call the attention of the Board to the matter at once and swinging doors may be introduced.

This morning Chief Howard gave out the appended statement regarding the fire drill inspection:

Accompanied by Mayor Buller, Dr. Morrison, chairman of the Board of Education, Ald. G. Walter Green, in addition to several other people, including Mrs. Buller, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. (Dr.) Morrison and Miss Morrison, they visited the schools for the inspection. The fire drill in the schools was very interesting, and the party enjoyed the excellent features of the drill. It would be interesting to know that no notice was given about the drill being conducted. The party who visited the schools were 'phoned and were taken to the various schools in automobiles. At each school the gong was sounded and the children marched in very orderly manner without the slightest confusion.

In conversation with the Chief and others, it was learned that reference to records showed that some of the schools had made great improvement in time required to clear the buildings of all the children. In the year 1908 it required one minute and forty-three seconds to clear one of the schools. Since that time this particular school in question has lopped off several seconds each year and yesterday made the time in forty-six seconds.

The Chief commented on the remarkably quick time of the Sacred Heart School and King Edward School.

The time for each school is:

| School | No. Pupils | Secs. |
|---|---|---|
| Central | 350 | 55 |
| East Ward | 270 | 32 |
| Queen Alexandra | 300 | 75 |
| West Ward | 425 | 94 |
| St. Peters | 375 | 46 |
| South Central | 325 | 39 |
| King Edward | 440 | 46 |
| St. Marys | 215 | 39 |
| Sacred Heart | 270 | 25 |

LANDED IN JAIL

Stranger Had Special Attention of the Chief

A peg-legged, red-headed gentleman with every indication of being a hot case blew into the city yesterday at noon. He refused to impart any information as to where he might have come from. In the afternoon the red lights of the hotels occupied his attention. He got a jag and some jag at that. Last evening he hit the Boston Cafe for supper. After ordering pork and beans and beans and pork he wanted something else. In making payment, he dived into his peg leg trouser pocket and drew out a brown leather bag and slapped it on the counter. It was the sound of silver. Dimes and quarters to the extent of two cupfuls and more were spread about.

Several "chasers" after supper resulted in the old boy going below and Chief Thompson personally escorted him to the station, for which he received the gentlemen's blessings. During the entire night, songs of popular and foreign airs pervaded the cells and kept the neighbors awake.

Today he was charged with being drunk. His case will be attended to on Monday.

TOLLS REPEAL ACCEPTED.

All That Now Remains To End Panama Affair Is Wilson's Signature.

WASHINGTON, June 13. — Only President Wilson's signature is necessary to repeal the clause of the Panama Canal Act exempting American coastwise shipping from tolls. The long and bitter three months' fight in Congress came to an end yesterday when the House accepted by a vote of 210 to 71 the Senate amendment specifically reserving all rights the United States may have under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty or otherwise.

The President is expected to sign the measure Monday.

During the discussion yesterday there were flashes of heat. Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader, although voting for the Senate amendment, said that Congress should have never made this "un-American surrender" and called the amendment "ineffective and negative."

Representative Glass of Virginia attacked the Democratic leaders who opposed the measure.

Calls Golf "Harmful."

LONDON, June 13.—Dr. Lyttelton, headmaster of Eton, at a meeting in support of the "Duty and Discipline Movement" at Lansdowne House, said that golf did a grave social harm, because the players insisted upon having caddies at all tours, and thus created a "blind alley" occupation.

Bridge, too, he described as a grave national danger. Any game, he said, was a menace that kept Cambridge undergraduates abed on Sunday and other mornings and throughout the whole day in rooms full of tobacco smoke, when they ought to be out in the sunshine.

Common Form of Insanity.

A party of Clevelanders entertained some visitors recently, says the Plain Dealer, and having showed them everything interesting in Cleveland proper they had to take them out to Newburg for a view of the asylum. The superintendent was in a genial frame of mind, and he conducted the bunch personally.

"Here is a queer case, ladies," he said, pausing at a particular cell. "This man has the delusion that he possesses the motive power that turns the universe. He is perfectly harmless, but he actually believes that without him the world would not move. Strange notion, isn't it?"

"Why, not at all!" exclaimed one of the women. "My husband has the same idea, and he always has had it. Is he crazy too?"

The Voyder.

The voyder was a large dish in which were collected the broken victuals which were removed from the table with a large knife with a broad, flat blade, called the voyder knife, from vider, to empty, clear or make void.

"The Boke of Nurture," by Hugh Rhodes, the date of which is 1577, one of the curious set of handbooks of manners and etiquette reproduced by the Early English Text society, speaks of these vessels as follows: "See ye have voyders ready for to void the morsels that they doe leave on their trenchers. Then with your trencher knyfe take off such fragments and put them in your voyder and then sette them downe cleane agayne."

LABORER TAKES HIS LIFE AFTER MURDERING HIS WIFE AND CHILD

Keewatin, Ont., June 15.—Frank Mext, a Galician labourer, working on the Government road, last evening murdered his wife and two-year-old child and committed suicide leaving a two-weeks' old infant the only surviving member of the family. He was seen to strike the child over the head with a stick and throw the body into a raceway. The mother having interfered to protect the child, he threw her into the water and then jumped in himself.

BOY SCOUTS AT CHURCH

Rev. F. J. Sawers Points to Advantages of Movement

Taking his text from the Scout book, Rev. F. J. Sawers of St. Luke's Anglican Church delivered an appropriate and inspiring address to some seventy Boy Scouts who assembled there for divine service last evening. The subject was the Boy Scout's Ideal and it was treated in such a manner as to make it easily understood to the smallest scout present. Dwelling for some length on the aims of the scout movement Mr. Sawers pointed out the great advantages, to help the boys grow into healthy, rich, manhood. The aim of the scout movement was to develop them spiritually, physically and mentally. He referred to some of the promises the scouts took on becoming a scout and strongly urged them to follow the instructions, as implicitly laid down in their scout manual.

The Scout motto concluded Mr. Sawers, was taken from a passage in the Bible St. Matthews 24-44. "Therefore be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh."

During the service a solo was rendered in a talented manner by Scout Sam Whitehouse also a soloist at St. Lukes. Special music was also rendered by the choir.

The Scouts met at the Armouries and paraded to the church, in charge of Scoutmaster Milby and Assistant Scoutmasters McNeely, Brooks and Sedgwick.

NO REFERENCE WAS MADE BY PASTORS

To Conservative Meeting on Thursday Night

The curious who attended the services at George Street Methodist Church and St. Paul's Church, on Sunday, did not hear the ministers make any reference to the incident of Thursday night, nor was any mention made of the temperance question.

Both pastors delivered messages of helpfulness. Rev. R. G. Peever told his congregation about the conference at Napanee and Rev. R. Pogue spoke on Communion.

TEMPERANCE MEETING IS HELD AT GILMOUR BAPTIST CHURCH

By actual count forty-two persons attended a meeting held in Gilmour Memorial Church Saturday evening in the interests of the abolishment of the bar. Rev. R. G. Peever was the chief speaker and delivered a very eloquent address on the subject, bringing home many facts and urging the members of the community to work and vote for the Liberal party. Rev. H. J. Keith and Rev. A. J. McLaren also spoke. During the evening a committee was organized to canvass the district. J. Graham was appointed convener of the committee.

In his address the Rev. Peever stated that politics or sentiment towards a party must be cast aside and the people should vote for the Rowell policy which was a pledge to wipe out the bars. He referred to the church convention which formulated plans to fight the drink traffic. It was decided to support Mr. Gillespie as he had pledged himself as in favor of the abolishment of the bar. The church must give its support to the man who signed his name to the document drawn up by the temperance association. Mr. Soden had signed a manifesto but reserved the right of conscience to vote as he saw fit. The people admit that the Whitney administration had given excellent results in curtailing the traffic. But we must vote for the party which will wipe out the bars and we will win. N. W. Rowell got his idea of abolishing the bars from the churches and we must support him. The speaker claimed that the map issued by the Conservative party showing the wet and dry districts misrepresented the facts.

The Rev. Keith in his address stated it was the duty of the church to stand back of the Liberal party and strike its blows at the bars. We must get rid of the bars through Mr. Rowell. The Conservatives could have kept the liquor question out of politics by accepting the challenge of Mr. Rowell to let the people decide without a general election.

Mr. McLaren also urged strongly that the church vote for the Liberal candidate.

FLAG MUST FLY.

Ottawa, June 15.—Milia orders have been issued canceling all previous orders with respect to the flying of the Union flag from drill halls, armories and forts, and ordering, that the flag hereafter is to be flown daily from all military stations, forts, armories and drill halls in the larger cities and towns of Canada.

Peterboro friends will be interested to learn that Rev. W. C. Riddiford, formerly pastor at Park Street Baptist Church, has his London congregation worshipping in a new church.

The opening services were held on Sunday. The building will seat upwards of one thousand people. It is constructed in the latest and most modern style and cost between $30,000 and $35,000.

ALL READY FOR INQUIRY

Investigation Into Disaster Likely to Prove Protracted

SIXTY WITNESSES

Quebec, June 15.—Preparations were completed today for the opening tomorrow at ten o'clock of the inquiry into the Empress of Ireland wreck. The Court House this morning was crowded with newspapermen, telegraph operators and government officials. Lord Mersey, Sir Adolphe Routhier and son, E. McLeod, the commissioners who will hear the evidence made a trip down the river on the steamer with Sir Hugh Allan to enable Lord Mersey to enjoy the scenery of the river. While on the boat it was expected they would decide on the exact scope of the inquiry. It is now believed that the proceedings will likely prove protracted as there may be altogether sixty witnesses and important ones may be examined four times by lawyers representing the government, the Canadian Pacific, the steamer Storstad and the British Seamen's Union.

ITALIAN REPUBLIC WAS PROCLAIMED BY STRIKERS

REVOLUTION IS AVERTED

Italy Breathes More Easily After Serious Crisis in Which Many Towns Had Virtually Set up a Republican Government—Grave State of Affairs Exists in Province of Revenna.

ROME, June 15.—The threatened railway strike throughout Italy has been abandoned and order is being gradually restored, even in the towns where a virtual revolutionary movement was in progress.

The most serious situation exists in the Province of Ravenna where villages and small towns are being ruled by the local republican committees which have armed the inhabitants, thus giving the ignorant masses the impression that any kind of violence will be permitted. Churches and clubs have been sacked or burned, but in the case of private residences, the revolutionists have asked the owners' permission to take possession of their belongings. They have been sold for next to nothing so as to give the poor people the impression that the "republic" will maintain its promise to bring back the Golden Age, and end forever the high cost of living.

Ten thousand soldiers are gradually being spread throughout the province.

An outstanding feature in the general strike situation to-day was the news received at the capital of the proclamation of an Italian republic by the people of several towns bordering on the Adriatic, in northwestern Italy.

In some towns like Fabriano and Rimini scenes similar to those of the French revolution were enacted. The inhabitants misled by reports issued from the headquarters of the anarchist committee at Ancona, an important seaport on the Adriatic, to the effect that revolutionary movements had been successful in overthrowing the monarchy, proclaimed a republic, and substituted for the national flag the black banner of the peasants' league.

All the newspapers were burned the moment they reached those towns, in order to prevent the people from knowing the real condition of the country, as the revolutionary leaders had stated that King Victor Emmanuel had escaped to Montenegro, that the revolution had mastered the entire peninsula, and that the troops had joined with the people.

In some instances, the soldiers were compelled to fire on the people before order was restored with the result that several persons were killed or injured.

The tension caused by the general strike was ameliorated somewhat last evening by the announcement that the syndicate of railwaymen had ordered a cessation of the railway strike throughout Italy.

That the authorities were ready to suppress with vigor any revolutionary tendency of the leaders of and sympathizers with the strike movement, was indicated yesterday by Premier Salandra, who announced in the Chamber of Deputies that the Government was prepared to concentrate 10,000 men in the districts disturbed.

In the provinces, where the workmen generally had laid down their tools, numerous clashes between the strikers and the troops occurred.

Two rioters were killed at Adria and another demonstrant was killed at Parma. At Fabrian a soldier and a striker were fatally wounded and two other strikers injured. At Milan four officers and several soldiers were wounded.

At Porta Capuclana 23 policemen and 13 carabineers were wounded in a fight with strikers, while two of the rioters were shot down.

One of the worst excesses occurred at the Village of Santa Agata, near Lugo, where rioters attacked the city hall and burned a church, after drenching the doors and other wooden parts of the building with petroleum and benzine. The curate, after being forced to give the rioters all the wine in the cellars of the church, was obliged to follow the mob. He was even undressed, and his gown burned in the square in the centre of the town.

At Ancona, where the first demonstrations occurred, which resulted in the general strike, bluejackets from the naval division commanded by Admiral Umburto Cagni, reinforced the garrison. Ancona has been a hotbed of the revolutionary movement as the leaders, headed by the anarchist, Malatesta, have been spreading the report that King Victor Emmanuel had been forced to flee the country and that Premier Salandra was a prisoner.

W.C.T.U. WORKER LEAVES BRANCH

Some Methods Adopted Are Distasteful to Her

Kingston, June 15.—Mrs. S. W. Day has resigned her position as Press Correspondent of the local W.C.T.U. because of the treatment accorded her and in protest at certain of the methods of the local branch.

Discussing the general situation, Mrs. Day said:

"The W.C.T.U. stands for truth as well as for temperance—which is an important matter to bear in mind. You had a statement in your paper that I was a member of the W.C.T.U. for years. This statement has been controverted, and I, therefore, wish to verify that statement and to say you were perfectly correct in it. Not only that, but I was an active member of the Independent Order of Good Templars for years and held every office except that of Worthy Chief.

"As for my position towards temperance, I may say to you that I have always favored the cause of temperance. Some months before license reduction was agitated in this city a friend of mine asked me to join the local branch of the W.C.T.U., pointing out that there was much work to be done. I, accordingly, did so and worked for days and evenings to help get the necessary number of names to the petition. Mr. T. Mills, the banker, will verify this, as it was necessary to go before him to affirm the genuineness of the signatures, and he knows the part I played in this fight. More than that, I canvassed every woman in certain districts of the city assigned to me, and on election day, in my son's automobile—he being called out of the city—I took no fewer than 42 women to the polls to vote, and Mrs. Craig, who worked in this same district, must know this. So that it will be seen that I am a worker and not a mere talker for temperance.

"But though I am a worker, I am not in favor of making the temperance issue a political football nor do I purpose to allow myself to be used as a football. As I said in the beginning, the W.C.T.U. stands for truth as well as for temperance, and it stands also for freedom, for purity and for social betterment. I am afraid that some members of the W.C.T.U. in their zeal for temperance, or politics, I know not which, overlook these other things."

AMPUTATION FOLLOWS ACCIDENT

Bennie Cloute Loses His Right Foot

Bennie Cloute, a well known local young man, employed by the Grand Trunk as brakesman on this division met with a very unfortunate accident yesterday afternoon at Millbrook. The train conveying the cavalry to Petawawa left here after one o'clock and went as far as Millbrook, where another contingent entrained. When the train was starting from Millbrook, Bennie was standing on the platform of a car talking to some of the boys, but when he stepped off his foot slipped and went under the wheels. His right foot was badly bruised and injured so seriously that when a special train had brought him to this city and to Nicholls Hospital, Doctors McClelland and Moir, who were in attendance, had to amputate the foot at the ankle.

Reports from the hospital to-day state that the unfortunate young man is resting as well as can be expected.

LONDON AGAIN AROUSED BY ANOTHER BOMB AFFAIR

Infernal Machine Wrecks Part of St. George's Church, Hanover Square, and Public Alarm is Increased—Crowd in Leicester Assails Suffragette Stall and Demolishes the Structure.

LONDON, June 15.—A bomb was exploded in St. George's Church, Hanover square, last night. There is evidence to show that the explosion was the work of suffragettes, and coming so close upon the bomb outrage in Westminster Abbey, the desecration of this famous edifice has increased alarm as to how far the militant women intend to go.

The caretaker of St. George's had locked the church after a careful inspection on the conclusion of the evening services. A few minutes after 10 o'clock a passerby heard an explosion and summoned the fire brigade. The firemen, forcing the doors, found the church filled with a dense white smoke. Three pews in the north aisle and three stained windows were damaged by the explosion, while a pew immediately in front of the lectern was blown down. Fortunately the famous painting of "The Last Supper," by Sir James Thornhill, which hangs over the altar, was not damaged, although the window above it was in splinters.

The firemen found a square tin box and several pieces of candle in the overthrown pew, and a member of the congregation said that the pew was occupied at the evening service by a woman in a checked dress. An envelope was found in the church on which was written: "A protest against the torture of women."

Crowd Assails Militants.

LEICESTER, Eng., June 15.—Before the police were able to intervene, a hostile crowd yesterday attacked and demolished a stall in the market place where militant suffragettes were selling confectionery in order to raise funds for the Women's Social and Political Union.

Women were conspicuous in the attack and were prevented from setting fire to the stall only by the arrival of the police who escorted the terrified militants to a place of safety.

Suffragettes burned the cricket pavilion at Reigate Saturday night.

REGISTRATIONS LESS THAN ONE THOUSAND

Total Number From the Five Wards is Nine Hundred and Twenty Nine

The numbers of new voters placed on the lists to be used in the coming provincial elections were far below the number who registered during the early fall of 1911 when the struggle to rid the country of Laurier and his proposed reciprocity pact was at its highest point of interest. The number registered in 1911 was 1716 while during the four days of last week a total of 929 registered. The small registration would indicate that the electorate or more so the younger element is not concerning itself as it did when a question which struck at national freedom and Canada's development was before them. Judging from the seeming lack of interest it seems that the voters are satisfied with the Whitney administration and confident of its continuance. The number registered at the various places and the registrars follow:

THREATENS ACTION AGAINST INSPECTOR

Sanitary Inspector Spence received a communication from a local resident this morning to the effect that unless he took immediate action in connection with the conditions at a certain stable on Water Street, he would make him a co-defendant in an action for damages, with the owner.

Action was taken in regard to this matter some time ago, when conditions were improved. The Inspector says he cannot take further action as there is no by-law.

THEY LOST THEIR MONEY

New Venture for Strangers Was a Failure

Strangers in a foreign land is a suitable phrase to apply to a couple who were looking for the Review office today. Both were fairly well dressed and intelligent looking, the husband being a clean cut man of about twenty-eight. The condition of the couple was that the husband was out of work and had lost everything. Their story related to a scribe was that they had come to this city about a month ago, as agents. When they came they had in the neighborhood of nearly one hundred dollars. The proposition failed to materialize and they lost their money. Today they are looking for work the husband being ready to take anything that will give him a chance to procure sufficient money to take them back to Niagara Falls. Part of their outfit, it is understood is held at one of the hotels.

LIFE IS NOT WORTH LIVING

Message is Left Behind by Walter Darling

TOOK STRYCHNINE

Came to City From Lakefield to Buy Poison

Leaving the words "Goodbye I have taken poison, life isn't worth living for," plainly written on an envelope which had contained strychnine, Walter Darling, aged about thirty years, a resident of Lakefield committed suicide about 1.45 this afternoon while driving from this city to Lakefield. He was about six miles out when some passersby noticed him and lifting him to the roadside immediately sent George Mullen to this city after medical aid. Dr. Brown was secured but when he arrived Darling was dead. Dr. Brown notified Coroner Greer but the latter decided that it was clearly a case of suicide and that an inquest was unnecessary.

Darling who lived in Lakefield with his wife came to this city this morning and gave no evidence of having anything on his mind that would prompt him to perform the rash act. He purchased the strychnine at Madill's Drug Store stating that he wanted to kill some crows.

Hendren Bros., undertakers at Lakefield conveyed the body to their establishment.

SCHOOL BOOK MONOPOLY DESTROYED.

WHEN the Whitney Government came into power, it did so with many pledges to effect reforms, one which was to deal with the school book monopoly. In 1905 it appointed a commission to investigate the School Book Policy, which had been followed for over twenty years. The report of the Commissioners declared that publishers' profits were excessive, that too many text-books were authorized on single subjects and that supervision of the manufacture of text-books was inadequate.

The Government then proposed to establish a single text system of authorized school books; to control the publication of these books and of any alterations in their contents; to reduce the price of Public and High School text-books; to improve the mechanical production of text-books. Every one of these pledges has been redeemed and here is the record.

Where formerly there were as many as three books authorized in a single subject there is now but one, and that one is much reduced in price. By the terms of the contracts between the Minister of Education and the publishers, the Minister controls the publication of authorized school books, and may require the publisher, at his own expense, to make alterations in the contents of these when necessary. The old series of books, containing 968 pages, retailed at $1.15, while the new series of 1216 pages is sold at 49c., and the literary merit, quality of paper, printing and binding is much superior to the old. Arithmetics and Grammars cost formerly 25 cents each and are retailed now at 10 cents each. Geographies were 75 cents, now they sell at 65 cents. The History of England and Canada was 30 cents, now it sells for 25 cents. In High School texts the savings have been large. The High School Arithmetic was formerly 60 cents, now it is 40 cents; the Algebra sold at 75 cents before, now it sells at 50 cents. The Geometry used to sell at 75 cents, now it sells at 40 cents; the Latin book used to sell at $1.00, now it sells at 60 cents.

There are other examples that might be quoted, but sufficient have been given to prove that the Whitney Government have done as they promised, and have made a saving to the people of Ontario of over one million dollars in the purchase of school text-books. The books rank with the best in the world, and in price they are the lowest on the continent. If the people have confidence in this excellent policy, they will vote for Whitney and Good Government.

ONTARIO FARMERS PROSPER.

THAT THE INTERESTS of Ontario have been advanced by co-operation between the Federal and the Provincial departments of agriculture is pointed out in the annual report for 1913 of Hon. James Duff, Minister of Agriculture. Thanks to the efforts of Hon. Martin Burrell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, Ontario expended $195,733.32 of money from the Dominion Exchequer during the past year. Some stipulations were made as to how the money was to be spent and special provision was to be made for Veterinary Colleges.

Information was secured during the year as to the financial condition of the farmers of Ontario. The district representatives undertook the work. They interviewed prominent bankers, business men, lawyers, registry officials and prominent farmers. In this way they were able to secure reasonably reliable information. About 45 per cent. of the farms of the Province were mortgaged to some extent and about one-third mortgaged up to their full value. This means that only about 15 per cent. of the total value of farm property in the Province was mortgaged. Moreover a considerable portion of the mortgages were held by farmers. It was also the general opinion that mortgages were fast decreasing, a large number being wiped out every year. Many of the mortgages were placed. not because the farmers were in straightened circumstances, but because they wished to make improvements. They were, therefore, in the nature of an investment. One deplorable feature, which, however was not general, was that a number of farmers had mortgaged their property to buy real estate in Western Canada. Speculation of this sort had in many cases been highly unsatisfactory. Taking everything into account, however, things could hardly have been better with the farmers of Ontario than they were last year.

Bank deposits in the rural districts were steadily on the increase during the past year. Deposits were estimated to have increased from 20 to 30 per cent. in some counties. It is also estimated that over 70 per cent. of the deposits had been made by the agriculturists. In one county it was estimated that 75 per cent. of the farmers had deposits running from $700 to $12,000. A safe estimate of the total amount of money the Ontario farmers had on deposit would be in the neighborhood of one hundred million dollars.

In his report Mr. Duff says while $100,000,000 may seem a large amount, it should be remembered that the aggregate farm wealth of Ontario, including land, buildings, implements, and live stock, is placed at $1,405,950,940 by the Bureau of Industries.

The demand for loans was not heavy last year. It represented only a small portion of the total deposits. The farmers had little difficulty although the rates were a little higher than usual, owing to the general stringency in the money market. The rate of interest varied from 5½ per cent on long time notes to 7 per cent on short time loans.

Hon. Mr. Duff concludes with the expression of the opinion that the Ontario farmers had a most satisfactory year.

LAURIER HARD UP FOR A CASE.

THE LAURIER Opposition is trying to do its best to put difficulties in the way of the Borden Government in its settlement with the Grand Trunk Pacific Company. Premier Borden said that members of the Opposition had been endeavoring to build up a case for the Grand Trunk Pacific against the country. The present Government had placed a capable man in charge of the construction of the road and had left the engineering part of the work to Mr. Gordon Grant and the men appointed by the Laurier Government.

Mr. Borden read a letter from Mr Grant to Hon. Frank Cochrane. Mr. Grant said that he always had been of the opinion that virtual grades should have been used wherever it was practicable and economical to use them. Had such grades been adopted where conditions warranted the "sags" could have been removed at one-half of contractors' prices. Premier Borden in the course of his speech said:

> "We have followed for the purpose of economy and reduced cost of operation, the advice of the very engineers the hon. gentlemen opposite appointed. We have adopted the very ideas which they said were good sense and the best engineering practice."

The engineers of the National Transcontinental Railroad recommended exactly what the G.T.P. has been doing on its western section. The Government was leaving part of the work to be done when the road was in operation. The Grand Trunk Pacific section had been in operation for four years, and it was declared by the Government's inspecting engineer, Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, to be still uncompleted.

Turning to the taking over of separate sections of the N.T.R. by the G.T.P., Premier Borden said that the Government had no power under the 1903 agreement to force the company to do this; it could only negotiate with them. The Government had negotiated; but in the case of the New Brunswick section it had been found impossible to effect agreements in the interests of the country, so it had been given to the I.C.R. management to operate.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MR. J. W. FLAVELLE, of Lindsay, at the Toronto Methodist Conference, was among the speakers who opposed a resolution endorsing abolition of the bar. Abolition of the bar, he considered, was not the best way of dealing with the liquor evil. There were other ways, but he did not desire to enter upon a discussion of the matter. In his opinion it was not the wisest policy for the association to endorse Mr. Rowell, whom he personally loved and respected. This is a sane view of the situation from a strong temperance man, and one who has for years taken a prominent part in temperance work and in the counsels of the Methodist Church.

HON. THOS. CRAWFORD is another prominent Methodist and a life long temperance man who objected to the Toronto Methodist Conference being turned into a political gathering by endorsing Rowell's policy. He insisted that the best method of furthering the temperance cause was by the extension of the local option policy in opposition to a policy of a direct campaign against the bar. The noise from the assembled ministers and laymen resembled, an old time political meeting when telling remarks had been made against the party in possession of the meeting.

THE COUNTY of Peterborough received only $2,246 in 1904 for public school education. The Whitney Government has increased this grant to $8,106 in 1913. That's what progressive Conservative administration has done for this locality.

A RACE of stingless bees has been evolved. Soon country life will be robbed of half its excitement.—Toronto News. We would have preferred biteless mosquitos, as they are more numerous and would effect a great saving in vocabulary.

WE don't see much in the papers about what the Grits have done. Why, let us ask? Because they have done nothing to talk about.

WHAT was Mr. Gillespie doing for temperance during the last local option campaign in Peterborough?

What Liberals Did.

Brantford Courier.

In December, 1902, the temperance people rolled up a majority of 96,201 votes for prohibition of the liquor traffic in Ontario, but what did Sir Geo. Ross and the Liberals do. They declared that the majority was not sufficient, and did nothing even in the way of temperance reform.

Labor in Ontario.

Farmers' Sun.

It is clear at all events that Ontario cannot go on always keeping the conditions of labor better than in other countries. That would mean the transfer here in due time of all the labor of other countries not fortunately placed. As this labor will not go to the land to increase the production of wealth, the burden on those who do produce wealth must presently become insupportable.

Wild Horses.

National Humane Review.

A band of wild horses in Peace River County, in western Alberta, are causing serious loss to the ranchers in that section, according to Vice-Consul Woodward in The Horse World. The horses kill many of the domestic horses and lead away a number of well-bred domestic mares. The horses are supposed to be descendants of those abandoned during the gold rush to the Yukon territory in 1897-98.

SEEKING GLOOM

By Walt Mason

"There's always something to worry o'er," says old Jim Grouchy, the village bore; "the cows go dry or the hen's don't lay, or the chinchbugs ruin the corn and hay; if we have a drouth it will kill the oats, if we have a rain we must go in boats; there'll be tornadoes along in June, and blow our homes clear around the moon; there'll be a frost and the storms will rave, and I sort o' look for a tidal wave." And old Jim Grouchy has ne'er a chum; the people hide when they see him come; he makes them tired with his graveyard grin, and they'll all be glad when he cashes in. "There's always something to chortle o'er," says old Joe Jinks, of the Good Luck store. "If one thing fails, then another thrives, the sun is shining in all our lives. There'll be no storms and there'll be no frost, and we'll have gazelles for the goats we lost; the world is bully and life is great, and he who croaks is a tin horn skate." We all love Joe with his cheery spiels, who's always telling how gay he feels.

A Miss and a Hit.

Pat was a young recruit and was undergoing his first course of musketry at Aldershot. The soldiers had just finished firing, and Pat was taken before the officer for his bad shooting, who told him he would have to do better at the next distance, which was seven rounds of quick firing.

"Now, Pat, you fire at No. 5 target."

Pat banged away his seven rounds and waited for the result, which showed he had hit No. 4 target the possible number of hits, but had not hit No. 5 target once.

"What target did you aim at?" asked the irate officer.

"No. 5, sir," answered Pat.

"And have hit No. 4 every time," continued the officer, getting cross.

"Bedad, sorr," retorted Pat, "'twould be a grand thing in war. Sure, I might aim at a private and hit a general!"

Salvage at a Standstill.

FATHER POINT, June 15. — No bodies have come ashore here for ten days, and all local preparations for the salvage of the imprisoned victims in the hull are at a standstill. Nothing can be done until heavy diving apparatus arrives from England. This may be about the last of this week. A rigorous patrol of the shore is maintained, but no bodies have drifted ashore.

Chatham Boy Drowned.

CHATHAM, June 15. — A drowning accident happened in the river Thames near the Tecumseh Park Dock Saturday afternoon about four o'clock, when Francis Salisbury, the eight-year-old stepson of Frank Oldershaw of this city lost his life. The boy had gone in bathing and got out beyond his depth and his little companion could do nothing to save him.

DREAMS

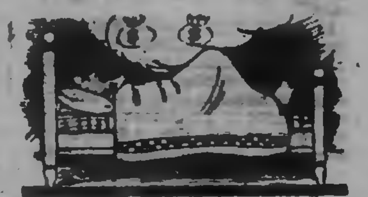
EVERY man is more er less of a dreamer. Sumbody has said thet dreams air realities without any backbone. I don't know, maybe they be, but I'm not bankin' very much on dreams bein' anythin' wuth discussin,' myself. Day-dreams er night-dreams, I reckon they're all pretty much the same brand o' fog and believin' in 'em won't make 'em come true, no siree. If anythin', I believe they go by contraries, and the time you dream about findin' hidden treasure is about the time you're goin' to fall down cellar an' pay a doctor ninety dollars fer settin' your collar-bone.



This world ain't no place fer a dreamer; we're all goin' to larn that fact sooner er later. You've got ter be a doer and you've got ter face realities and make the best outn 'em. Dreams air all right for a poet, pervidin' he's got a job thet brings him in so much per. For me and you, wall, we're better without 'em.

The DAUGHTER of DAVID KERR

By Harry King Tootle

Gloria was mistaken in thinking that Little Ella slept. After Mrs. Hayes had left her she walked quietly back to a chair by the bedside. On it lay a cheap novel with which the sick woman had been beguiling the time. She picked it up and was turning the pages casually when a feeling stole over her that she was being observed. Putting aside the book, she found Little Ella gazing at her stonily.

"Say, what'd you come here for?"

"Why," she answered in surprise, "I wanted to help you."

A sneer curled the sick woman's lip, a cynical sneer of disbelief.

"Help me! To what? I ain't ever saw you down here before. Come on, what brought you?"

"I came with Mrs. Hayes," was all that Gloria could find to answer.

"The woman what just went out?"

"Yes."

Feeling that she must do something to end this catechism, Gloria happened to glance at the book she held in her hand, and this led her to ask: "Wouldn't you like me to read to you?"

"Naw. I can read fer myself."

"Perhaps there is something else I might do. What do you say, I might write a letter for you?"

"A letter? Who to?"

"Isn't there some one who ought to know you are sick?"

"Who'd want to hear from me?" the woman replied sullenly. "I ain't the belle o' the village any more."

"Haven't you a mother?"

"She's dead."

"A father, then? Isn't there some one watching for you, hoping to see you come down the quiet little street?"

Here was an attempt to awaken a sentiment for the past which met with no success. Little Ella replied roughly:

"They're watching at his house all right—all right—him and that pasty-face wife of his—so they can run out and unchain the dog. Then they'd gather in the parlor an' say prayers fer the dead—that's me."

"What could you have done to have your family treat you so?" Gloria asked. "What could you do to be estranged from your father, of all persons?"

This was something Gloria could not understand. Once she would not have understood a lack of love where two had lived together continuously. Now she could waive that point, but the estrangement was beyond her.

Little Ella considered the question gravely. What was she to tell this inquisitive girl who evidently was not asking questions just for the fun of prying into some one else's life? Somehow or other Gloria began to appeal to her. She had decided that the visitor's ignorance was real, not feigned. In reply to the question as to why she was not received at home, she turned her big dark eyes, lusterless now, upon Gloria, and said quietly:

"I loved."

"Oh!" exclaimed Gloria, and a sudden pain shot through her.

"Oh, what?"

"Was it really love?"

The question came forth without a thought of how it might affect her hearer. It did, indeed, provoke Little Ella, taking away that kindly feeling which had begun to kindle in her heart because of Gloria's ignorance.

"Didn't I say I loved?" she demanded harshly. "What do you know of love? You can't come down here and teach me anything. Pooh! I don't believe you know what real love is. Were you ever in love?"

Ordinarily to a girl reared as Gloria had been no more serious affront could have been offered her. It was a meddling with her private affairs which was unpardonable.

"Was you?"

Little Ella asked the question again with the sharpness gained from listening to the city attorney cross-examine witnesses in police court. Seeing that she was almost compelled to say "yes" or "no," Gloria replied defiantly:

"Yes, I was."

"And yer not married?"

"No."

"Goin' to be?"

A pause.

"No."

"Say, yer overlookin' a bet. What's the matter?"

Gloria felt herself fascinated by this slight little woman who in her excitement had propped herself up in bed on a thin, trembling arm. The light had come back 'nto her eyes as she pursued her inquiries and they shone like two burning coals.

"He didn't really love me," Gloria said more to herself than to the girl.

"Did he tell you so? How do you know?" There was no answer. "Huh! You asked me questions so I thought I'd ask you some. Did he know you loved 'im?"

"He did, but—my father discovered that he was unworthy."

This information seemed to Little Ella to be a bond of fellowship. She fell back on the bed to rest, and remarked philosophically:

"Humph! My ol' man thought the feller I loved was no good, too. Guess we've had pretty hard times, eh?" No reply. "What d' you think?"

"I—I—he was unworthy."

It was now Gloria who spoke listlessly.

"So you had to choose between 'im an' yer father?"

"Was there any choice? I gave him up."

"I left home. So, you see, I've loved more'n you've ever loved," she cried. "You didn't really love." There was scorn in her voice as she spoke. "I've gone through fire an' storm fer the man I loved, because I loved a real man. You must 'a' loved some kid at the ribbon counter. A real man wouldn't 'a' let you give him up."

This was a tribute to the animal perfection of the graceful young creature before her. The sight of Gloria as something to be desired, to be possessed, made Little Ella feel that no man with red blood in his veins would give her up without a fight. She hated her for her masses of beautiful hair, her deep, soulful eyes, her complexion of apple blossoms, and her delicate white hands. She hated her for her svelte, girlish figure and her beautiful clothes which brought out her best lines. A woman may be down in the world, but she has eyes to see.

"Look at me," she cried, beating her flat breasts with her red, bony hands. "A man died fer me—an' he thought I was worth it. Did you love a man well enough for him to do that fer you?"

Gloria could only avoid the question by tactlessly referring to Little Ella's present state.

"You don't know what you're saying. Can't you see what he's brought you to?"

"Don't you say a word against him," snapped the sick woman. "All men ain't alike, neither. It wasn't his fault I'm here. It's the system."

"The system! What's that?"

Here was the introduction of a new element. Gloria's curiosity was aroused. There was something inexorable about it, to judge from Little Ella's manner of speaking.

"Well, call it society, if you want to," conceded society's victim.

"What do you mean?"

"Say, are you stringin' me, or was you born yestiddy?"

She laughed harshly at the humor of such a question.

"I don't understand," was all Gloria could reply.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Gloria had not been reared without an understanding of the various layers of society. Of those close to her own station in life she had an intimate and intelligent knowledge, but as she went down the scale her acquaintanceship grew slighter and her understanding more vague. The poor creatures whom as a class Little Ella now represented to her were almost as foreign and as misunderstood as would be a lama of Thibet. Having no knowledge, she could have no real pity.

Gloria had never dreamed, even when she tried to put the worst possible construction on what few things she knew, that the world could be so cruel. Never for an instant had she thought that it was possible for men whom she regarded as upright and honorable to be engaged directly or indirectly in exploiting vice and ignorance. It had never occurred to her that men whom she might know, some of them owned dreary blocks of hovels and tenements from which high rents were secured only because the people who lived in them were not respectable. Poor and honest tenants could have paid but poor and precarious rents.

As little Ella told her story of the "system" at Gloria's request, her voice grew shriller and shriller as the indictment grew graver. She talked rapidly, sometimes turning aside from the direct channel of her revelation, to explore some little eddy of a specific instance which made her account a reality. Gloria could have credited something to exaggeration had it not been that just at the moment she thought the girl was beginning to draw on her imagination some incident would be introduced suddenly to make the whole thing ghastly real.

For the first time the daughter of David Kerr learned of the peddlers of showy dresses, the venders of cheap perfumery, the stealthy disseminators of cocaine, and the many other leeches that fatten on the unfortunate of the underworld. She learned that all the misery was but a monument to human greed. Nothing was exploited in which there was not a profit of three or four hundred per cent. Nothing was exploited which did not tend to kill the finer feelings, reducing the poor victims in time to the level of brutes.

"And the men down here," Little Ella cried, the memory of the good, wholesome men whom she had known in her earlier life coming back to smite her, "poor ignorant excuses fer men, most of 'em—all they're good fer is to steal an' lie an' live off us women, an' vote the way the boss tells 'em on 'lection day. An' who's responsible fer that? Say?" Gloria could make no reply, and Ella, whose pause had been rhetorical, uncouth as she was, made answer herself. "I know. The fine gentlemen what buys the votes. An' when they needs more money fer more votes they send the p'lice 'round, an' us poor girls has to pay, always pay."

"I never dreamed of such a thing."

"I tol' you you didn't know. Why, oncet I was good like you, too. An' now," she began to sob—"now—I'm down—an' I can't git up. I can't git up. It's too late."

Suddenly Gloria remembered the power to which she would appeal. Where a minute before had been darkness and uncertainty was now the clearness of a summer day.

"It's never too late," she insisted. "Remember, I'm not alone. My father will help me. He's brave and good and strong, with a heart of gold. I can't change the world's ways, maybe, but I can do something to make Belmont better with my father's help—and yours."

Cookery Points

Cabbage For Salads.

There are so many ways of using cold boiled cabbage for warming up in some way that it is not often enough thought of as salad material. But cold cabbage with a French dressing makes a good salad, and the coarse outer green leaves of new cabbage, which would not be good in the uncooked salad, can be advantageously used in this way. It may be shredded and used with beets and other cooked vegetables with a cooked dressing as a salad.

The soft creamy dressings are favored with cabbage salad, but French dressing with cream is of all the most quickly put together and comparatively little known. To make this put the seasonings of salt and pepper with the oil, add the cream in about equal quantities and then the vinegar, drop by drop, stirring rapidly. This is a little quicker method than dropping the cream drop by drop into French dressing, and if carefully done the cream will not curdle. It is delicious and thicker than vinegar and cream simply.

Prettier and more elaborate salads can be made with cabbage than those who regard this as a vulgar vegetable imagine. It may be mixed with dice of celery and then garnished with either minced boiled beef or grated carrot, or both, these being put on it so as to form a cross or in stripes.

Shredded green peppers added to cabbage make it seem a little more elegant as a salad, and a teaspoonful of freshly grated horseradish sprinkled thoroughly through shredded cabbage before a cream dressing is added makes it a most excellent spring salad. The bacon dressings are homely, but bits of cold bacon scattered through the salad may be highly acceptable.

For compound salads, which are salads made of little heaps or molds of different colors—green, red, yellow, white or any shade preferable—the cabbage, scalded and made creamy looking, then crisped, is serviceable.

Cookery Kinks.

Have you ever tried—

Cooking apricots and dried peaches together?

Cooking a few bits of orange peel with baked apples or pears?

Combining in a salad cold cooked diced beets and carrots dressed with mayonnaise dressing?

Putting a sprig of mint in the water in which potatoes are boiling to give them an odd and delicious flavor?

Serving salmon with slices of orange instead of lemon?

Making strawberry frosting for cake by simply mashing five or six red berries and mixing with confectioners' sugar until stiff enough to spread?

Using equal parts of cold boiled macaroni, cooked diced carrots and canned or fresh peas to make a novel salad?

Time Saving.

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "He doesn't have to say much. He always manages to let you know what he wants you to do before he begins to talk."—Washington Star.

SUGGESTS STRIKE

Methodist Women Should Enforce Demands Says Minister

WINNIPEG, June 15.—At Saturday morning's session, crowded with business, the Manitoba Methodist conference in Broadway Church a resolution was passed memorializing the general conference to open all church court to women of the church on the same terms as laymen. Rev. Dr. John MacLean, Winnipeg, made a determined speech against the innovation, saying that the question of the extension of church privileges to women seemed to be bigger than the gospel of Jesus Christ to some people. "These folk seem to fancy that women will bring in the millennium and overcome all evils." There was much dissent from Dr. MacLean's attitude, and the resolution carried with only two dissentients. During the discussion, Rev. B. A. MacClung said he would advise women of Methodism to strike from church work for one year if the request was not granted.

PRESIDING JUDGE IN EMPRESS DISASTER IS READY FOR THE TASK

Premier Borden Gives Dinner in Honor of Distinguished British Jurist Who Conducted Titanic Inquiry—Thirty-One Witnesses Will be Called at Hearing in Quebec.

OTTAWA, June 15.—Lord Mersey, who will preside at the inquiry into the wreck of the Empress of Ireland, arrived in Ottawa on Saturday and was met by Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Saturday evening Premier Borden gave a dinner in honor of Lord Mersey at which a number of the Cabinet Ministers were present, as well as Justice McLeod, one of the Canadian representatives on the board of inquiry.

Lord Mersey accompanied by Mr. Hazen and Judge McLeod left yesterday afternoon for Montreal where they will board one of the Government steamers and sail down the St. Lawrence to the spot where the Empress of Ireland met her fate.

The inquiry is expected to open tomorrow at Quebec.

Lord Mersey arrived in New York Friday on the Mauretania. With him came Prof. J. J. Welch, M.S.C., naval architect in Durham University; Commander W. F. Caborne, C.B., nautical assessor to the Privy Council, who will act in the capacity of experts to the commission; and J. A. Webster, secretary to Lord Mersey.

It was Lord Mersey who conducted the British inquiry into the Titanic wreck in 1912 and it is understood the Empress inquiry will be conducted along similar lines. Lord Mersey is a short, slim man, looking about 60 years of age instead of 74. He is suffering from gout in his left foot and has to wear a felt boot.

Subpoenas Issued.

MONTREAL, June 15.—Lord Mersey was in Montreal a short time yesterday morning on his way from Ottawa to Quebec where the inquiry is to begin to-morrow. His lordship, in an interview said: "We're going to find out if anyone is to blame and if so, who, and in what way."

The work of issuing subpoenas for the Empress of Ireland wreck enquiry to be held at Quebec beginning to-morrow is now almost complete. Those who have been served are: Captain Kendall, First Officer Jones, Second Officer File, Chief Steward Gaada and Chief Engineer Sampson, of the foundered liner, and Captain Andersen and the officers of the Storstad, which rammed the Empress. Altogether, with the officers of the two ships and survivors, it is expected some thirty-one witnesses will be called.

The C. P. R. has retained Butler Aspinall, K.C., the noted English admiralty lawyer, who has arrived here, and who will act with Arthur R. Holden, K.C., of Montreal. The Storstad owners who are coming from Norway to attend the enquiry, will be represented by Humphrey Mellish, K.C., of Halifax.

An official recount of the dead and survivors from the wreck issued by the C. P. R. makes the totals: Dead, 1,014; saved, 463; on board, 1,477.

ORANGE LODGES.

The semi-annual meeting for West Peterborough of the County Orange Lodges will be held in the Lakefield town hall tomorrow (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock. Arrangements will be completed for the annual 12th of July walks and other matters of great importance discussed. A large delegation will represent this city.

FLOWER DAY AT BRIDGENORTH

Children's flower day at the Bridgenorth Methodist Church yesterday was a big success. The children of the Sunday School had various designs made of the flowers, one cross in particular being very beautiful. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Ireland, preached a special sermon for the children.

EXPORTS INCREASE

OTTAWA, June 15.—A statement of Canadian trade for the last fiscal year has just been issued by the Trade and Commerce Department. Total trade in merchandise for the year was $1,073,766,098, an increase of $26,697,554 over the preceding fiscal year. Imports totalled $618,328,874, a decrease of $51,671,315, while exports totalled $455,437,224, an increase of $78,368,869. The net increase in trade for the year was due to the big gain in exports of agricultural products, animal produce and manufactured products, particularly during the autumn months. Since then there has been a considerable falling off both in imports and exports. The total exports of agricultural products for the year was $198,220,029, an increase of $48,074,368, or nearly thirty per cent. Exports of animal product totalled $53,349,119, an increase of $8,564,526, and exports of manufactures totalled $57,443,452, an increase of $13,750,644.

Trade with the United Kingdom showed a net increase of $37,634,098. Trade with the United States showed a net increase of nearly three millions. With the British Indies, including Bermuda, despite the recent reciprocal trade agreement, there was a net falling off in trade of $1,620,287. From nearly every country imports decreased, while to every country, except the Argentine Republic, exports increased.

From the United Kingdom Canada took last year imports valued at $131,942,763, or $6,706,666 less than the preceding year. Canadian exports to the United Kingdom totalled $222,322,766, a gain of $44,340,764.

YOUNG GIRL COLLECTS MONEY FOR MISSIONS

Some young girl of sixteen summers, whose heart contains other than righteousness, is around the city collecting money in the name of the missionary department of St. James' Church. Rev. J. N. Clarry, pastor of St. James' Church heard of the work of this young girl and yesterday warned his flock against giving money to any person to aid the church unless the collector possessed a document giving authority to do so. It is only three weeks ago that it was reported to Mr. Clarry that a middle aged man was endeavoring to get money in a similar manner.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR FURTHER STREET PAVING

Local Contractors Will be Able to Tender

City Engineer Parsons is endeavoring to have all the specifications for the second lot of street paving ready this week and they will in all probability be considered by the Board of Works at their meeting of Wednesday evening, after which tenders will be called for the work. The idea of having local contractors tender for the base, curb and gutter will be given a trial as the city will advertise the work in bulk or in parts.

HORSES ARE NOW RUNNING AWAY FROM THE INCINERATOR

One of the teams of the city garbage wagons became excited or perhaps disgusted when at the incinerator a few minutes after one o'clock today and made a wild dash west on Townsend Street. The driver was not on the wagon, thus the heavy team plunged along unmolested. When they reached Park Street, they went to turn north but failed, with the result that they crashed into the fence in front of the Canadian General Electric Co. Strange, though it may seem neither horse was injured nor was the wagon damaged although six or seven feet of the fence was demolished.

ON TO MONTREAL.

Bearing evidences of being down and out, Harold Whittaker aged about thirty, stood in the prisoner's docket this morning at Police Court, charged with vagrancy and stealing a ride on the C.P.R. He hailed from Fort William and has been out of work for several weeks. He was on his way to Montreal to work in the dock yards. Better continue on your way then, advised Magistrate Dumble, who dismissed the man.

A WORD FOR THE NEW PASTOR

Rev. H. A. Frost Asks for Co-operation of Congregation

Rev. H. A. Frost occupied the pulpit in Charlotte St. Church yesterday. At the evening service he preached from Matthew 21—"Son go work in my vineyard."

Labour, said the preacher, was universal. From the most powerful machine in the workshop to the most delicate instrument, from the giant elephant to the busy bee, from the saint to the struggling soul labour was common to all. The speaker gave definitions of labour by Webster and Ruskin. Christ set it forth as a command and an admonition. He wished the ecclesiastical bodies to accomplish their work. At first they gave only interpretations and suggestions and left to others the bearing of heavy burdens in the heat of the day. Those who give advice readily need it themselves.

The speaker said he wanted to make a suggestion and that he hadn't made any during his work in Charlotte St. Church. This church needs workers. A new pastor was about to come, "and I suggest that you do not say to your new pastor that he ought to do this but that you will see a place where you can put your shoulder to the wheel. You will find out this old church shall accomplish more marvellous things that it has accomplished in the days that are gone." Christ has a plan for the work of this church ; each has a place. Much as we need plans and theories, we need to act out the lessons that the Old Book teaches more than we need plans and theories. We must not make bankrupts of our spiritual life. In closing the speaker drew attention to the first word of the text. We are no more his servants but his sons—friends. This—should give us a new vision, a new inspiration in the work. He urged the people to go with willingness, with joy, with earnestness so that when we rest from our labours our works will follow.

A very pleasant part of the service was Miss Richardson's rendering of "He leadeth me."

The announcements are as usual, save that the second tennis tea will he held on Friday evening at 6.15.

BIGGEST FLOATING DOCK ON PACIFIC READY THIS YEAR

It is expected that the Grand Trunk Pacific authorities will have the big dry dock at Prince Rupert in operation before the end of the present year. The completion of this great work will mean much to Northern British Columbia and especially to Prince Rupert. That rapidly growing city will have a new industry this coming winter. Many of the big coast steamers that have hitherto been compelled to make their headquarters elsewhere will be overhauled in its harbor. It will be able to boast of the largest floating dock on the Pacific with an equipment including every up-to-date device for handling ships up to 20,000 tons. There are four large buildings to house the various sections of the ship building and repairing plant and practically all the machinery to equip the shops has been made in Canada.

The yard will have a 45 ton locomotive crane. Other machinery includes an 80 foot lathe, capable of turning a steel shaft 50 feet in length ; a plate bending machine with a capacity of bending a sheet of steel twenty feet by three-quarters of an inch thick ; a big steam hammer and four air compressors. The machine shop, boiler shop and blacksmith shop will have the most complete set of modern tools on the coast.

Adjoining the dock along the face of the harbor are the big new wharves and the railroad has large freight yards here.

For a city that dates back only to 1906, when the Grand Trunk Pacific's staff of engineers made a landing and clearing for the location of their camp preparatory to making the preliminary survey, this is a record of progress that it would be hard to equal.

to boil them, put a teaspoonful of vinegar in the water and they will not boil out of the shell.

LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE

THE TEMPERANCE CIRCULAR.

Editor of The Review:

Sir:

On May 30, H. B. Cowan, president, and A. B. Cunningham, secretary, of the County of Peterborough Temperance Association, sent a circular to the political associations of West Peterborough in which these words were used: "We express the hope that both parties in both ridings in the County will place in the field candidates who will undertake, if elected, to vote for the abolition of the bar and shop and the cancellation of club licenses." I want to ask these gentlemen if in stating that they are going to support Mr. Rowell's policy in the person of Mr. Gillespie instead of Mr. Soden, who agrees with these sentiments, they think they are acting honestly. The circular sent to Mr. Soden to sign did not include the word "shop" and Mr. Soden certainly could not sign it. The people of this County are entitled to a square deal, but it begins to look as if the alleged Temperance Association of West Peterborough is more interested in electing a supporter of Mr. Rowell than in giving their votes to a man who pledges himself on the platform, off the platform and over his own signature to abolish the liquor traffic, not only so far as Mr. Rowell will go, but much farther. The shop is the most deadly form of alcoholic distribution, and yet Mr. Rowell and his allies propose to leave it for reasons which few will fail to understand.

Yours,
ELECTOR.

TWO POLICIES.

Editor of The Review:

Sir:—

Mr. Gillespie says, "Rowell's policy is my policy." What is Mr. Rowell's policy?

It is to
1. Abolish the bar.
2. Abolish the club.
3. Keep the shop open.
4. And the distillery to supply it.

That's a great temperance policy ain't it?

What does Mr. Soden say?

He says "I will do my best at all times to
a. Abolish the bar.
b. Abolish the club.
c. Abolish the shop.
d. Abolish the distillery.

That's an honest temperance policy, ain't it? But will all the temperance people support Mr. Soden? Rats! They ain't got it in them. What Peterborough would be if Mr. Soden has his way! Not a drop of liquor in the place. What Peterboro will be if Mr. Gillespie and his friend Rowell have their way: Whiskey shops filled with men and women and the fence-corners with drunks. What will the temperance people vote for? For the drunks sure. Don't they say that they are in favour of the open shop? This is a great world ain't it?

Yours truly,
WOW! WOW!

CLUB LICENSES.

Editor Review,

Sir,—It has been said that club licenses originated with the Whitney Government. The fact of the case is this. Under the Ross Government any club that took out a charter (license) from the Ross Government had a right to sell liquor to its members. This custom became general. When the Whitney Government came in it named the charter just what it was, viz., a license but raised the fee and refused to grant any further licenses. The Ontario Liberal Club of Toronto had a charter from the beginning to the present time allowing it to sell liquor to its members and it continues to do so. To say that the Whitney Government instituted the granting of licenses to clubs and that they had no right to sell liquor before is as I have said incorrect.

Yours,
ELECTOR.

Barbers Surrender.

KINGSTON, June 15. — The price of a shave in Kingston will remain at 10 cents. A few months ago the barbers decided to load the male citizens with a 50 per cent. increase in the price of this necessary service, but such an awful howl, with an unprecedented demand for safety razors followed that the shavers took fright, and have now come back on their bended knees and are offering real classy shaves for a single dime.

VESUVIUS IS ACTIVE

Area Around Crater Threatens to Plunge Into Abyss

ROME, June 15. — Vesuvius is showing signs of activity, and an area of 200 yards on the edge of the main crater threatens to plunge into the abyss. The Government has, therefore, stationed a squad of carabineers on the summit of the volcano to warn adventurous tourists of the danger. At this season of the year nearly 100,000 visitors usually make ascents.

It may be recalled that about two years ago a large party of Messrs. Cooks' excursionists had a narrow escape. Only five minutes after they had descended the cinder cone where they had been standing collapsed with a thunderous crash, wrecking the upper funicular railway station and carrying away a large portion of Messrs. Cooks' buildings at the bottom of the crater.

FILMS BURNED

Lubin Plant Destroyed At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 15.—A boy was fatally hurt and moving picture films valued at $500,000 were destroyed and a block of houses was burned to the ground Saturday as a result of an explosion which wrecked a one-storey brick building used as a storage vault for films at the Lubin Moving Picture Plant at Twentieth street and Indiana avenue. One side of the brick structure was blown out. Thousands of reels of films stored within caught fire. A row of houses, facing the brick building soon caught fire, their occupants fleeing in terror. Roy Didio was enveloped by flames when his home, No. 2933 North Garnett street was set ablaze by the explosion. He was so terribly burned that he will die.

Two hundred girls fled in alarm from the Lubin plant and many fainted.

Destruction of Papers Alleged.

QUEBEC, June 15.—Charging her with destroying certain real estate documents, by throwing them into the St. Charles river here, Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Robitaille of Quebec city, are taking action against Miss Zelia Mercier. They claim damages to the extent of $565. In their action, the plaintiffs say the defendant took plans, deeds of sale, contract, and threw them to the bottom of the river.

COMPROMISE IS REACHED

Soldiers Bore Arms to the Church Door

MONTREAL, June 15.—The chief feature of general public interest in the annual Corpus Christi parade in Montreal yesterday morning was the appearance in the parade of the 65th Regiment, with rifles. On account of the order from Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, prohibiting the regiment from carrying arms in the big Catholic procession, as has been done in each Corpus Christi celebration for many years, and the somewhat warm discussion which followed this order, resulting in its being recalled at the last minute, the turnout of the 65th, carrying rifles, was greeted with manifest pleasure.

The militiamen were allowed to escort the Host as far as the church door, but the order prohibited them entering with rifles.

Several thousand people, including women and children, took part in the parade, and the bench, the bar and the City Council, were represented. Mayor Martin had a position of honor at the head of the leading citizens.

There is no simpler way of removing grass stains from the white canvas slippers or shoes than to rub the offending spots with a cloth or brush moistened with spirits of camphor.

SHIP'S SIDE RIPPED OPEN

Liner New York had Miraculous Escape

NEW YORK, June 15.—With her damaged port bow covered with an old sail and the Pretoria's anchor sticking in the firemen's bathroom on the main deck, the American Liner New York, which collided with the Hamburg-American Liner Pretoria early Saturday morning east of the Nantucket Lightship, arrived at her pier yesterday afternoon at 3.20 o'clock and landed her 149 cabin passengers. The 116 immigrants in the steerage stayed on board the ship for the night, and went to Ellis Island early this morning. The collision occurred during a dense fog. The Pretoria continued her journey, being practically undamaged.

The passengers were unanimous in their praise of the seamanship and judgment shown by Captain W. J. Roberts in handling his ship before and after the collision with the Pretoria. Captain Roberts has commanded the New York for twelve years, and this is the first accident he has had in that time.

The rent in the port side of the New York begins about fifty feet from the stem and extends about thirty-two feet. It is about fifteen feet deep. The anchor of the Pretoria is still embedded in the steel plates of the hull, and its flukes are resting on the iron deck of the firemen's bathroom, where the full force of the impact came.

Opposite the bathroom is the cabin occupied by the four masters-at-arms. They were on the deck at the time of the collision, and they would have been killed otherwise, as the entire room and the bunks were ripped open by the bow of the Pretoria. On the next deck below, which is called the 'tween deck, the hole extends for a depth of about two feet in the forecastle, occupied by the firemen and coal passers in the third engineer's watch. They were on duty in the stokehole when the ships crashed.

GREECE IS AROUSED.

Another War With Turkey Seems Inevitable Says Paper.

ATHENS, June 15.—War between Greece and Turkey is inevitable, according to the newspaper Hestia, which is considered as voicing the majority of Greek public opinion. The Government has not as yet received any intimation of the nature of the Sublime Porte's reply to the Greek note, demanding that Turkey cease its persecution of the Greeks in Turkey and make reparation to them for the losses incurred. It is feared here that in accordance with the usual method of Turkish diplomacy, the Turkish note will contain vague promises and denials, and will seek to delay a settlement. But public opinion is strongly opposed to dilatory tactics, says The Hestia, and will compel the Government to insist that the persecution cease, or war will follow at once.

It is reported that there have been several encounters between Turks and Christians in the Asiatic littoral, and that the Turks are concentrating arms and ammunition at various points. Several sailing vessels with Greek refugees aboard, it is also reported, have been captured by the Turks.

PERSONALLY GUARANTEED.

McShane's Obituary Is O. K. But It's Not Needed Yet.

Occasionally the premature announcement of the death of a prominent man gives the subject the rare opportunity of reading his own obituary. A recent case was the telegraphic despatch to the London "Times" stating that Sir James Whitney was dead, which has embroiled two Toronto dailies in counter libel suits. It has, however, fallen to the lot of but few men to not only peruse but to revise the biography which recites their virtues and their achievements for the information of their surviving fellow-mortals, but this was the unique privilege of Hon. James McShane, affectionately known as "the people's Jimmy," and whose public career has included terms as alderman and Mayor of Montreal, minister in the Quebec Cabinet, and member of the House of Commons. Some half-dozen years ago, Mr. McShane was dangerously ill, and his advanced years and critical condition made it seem probable that death was imminent. Mr. Austin Mosher, a veteran journalist who knows everybody who is anybody in the Eastern half of Canada, was instructed to prepare for his newspaper, the Montreal "Gazette," a voluminous sketch of Mr. McShane's life.

Mr. Mosher did so, but Mr. McShane made an unexpected and rapid recovery, and some two or three weeks later Mr. Mosher met the convalescent on the street. After greetings appropriate to the occasion had been exchanged, Mr. Mosher exclaimed:

"By the way, Jimmie, I have your obituary in my pocket."

"Have you now!" said Mr. McShane in an interested tone. "Well, come in here and I'll take a look at it."

They entered the place designated, and Mr. McShane, resting one foot on the brass rail, scanned the manuscript closely, changing a word here and there, and eliminating an occasional phrase, and inserting a sentence or two. Handing it back, he remarked:

"Hang it all, man, you hadn't done me justice at all. But it's correct now, and when I do die, see that it gets in the way I've given it to you."

The obituary, as marked O. K. by the subject thereof, is still in the "Gazette" archives awaiting its ultimate purpose. There seems, however, no immediate prospect of it being called into use, for Mr. McShane is still hale and hearty at eighty, and in the municipal campaign last April he took an energetic part on behalf of Major Stephens' candidature for the mayoralty, delivering one to three speeches every night for two weeks. —Toronto Saturday Night.

How to Win a Prize

In The Review, there will be published each day, a rebus picture similar in size and idea to that shown below. There will be 75 pictures in all. Each represents the name of a well-known player of baseball, football, hockey or lacrosse. There are no dummies or false names—each and every rebus picture can be solved.

The rules printed in the adjoining columns will govern The Review Summer Pastime. One person, if industrious, may win as many as four prizes. Read what is printed here daily until you are familiar with the general conditions of the whole Pastime. The time spent is likely to be very profitable to you!

Open to Women, Men, Boys and Girls

Every reader of The Review has the right to enter this Pastime by using the Answer Forms. The arrangements and conditions are such that no knowledge of baseball, lacrosse, hockey or football is necessary. All can study with equal advantage. Start to-day and try it. Remember, there are eleven prizes!

Aids to Winning

Study the picture carefully and consider how you may apply it to a person's name. The bust on the pedestal is that of a famous musical composer and the two musicians are his admirers. The conversation may give a clue to part of the name and the bust (or statue) may give the clue to another part of the name, although the last or surname will suffice.

The name of the player represented in the picture above is one of the following: Purtell, Pick, Oldham, Madden, Howley, Smith, Cunningham, Keller, Dooln, Couchman, Killifer, Shafer, Merkle, Wiltse, Otto Knabe, Tom Seaton, Archer, Hans Wagner, Whaling, Devlin, Dickson, Hyland, Rube Marquard, Bender, Groom, Rondeau, Doyle, Snodgrass, or Stock. WHICH? Study it out! Later on, we shall give no such clues, but we wish now to show you the way to proceed.

Keep your Answer Form in a safe place and await the picture in Tuesday's issue, which we intimate in advance will be that of a well-known Montreal player.

No knowledge of baseball, lacrosse, hockey or football is necessary. There is only one fully and logically correct answer to a picture. The Rules in adjoining columns state the simple conditions of the pleasurable Summer Pastime. Make a good start; and "keep at it."

Start in To-Day and Win!

RULES OF THE REVIEW'S SUMMER PASTIME

Read These and Keep Them Handy for References

A PLEASING GAME. The competition known as The Review Summer Pastime will be held through the columns of this newspaper beginning Monday, June 15th, and continuing for 75 days. In each issue of The Review there will be printed a rebus picture out of which the name of a baseball, hockey or football player can be made. The names are generally known throughout Canada, being published in newspapers frequently. A part of the names are Canadian and a part are from the important leagues of the United States.

HOW TO STUDY. See how a rebus picture will apply to any name you know. For example: MASON might be represented by a mason at work and WAGNER by a picture or statute of the famous musician. Only one name will logically fit any rebus picture when carefully analyzed. Although initials, first names or nicknames may be worked into rebus pictures as a guide to correct solving, it will suffice if sur names are written in Answer Form.

USE THE ANSWER FORM. Under each picture will be printed a numbered Summer Pastime Answer Form. On this the name of the player is to be written and when the series of Answer Form Coupons is completed, there will be 75 names. Only one name may be written on one Form. The contestant is to keep his or her Forms until the end of the series, then send to this office, the series of 75 with a separate list of the names written additionally on a form that will be printed in The Review after the last picture has appeared.

WINNERS. The person who sends in the set of 75 Answer Forms with largest number of correct names will be entitled to the first prize. If there should be a tie, then the prize will be evenly divided, unless there should be more than three participants tied for a prize, in which case those who have sent in sets of equal merit will be given a further opportunity to determine which shall win by solving a supplementary competition test. This rule will also apply to the lesser prizes. There will be no lottery or chance selection; all winners will be rewarded according to merit.

COMMITTEE. A Summer Pastime Committee of fair-minded persons of high standing, who have no personal interest in this establishment or in the Pastime, will be selected to ascertain the winners. The decision of the Committee shall be final and all who enter do so distinctly upon this understanding.

OPEN TO ALL. The Review's Summer Pastime is open to everybody—excepting employes of this newspaper establishment and their families—regardless of sex or age; and it makes no difference where a competitor lives, provided the package of Answer Forms is returned within the time allowed. There can be no favoritism of any kind.

HELP TO CONTESTANTS. As an aid to competitors who may not be familiar with the names of those who are associated with the games of baseball, lacrosse, hockey and football this year, a book has been published entitled "Summer Pastime Handbook" containing a selected list of about 2,500 players and including every one of the 75 names used in our Pastime. The book is so arranged as to present the easiest possible method of finding the desired names. The price of the handbook is 25 cents and is obtainable at the office of The Daily Review, 166-168 Hunter St., Peterborough, between 8 and 6 daily, or will be mailed on receipt of 26 cents in postage stamps. Additional to the information given in this book the purchaser will receive free, an extra supply of 75 Answer Forms which will have the same standing as those published in he Review. Any competitor who obtains this book is guaranteed that all the names illustrated by the rebus pictures can be found therein. Therefore it is possible to a mathematical certainty for a competitor to compile a correct list by due study.

COMBINATION. The Review's Summer Pastime, with its $150.00 in cash rewards, is being operated by The Peterborough Daily Review and in The Peterborough Weekly Review. Readers of The Daily Review who may wish to give distant friends the pleasure of participating in the Summer Pastime, as well as enjoying a wholesome weekly periodical of unusual interest, should call their attention to this opportunity, or better still, subscribe to the Weekly Review for a friend at $1.00 for a full year or 50 cents for six months.

GENERAL RULES. Answer Forms may be filled in with pencil, ink, or typewriter. Poor handwriting or trifling errors will not count against a participant. No sets of Answer Forms are to be sent in until called for in The Daily Review after the last rebus picture has appeared. The management reserves the right to make any modification in the rules that may be found necessary during the progress of the Summer Pastime, or until the Committee takes charge. One participant may send in as many separate sets of Answer Forms as desired but he or she will be allowed to win not over four prizes. All persons are treated as independent individuals; therefore two or more members of a family or household have the same rights as if they were strangers to each other.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED. Those who feel it necessary to ask any questions may write to Summer Pastime Department, The Review, Peterborough, and the letter will be placed with others to be answered in the columns of The Review from time to time.

SECOND SACKER KING WAS KEPT BUSY AS PETES DOWNED HAMS

Took Ten Chances Without a Slip—Tracey Was Strong and Blountmen Took Kindly to Hurling of Yates and Dolan

THE PETES poked the pill when most needed and coupled with six errors by the Hamilton crew got away with Saturday's encounter by the one sided score of 8-4. The score just about represents the difference between the clubs on the day's play, as Tracey pitched nice ball and deserved his win. On two occasions with the pillows well populated, Tracey heaved himself out of the danger zone in masterly fashion. There was good and bad baseball mixed up like a Manhattan, but the bad on the local's part was more than overbalanced by the good. King at second had a great day. The middle sacker handled ten chances without the least sign of a boot. Some of them were of the hard variety and cut off hits and runs on several occasions.

Dr. Yates, the visiting manager, started the game, but derricked himself in the fourth, Dolan taking up the duties of checking the Pete attack. Yates did not get going at all and four hits were gathered off him in the three periods he worked. He also hit a batsman and passed three. His support was also ragged, his team mates having three boots during the three innings he was on the hill. On the other hand, Tracey heaved a nice steady game all the way, and was in trouble only twice. His support was also uncertain, and Fox's two errors figured in the runs the visitors secured.

One big feature of the local's attack was their ability to pilfer the sacks and to lay down the sacrifice hits when they counted most. The locals had no less than six sacrifice hits, and they all helped. Dad Stewart, Kelly and King were the chief clubbists, getting two slams apiece. On hits the teams were even, but the local pokes came when they hurt.

The Petes grabbed two in the opening frame, when Byrne got a life by the error route, was forced out at second, Welsh got on and stole, and Stewart and King singled. Two more came in the second, on a pass to Fox, Fisher's error, Dudley's error, Blount's fielder's choice, Byrne's sacrifice and Stewart's hit to centre. In the third, a pass to Gorman, Fox's sacrifice, a pass to Kelly and Tracey's hit scored two more. In the sixth, Baldwin's boot, Stewart's sacrifice and King's hit scored another, while Kelly's poke, Blount's steal and Byrne's hit scored one in the seventh.

The Hams grabbed their first in the second on Corns' single, Fisher's sacrifice and Fox's error. In the fourth, two more were added on Baldwin's single, Fox's error and Fisher's double. One more came in the eighth on Gilhooley's double and singles by Corns and Fisher.

COMMENT

As You Like It

The series with the Toronto and Hamilton clubs which closed on Saturday was the most successful week the Petes have had since the league opened. Four wins out of the six battles is pretty fair going. The club showed improvement all through scoring more runs, making more hits and having less errors in the six games with Toronto and Hamilton than in any other six games played on the home lot. In the last home series which brought Ottawa and Erie here the Petes won three games and lost four of the seven, one win being credited against Ottawa and two from Erie in a four game series. In those seven games the Petes scored seventeen runs or an average of about two and a half runs per game, fifty-one hits or a little better than seven hits per game. The club made twenty-one errors an average of three per game.

In the games last week the club scored twenty-five runs or just a shade better than four per game, while they had fifty-one hits which represents about eight and one-half pokes per game while they had thirteen boots which is about two per game. The following shows the local club's efforts in the seven games against Ottawa and Erie at home.

Runs 17, hits 51, errors 21.

In the six games with Hamilton and Toronto the results were:

Runs 25, hits 51, errors13.

John Freeman, that it what his parents christened him, but the world knows him as "Buck" Freeman, and as "Buck" Freeman he holds the enviable record of making the most home runs ever made by any one player in any one league season. His ball playing days are now over, but he is still connected with the great pastime in his official capacity. When he was in his prime no better ball player lived than "Buck" Freeman, and his appearance at the plate, bat in hand, struck fear into the heart of many a good pitcher.

"Buck" Freeman was with the Toronto Eastern League Club when "Doc" Reisling, the present London manager, first joined it, and "Doc." played beside him for a year. "Buck" was in his prime then, and Toronto fans still remember the days when he and his famous bat performed over at the island. His reputation as a home-run hitter was just becoming firmly established then and the big leaguers grabbed him. With Toronto that season he made eleven home runs. In 1899 he went to Washington and established a world's baseball record, one that has never been equalled since, by polling out a total of 27 home runs.

"Buck" is proving a big success in the Canadian League as an umpire, and he is one of the best indicator holders seen in London for some seasons. His famous batting eye is serving him well in calling balls and strikes and he knows when they are over and when they are not. He makes the teams play ball all the time, and umpires such as he add a whole lot to the game. The Canadian League can stand a few more "Buck" Freemans.—London Advertiser.

The race in the Canadian League is the closest since the league was organized and re-organized. Ottawa and London are neck and neck for the leadership while Erie is about four games behind the leaders and resting in third place just 43 points in front of the Hamilton bunch. A blanket would cover the first division clubs. St. Thomas who occupy fifth place are only one game and a half behind Hamilton while Brantford is just one half game behind St. Thomas. Toronto is tied with Brantford for sixth place while the Petes are but four games behind Toronto and Brantford. According to the standing the second division clubs can knock at the door of supremacy by a winning streak of five or six games. The Petes slumped badly in the first stages of the battle and as they have fully recovered from the slipping process should commence to climb.

How the mighty have fallen. Walter Johnson was beaten on Saturday by a raw recruit named Bowman of the lowly Naps who shut the Senators out. It was Johnson's seventh loss this season. He lost only six games all last year. Washington is knocking at the door for the leadership of the American League without Johnson's wins. With Johnson in form the Senators would be out in front.

The English polo team won the first match of the international at Meadowbrook, Long Island, on Saturday, before 40,000 people by a score of 8½ to 3. The invaders displayed superior work in all branches and the Yankee critics say they have the finest team that ever crossed the pond. The first international polo was played in 1886 when the Britons won. They held the trophy for 23 years. In 1909 the Americans invaded England and won the trophy and successfully defended it last year.

Fried, the Ottawa youngster, will not be sent to the Petes for a week at least. He was to have joined the club at Hamilton to-day, but as Bullock split his hand on Saturday, Fried will be used at third base until Bullock gets back in the game. Smykal is playing short.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT IS GIVEN UP

LONDON, June 15.—The project of the Canadian millionaire sportsman, Mackay Edgar, to fly across the Atlantic Ocean with a huge Martin-Handasyde monoplane is in abeyance owing to Hamel's death. Edgar is not interested in any other pilot, as he says none of them has Hamel's ability in the air. He refuses to invite another to take his place.

There is also difficulty in finding any one sufficiently experienced to be trusted with preliminary tests of the mammoth plane in starting and landing.

Good proportions for French dressing are one teaspoonful of vinegar, three of oil and salt and pepper to taste.

LOCALS LOST

The Campbellford Cricketers Score Win

The local cricket club played an interesting game with the Campbellford Club on the latter's grounds on Saturday. The local club was forced to play with three men short of the regular eleven but the match was exciting. One innings only was played and the Campbelford club batted out 79 runs to Peterboro's 68.

MONTREAL, June 15.—Mayor Mederic Martin and his Board of Control discharged 100 men in the public works department yesterday morning. The lot consisted of engineers, draftsmen, chainmen and others of like employment. The mayor says he saved the city $65,000 a year by firing the whole bunch. # MAKING OF A SCOUT

H. R. H., The Duke of Connaught Extends Patronage

"The Making of a Scout" is the subject of a remarkable moving picture film which will be shown in the Grand Opera House. The film which is almost two miles long, being the longest film of a single subject in the world, was made under the direction of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. It is arranged in seven reels and will run for more than two hours.

This novel moving picture production was shown to Col. A. P. Sherwood, Dominion Commissioner of the Boy Scouts, and a committee of Boy Scout officers of Ottawa a few days ago with the result that they speedily approved of it. One of these officers in speaking of "The Making of a Scout" declared that it was all its managers had claimed for it, and even more than he had expected. Those who have seen it, describe the drama enacted by eighty-four characters, most of them real Boy Scouts, as depicting every phase of the activities of Boy Scouts. The pictures show not only the physical activities but the teachings and general foundations of the Boy Scout movement. By this popular and graphic means these teachings are brought before hundreds of thousands of boys who have not yet been fortunate enough to be reached by Scout influences.

Among the many distinguished personages who have given their approval to the production is Mr. Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, who by a personal appearance in "The Making of a Scout" places his seal of approval on the picture. Other well known men of the republic from whom James E. West, the manager of the Boy Scouts moving picture drama has received letters of encouragement and commendation include Theodore Roosevelt, ex-President of the U.S., Judge Ben B. Lindsay of the Juvenile Court, Denver, Colorada, and Gifford Pinchot, Washington, D.C.

The picture has been shown with great success in many parts of the United States. It will be shown at the Grand Opera House, Peterboro, on Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon and evening, June 19th and 20th. Night doors open at 7.30. Performance 8.15. Matinee doors open at 2.00. Performance 2.30.

LATEST FROM DAME FASHION

THERE IS ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW IN VEILS.

The diamond shaped frame veil is a late innovation of the styles and a most sensible one, too, since into the plain fine mesh of the veil is woven a face portion of wide mesh, the corners just showing the lips and the curls by the ears, beauty spot chenille dots setting off the frame. Another new veil is in triangular shape, as if this one were cut off at the lower dots, just covering the lips and giving a dash of coquetry to the toilette.

WAR-CRAFT IS WRECKED

Another Zeppelin Airship in Accident

DIEDENHOFEN, Germany, June 15.—Another of the Zeppelin airships of the German army, the Z1, was badly wrecked near here Saturday. While trying to effect an emergency landing the air cruiser broke at right angles behind the rear gondola. A lieutenant was injured.

The accident occurred during a flight from Cologne to Metz. The Z1, with a military crew on board, ran into a rainstorm and the commander decided to descend. When the air vessel was within a few yards of the ground a sudden vertical gust of wind forced it violently to earth, and it broke virtually in two. The airship will have to be entirely dismembered for repairs.

WHO'LL BE THE MAN?

Mexico Requires a Personage Who Can Satisfy All Factions.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 15.—The mediating colony turned their thoughts Saturday from diplomatic forms and protocols to questions of personnel for the new provisional Government of Mexico. They began the search for the man of the hour—a successor to Huerta who shall be acceptable to all factions, capable of pacifying Mexico so that a constitutional election may be held.

The Mexican delegates are anxious that some clause be written in one of the protocols by which it shall be emphasized that the new President is to be recognized by interior Mexico as well as foreign nations. This is to make it consistent for Huerta to resign in accordance with his declaration that he would retire when Mexico was "politically pacified."

MR. SODEN AND THE TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION

County Temperance Association
Peterboro, June 13, 1914.

Editor The Review:

Dear Sir:—

As the stand the County Temperance Association and the Citizens' Temperance League have taken on behalf of the Liberal candidate in West Peterboro is receiving considerable attention at the hands of the Conservative candidate and some of his friends, may I trespass on your space in order to make their position clear.

Both the County and City Temperance organizations, as far as Mr. Soden's personal record is concerned, at first considered Mr. Soden to be a candidate who would be satisfactory to the temperance interests.

Only one thing prevented the Temperance organizations from extending their support to Mr. Soden. It is the fact that up to the present Mr. Soden has used a cloud of words and high sounding phrases expressing his belief in the abolition of the bar, the shop and the club license, but nowhere yet has Mr. Soden, as far as we can discover, stated openly that if elected he would vote on every possible occasion with either party:

First, for the abolition of the 1300 bars in the province.

Second, for the abolition of the approximately 55 club licenses.

Third, for the abolition of the 215 shop licenses in the province.

Instead, Mr. Soden has made it very clear that he may not vote for any of these measures. For proof, let us examine the report of his Opera House speech, as published on the front page of The Daily Review for June 12th. Near the top of the sixth column, Mr. Soden is quoted as saying:

> "Mark you, I am not speaking, and do not wish to be understood as speaking against the abolition of the bars and club licenses. My statements, my beliefs, my standing on this question remain even as I stated them at the Conservative Convention, viz.: I believe in the abolition of ALL THREE. BUT CONTEND THAT TO BE EFFECTIVE, PERMANENT AND SAFE LEGISLATION FOR TEMPERANCE MEN TO SUPPORT, THE LAW SHOULD INCLUDE ALL THREE."

Note, that the inference is that unless all three are included, Mr. Soden may not vote for the abolition of the others. If this seems to be hair-splitting, we would call attention to the following statement by Mr. Soden, which appears at the top of the next column to the right, where Mr. Soden says:—

> "To the extent of my own vote, and of my own influence, if returned, I MAY work towards the end that we desire."

We would like to call attention to the fact that Mr. Soden says he MAY work. HE DOES NOT SAY THAT HE WILL VOTE FOR SUCH MEASURES. THIS IS THE KERNEL OF THE WHOLE DIFFICULTY.

We are perfectly aware that Mr. Soden, in his private canvas, when asked for a clear-cut, definite answer, has made absolute promises to temperance workers, whose support he desired, that he intends to vote for any and all three of these measures. Thus, privately, he has pledged his vote and influence for temperance. We are also aware that Mr. Soden has made the positive assertion that if elected he would go to Toronto absolutely unpledged as to how he would vote. These conflicting statements have prevented both organizations from placing confidence in Mr. Soden's platform. If Mr. Soden had made as definite and clear-cut statements in public, that he would vote in the Legislature with either party on every possible occasion in favour of temperance measures, as he has made in private, there would have been no opposition from the Temperance Organizations to his candidature.

A Precedent.

If any person thinks this stand unreasonable on the part of the temperance organizations, we would draw attention to the fact that in East Peterboro, Mr. Jas. Thompson, before his election to the Legislature, was considered to be a strong temperance man. He pledged himself to vote, if elected, for the abolition of the three-fifths requirement. Temperance people helped to elect Mr. Thompson, and on one or two occasions after his election he did vote against the Government on the three-fifths requirement. Since then he has voted with the Government against the temperance measures introduced by the Liberals. On April 23, 1913, he voted against a resolution to the effect that no tavern or club license should be issued after the 30th of April, 1914. On the same day he voted against a proposal to remove the three-fifths handicap. On the same day he voted against a proposal to have all bars closed at 12 o'clock noon on Saturdays, instead of 7 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock on other evenings, and not to open until 8 in the morning. On the same day, he voted against having Good Friday added to Christmas as days on which the bars must be colsed, although the Government has since adopted this last piece of legislation, and claimed it as its own. In 1912, 1913 and 1914, Mr. Thompson voted with the Government against proposals to abolish the bar.

Supporters of the temperance cause have no reason to believe that Mr. Soden is a stronger man than Mr. Thompson. He will be subjected to the same influences to whip him into line, that proved so effective with Mr. Thompson. These influences have forced the retirement in this election of a Conservative candidate in Toronto, who expressed his approval of such measures.

Mr. Soden's position has been stated. Now note that of Mr. Gillespie. Mr. Gillespie has not only accepted the platform of the temperance organizations, but in his letter to the electors of West Peterboro, he has made his position clear in the following words:

> "I am in favour of the abolition of the three-fifths clause. I will vote with either political party for its abolition, and favor a straight majority vote on every possible occasion in the Legislature. I will vote with either political party on every possible occasion for the abolition of the open bar, club licenses, and all other legislation looking for the restriction and abolition of the Liquor rTaffic."

Both temperance organizations would have been delighted had Mr. Soden made as clear-cut and definite a statement on the temperance issue as that of Mr. Gillespie. He was given ample time in which to do so. He refused to accept that opportunity. He, and he alone, therefore, is responsible for the fact that the temperance organizations have not been able to give him their support.

Signed on behalf of the Temperance Associations.

H. B. COWAN, President.

Another chapter is about to be added to the history of the Canadian Cordage Company, against which a winding up order was made on December 7th, 1910. G. W. Hatton was appointed liquidator.

The shareholders of the Company have been notified to appear before Judge Huycke, the local master of the Supreme Court, on Tuesday, June 30th, at 11 a.m.

Protests against liability in respect to the number of shares and amount must be filed with the local master and liquidator on or before Tuesday, June 23rd.

ROSS. L. DOBBIN IS APPOINTED AS WATER WORKS SUPERINTENDENT

Many friends in the city will be pleased to learn of the appointment of Mr. Ross L. Dobbin, by the local Public Utilities Commission, to the position of Superintendent of the waterworks system in this city. He has latterly been in charge of the inspection of erection of the steel work on the big Royal Bank building in Toronto, at the corner of King and Yonge Streets, the highest building in the British Empire, and the only one in Canada of at all similar proportions. Previously he was engaged in the construction of the Moose Jaw water supply system, that city expending nearly half a million dollars to secure water. Mr. Dobbin had charge of the construction of the head works, reservoir and pumping station and the mains, laying for a distance of eighteen miles, completing the work in two years, during December last. He will begin his new duties early next week.

The Commissioners had been following the work of Mr. Dobbin for some time, and were in hopes of obtaining him for the position of superintendent in case anything should happen to cause a change.

The salary is $1500. There were a large number of applications for the position.

STREETS IN PARIS SINK

Lives Lost in Remarkable Catastrophe

TAXI DISAPPEARED

Men Spent Night Exploring Rains With Lamps

PARIS, June 16.—Several streets gave way last evening in the vicinity of the Boulevard Haussmann and the Rue Auber and the Place Saint Augustin after a severe rainstorm. A taxicab completely disappeared. It is feared that a number of pedestrians were engulfed.

Another serious cave-in occurred at the Place St. Phillippe due Roule. When the storm was at its height 500 square feet of the roadway heaved up and sank, carrying with it a number of persons. The whole district became a veritable river. Gas mains, telephone wires, and the electrical supply were broken off.

The quarter was immediately isolated and the prefect of the Seine with large detachments of police was hastily summoned, but for a long time nothing could be done owing to the darkness. Firemen arrived with powerful gas lamps, and with the assistance of gangs of laborers began exploring the wrecked street.

President Poincare sent a member of his military household to the scene, and troops were ordered to aid the police and firemen.

About the same time a large section of the roadway in the Place St. Augustin suddenly collapsed. A passing taxicab was engulfed. Eyewitnesses saw a woman's hand waving from the vehicle, and the head of the chauffeur as the taxicab disappeared. Almost immediately a great block of stone fell upon it. A large wagonette just missed the same fate, the hind wheels sinking axle-deep in the soil, but the occupants made their escape.

Almost at the beginning of the storm, the roadway at the junction of the Rue Tronchet, the Rue Auber and the Boulevard Haussmann, one of the busiest sections of Paris, disappeared, leaving an opening thirty feet long and fifteen feet wide into which the water from a broken main poured in a torrent. A pedestrian fell in, but was quickly dragged to a place of safety.

A sewer burst alongside the subway in the Rue de Rivoli, putting it out of commission. Another burst in the Rue Boissy d'Anglas, carrying away many feet of the pavement and flooding the new subway line under the Place de la Concord.

The thunderstorm was one of remarkable violence and raged over Paris for three hours. It caused enormous damage to property.

CROWDED HALL AT YOUNG'S POINT GREETS MR. SODEN ; A SYMPATHETIC HEARING

Conservative Candidate Points Out How Mr. Rowell Deals Very Tenderly With the Greatest Evil of the Liquor Traffic—the Shops.

Never in the history of Young's Point was a more enthusiastic meeting held than the one conducted last night in the interests of Mr. R. J. Soden, the Conservative standard bearer in West Peterboro. The hall was crowded and great interest was manifested. Webster Blewett acted as chairman for the evening and briefly introduced Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., and Mr. Soden. The meeting concluded with hearty cheers for the candidate and the government. All through Mr. Soden's address which was cut short owing to the lateness of the hour a keen interest was displayed by those present.

Mr. Soden also conducted a meeting at Ray's school house and the same spirit of enthusiasm and confidence existed there as existed at the meeting at Young's Point.

In opening his remarks Mr. Soden stated that he had been in Young's Point on a previous occasion but had never had the opportunity of addressing its citizens. He would try to outline the Government's policy and his candidature as briefly as possible. In part Mr. Soden said :

"I am satisfied that you all realize the benefits this province has enjoyed since the Whitney administration became effective. The government has introduced so many good measures and have so drawn them up, so they would benefit the province that Rowell is in a position where he cannot formulate any policy which would be better than the Conservative one and he seeks to ride in on one plank which is not of the full length and which ought not to have been sawn off where it was if Mr. Rowell was really sincere in his temperance stand. He has failed to tell us of any new measures of an industrial nature which the Liberals would introduce. He has failed to find any point in the Whitney policies which he can criticize.

"He tells you if you return him he will abolish the bars and clubs. He deals tenderly with the greatest evil of the traffic—the shops. He is willing that you should buy your liquor by the bottle, go into some highway and drink to your heart's content. If Rowell was sincere and had the courage he would abolish the shops. All true temperance legislation aims to rid the community of the whole evil. We have no doubt that Mr. Rowell if returned to power will be compelled to carry out his promises but what will be the conditions which will exist if the shop is allowed to remain. You people here live in dry territory. You can secure your liquor from the shops and any liquor brought into a dry district is usually bought in the shops. In the bars a person must drink on the premises and the law is easily enforced. The fault is with the shops, but they are the ones the Liberal leader proposes to touch not. I say that the shop is the source from which the dry districts obtain their liquor. It is also the source of supply for the blacklister. The hotelmen are penalized for selling to such persons but the blacklister with the aid of some unscrupulous friend can secure a bottle from the shops. Ninety-nine per cent. of the blacklisters get drunk out of the bottle. The shops are also the supplies of drunkenness among women. It is the shop and not the bar that is creating a drunkenness among the women.

Shops Supply Boy.

The shops also supply the boy who is under age as the hotelman will not sell to him neither can he sell a bottle but the boy can secure his bottle at the shop with the aid of a friend.

"If Rowell is the true temperance man he claims he is why then does he systematically protect the greatest evil of the traffic, namely the shops. Either he is not acquainted with the facts or some influence within his own party keeps him from including the shops in his measure. It has also been stated that the Whitney government is not a temperance one. There are just as sincere temperance men within the Conservative ranks as there were in the Liberal party.

Local option was introduced at federation. In 188[illegible] the Ross Government introduced a measure whereby it was granted on an even vote. But the government failed to provide the machinery for enforcement of the law. Eighty-four municipalities voted on local option and of that number 34 either rejected the act or it was turned down by the municipal council which had the final say in those days. Of the other 50, twenty-three municipalities repealed it because the government had failed to enforce the law. The Liberal government stood back and said that the act was a Dominion one and it could not provide the machinery to enforce it. Twenty-seven municipalities kept it in force but of that number there was but one village and it was West Toronto. In 1905 the Whitney government introduced the three-fifths clause. The government believed that if a sufficient number desired it the government would grant it without the sanction of any municipal council and the government would also enforce it. At the end of 9 years we find there are about 150 dry municipalities. It is an exception to hear of an appeal. On what strength can the Liberals accuse the Conservatives of being anti-temperance. The Conservatives also permitted a local option vote under the Canada Temperance Act which only requires a majority. The people wanted it and got it and although it was a Dominion Act the local government pledged itself to see that the law was enforced in any place where the act was carried. Who can say that the Whitney government does not mean what it has promised ?"

Unfair Statements.

"When they tell me I am not a temperance man they are making unfair statements. I am as good a temperance man as Mr. Gillespie who I regard as a good fellow. I had my coat off working for local option in Peterboro when Mr. Gillespie only gave it his countenance but did not assist it by his efforts.

"I do not think the electors are going to stand aside and think that the abolishment of the bars will alone run the province. You have all heard of the great development of the government's Hydro-Electric policies and what a benefit each community has derived as a result. The waterways are now being developed by the government and the people have been rescued from the hands of the monopolists. Adam Beck and his colleagues have done more for the country with their hydro work than the Liberals did in the thirty years with all their measures."

Water Powers.

Mr. Soden then outlined what had been done in the way of the government developing the power on the Trent Valley and the proposed pow-

TEN YEARS SHOW HALF THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC WIPED OUT, REVENUE DOUBLED AND PUBLIC POWER ON FIRM BASIS

Huge Roads Scheme Underway, Workmen's Compensation Provided and Many More Reforms---Premier Issues His Address to the Electors

TORONTO, June 16.—The Provincial Government's pre-election manifesto was issued by Sir James Whitney yesterday. It contains a review of the work of the Whitney Administration and an appeal to the electors to pronounce upon the policy of the Government.

An election at the end of three years has been called in accordance with the custom of consulting the electorate when measures of an important nature are proposed or have been enacted, says Sir James.

"With reference to this point, I draw your attention to the very important act passed at the last session, known as the act for compensation for injuries to workmen; also to the report of the public roads and highways commission; and to the legislation providing for the establishment of radial railways by municipalities; all these foreshadowing action of tremendous importance to the people of the province. In our history there is no instance of legislation promising such great and beneficial results. As I have said, we desire to gather your opinions with reference to these great subjects, as well as the other matters to which we have given our attention."

Referring to the past ten years of tenure of office, the Premier says:

"During our term of office we have abolished such devices as the numbered ballot and have restored clean and honest methods in the conduct of elections.

"We have regarded agriculture as our chief industry and have largely increased the expenditure for agricultural purposes brought instruction in the latest methods and discoveries directly to the people by means of district representatives, and have co-operated with the Federal authorities in extending agricultural improvements.

"We have established the provincial university on a prosperous footing, have given generous aid to the primary and secondary schools, and have taken advanced steps in educational progress by setting up systems of training in technical, industrial and agricultural instruction.

"We have challenged attention at home and abroad by producing at the lowest prices the best text-books ever published on this continent, and in so doing have saved the people considerably over a million dollars in the cost of the books.

"We have more than doubled the public revenues, maintained unimpaired the provincial credit, and spent the money in useful public improvements.

"The extension of the great system of hydro-electric power, which has been administered by Mr. Beck and his colleagues on the commission with unexampled zeal and fidelity to the public service, is transforming, in a wonderful manner, industrial and social conditions in the province, and we ask your further authority for proceeding with this development."

Passing reference is made to workmen's compensation, the eight-hour law for miners, the act to aid urban housing, and the extension and reconstruction of the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and then Sir James turns to the liquor problem.

"The license laws have been faithfully enforced in honest fulfilment of pledges, and in accordance with the moral and temperance sentiment of the province, by many wholesome amendments, by the curtailment of the hours during which liquor is sold, and by provisions to aid in enforcing the Canada Temperance Act where that law is adopted," he says. "Under existing laws, the people have the right to close shops and bars alike in any locality. This policy has resulted in nine years in the abolition of over 1,200 liquor licenses, or nearly one-half of the whole number in the province. We believe that the people should be trusted to decide this matter for themselves, and that the dragging of the temperance question into the arena of party politics is not in the best interests of the cause. We believe, moreover, that a policy that keeps shops open while closing the bars will have a tendency to encourage and increase the sale of liquor in large quantities and the consumption of it in the home. That policy we leave to our opponents. We shall continue our efforts to minimize as far as possible the evils resulting from the liquor traffic and the drink habit."

The development and extension of New Ontario is touched upon as well as the appropriation of $5,000,000 for colonization roads, and the manifesto goes on to discuss the plans laid for the building of good roads in Older Ontario, and the recent report of the commission.

"We began the task you allotted to us, realizing that the good name of Ontario had been compromised by corrupt election methods; that its best interests were languishing and its revenues stationary," the manifesto continues. "We have earnestly sought by honest administration and enlightened legislation to place the province in the position she should rightfully occupy in the Dominion of Canada, and reviewing the results which have been accomplished under a gracious Providence, and by the help of our fellow-citizens, we ask you to renew your confidence in order that the work may be carried on."

The Premier concludes with a note of appreciation of the work of his colleagues in the Cabinet.

INQUIRY INTO DISASTER WILL HAVE WIDE SCOPE

Deputy Minister of Justice Outlines Salient Points of the Loss of the Liner—Commission and Experts Are Sworn

Canadian Press Despatch.

Quebec, June 15.—The Empress of Ireland inquiry started at ten o'clock this morning. After the various counsel in the case presented themselves to the court, Edward L. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice, outlined the salient features of the foundering of the Empress, as at present known, telling how she left Quebec on May twenty-eighth at twenty-seven minutes past four in the afternoon with a crew of 420 and 1,057 passengers. How at one-thirty the next morning, she proceeded out to sea from Father Point, where she had left her pilot, and at two o'clock, when off Cook's Point, came into collision with the Storstad.

She was struck on the starboard side by the starboard bow of the Storstad, began to fill, turned over, and sank in from fifteen to twenty minutes, from the time of impact, with as near as has been possible to determine the loss, of 1014 lives.

The investigation, Mr. Newcombe said, would have a wide scope. Questions of pilotage and proximity to land were not involved. The damage to the Empress could not be ascertained, as divers reported she was on her injured side in mud. Mr. Newcombe then submitted a list of twenty questions, which had been served upon masters and officers of the two ships, covering conditions obtaining on the night of collision and the action taken by the captains of both ships.

Judge Noseworthy then swore in the members of the commission and the experts. Mr. Aspinall, counsel for the C.P.R., submitted a written summary of case for C.P.R., and counsel for Storstad made a verbal statement.

ONTARIO'S BEST GOVERNMENT.

SO HARD UP are the Liberals for a policy, that they have not hesitated to steal planks from the Conservative platform. It is evident the Grits have not been sawing much wood. Leader Rowell practically claims that he and his stalwart nineteen passed the Workmen's Compensation Act, and conceived and carried out the great Hydro-Electric project. Such is not the case. Had it not been for the strong administration of Sir James Whitney, there would have been no Workmen's Compensation Act and no Hydro-Electric. These measures are purely and solely the work of the Whitney Government, and the benefit the people of Ontario have received from these measures alone, entitles the Conservative Government to a sweeping majority.

In other departments, their record is equally good. Mr. Rowell claims the Department of Education has lost the confidence of the people. If facts, figures, and real progress count for anything, that department possesses in very truth the confidence of the people. The legislative grant to rural schools was increased from $120,000 in 1905 to $380,000 in 1907, and to $400,000 in 1913. The total grant is now distributed with a view to ensuring a maximum of good results throughout the system. Dr. Pyne announced the abandonment of the old plan of paying on the basis of average attendance (whereby a premium was put on inequality of distribution) and substituted for it a basis designed to stimulate local effort and to secure the following results:—

1. Higher salaries to teachers.
2. Encouragement to employ teachers with the best grade of certificates.
3. Better equipment for the schools.
4. Healthier accommodations for the pupils.

The basis on which rural schools received increased grants was the assessment, the salaries paid teachers, the teacher's certificate and experience, the school equipment and school accommodations. Where the assessment was low, the school section received a larger grant, thus causing a higher and better system of education to prevail generally throughout the province. By making part of the grant depend on the teacher's salary, school boards were induced to increase the amount paid their teachers. Paying more, they could command better teachers, and that meant better teaching and education. Then, school equipment was also improved for the same reason, as well as accommodations for the health and convenience of the pupils. The result of this policy has been that teachers' salaries are now double that which they were in 1905.

When school boards were thus enabled to pay higher salaries, they demanded better trained teachers. A great decline in the numbers of teachers teaching on permits and third-class certificates has resulted, while there has been a corresponding increase in second-class and first-class professional teachers.

All this improvement has meant increased expenditure, as the figures quoted at the beginning of this article show. The Grits are using these figures to show that the Conservatives are wasteful and extravagant. That is the kind of argument they are using in this election and Mr. Rowell does not hesitate to use arguments like these. The expenditures of the Whitney Government have been wise and beneficial. There has been no misappropriation, no election scandals. Education has progressed, and because of that progress and those wise improvements, made not alone by the Department of Education, but by all branches of the Government, do the Conservatives entrust their record of office to the approval of the people. A vote against Whitney means a vote against the best Government this province has ever had.

NOVA SCOTIA NOT DEVELOPED.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT is contained in the figures given by the census and statistics branch of the Department of Trade and Commerce. According to this authority, in Nova Scotia, even with three hundred years' settlement, out of an available area of cultivation of 8,000,000 acres, not a million are actually under cultivation. Leading merchants in the Maritime Provinces feel that with such possibilities possessed by such a widespread territory, the great national problems to be met are those of adequate transportation and markets and that, while at present the Dominion is suffering a severe set-back yet, before very long, there will be another forward rush of development and production which will far outrun the possibilities of existing available markets across the ocean. It is pointed out that the United States, with its already enormous and rapidly increasing population, must ultimately become the largest purchaser of Canadian products. The fact is not lost sight of, however, of the opportunities offered by the now fast developing South American Republics, which are also bound to become patrons of Canadian food products.

CLEVELAND is about to prove that 3-cent light is a success, just as that city has shown that 3 cents is a profitable street car fare for a municipality. This is indicated by the latest report of the municipal lighting plants, which recently began operations. Bills for residences, which, in May, 1913, were $1.80, were 72 cents in May, 1914.

A COMPROMISE NECESSARY.

JUST AS SOON as prosperity begins to loom on the horizon, along come the engineers and firemen of 68 Western railroads asking for an advance of 50 per cent, which will amount in the aggregate to $33,000,000. The railroads have experienced too hard a period of stringency even to consider a whack like that. All good citizens want to see labour conditions as good as possible, but labour leaders should consider the employers' side a little more carefully before making extravagant demands. In this case, however, no serious dispute is anticipated, as both sides recognize the importance of a mutually amicable agreement.

MORAL ISSUES.

ELECTORS of the riding of West Peterborough have heard quite a bit of election talk on moral issues. The Toronto Telegram, Independent, has the following to say on this point:

> "'Tis when 'moral issues' are involved in an election that the followers of Mr. Rowell loom up like a lighthouse in a fog. They can always be depended on, at such a time, to put principle before party, and vote against the Tory candidate."

ILLOGICAL AND WICKED.

SOME people in this country, ignorant of the real facts, are inclined to sympathize with the militants. The following paragraph from the Montreal Mail reveals the real nature of the militants' movement. It is extreme to a degree, illogical and wicked.

> "The suicide of a young English girl in London as the direct result of militant suffragette excesses is the natural fruit of such tactics. Not often, however, are the results shown with such pathos. Militancy is degeneration."

FIRE PREVENTION IS NECESSARY.

SEVEN conflagrations which have occurred in Indiana towns and have spread freely because no apparatus was at hand to check the flames, show the importance which every locality should attach to making some sort of provision for fighting the spread of fire.

Since last June the loss exceeds $119,552 from small town conflagrations, in only one of which was any fire-fighting apparatus. The fire-loss in Canada is very high, which causes high insurance rates. If more attention were paid to fire prevention, losses would be less, and, as soon as losses show a decrease there will be a tangible reason to reduce fire insurance rates.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

U. S. STEEL earnings for the second quarter, it is now estimated, will not be over $18,000,000, unless June shows a heavy increase in shipments to offset the prevailing low prices.—News note. Owing to the low state of the labour market, we estimate our revenue at less than the above amount.

MAYOR MARTIN of Montreal proposes to start a paper to give the people correct reports of Council meetings, etc. This was a most ill-advised declaration. It shows that he never was "on a newspaper."

SO the Montreal Herald reorganization is to become operative on June 15th. These reorganizations are like divorces in Reno—the more the merrier.

THE LONDON STATIST says Canadian wealth will triple in current generation. If we are ever going to be a millionaire, ours will have to do more than that.

WE quite agree with Father Vaughan, who would let those female hyenas, called militants, die in their hunger strikes.

HAVE you thought of any searching questions to ask Leader Rowell? We have. But he is not likely to answer them.

REMEMBER, Rowell is trying to get into power by appealing to temperance people.

HAVE you swatted a fly yet?

A Tip for N. W. Rowell.

Brockville Times.

As the Globe has stopped taking liquor advertisements since the "Abolish the bar" campaign began, Leader Rowell certainly ought to resign from those Toronto clubs in which liquor is sold.

A Liberal for Hanna.

London Free Press.

Mayor Stirrett, of Petrolia, a widely known Liberal and temperance man, on January 29, 1914, paid this tribute to Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary:

> "As an illustration of the esteem in which Hon. W. J. Hanna is held throughout Lambton, I wish to say that if there were a final vote to-morrow to bar the provincial secretary from his present field of public usefulness in this country, to decide the matter, not an elector could be found in the country, Grit or Tory, to cast that vote. I say this deliberately and know the full meaning of my statement."

That Mayor Stirret is a Liberal in good standing is evidenced in the fact that he was nominated as a candidate in West Lambton the other day against Hon. W. J. Hanna. Mayor Stirret refused the nomination.

Liberal First, Temperance Afterwards.

Toronto News.

Mr. Rowell assures the people that he is the one man that has temperance at heart. Sir James Whitney and his Government are fighting the battle of the liquor interest if the leader of the Opposition is to be believed. Mr. Rowell supported Liberal Governments in Ontario under Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. A. S. Hardy and Sir George Ross. At one time this province was practically all under the Scott Act. To-day Manitoulin is the only section of the Province in which that act is in ofrce. Owing to the inability of the Liberals to enforce the Scott Act the cause of temperance received a blow from which it never recovered until Sir James Whitney was returned to power. The way the Liberal Government played with the temperance people during the last years of its ascendancy is known. During all those years Mr. Rowell supported the Liberal party "faithfully and loyally." He was always a temperance man and he is one to-day. This no one doubts, but he is a Liberal first and a temperance man afterwards. Yet he urges Temperance Conservatives to desert the standard of Sir James Whitney and flock to his banner. Is he in a position consistently to urge Temperance Conservatives to desert the Government?

THE DENTIST

By Walt Mason

He well deserves a laurel wreath, the man who tinkers with my teeth, when they are out of plumb; he plugs them up with melted lead, and soothes my swelled and aching head, and heals the tortured gum. Upon his skill your comfort hangs when you have trouble with your fangs, and seldom does he fail; his shining instrument he wags and draws the old insurgent snags, then draws his slice of kale. No more you hear in dentist's room the shrieks of those who dread their doom, of those whose souls are sick; the patient calmly sits and smiles, the while the dentist with his files and pincers does the trick. How different in olden days! The dentist then had painful ways; he sat upon a bench, and took your head between his knees, and, muttering, "Look pleasant, please," he plied his monkey wrench. It took six men to hold me down when he adjusted bridge or crown, or plugged a hollow fang, and travelers could hear me roar away upon the distant shore of Yang-tsze-kiang. But now I like the dentist's chair, I like to sit and rest me there, from morning until dusk, to sit in comfort and to snooze, and have the gentle dentist use his forceps on my tusk.

ON BEING AFFABLE

MISS WILLIAMS, who makes the best butter in our whole county says thet she believes in 'reatin' her cows in a friendly way; says a cow will give ever so much more milk if she's wheedled and coaxed a leetle. She says she believes in hummin' a tune all the time she's milkin' and she actually declars her cows chew their cuds in time to it. She says if you're cross and rough, a cow ain't goin' to give down her milk willin'ly, so she jest 'ets on to hern thet she knows they're doin' her a mighty big favor, and she gets a brimmin' pailful of the foamin' stuff. Gloria was a doughty Crusader, and was eager to plunge at once into the work of reform. She was going to permit her father to be a ways and means committee, but she intended to have a thorough grasp of the whole situation herself.

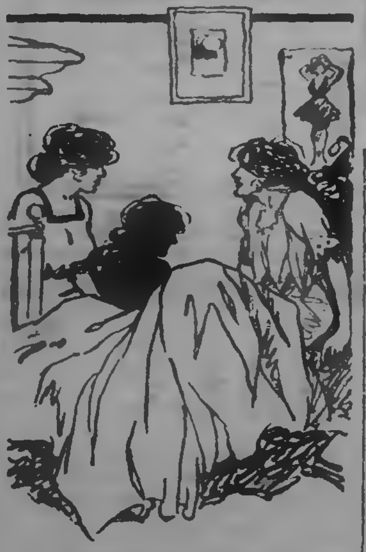
"Why do you pay this—this blackmail?" Gloria demanded.

"I've got to live. What else can I do—now? I'm down, an' in debt."

"But they can't keep you from living."

"They can send me to the workhouse." And at the thought Little Ella shuddered.



"I Don't Understand."

"Whom does this money go to? I want to get that part of it absolutely straight so I can tell father."

"It goes to the boss, of course."

Little Ella made this statement in a matter-of-fact manner. The methods of the "system" were so notorious that she did not have to think a moment before giving her answer.

The boss. Here was a factor in the game of which Gloria as yet had had no inkling. The boss. What does he do? Now she desired to know about this boss.

"The boss?" Both the tone of her question and the look on her face denoted her interrogation.

"Yes, the boss gits the money." Little Ella saw that it would be necessary for her to explain. "I thought everybody in Belmont knowed that. I gives it to Noonan mostly, but sometimes the roundsergeant collects, an sometimes they both do."

This double collection wasn't on the square. [illegible] was she to do? If she complained, [illegible] too well what would [illegible]

"Who's [illegible]"

"[illegible] down[illegible] [illegible] He gits a [illegible] body down [illegible]"

"[illegible]"

"Oh, [illegible] got to [illegible] a lot [illegible]"

"And [illegible] police [illegible] about this?"

Little Ella looked at her in amazement. To Gloria a policeman was a stalwart individual with white gloves who halted traffic while she crossed the avenue. To the other a policeman was an enemy, a grafter who never overlooked an opportunity to feather his own nest or line his own pocketbook. The best that she ever could say for any one of them was that he was an autocratic rowdy. Gloria's simplicity in asking if the police knew of this tribute caused her to reply:

"They ought to—they git some of it. Then the man higher up gits his."

"I can't believe it. When you get well I want you to come and tell my father all this. He is—he's an influential man. I'm sure he'll help you. He shall help you," she added eclsively, "and every poor, unhappy person down here, because I shall tell him to."

Little Ella looked at her, all admiration for such power.

"Gee! I wisht I had a pa like yourn," was all that she could say.

"He can't know that such things are happening—here—every day in Belmont."

"If he did, I reckon he wouldn't tell you." Little Ella was more conversant with the ways of the world.

"And what did you say finally becomes of this money you have to pay?"

"The boss gits it."

"Oh, yes. This boss—who is he? What does he do to earn his money?"

"That's what he gits fer portectin' us. He keeps the bulls from juggin' us."

"And if you don't pay?"

"He gives 'em the tip an' we're hauled in, and sent up for thirty days."

This didn't accord with Gloria's idea of law and justice. Here was a man who, without authority and as his whim dictated, arrested people because they would not do something unlawful. And the police, instead of being instruments of the law, were under the direction of this boss.

"Can't the law touch him?" she asked.

"Huh! He's the law in this town."

"Do you mean to tell me there is a man so base," demanded the daughter of David Kerr indignantly, "this boss, that spends his time collecting this money?"

Little Ella had come to realize soon after they had met that she was dealing with a fledgling. Hence she bore with her and answered her question patiently.

"Gosh! Little time he spends collecting money down here." Her tone indicated clearly that he spent no time at all. "What's the cops fer? What's Mike Noonan fer? He's got other things to do himself. I oncet knowed a young lawyer, an' he tol' me the boss got his from the big gamblin' houses, an' the street car comp'ny, an' the 'lectric light comp'ny, an' big things like that."

"Then you're just a drop in the bucket." The magnitude of the "system" was just beginning to dawn on Gloria. She now saw that its ramifications were many, that there must be much that even this woman, for all her knowledge, could know little of. While she could not learn all from Little Ella, she could learn enough to make her father investigate.

"There's enough of us drops in Belmont to fill a pretty big bucket," the girl admitted. "Gimme a drink o' water, will you? I never was so dry at a Dutch picnic."

Gloria poured a glass of water for her. Then, feeling that she had not been considerate in asking the girl to tax her little strength by the recital of a story that sadly wasted her vital energy, she begged her to rest.

"You're still a bit feverish. Lie down now and rest. Try to go to sleep, and I'll sit here and read."

Soon her patient seemed to sleep, and Gloria picked up a book and tried to read. The revelations to which she had listened made all possibility of concentration upon the printed page out of the question. Suddenly it occurred to her that she did not know the boss' name. Just as this came into her mind, the girl turned restlessly and opened her eyes. Finding that she was awake, Gloria asked:

"Tell me, what's the name of the boss?"

"Eh? What?" Little Ella was not thoroughly awake.

"What's the name of the boss? I want to tell father."

"His name? Oh, it's Kerr. He's ol' Dave Kerr. Ever hear of him?"

Having roused herself sufficiently to answer the question, Little Ella sank again into a doze.

As for Gloria, it almost seemed that the words meant nothing to her at all. So slowly did her mind accept this intelligence that the fall of the book unnoticed to the floor did not seem related in point of time. Yet in fact it told that her mind was intent upon one question: Who was the boss of Belmont?

"Kerr! Kerr! Old Dave Kerr." still rang in her ears. "The boss! Dave Kerr? I wonder what relation—" The very ignominy of the thought restrained her. "No, no, no. It's all a mistake. It can't be— I couldn't believe it. There can't be any relation of my father's—my fa— It's absurd. It would be maddening, the suspicion of such a thing. Why, my father's the soul of honor."

Without warning, Joe Wright came into her mind; Joe Wright, her evil genius."

"What did the paper say? 'The king of underhand manipulators, David Kerr!' The king!" she muttered aloud, and clapped her hand over her mouth at the word. The thought of such a thing widened her eyes with terror and set her heart to beating high with sudden fear. "But not this, O God! Not this."

She repeated the pathetic words of Little Ella.

A DIRECT AND MOST EFFECTIVE TREATMENT For Cold in the Head and Catarrh

Some internal remedies, such as Na-Dru-Co Syrup of Linseed, Licorice and Chlorodyne, undoubtedly help a great deal in checking a cold in the head. But you get the quickest action from Fossal Balm.

This is applied directly and conveniently through the new nozzle-shaped end of the collapsible tube in which it is put up. This little nozzle reaches well up into the nostril, and a gentle squeeze on the tube discharges enough of the Fossal Balm to spread over the membrane lining the nasal passages, kill the germs of the cold or catarrh, soothe the smarting inflammation, make breathing through the nostrils free and easy, and check the cold or relieve the catarrh at once.

The fact that this new means of applying the Fossal Balm is so handy, and gets it right up where it is needed, adds much to the value of this splendid remedy.

Carlyle Always Inspired Peasant.

Thomas Carlyle, coming of a peasant race, never conformed to society garb. He was always the inspired peasant. He would sometimes go out in his old dressing gown, over which he buttoned a big coat gray with age. When he was left alone in his house, he delighted in swilling his flagstones with pails of water, and many a distinguished friend found him thus engaged, with a kind of smock on and his bushy hair tousled. He went about all the summer among the highest aristocracy in a frieze jacket which was part of an old dressing gown. All the cabmen and bus drivers Chelsey way knew him. One said: "He may wear a queer 'at, but what would yer give fer the 'eadpiece inside of it?"

Landseer Scared Them.

On one of Landseer's early visits to Scotland the great painter stopped at a village and took a great deal of notice of the dogs, jotting down rapidly sketches of them on a piece of paper. Next day on resuming his journey he was horrified to find dogs suspended from trees in all directions or drowning in the rivers, with stones around their necks. He stopped a weeping urchin, who was hurrying off with a pet pup in his arms, asked the child what he was crying for, and learned to his dismay that he was supposed to be an excise officer who was taking notes of all the dogs he saw in order to prosecute the owners for unpaid taxes.

Wounded By the Duke.

The only man wounded on the occasion of the Duke of Connaught's recent visit to St. Catharines was Sergeant-Major Legge. The Duke ran a pin a quarter of an inch into his chest while he was pinning a long service medal on him. But the brave soldier did not flinch.

COMPLETELY BROKEN DOWN

Another Lady Thinks "Fruit-a-tives" Greatest Tonic In The World.

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., Aug. 26th. 1913.

I can highly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" because they did me an awful lot of good. About four years ago, I commenced taking "Fruit-a-tives" for a general break-down and they did me a world of good. We bought a good many dollars' worth, but they did all that your advertising claims for them, and as I said before, I cannot speak too highly for them. Their action is so pleasant, compared with other medicines, that I am glad to say so and I trust that some other woman may start taking "Fruit-a-tives" for I know the results will be all that you claim".

SHAPELY SHOULDERS.

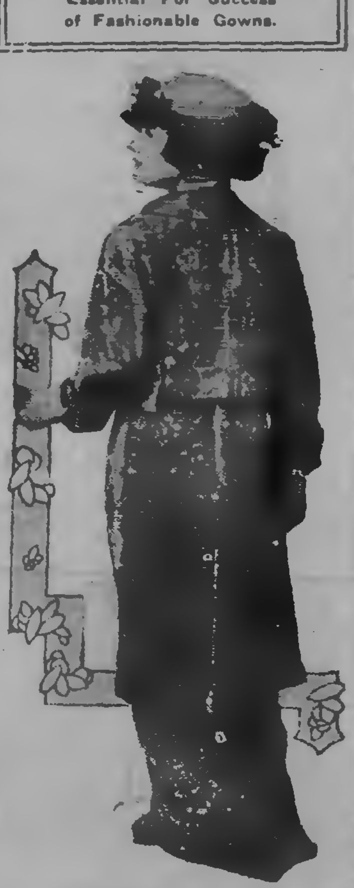
Essential For Success of Fashionable Gowns.



MOIRE AND SILK GOWN.

Shapely arms and shoulders are important in carrying off the style creations of the season. This is, of course, partly due to the sloping shoulder line and the cut of sleeves. A beautiful back is most essential, as the elaborate trimmings on the rear of gowns require a carriage of some distinction to carry them off well. In many cases the back of the gown is the most important. In the case illustrated here it displays the deep plaits on the two tiered tunic, which is part of this gown of moire and silk.

Cookery Points

Preserving Eggs.

When eggs are plentiful and can be bought cheaply obtain from a reliable source new laid eggs, placing these in jars. Obtain a tin of water glass sufficient for a great many eggs, which dissolve according to instruction on tin and pour over the eggs, tie down, and when eggs are dear these can be used for all cooking purposes and will be found to poach or boil like fresh ones. When taking out of the liquid rinse in warm water and prick with a needle those for boiling to prevent cracking in the process. Take out of preserving liquid only as required for use.

Spanish Rice.

For a meat substitute, rice cooked in this way cannot be excelled. It is also a great time and fuel saver. Into a buttered casserole put one-half cupful washed rice, add one-half cupful grated cheese, five small onions sliced thinly, one large cupful of canned tomatoes, two tablespoonfuls butter, two tablespoonfuls salt, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper, one cupful hot water and, lastly, two tablespoonfuls of minced pickles or olives. Bake until rice is tender in moderate oven, usually one hour.

Economy In Coffee Making.

Save the coffee grounds, boil them up in fresh water and strain. Boil the liquid and use it instead of water when making fresh coffee. This is done in France and improves the coffee, besides being very economical, as less coffee is needed.

KING SAVES INTRUDER.

His Majesty Makes Plea For Man Who Entered Palace.

LONDON, June 16.—George Pike, the engineer's assistant, who on June 7 invaded Buckingham Palace and wandered about for several hours in the building, was released by the police magistrate when brought up before the court yesterday. The defendant gave a bond that he would be of good behavior in future.

The leniency shown by the magistrate was due to the intervention of King George himself, who pleaded that the man should not be punished severely.

PRESBYTERIAN MINISTER FAVORS WHITNEY POLICY

Rev. Dr. S. Banks, Nelson, a Presbyterian minister at Hamilton approves the Whitney Government's temperance policy. He says the policy of Rowell would lead to illicit drinking and an increase in drunkenness. Rev. Dr. Banks spoke at a meeting and is reported as follows :

"I understand this was a non-partisan meeting," Dr. Nelson said, addressing the chairman. "I thought that when you began your speech, but I had my doubts before you got through. There are some men who think that to abolish the bar at the present time would mean the establishment of blind pigs, and that the license system now in force is such as to reduce drunkenness and to make habitual drunkeness less likely.

"There are some, too, who are morally persuaded that the time is not yet ripe to abolish the bar at one sweep—that people in the mass are not quite prepared to give up their liberty. Whatever reform we propose we must see that it does not lead to the establishment of blind pigs.

"In Minneapolis one time I went to call upon a woman of my congregation who was sick, as a Christian minister should. Shortly after I left the house a patrol wagon backed up to the door and raided a blind pig. If I had been two or three minutes later I would have been caught in a bling pig. If the policy to abolish the bar is carried will it mean that blind pigs will spring up everywhere ? I hope not.

"If we are to save the youth of Ontario, we must guard against this. I am perfectly certain that if I were 15 years old I would be much more likely to partake of a bottle of beer in the kitchen of Bill Jones' home, where only two or three were present, than to walk into a public barroom filled with twenty or thirty men. In the kitchen there would be a secrecy and a privateness that would not be in a barroom. Would it not be worse, then, to have blind pigs springing up everywhere ?

"If abolish the bar means this, we will have to depend more on the purity of our police force and have to be more careful to have temperance mayors and temperance aldermen. In New York State, where they have passed a law abolishing Sunday drinking, the most ridiculous thing I know of is the Sunday saloons wide open. The mayors and police don't care to interfere because of the large foreign population.

"There is certainly good sense in the Conservative argument on this subject, that if you can't get a good majority of the people behind you, you can't abolish this question. Suppose there should be a small Liberal majority on this question, I believe it would be disastrous to try to abolish the bar. I certainly do. Should the Liberal party succeed at the polls, it will not dare to abolish the bars unless there is a preponderance to show that something like three-fifths of the people are behind the movement. Otherwise blind pigs will spring up everywhere. If the great bulk of the people are not with us, it is too soon for this reform."

Do you wish to view Nature's most lavish handiwork? Muskoka is a constellation of the wildest prodigalities. All are here fertile plains, peaceful villages, rugged rock-ribbed ridges, a wilderness of forests, laughing streams, rushing torrents over precipitous declivities or sparkling lakes, nestling on their bosoms hundred of island gems, rivalling Mirza's entrancing vision of Paradise. ## CROWDED HALL AT YOUNG'S POINT GREETS MR. SODEN er and radial lines which are to be constructed through this section of the country. He stated that before Hydro was introduced he was paying $9.21 per month for lighting his store. He now had nine extra lights and was paying $7.21 per month. He mentioned the fact that a meeting of the mayors and reeves of this section of the country would be held shortly to discuss the plans for the building of the electric radials through this section. They would prove a big benefit to the farmer. He would receive light at cost and a railway service which would prove a big blessing. The projects will be financed over a period of years the same as applied to Western Ontario where the system is now in force. The speaker then dealt for a few moments on the increased revenue and showed that in 1904 the revenue amounted to $4,464,100 while in 1913 it was $11,188,302. Naturally the government was spending more money and it was not one of extravagance as claimed by the Liberals. The increases were the result of higher taxation on corporations, banks, railways, etc."

Prison Reform.

In closing Mr. Soden touched on the great benefit resulting from Mr. Hanna's prison farm. Men were being reformed instead of being sent further down the hill of crime. He also referred to the bilingual school question. Rowel shouted dual schools in the Ottawa section and refrained from touching on the abolishment of the bar in North Wellington because Seagram lived there. "Cast your vote for the Whitney party because there never was a chieftain who was more sincere, more honest or a harder worker than the grand old man who leads the party at Toronto.' Personally I want your vote. I may be blunt in some things but I will give every man a square deal and prove an honest representative if elected," he said.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.

Mr. Burnham in his address said that politics ought to be known as the business of the people. It took centuries to secure to the mass of the people the privilege of transacting their own business. When the people all got to stand equal before the law and privileged classes ceased to be almost altogether a system of popular franchise enabled the people at large to send men to represent them to parliament for the purpose of transacting the business of the nation. It has taken a long time to impress upon the people as a whole the fact that in addition to their private business as individuals there is a business even more important to them than that viz., their business as a nation. If laws are not made to protect the rights of the people fairly but enable financial sharks to seize the golden opportunities and the national resources for themselves they do more injury to the people than any other or all other circumstances of which the people have experience. One day a week of labour will feed and clothe a man and his family. If this is so where is the labour of the other five days going to ? It is being taken by those who have no right to it or being wasted in various ways. The speaker pointed to the great Burleigh Falls power as an instance. Dams along the river are worth from a quarter million up. The waterpower at Burleigh is an exceptionally good one and is made and created by the expenditure of the people's money. When Mr. Burnham found that the Laurier Government had leased it to favourites without tender at one dollar a year for fifty-nine years or in other words when he found that a water-power worth as it stands one million of dollars had been given away secretly for nothing he did what any honest member would do, he called the government's attention to it. The Government had restored it to the people of Canada. Here was a case of highway robbery and breach of trust. People canot understand why the average man has to work so hard and to suffer so much and his wife and children. The Burleigh case shows why. If that power had been given to the people of the county through which it flows it would have paid every cent of debt they owe and have built all their bridges and schools as well both in the city and the country. If the people realized these things they would look more carefully to the kind of man who seeks their confidence and supoprt.

GENERAL RETIRED FOR COWARDICE

ROME, June 16.—King Victor Emmanuel yesterday signed a decree placing on the retired list Gen. Agliardi, who was captured by the strikers during the recent disturbances and surrendered his sword to them without offering any resistance.

Troops yesterday repulsed a number of striking railroadmen who attempted to enter the station at Bologna and to prevent the passing of trains.

WHAT A LIBERAL PAPER HAS TO SAY OF MR. SODEN CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE

(Midland Free Press)

Mr. R. J. Soden, an old Midland boy, has received the Conservative nomination for the riding of West Peterborough. We need hardly say that though opposed to us in political creed, we wish him success. Mr. Soden, while in Midland, was one of our most progressive citizens, and it was through him that the Canada Iron Furnace Co. was induced to locate its plant here. Always an ardent politician, he took an active part in all municipal and parliamentary affairs, and while a staunch Conservative at all times, he still made many friends among his opponents on account of the clean, fair methods which he always adopted in furthering the cause of his party.

He will make an energetic representative for any riding, and West Peterborough, if it elects him, at the coming election, will secure a clean, just and aggressive member, who, from our knowledge of him, will not allow any consideration to outweigh his convictions of what is right in all matters affecting the province.

Mr. Soden has made a clean-cut statement regarding his stand on the temperance question. He is even willing to go a little farther than the Rowell policy of abolish the bar. He is in favor of doing away with the shop and club license as well. It is up to the temperance people of this Province to stand together, regardless of politics, if they ever hope to rid Canada of its greatest curse.

OBITUARY

MRS. MICHAEL HOLLAND.

A well known resident of Ennismore in the person of Mrs. Michael Holland passed away last evening at her late home in Ennismore. The late Mrs. Holland who had been ill only a few weeks was seventy years of age. ## MAGISTRATE ADVISED THEM TO KEEP MOVING Giving their names as Pat Wheelan and Steve Dempsey two strangers appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on the charge of being drunk. They were hitting the rails for other havens of rest and the cadi strongly urged them to go ahead.

John Carey, erect and clothed in a uniform of the 45th Regiment of Lindsay stood in the dock charged with being intoxicated. He paid his fine and hurried to join his comrades who left yesterday for Petawawa.

LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE

WOULD MR. ROWELL ABOLISH THE BAR?

Editor Review,

Sir,—Is Mr. Rowell sincere in his efforts to abolish the bar? If so when did the change of heart come about?

Right up to the last days of the Ross Government we find the present leader of the opposition sticking with the old ship stumping the various ridings eulogizing the Government of corruption and broken promises.

Where were the temperance ambitions of Mr. Rowell then? These were the days of the numbered ballots when the hotel men were forced to donate to campaign funds and support the Government.

Did Wesley Newton Rowell raise his voice on the public platform against this coercion? Had Mr. Rowell any thought for the morals of this province?

No he helps to steer the old ship until she sinks and has been wallering in the water and now attempt to rescue himself with the cry of "Abolish the bar." A political dodge that will be resented by the people of this province on the 29th day of June.

TEMPERANCE.

VOICE FROM WEST WARD.

Editor of The Review,

Dear Sir,—From letters I see in your valuable paper it would appear as if the charge is being made against Rev. Mr. Pogue and Rev. Mr. Peever that they are in favor of Mr. Rowell's policy of retaining the liquor shop. I do not believe it. These men are well known ministers of the Gospel and I do not believe that they would sacrifice their principles and temperance by standing up for any candidate who is in favor of the shop. If Mr. Gillespie or Mr. Soden is in favor of the sale of liquor let us get a candidate of our own or I will not vote. I heard Mr. Soden say that he was in favor of the total abolition of the liquor traffic but Mr. Gillespie follows Mr. Rowell who will not abolish the shop. How can a man of God honestly choose Mr. Rowell's policy as against Mr. Soden's? You cannot fool the people with inconsistency like that. It will do great harm if anyone attempts it.

Yours,

WEST WARD.

MR. THOMPSON'S CASE.

Editor of The Review,

Dear Sir,— Mr. Thompson has been unanimously renominated by the Conservative Convention held at Norwood. He voted against Mr. Whitney on temperance. Mr. Soden is in exactly the same position and The Examiner and other kickers who wanted another man because he was Whitney all through forget that what the East Riding and other ridings have done is good enough here also.

READER.

WHO IS WHO?

Editor Review, Dear Sir,—Who is President Cowan anyway? I do not know the gentleman, nor does anyone whom I have asked. It appears that he has come amongst us lately and constituted himself arbiter of our destinies. Being of the Grits, gritty, his mandate has gone forth that we must not think for ourselves( but to be brought out of the land of our Egyptian darkness into the promised land of his infallibility.

As a life-time resident of the riding and one who never drank a glass of strong liquor (can he say as much ,). I consider his letter a masterpiece of effrontery and impertinence to the intelligent electorate of West Peterboro. He writes as if he had the whole temperance vote under his thumb, and that only one thing prevented it from extending its support to Mr. Soden, but he did not say that that one thing was himself and the rest of the Grit faction who were trying to weave their meshes around the Conservative temperance men so as to cripple them from voting for Mr. Soden who is the true temperance advocate and not the bogus one, but their failure is already assured, and they will still be further exposed as the days go by.

This temperance question has always been used by them in the past as a football, but without success, and although worn threadbare they are trying, in the absence of any policy, to resurrect it again to lead their forlorn hope, knowing full well that the Whitney policy is impregnable and stands as firm as the Rock as Gibraltar.

The only thing this coterie of temperance Grits claims is that they will replace drinking by retail in the respectable hotels under the rigid inspection of the Government inspector into wholesale drinking in the shops, on the streets and in the home. We know what that meant in the Duncan Act and Scott Act days before Mr. Cowan knew there was such a place as Peterboro on the map of Canada and when he was engaged in other spheres of usefulness. Our fair town was then obsessed by a saturnalia of drinking, and dens of vice sprang up all over town from one end to the other. The first to agitate for the repeal of these laws were the promoters themselves.

Knowing that Mr. Soden's policy is above suspicion, he tries to associate his name with the shortcomings of Mr. Thompson who is running in another riding, whatever there may be, with whom he has nothing to do and whom, perhaps, he scarcely knows. It is, indeed, a compliment to Mr. Soden when he has to attack someone else for him. The two gentlemen are two distinct personalities.

Having failed to make a single point against Mr. Soden, he turns to Mr. Gillespie to give him a boost, but in that too he is a failure. Mr. Gillespie has no policy and admits it, but, parrot-like, says "Rowell's policy is my policy"—any old thing to get elected.

I submit to the true temperance voters of this Province that what is good enough for the greatest moral reformer of the age ought to be good enough for us. I allude to the late lamented General Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army. He praised Whitney's enforcement of the laws in favor of temperance and said they were the best in the world.

Yours, etc.,

TRUE TEMPERANCE.

ROWELL WILL GET A SET BACK.

Editor Review,

Sir,—On the 29th day of June the people of this province will speak in no uncertain tones when the leader of thought and moral reform, Sir James Whitney, will sweep this province.

To whom are we to look for reforms but the man who has been tried and not found wanting; the man who came to the aid of the people of this province when the Ross Government was wallering in the mire of robbery and corruption. These were the dark days for Ontario when this province was blackened throughout the universe, with Mr. Rowell doing his utmost by traversing this province supporting the gangsters and tricksters, and trying to blind the people to the nefarious work that was going on. Does the leader of the opposition think the people are going to forget this? Not if they are in their right senses.

UTILITIES COMMISSION IN SESSION

The Public Utilities Commission met in regular session last evening. J. W. Kelly, Clerk of Smith, wrote the Commissioners regarding a plan for a drain on the River Road. The plan submitted was satisfactory providing a water table was made in the east side and it was drained by pipes under the road. The Secretary was instructed to write that owing to changes in the Superintendent's Department the matter would have to stand over for a time.

The Board of Health recomended the laying of mains on Jackson and Lafayette Avenues. The Secretary was instructed to inform the Board of Health that they would be pleased to lay the mains as soon as a properly signed petition was presented.

E. H .D. Hall informed the Board that he had registered by-law No. 1 regarding the laying of mains on streets on Victoria Heights.

Medical Health Officer McPherson reported the examination of water for the month as very satisfactory.

A letter was received from W. Naish asking for water on Concession Street. The Superintendent will report on the matter.

A report accompanied by plans was read from J. W. Fitzgerald, O.L.S., on a survey to define the limits of the Smith River Road in front of and for some distance east and west of the pumping station. The report was received.

The usual accounts were confirmed.

BIGGEST FLOATING DOCK ON PACIFIC READY THIS YEAR

It is expected that the Grand Trunk Pacific authorities will have the big dry dock at Prince Rupert in operation before the end of the present year. The completion of this great work will mean much to Northern British Columbia and especially to Prince Rupert. That rapidly growing city will have a new industry this coming winter. Many of the big coast steamers that have hitherto been compelled to make their headquarters elsewhere will be overhauled in its harbor. It will be able to boast of the largest floating dock on the Pacific with an equipment including every up-to-date device for handling ships up to 20,000 tons. There are four large buildings to house the various sections of the ship building and repairing plant and practically all the machinery to equip the shops has been made in Canada.

The yard will have a 45 ton locomotive crane. Other machinery includes an 80 foot lathe, capable of turning a steel shaft 50 feet in length; a plate bending machine with a capacity of bending a sheet of steel twenty feet by three-quarters of an inch thick; a big steam hammer and four air compressors. The machine shop, boiler shop and blacksmith shop will have the most complete set of modern tools on the coast.

Adjoining the dock along the face of the harbor are the big new wharves and the railroad has large freight yards here.

For a city that dates back only to 1906, when the Grand Trunk Pacific's staff of engineers made a landing and clearing for the location of their camp preparatory to making the preliminary survey, this is a record of progress that it would be hard to equal.

PRINCE LEADS HIS TROOPS.

William of Wied Achieves Victory In Albania.

DURAZZO, Albania, June 16.—Albanian Government troops, under the personal leadership of Prince William, yesterday repulsed a strong attack on the Albanian capital by Mussulman insurgents.

At the outset of the fighting the insurgents gained an advantageous position, but after Col. Thomsen, the Dutch commander of the gendarmerie, had been killed, Prince William placed himself at the head of the defenders, who succeeded in silencing the rifle and military fire of the attacking force after three hours' fighting.

Sizing Up Commissioners' Office.

Perley stated that the sole object of his visit is to make a full inquiry into the workings of London department upon which he would report to the Government, but he added there were other matters to attend to. Asked if any of these related to Imperial defence he said "no."

EXPERTS FOR STORSTAD BUT PUBLIC OPINION ON SIDE OF EMPRESS IN INQUIRY

Official probe Into St. Lawrence Disaster Begins at Quebec—Rules to Prevent Collisions, and Storstad's Actions After Calamity Are Chief Points at Issue.

QUEBEC, June 16.—Preparations were completed yesterday for the enquiry by the commission appointed by the Dominion Government into the wreck of the Empress of Ireland on May 29, near Father Point, in the St. Lawrence, when over 1,000 lives were lost. The enquiry will take place in the court-house, which was yesterday morning crowded with newspaper men, telegraph operators, and Government officials making arrangements for the handling of their various duties, which began to-day.

So far as can be gathered, popular opinion seems to favor the side of the Empress, and the bulk of expert opinion that of the Storstad. Although the representatives of the latter were reticent, it is the general idea that they consider they have a strong case. There are probably two main points on which interest will centre, these being the question of the international rules governing the prevention of collisions, and the action taken by the captain of the Storstad subsequent to the calamity.

It is understood that on both these points the representatives of the Storstad owners think that they have a strong case. It is said that their contention will be that when the Empress of Ireland and the Storstad first sighted each other the latter was off the starboard bow of the C. P. R. liner and that therefore, according to the rules of the road at sea, the Empress was bound to keep out of the Storstad's way. That is to say, she was bound to keep her course, passing port to port and red light to red light. Instead of that, it is said the Storstad struck the Empress on the starboard, or green light, and therefore the onus of proof is likely to be on the owners of the Empress.

As for the charge that the Storstad drew away after the fatal accident, the opposing story will in all likelihood take the form that the Norwegian collier kept her engines going full speed ahead in order to fill the gap, but that the rate of speed at which the Empress was going swung the boat that rammed her around and wrenches the Storstad's bow out of the hole which she had made. It is argued that the condition of the Storstad's stem will corroborate this theory. Emphasis may also be laid on the fact that the faster boat, the Empress, was going down stream and the collier coming up.

As to the events following the collision, the representatives of the collier may put up the plea that when she was forced out of the rent in the side of the Empress she naturally dropped astern a little and for a few moments lost sight of the stricken vessel. It is presumed that witnesses will be brought to testify that after this the Storstad heard the cries of the drowning and whistled repeatedly to the Empress but could get no reply, probably because steam was shut off as a result of the accident, and further that the boats were immediately lowered while the Norwegian boat backed down to the wreck to help in the rescue work.

Lord Mersey and the other commissioners and assessors except Judge Routhier, who lives in this city, arrived here yesterday afternoon on the Sir Hugh Allan, the Montreal harbor commission boat which reached here between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

About eighty witnesses in all will appear before the commission, subpoenaed by both sides.

It is also considered possible that Mrs. Andersen, wife of the captain, may be called, besides a number of Empress' passengers whom the Storstad counsel are said to have in reserve, but who have not been subpoenaed as yet.

ARTILLERYMEN ARE AROUSED

The London Soldiers Protest Against Dismissal of Major Leonard

LONDON, Ont., June 16. — The Sixth Field Battery of this city is practically no more, as the result of Major Wood Leonard, commanding officer, being relieved of his commission following the discovery of liquor in the tents of the battery at Petawawa. Practically all of the 100 men in the battery demanded their discharge on being paid off here yesterday, following their return to the city Sunday. The men express great indignation at the treatment of Major Leonard, who they claim was wholly unaware of the presence of the beer in the camp. All the officers of the battery, which is a volunteer one, have also tendered their resignations, following the episode, but will take no further action until a consultation is held.

The rank and file of the battery, which has been one of the best in Canada, claim that the London squad was by no means alone in having liquor in the camp. In connection with the affair it is rumored that Major Leonard, who is held in the highest esteem both in and out of the battery, intends to enter a civil action for damages against Lieut.-Col. Morrison, on whose authority the search of the battery's tents was conducted, claiming that the search was made without the knowledge or consent of Major Leonard and in his absence.

The order book of the battery shows that before going to camp explicit instructions were issued by Major Leonard that no liquor would be tolerated in the camp for a minute, and the men of the battery, to a man, maintain that their commanding officer knew absolutely nothing of its presence there.

This bill was first introduced in April, 1913, and after passing its third reading was rejected in the House of Lords by a majority of 124. The bill passed its first reading for the second time last March. It embodies the principle of "one man one vote," and provides that before a general election a plural voter must select which of his votes he wishes to register.

PETERS KEEP UP GOOD WORK AT HAMILTON

Belting Again Takes Measure of Athletics by Shutout Route

The Petes poked the pill when hits meant runs and took advantage of the Hamilton errors in a game the locals won by a score of 4-0. According to the box score, the Petes grabbed but five hits, but they bunched them, which accounted for two runs in the second and two in the eighth. Mully Miller made his debut behind the plate after an absence of several weeks. He had a two base clout. Harry Corns of the Hams kept up his stick work by slamming out two, two baggers. Knute Belting was on the hill for the locals, and kept the bingles as scattered as the nickles at a Hebrew picnic. The Swedish dispenser of foolers issued only one pass, while he fanned five. Dougherty for Hamilton fanned eleven, but walked four and hit two batters. The Hamilton scribe's dispatch blames the Peterboro jinx. Nix on that stuff. We may be last but we have a little on you, yes a little.

Hamilton, June 15. — Peterboro, the cellar team in the Canadian League race, appears to have the jinx on the Hamilton team. Not content with taking two out of three from Yates' crew at Peterboro last week, the team stepped on the diamond here to-day and shut out the locals by a score of 4 to 0. The Athletics could not hit Belting in the pinches. The visitors' first two runs were the result of loose play, but clouting earned the other two. Dougherty pitched good ball for Hamilton, but was not given the support that Belting was. Score:—

Chicago, June 16.—Eddie Collins, second baseman of the Philadelphia American League team, was offered yesterday the largest salary ever given a ball player, if he would join the Brooklyn team of the Federal League, according to a story printed here today.

Collins, it is said, did not name the figure, except to say it was not less than $25,000 a year. He also said he would not leave Philadelphia until the expiration of his present contract, which expires next October.

HAMS. TO MEET THE C.G.E. DRAFTING ROOM

Tomorrow night at the Exhibition Grounds the Wm. Hamilton Co. will do battle against the Drafting Room. The former outfit have lost both their games so far and to keep in sight of the pennant they must win tomorrow evening. The Draftsmen have dropped one game to the sorrow of their backers and no doubt will be fighting hard to clean up against the Hams. The game is called for 6.30 sharp.

COMMENT

As You Like It

The Petes went one notch better yesterday in their struggle to oost themselves out of last place. The Hamilton crew were the victims and Knute Belting turned the trick. It was the Swede who served the Athletics up in the opening struggle of the series here last week. On that occasion Hamilton collected seven hits and that was the sum total of their pokes in yesterday's game also. The Hams had two errors here against Knute and two at home yesterday. Stick at it gang and cop the series.

London jumped into first place yesterday at the expense of Erie, while St. Thomas was trouncing Ottawa. The Beavers walloped the Brants and are in sixth place as the game yesterday broke a tie up between the two clubs. Brantford with its team of alleged world beaters are coming back and as the Petes hit the Telephone City after the Hamilton series the slipipng Deneaultes may be resting in last place ere the church bells ring on Sabbath morning.

We ventured to remark some weeks ago that the position occupied by the Petes was chiefly responsible to the fact that during the first three weeks they stacked up against Erie when the latter was going at top speed, London for nine games when the Cockneys were playing even better ball than they are showing now and Ottawa when "Shag" had his strongest line-up on the field. It was pleaded then that the Petes would climb when they met such clubs as Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford and St. Thomas and so far they have met Hamilton and Toronto and the four named clubs and are climbing.

Ottawa Free Press:

While warming up at Hull before the game, Dusty Bullock had the nail on the middle finger of his throwing hand torn off and was unable to play. Eddie Fried, who was on the bench with Frankie Smejkal's return, held down third and had a brilliant day. He was up three times, scored three runs, got three clean hits to the outfield and stole two bases in addition to having a perfect day in the field. Instead of being sent to Peterboro, he will be carried along with the Senators on their road trip and placed at third till Bullock is ready to start again.

Eddie Collins has been offered the First National Bank if he will flop to the Feds., The Athletic shortfielder is not likely to accept as he expects the Fed nomination for the presidency in the U. S. within the next few weeks. Collins was offered about $25,000 per year.

Walsh who Chance got from the Mackmen has been traded back for Daley the Athletic's star center fielder. A better showing in batting by Daley who is a left handed poker prompted Chance to make the trade while Connie was eager to sign a right handed outfielder. It is square all around.

Wild Bill Baker deposed at St. Thomas has ben signed by London. For erraticness Bill has some of the Temperance-Liberals faded like Mathewson's twister.

LACROSSE

Next Friday evening the second game of the local lacrosse club will be played at Riverside. Havelock will be the guests and by all reports the game will be a fast one from the start to finish. The railroad town always had a a good team in the field in days gone by and it is very probable that they will trot out a few surprises. The time of the game will be announced later.

WOULD YOU LIKE LATER START IN BALL GAMES?

Call the Review at 435 and Give Your Opinion

Would the fans like to see a change made in the time of starting the ball games at Riverside Park. The directors would like to secure an expression of opinion, as judging from the attendance on some days, the games are started too early. Perhaps four o'clock would suit better or fifteen minutes later would even better fill the bill.

These opinions have been asked for through the newspapers and the fans who are interested and who wish to express their opinion through the Review are invited to call the Sporting Department. The phone number is 435.

NORTHERN LEAGUE MANAGER. Darby O'Brien, manager and second baseman of the Duluth baseball club. The Northern League is the one which Western Canada is most interested in, Winnipeg and Fort William being on the circuit.

FAST HORSES AT THE PARK

Some of the Best Steeds on Western Ontario Circuit are Here

TO-MORROW'S CARD

The summer meeting of the Peterboro Turf Club, which opens to-morrow at the exhibition track, promises to provide some exciting moments for the lovers of the saddle and sulky variety of speed contests. About fifty horses are stabled at the track, and some of them are capable of doing the mile in 2.07. Those taking up quarters at the track include Toronto and Dunnville owners, who have some of the best steeds that have competed on the circuits of Western Ontario. The track is in almost perfect condition, and a little rolling in a few spots will make it one of the fastest on the Central Ontario circuit. Dr. Sinclair of Cannington will handle the flag, and good starts are assured. The official programme will include a complete entry list, owners and drivers.

The entries for opening day show a well filled card. The first race will be filled by added starters. The entries made till this afternoon follow:

2.30 class trot:
Pointer, R. Elmore.
Princy, T. Hetherington.
2.30 class, pace:
Black Diamond, H. H. Ingram, Lindsay.
Lucky Lou, Wm. Elmore, Keene.
Ora Medium, Frank Montgomery, Peterboro.
Gray Eagle, T. J. Forman, Dunnville.
Dr. Johnston, Chas. Fife.
Yankee Bingham, E. G. Martin, Toronto.
2.15 class, trot and pace:
City Queen, L. G. Bennett, Port Hope.
Stealaway, T. W. Toor, Dunnville.
Susie Hal, Dr. Johnston, Peterboro.
Ester D, A. Johnson, Peterboro.
Moutalvo, T. Hedgins, Orillia.
Montell, A. Hayes, Kingston.

The track record is held by Manualla, owned by George Powell of Belleville, which was timed in 2.13. Manualla has a mark of 2.07¼, and is a probable starter in the 2.15 class.

FIREMAN DROWNED

ST. CATHARINES, June 16.—Wm. Nixon, aged 17 years, a fireman on the steamer Keyport of Montreal, was seized with cramps while swimming in Port Dalhousie harbor and sank just as a line was thrown to him. His body was later recovered. Nixon's mother lives in Belfast, Ireland; a brother David, Detroit; and a sister, Mrs. Adam Miller, at Stayner, Ont.

Carranza Is Rebuffed.

Wilson Signs Repeal Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 16.— President Wilson yesterday signed the Panama tolls exemption repeal bill as amended in the Senate and agreed to by the House.

DREDGE IS LOST

Went Down in Storm Near Port Dalhousie

ONE KNOWN DEAD

PORT DALHOUSIE, June 16.—The big dredge Delver, owned by the Dominion Dredging Co., having the contract for No. 1 Section Welland Ship Canal, in tow of the tug Alice, capsized outside Port Dalhousie harbor just before 11 o'clock last night, and sank, while endeavoring to take shelter in Port Dalhousie harbor.

The dredge was at Port Weller, with the dredges Dominion and Fundy, when a heavy sea arose. The tug, Meteor, in charge of Capt. McGrath, attempted to take the Dominion to the shelter of Port Dalhousie, but she broke all lines, and was driven toward the shore.

When the Delver capsized, Capt. Howe of the Alice displayed distress signals, bringing the tug Meteor to her assistance. The two tugs saved ten of the crew of the Delver after considerable difficulty.

Although the Delver's crew consisted of eighteen men, some of the number are believed to have been left ashore, and only one man, Walter Burt, married, of Port Dalhousie, is definitely known to have been drowned. The survivors were taken ashore and placed in bed at the Lincoln House.

The sinking of the Delver represents a loss of $100,000. It was believed that the Dominion, too, was lost, but now that the storm has somewhat abated, it is thought that her breaking away from the tug saved her from that fate, for when she drifted in towards the beach her anchors were got out by the crew. It is not yet known how badly she was damaged, but it is believed that all on board are safe.

Word of the accident spread like wild-fire throughout the district. Everyone was greatly excited and it was hard to get details of how the accident occurred. Of the crew of eighteen, seven have not been located. With Burt drowned and ten rescued, the seven still are to be accounted for. The officials of the company and captains of her dredges and tugs are confident that the seven have been rescued and are either on board one of the tugs in the harbor or at a farm house along the shore. At midnight several parties were sent out to visit every house in the district to see if any trace of the seven missing men could be found, but up to a late hour no word has been received from them.

WAS ONLY A TRIAL

Uprising Will go Better the Next Time Say Leaders

ROME, June 16.—The press generally, reviewing the risings which have occurred throughout Italy, concludes that these were not due merely to the excitement of the moment, but constituted a regularly planned political revolution, which succeeded for forty-eight hours, in a somewhat grotesque manner, but was sufficiently grave to cause not only very considerable material damage, but enormous moral injury, and it resulted in overthrowing the authority of the state.

Those responsible for the revolutionary movement in Romagna, which includes the Provinces of Bologna, Ferrara, Ravenna and Forli, now declare that the events of the past week have only been a general rehearsal and that the first presentation of the revolutionary drama will be given soon and will "go" better.

ADDRESSES TO RAILWAYMEN

Officers of the International Brotherhood Heard at W.O.W. Hall

Members of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes residing in this city and vicinity assembled last night in the Woodmen of the World hall and had the good fortune of hearing Mr. A. B. Lowe, Past President, and Mr. Jos. Mainhood, General Chairman of the society give short addresses. The members of this section are denied the privilege af attending lodge meetings as the lodges are situated at Lindsay and Belleville, hence they turned out in large numbers to have the visiting gentlemen review the work of the brotherhood and prophecy for its future.

Mr. Lowe spoke very highly of the manner in which they were received by President Chamberlain of the G. T. R. when the settlement was made last March between the brotherhood and the company, by which G.T.R. employees received the schedule wages. The speaker also remarked on the great amount of enthusiasm shown by members from coast to coast and hoped that Peterborough would not be lacking.

Mr. C. Noyes, acting in the capacity of chairman, opened the meeting with a few well chosen remarks and at the close thanked Mr. Lowe and Mr. Mainhood for their beneficial visit.

The warden pointed out that other counties were making a greater increase and one nearby had increased its assessment ten per cent. last year, and this year had increased the mill rate by ⅞ of a mill. ### Lansdowne Complains of Delay With Bill

LONDON, June 16. — The Home Rule bill will enter upon a new phase to-day, when it will be the subject of a vote of censure on the Government at the instance of Lord Lansdowne, leader of the Opposition.

When the Lords reassembled yesterday, Lord Lansdowne enquired of Lord Crewe when the amending Home Rule bill would be produced. Lord Crewe replied on behalf of the Government that the amending bill would be introduced next week, so as to be in the hands of the peers prior to the consideration of the second reading of the original measure provisionally fixed for June 30. Lord Crewe indicated that the interval before the production of the amending bill would be available for further conversations with a view to an agreement. He invited the co-operation of Lord Lansdowne in the final drafting of the amending bill, and he promised that the measure in any case would be brought down before the peers would be called upon to vote on the main issue.

"How," asked Lord Lansdowne, "could the Home Rule bill be taken up on Tuesday, June 30, when the terms of the amending bill might only be known on June 27? We shall not be prepared to go on with the discussion of the Home Rule policy of the Government if we are only to have an off-chance of getting a look at the amending bill three or four days before the noble marquis proposes to take the debate on the main bill."

ROWELL PLATFORM FALLS SHORT OF TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION THAT IS SAFE

Mr. R. J. Soden and Mr. J. H. Burnham Speak at Splendid Meeting in North Monaghan—Issues of the Day Discussed

Reeve W. G. Howden of North Monaghan, was chairman at an enthusiastic meeting held by Mr. R. J. Soden, the Conservative candidate, in the North Monaghan town hall, last night.

Mr. Soden was accompanied by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., and the two speakers were heard by a gathering that taxed the accommodation of the hall.

Mr. Burnham said that it was very much to be regretted that the greed for gain was rapidly undermining the manhood of the nation. In every walk of life investigations had shown a general disregard of the simplest principles of honesty in dealing with the property of the people and in the affairs of private life. It did not use to be so to any such alarming extent and would cease to be so no doubt just so soon as the people refused longer to put up with it. Necessity will demand reform. The history of that wonderful scheme the Hydro-Electric Power policy is a case in point. Some few years prior to its overthrow the Ross Government disposed of no less than 430,000 of Ontario's share of Niagara power for almost nothing to promoters. That Government also agreed at the same time never to develop power at the Falls. In order to complete the betrayal of the province's interests it gave away 125,000 h.p. additional being the last of Ontario's share to a company of Toronto financiers for almost nothing. At this juncture the Whitney Government came in and it immediately cancelled all of these gifts it could, taking over and developing them for the benefit of the people and inaugurating that famous hydro policy which has excited the admiration of all civilized countries. The Liberals fought the Hydro policy from the day of its inauguration and prophesied failure and heavy loss to the people of the province. But what have we now? We have power supplied at cost to the manufacturer and the farmer of all Western Ontario at a time when wood as fuel to produce power has ceased to exist and the price of coal has risen. To hand over our only source of power which is the sole basis of our industrial life to the financiers and money-grabbers was the cruellest wrong ever perpetrated in Canada. It meant virtual slavery. It meant that the people of Ontario must become literally hewers of wood and drawers of water for the capitalists. The same trick was tried in the Trent district notably at Burleigh Falls. But the Borden Government like the Whitney Government protected the interests of the people. The future is full of hope. Being no longer dependent on wood or coal for heat or power the people are increasing their comfort and wealth by means of a source of power that will last as long as the clouds last. Governments that can do and will do these great things for the benefit of the people will be remembered with gratitude and support with eagerness. "You can't beat Whitney."

Mr. R. J. Soden.

Mr. R. J. Soden, the Conservative candidate, was received with much applause when he rose to speak. He dwelt for a few minutes on the radial system outlined by the Whitney Government and explained broadly by Mr. Burnham. Mr. Soden showed how the practical details of the scheme were being worked out by the Hydro Commission and how the same would be applied to the local conditions in Peterborough and the surrounding districts. He then stated his stand on the temperance measures of the Rowell policy, pointing out how this policy fell short of what the sincere advocate of safe permanent temperance legislation desired as evinced by the vote of the temperance convention which met a short time ago in Peterborough. He dwelt at length on the evils of the open shop as regards the blacklist men, the women drinkers, the sales to minors and the general evil of the shop as regards Sabbath desecration. He contrasted the results as to temperance of the 33 years of Liberal Government as against nine years term of the Whitney Government, and showed conclusively that the ratio of practical results stood in favor of the Whitney Government in the ratio of 27 to 150. In other words the gain under the Whitney Government was over 500 per cent. greater than that under the Liberal Government, although Whitney had but nine years against 33 for the Liberals. Mr. Soden then dealt with the dual language school question pointing out the dangers arising from instituting such a system in this province and protesting against the tactics of Mr. Rowell and his supporters who while proclaiming in eastern Ontario his intention of granting such schools, at the same time was silent in Western Ontario on this subject. His supporter Mr. Gillespie not having so far uttered a word in West Peterborough as to where he stood on this question.

Mr. Soden appealed to the electors present for their vote for the Whitney Government and for himself on the clean, just and progressive record of the Government and on his own record as a supporter of temperance as a man who did and not as a "promiser" only. Mr. Soden was loudly applauded on the conclusion of his address. The meeting was closed with cheers for the King, the Whitney Government and the candidate.

MISSIONS

Meeting of Auxiliary At George Street Church

The June meeting of the Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society was held in the George Street Church on Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Kendry, the president, in the chair.

After devotional exercises in which several took part, the minutes of the last meeting showed that the Auxiliary Circle and Band had raised $371 this year, being an advance of $60 over last year.

A plan to interest all the members this year is to appoint each one to work on a committee.

A much enjoyed solo was sung by Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Armstrong gave the report of the Branch Meeting, held in Trenton last week. She said the meetings were most enthusiastic and inspiring, that thirteen districts of the conference gave reports of the year's work, with increased giving, the total increase being $1,112; that there were 53 deaths this year in the Branch.

She spoke of an address on "The Mormans in Canada." There are 20,000 Mormons in Alberta, where they are building a temple.

Miss Ada Payne of Peterboro District, who leaves for Japan in August, also addressed the convention.

Mrs. Kendry invited the ladies to her home for the July meeting.

CHIEF OFFICER DID NOT CALL CAPTAIN ANDERSEN AS HE HAD BEEN ORDERED

Says he Used his Own Judgment—Storstad Master Did not Arrive on Bridge Until Vessels Were Just About to Come Together

Canadian Press Despatch.

Quebec, June 17.—The Empress inquiry was resumed promptly at ten o'clock this morning with First Officer Tuftenes of the Storstad on the stand. Under cross examination by Butler Aspinall, witness testified that the Empress was six miles distant and a point and a half on the Storstad's port bow when first sighted, and after she had steamed for fifteen minutes at seventen knots an hour was still one point on the port bow. The examining counsel thought this incredible, and asked if the liner had not crossed over to the collier's starboard bow, but the witness was positive. A question was put and passed on to Captain Andersen, whether the Storstad received a bonus for making a quick passage between Sydney and Montreal. Captain Andersen answered in the negative. Time was an important factor on her trips, however, and she unloaded at Montreal at night.

Mr. Aspinall and Lord Mersey plainly showed they attached great importance to Chief Officer Tuftene's indecision on the stand. He maintained that the Empress was travelling at ten knots and the Storstad only one knot at the time of the collision, and after much cross questioning, he admitted that if this were the case, and taking as correct his estimate of the relative positions and distances apart of the two boats when they became visible to each other out of the fog, they should have cleared. Witness admitted that although he had received orders to call Captain Anderson to the bridge immediately any fog set in, he relied on his own judgment and did not call the Captain even after the Empress was sighted and the fog had closed down. Captain Anderson did not arrive on the bridge until the vessels were just about come together.

POLICE LINED ROUTE TO ASCOT

Elaborate Precautions Taken For the Royal Procession.

LONDON, June 17.—Never before have such precautions been taken to guard members of the royal family from the attentions of the militant suffragettes as were taken yesterday at the Ascot race course. The opening of the leading society race meeting found upwards of 1,000 men of the Metropolitan police and hundreds of detectives from Scotland Yard assembled on the historic course as reinforcements for the regular Berkshire county police force, which had been mobilised in full strength.

The six-mile route from Windsor Castle to the course, over which the King and Queen and their guests were to drive in the state procession, was lined practically all the way by policemen.

The track also was closely guarded to prevent a recurrence of last year's sensational incident when Tracey was interfered with and thrown by a madman.

NO LIQUOR ALLOWED.

In accordance with orders by the Minister of Militia Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes no liquor or intoxicants of any kind are to be taken to Petawawa camp or into train on person or otherwise. This order which will be strictly enforced, was read to the regiment last night.

LONDON, June 17.—(C. A. P. Cable.)—Major J. A. Benyon, assistant agent-general for the Province of Quebec in London, died here yesterday from dropsy. He was out of doors Monday. News of his sudden death created a painful sensation amongst the many friends deceased made in London during the two years he had assisted Col. Pelletier.

CAPT. KENDALL DECLARES STORSTAD CHANGED COURSE

Master of the Empress of Ireland Insists That After He Stopped His Engines the Liner Could Not Have Drifted Far Enough to be Hit—Storstad Officer Says Course Was Kept Unchanged.

QUEBEC, June 17.—Evidence amplifying the known contentions in regard to the cause of the disaster to the Empress of Ireland at Father Point in the St. Lawrence, on May 29, was brought out at yesterday's opening session of the investigating Dominion commission, of which Lord Mersey is chairman.

So far the main arguments of Captain Kendall of the Empress that he was stationary when rammed by the collier Storstad and of the owners of the collier that the Empress placed herself in front of their vessel, which indisputably had the right of way, were only emphasised. Captain Kendall was on the stand for several hours, and gave a straightforward account of the events of the terrible morning along the lines of his testimony at the Rimouski inquest.

Questioned by Lord Mersey as to why he stopped his ship when he had turned his green light to that of the Storstad in conformity with navigation rules, he claimed he took the step as a safeguarding measure owing to the fog. He could not be got by the lawyer for the Storstad, C. S. Haight of New York, to admit that his boat could have drifted in front of the Storstad unless the collier had changed her course after the fog hid her from him, which contingency he was of the opinion had taken place.

That the collier had not changed her course after first sighting the Empress, though abortive attempts had been made to port her helm after she had been slowed down and that the Empress was crossing her bows, was the principal points arising out of the testimony of Alfred Tuftenes, the first officer of the Storstad, who was examined during the afternoon. This witness also repeated the story that Empress sailors refused to go back in boats to carry on rescue work after once reaching the Storstad. Mr. Haight supplemented the evidence of Tuftenes at the request of Lord Mersey by giving as his explanation of the disaster a belief that the big liner thought she could cross the bow of the slow-going collier, that her helm was ordered ported by one officer and starboarded by another, a suggested confusion of orders that Captain Kendall indignantly repudiated.

New chapters illustrating the horror of the disaster were added by Captain Kendall in his testimony, the most startling being his description of how a sheet of flame burst from the Empress after she was rammed, the prow of the collier evidently penetrating clear through to her boilers. The first authentic account was also given of a distressing scene enacted when Captain Kendall, on the verge of a collapse, met Captain Andersen of the collier when the former reached the Storstad. Apparently, until Captain Kendall was taken away insensible, he vehemently argued that the collier had rammed him at full speed, while Captain Andersen contended that the liner was at fault.

No agreement could be secured from the testimony of the two witnesses heard yesterday as to the whistles blown by the vessels, though Lord Mersey discovered when examining the Storstad's first officer that he had blown a signal indicating that the collier was stopped and had immedlatey afterwards given an order to go slow ahead.

Captain Kendall also acknowledged that though he knew a collision to be inevitable when the Storstad came at them in the fog, it was not till after it had occurred that the order to close the watertight bulkheads was given, by which three compartments had been exposed to the sea.

The speed which Lord Mersey directed the morning proceedings was continued during the afternoon, his lordship summarily abutting off examination that seemed to be superfluous.

The enquiry is remarkable for the fact that probably for the first time a British judge is chairman of a Canadian commission, and Butler Aspinall, K.C., an English lawyer, is leading one section of the interests involved, while an American lawyer, Mr. Haight, is conducting the case for other parties affected.

Capt.
Thomas Anderson

Capt. Thomas Andersen, master of the collier Storstad, which rammed and sunk the Empress of Ireland, refuses to take the blame for the disaster. He says that he attempted to carry out every order from Capt. Kendall and that it was impossible for his ship to plug the gap made in the liner and stop the rush of water as the latter boat swung clear.

DEATH LIST INCREASES

Probably a Score Were Lost in Paris Street Collapse

PARIS, June 17.—It seems probable that the terrible storm which broke over Paris Monday night will claim at least a score of victims. Up to the present moment nine bodies have been recovered from the chasms in which they were engulfed. Fully that number have since been reported missing. Among the missing is John Luntley, a self-taught artist-tailor, whose clever water colors were exhibited a few months ago at the Galleries Georges Petit. It is a mercy that the catastrophe happened no later than it did, otherwise the exodus of workers would have been in full swing, and the roll of victims terrible.

A gas-pipe exploded, and a sheet of flames shot up as high as second storey. This was followed by the explosion of a compressed air pipe, and a fireman and two other persons were dragged away from the very brink of the abyss, which was 20 feet deep. The first body recovered was that of Georges Bedoiseau, identified by his brother, who was walking by his side at the moment of the catastrophe, and who just managed to spring aside.

At the chasm in the Rue St. Philipe du Roule there are still three bodies to be accounted for, that of a man aged 60, and two children, aged 10 and 12. Between the Church of St. Augustine and Felix Pointin's is a chasm much smaller, but its depth is now over 30 feet. The chasm opened about 6.30 as a taxicab was crossing the square carrying Mme. Lavoite, a rich woman, who lives near the Arc de Triomphe. Before the horrified spectators, who were taking shelter around the square, realised what had happened the taxicab vanished. Mme. Lavoite and the chauffeur were killed.

GREEKS ARE MASSACRED BY TURKS

One Hundred of all Ages Are Mardered

ATHENS, Greece, June 17.—Greek refugees from Asia Minor yesterday brought reports of the massacre by Turks of 100 Greeks, including priests, old men and children, in the town of Phokia, 25 miles northwest of Smyrna. The town, according to the official report, was invaded by a horde of armed men, who looted and then set fire to all the buildings. They are said to have been assisted by the Turkish police. All the inhabitants, most of whom were Greeks, fled, leaving their property behind them, and 3,600 of them have reached Saloniki. They declare that the bodies of the massacred people were thrown into wells. The refugees, many of whom were suffering from wounds, were in a state of starvation on their arrival at Saloniki.

HINDUS MUST SAIL

The Total Debt on Ill-starred Trip Reaches $40,000

VANCOUVER, June 17.—The Komagata Maru and her 360 Hindu passengers are expected by the immigration officials to get away on the return trip to the orient before the end of the present week. A proposal for the continuation was made Monday by Capt. Johnson, Vancouver agent for the owner of the steamer, but the conditions the Hindus must fulfil before the vessel can be continued under the charter are made so onerous that there is practically no chance of the Hindus paying up. Nominally there is now $15,000 overdue on the charter. Vancouver Hindus have raised $11,000 of that amount.

The latter sum has been tendered to Capt. Johnson, who accepted it provisionally, but has since returned it to the Hindus, with an ultimatum that unless this amount is increased to approximately $40,000 for the payment of contingent expenses and the guarantee of charter for several months ahead, the ship will immediately be ordered back to Japan.

MISHAP TO BICYCLIST.

Robert Maxwell, was fortunate enough to escape injury when last night about ten o'clock, as he was riding on his bicycle at the corner of Charlotte and George Streets, he collided with street car No. 31. The bicycle was caught by the fender but little damage was caused to the bicycle.

MacKAY IS ACQUITTED

Hamilton Business Man freed Of Grave Charge

HAMILTON, June 7.—The sequel to the sensational arrests of Adam B. Mackay and James N. Gow, who later committed suicide, on the charge of procuring girls under the age of eighteen for immoral purposes, occurred yesterday when Judge Snider acquitted Mackay. His honor held that there was no evidence to prove that the accused was guilty of the charge of procuring girls for immoral purposes, and also ruled that the prisoner being only a roomer at 194 South Hughson street, the residence of Gow, he could not be held responsible for criminal acts which might occur there.

At the outset of the trial Crown Attorney Washington made a motion to have the public excluded from the court which was strenuously objected to by E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., and Geo. S. Kerr, K.C., who stated that the defendant had nothing whatever to conceal, and that the evidence was quite fit for the public to hear. Mr. Johnston quoted from an English case to show that the case should not be heard in camera. The judge, however, decided that the public should be kept from the court.

LIGHT DUTIES OF APPEAL BOARD

One Appeal Dismissed When Evidence is Lacking

Fred B. Denison the well known hockey player was appealed against by the Liberal interests at the sitting of the court of appeals last night. C. R. Widdifield acted for the Liberal party but as notice of appeal had been sent in an irregular manner, the appeal was dismissed. Denison registered at one of the booths and stated he was a student. Under those circumstances the registrar placed him on the list. Mr. Widdifield claimed he was not a student. He endeavored to serve Mr. Denison with the notice of appeal but could not locate him and placed it in a letter box. Mr. Denison failed to show up last evening the Judge Huycke, D. W. Dumble and J. G. Sherry who comprise the Board of appeal held that as the registrar had accepted Denison and no evidence was submitted against him he must be left on.

Michael Angelo Delecane gave notice that he would appeal to the court to have his name placed on but failed to show up.

G. HOWARD FERGUSON.
He was the unanimous choice of the Conservatives as candidate in Grenville, in the provincial elections. Mr. Ferguson was unopposed at the last general elections.

THE DUST NUISANCE.

PERHAPS the word problem would be a better term with which to designate the dust nuisance. At any rate this city like all other cities and towns has to solve this question. Last year oil was tried as a remedy and failed badly, but it failed in just the same way as the doctor's medicine failed when the patient took the whole bottle at one dose. If the directions are violated, it cannot be condemned, because they form an essential part of the process of cure. So when oil is sprinkled with watering carts, oil cannot be condemned, but rather the method of applying it.

Guelph tried oiling its streets last year and endured about the same experience as Peterborough for the same reason. It is contended that oiling the streets is a satisfactory method of dealing with the dust problem when applied properly.

Chicago is an example where oil has been successfully used. In that city one can drive for an entire day on thoroughfares that, being properly oiled and kept, are practically free of dust. When the oil is put on warm with a sprinkling of sand, "sticking" is eliminated, and no complaints arise. Even paved streets, like George Street, are treated with oil, which is applied with an exceptionally fine sprinkler. The driveway in Ottawa, which is a tar-macadam road, is also oil treated, and is one of the pleasantest and most beautiful driveways in Canada.

So far as watering the streets is concerned, sprinklers will not allay the dust nuisance. A good many cities, however, keep their paved streets clean and dustless by the use of flushing waggons. Hamilton, Toronto and Ottawa, use them, and by means of these waggons the asphalt pavement is actually washed, which cleans it of dust, manure, paper and everything that should not be there, germs included. It should be noted that only permanently paved streets can be flushed, so that as far as macadam roads are concerned, an oil treatment is the best when properly applied. There are two or three things the city council would do well to investigate, and these are the use of flushing waggons on the paved streets, proper oil treatment for the side streets and the replacing of ordinary macadam roadways with a tar macadam, especially on the principal residential streets or on those included in the scheme for driveways. At least they should investigate what has been done in other cities before deciding on a definite course of action for Peterborough. What does the Mayor say?

ALL LIBERALS DON'T SUPPORT ROWELL.

SOME LIBERAL papers take the trouble to publish an "honour roll" of Conservative proselytes to their cause. But there are numerous cases of Liberals and clergymen who are standing by the Whitney Government or are taking an independent stand, such as Mr. R. J. Soden. We observe that these names are lacking the Grit honour rolls. Note the following three cases that appeared in the Toronto Mail and Empire:

> "Ald. Pinard, the Liberal nominee in East Ottawa, reserves the right to oppose the Rowell temperance policy."
>
> "The Liberal candidate in North Renfrew, William Markus, says he is a temperance man, but refuses to support the abolish-the-bar policy openly. A rival candidate at the Liberal convention, Thomas Murray, announced himself as strongly against the Rowell policy, and got a third of the votes."
>
> "The decision of the Liberals of Brockville not to put up a party man against A. E. Donovan is pretty good evidence of their lack of faith in the outcome of the election and a sincere compliment to Mr. Donovan."

Mr. Soden is thus not by any means alone in the position he has taken in this campaign. He is to be commended for his courage, and deserves the support of every temperance man, whether Conservative or Liberal.

ENGLISH IGNORANT ABOUT CANADA.

IT SEEMS to be very necessary to teach the Englishman geography. The other day, in an article concerning the Calgary oil boom, the leading English journal spoke of Calgary as a bucolic town of fewer than twenty-five thousand inhabitants. This was not a stray description from the pen of a raw reporter; it appeared soberly in large type in a leading article written by one of the editors. When a vice-president of the Calgary Industrial Bureau wrote very courteously to the Times to point out that the present population of Calgary is estimated at some eighty-five thousand souls, the Times printed the vice-president's letter in small type. Perhaps the editor felt ashamed of his ignorance. He need not have felt ashamed. The majority of the people in Great Britain would never notice a 300 per cent. blunder on a point of that kind. An industrious man might make a good collection of similar exhibitions of ignorance. Amid all the horrors of the Empress of Ireland disaster, the awful lack of knowledge made itself heard. How could big boats avoid being run in to in a river? That is not an exaggerated summing up of the opinion of a good many people on this tragic event. Let it take its place as another example of the need of impressing on the British people something of the size of Canada. When from the Times down to the man in the street, voices speak out of empty heads, it is high time that something were done to fill the vacuum.

CLERGYMEN IN POLITICS.

THE PARTICIPATION of clergymen in the present campaign gives rise to serious questions on the relation of clergymen to politics, and, good as their intentions may be, their entrance is not likely to be a benefit, considered in its entirety. The Montreal Mail says in this regard:

> "Men in active political life must be prepared for bitter attack. They must take an attitude upon every issue and they must be ready to give offence as well as to win popularity.
>
> "The average clergyman is reasonably well prepared to give intelligent attention to public affairs. Are clergymen wise in venturing into an atmosphere charged with political electricity, to offend as well as to please, to be cursed as well as cheered?
>
> "When clergymen are poorly paid and the emolument of public life is considerable; when it is demanded of every pastor that he shall respect the political convictions of his congregation, for very obvious reasons; when church and state are separated; when the desire of all good citizens is to have worthy men elected to public office regardless of their race or creed—the action of a number of Ontario clergymen in seeking election appears to be extremely ill-advised and will, we think, give rise to unfortunate impressions and criticisms."

Notice how the unusual position of ministers taking part in politics affects members of the congregation. In Kingston the other day, Mr. John Hughes, aged 85, a life-long Methodist, strongly rebuked Rev. C. F. Reddick for preaching a political sermon in support of the Rowell policy of abolish the bar. Mr. Hughes arose in his seat and cried, "We have come to church to hear the word of God and not to listen to a political sermon," then left the church in protest.

In this case the minister did not leave his pulpit, but it is reasonable to suppose that going on the huskings would increase just such discord.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A PHILADELPHIA MAN has just spent three years in the African jungle in search of a gorilla and has captured one that laughs when tickled. After considering this item from all angles, we may say that we deprecate the employment of so much valuable time for such a childish object when it might have been profitably used to impress on the natives of Africa the advantages of storm doors and finger bowls.

IF ANYBODY around here has some money which they don't care to see again, they can accomplish the feat by taking a throw at Calgary oil (?) shares.

THE CONSERVATIVES have spent money in the people's interest and have rolled up a surplus of $1,463,029.

SOME Calgary companies are to drill for oil. Undoubtedly they will be drilling a long time.

WHAT has Mr. Gillespie to say about the Whitney surplus?

Toronto Globe Wiggle

Montreal Evening News.

It sounds like a judgment to call one of those new dances the "Toronto Globe Wiggle."

Politics in the Pulpit.

Toronto News.

We all know that there is just as much political partizanship in the pulpit as there is in the pew, and in too many cases zeal for temperance may be mere devotion to a political organization.

The Right Way to Handle Bars.

Guelph Herald.

The bar can be more effectively banished in Ontario under local option than it can by the Rowell policy. The people only have to say so.

The Redistribution.

La Patrie.

If the Liberals accept with so light a heart the new arrangement of the electoral districts, it may be taken for granted that they consider the change as advantageous to their party. But it will be necessary to await the result of the next general elections to see which party has outjockeyed the other.

Dubious.

Dunnville Gazette.

Leader Rowell is undoubtedly sincere in his "abolish the bar" policy, but how about some of his active supporters? In the improbable event of Liberal success on June 29, would he not find himself in the same position as the late Sir George Ross, who also was a sincere prohibitionist, but could not carry his party with him on that issue?

Benefit Felt Already.

Montreal Journal of Commerce.

The granting of a loan of $45,000,000 to the Canadian Northern and of $15,00,000 to the Grand Trunk Pacific, has already had a stimulating effect on trade. The Canadian Northern has placed an order for 45,000 tons of rails, amounting to $1,400,000 with the Dominion Steel Corporation. This order will keep the rail mill running until fall.

Sees Through the Rowell Game.

Montreal Mail (Ind.)

Mr. N. W. Rowell says it will be on the conscience of the church people of Ontario if he is defeated. Mr. Rowell is to be congratulated upon his position. If he is defeated, it will be on the conscience of the church people—who, by the way, would be well advised to brace their consciences for the coming strain—and if he is elected, he can lead his flock into the pasture just the same. Like another famous political manipulator, Mr. Rowell is at Armageddon battling for the Lord.

The Strangest of All.

Hamilton Herald.

Perhaps the strangest attempt to explain the Empress disaster is made by a high official of the Salvation Army. He says that the disaster, in which so many members of the army lost their lives, has convinced him that there must be some serious fault in the organization and that the disaster was God's way of directing attention to it. There must be something wrong with the mind which could be convinced that the Almighty would resort to so clumsy a way of drawing attention to a defect in organization. Even finite human wisdom could have devised some way which would not have involved the sudden death of many hundreds of persons not connected with the Salvation Army at all.

THE BARBER

By Walt Mason

His customer in muslin garbing, the skillful barber does his barging, your spinach bed he shapes; majestic, calm and patient always, he cuts your hair, removes your galways, or trims your fire escapes. Man goes into the barber's palace and looks so tough his Cousin Alice would shun him, on the street; his hair for scissoring is shrieking, and he has yellow whiskers leaking, and hanging to his feet. When from that palace he emerges, and joins the dizzy throng that surges along, mile after mile, the girls remark, "He is a dandy! A man like that would come in handy, when weddings are in style!" Some say the barber man is chronic in his desire to sell his tonic or stuff for growing hair. But that's a fable, old and dizzy; the modern barber's still and busy when you are in his chair. I've never had a barber bore me, when he was busy bending o'er me, with razor or with shears; he simply mows the vegetation, and leaves the silver-tongued oration for suffs and auctioneers. The barber's hand is most caressing, his scented lotion is a blessing, his bay rum hits the spot; the barber's chair is good and restful, and he should have an oaken chest full of roubles, and a yacht.

MAKING HAY

I reckon as hay-makin' is about the hardest work the farmer has to do, and the harder the sun shines the harder work hay-makin' is. But, if 'twasn't fer the sun, there wouldn't be no hay-makin'. Old Sol is needed on the job and he sticks tight to his work of curin' the sweet-smellin' clover inter prime hay.

And although this means achin' muscles and sweaty brow fer the farmer, it also means a full mow and a full mow means full hosses and full hosses mean a full day's work and a full day's work means a full harvest and a full harvest means a full pocketbook.

So, arter all, I reckon there's a lot in makin' hay while the sun shines.

A man's credit is seldom good if he is unable to make good.

The DAUGHTER of DAVID KERR

By Harry King Tootle

Illustrations by Ray Walters

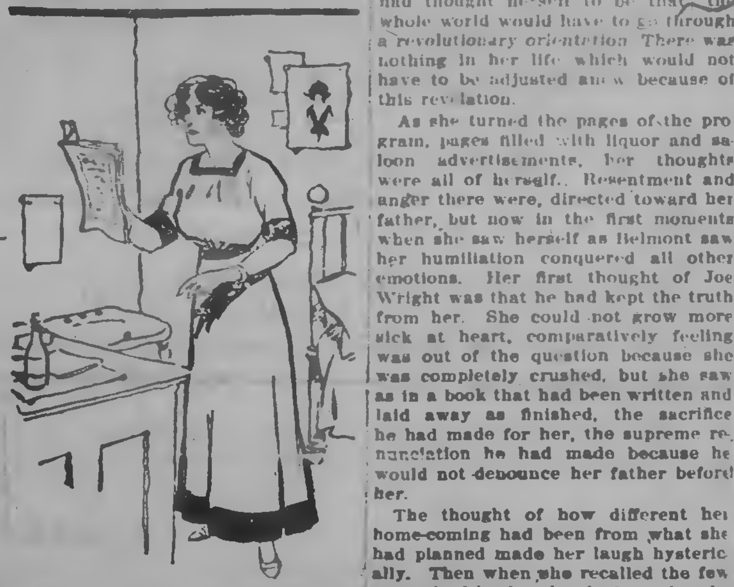
Copyright by A. C. McCLURG & Co., 1912

"'There's enough of us drops in Belmont to fill a pretty big bucket'—oh, it can't be my father! It can't be my father!—He has a daughter—It's all a horrid mistake. There must be another David Kerr, I'm sure."

Gloria sprang from her chair and seized the sleeping woman roughly by the arm.



The Picture Was That of Her Father.

"Listen to me. Tell me something more of David Kerr."

She shook Little Ella into a conscious state and repeated the question.

"Which David Kerr is it?"

"There's only one I know of," answered Ella. "He's got a real estate office on Fifth street."

"What!"

The net of circumstances was being drawn tighter and tighter about one man, and that man her father.

"Are you sure he's the man, girl?"

Gloria asked the question in as subdued a manner as possible. Suddenly she had become afraid. She did not wish to arouse suspicion.

"Sure, he's the man." It tried one's patience to be roused from sleep, and then to meet with contradiction was enough to make one petulant. To settle the question so that she could go back to sleep, little Ella added:

"Look on my bureau and you'll see a program of the Dave Kerr Demmyeratic club ball."

Gloria walked over to the bureau with its jumble of odds and ends, and began to turn over the things mechanically.

"No, not that. Look behind that photygraft. That's it. That's his picture on the front."

Gloria gave one look. The picture was that of her father.

For a time Little Ella chattered drowsily, but Gloria did not hear. She was prostrated by a grief that numbed her every faculty. The foundation of her faith had been swept away.

What she beheld seemed to burn itself into her [illegible]. On the cover of the program were the words: "Annual Ball. David Kerr Democratic Club," and the picture of her father. It was the truth; her father was the boss of Belmont. So different was her position from that pinnacle on which she had thought herself to be that the whole world would have to go through a revolutionary orientation. There was nothing in her life which would not have to be adjusted anew because of this revelation.

As she turned the pages of the program, pages filled with liquor and saloon advertisements, her thoughts were all of herself. Resentment and anger there were, directed toward her father, but now in the first moments when she saw herself as Belmont saw her humiliation conquered all other emotions. Her first thought of Joe Wright was that he had kept the truth from her. She could not grow more sick at heart, comparatively feeling was out of the question because she was completely crushed, but she saw as in a book that had been written and laid away as finished, the sacrifice he had made for her, the supreme renunciation he had made because he would not denounce her father before her.

The thought of how different her home-coming had been from what she had planned made her laugh hysterically. Then when she recalled the few staunch friends she had made she clutched wildly at the hope that after all it was untrue.

"It's a lie, every word of it, a lie his enemies invent. What big man but has about him envious wasps that prick and sting? Judge Gilbert, Mr Kendall, Doctor Hayes, they'll all say that he—Joe Wright! What of him? What will he say?"

She put this man that had loved her in one balance and the other men in the other. He outweighed them all, and the momentary hope was gone. She could see it all now. As the baffling attitude of Belmont revealed itself to her bit by bit she buried her face in her arms and sobbed.

"And I was so proud, oh, so proud!" moaned the daughter of David Kerr. "Joe! Joe! You did love me!—I sent him away, and I never understood. Now I can see it all. The social slights—the cold disdain I could not understand—the whispers that died away before they reached my ears—all, all, all because I was David Kerr's daughter, David Kerr, the boss of Belmont."

Her father's name exercised a fascination over her. Again and again she repeated it, her lips curling with scorn.

"David Kerr, the boss of Belmont!" she cried with a contempt that wrung her heart. "David Kerr, the king of underhand manipulators! David Kerr, the man these wretched women look to for protection—and pay him for it!"

This new thought was a poisoned arrow that sank into her heart. As she dwelt upon it her eyes fell upon her handsome tailored coat and her beautiful hat she had laid aside.

"And with the money these unhappy creatures pay, he—he—God in Heaven! Where did the money come from for these clothes I wear? What shall I do? All these years, and I never knew!"

Where the money came from to pay for her handsome clothes wracked her as poignantly as would a great physical pain. Her thoughts were incoherent, skipping from one horrid phase of the situation to another. Though they were disconnected, they were not vague. Each was a ruthless view of her deplorable position.

"Why did he let me come home? How can I bear to have anyone look at me on the street? I can hear them now saying, 'That's she, the boss' daughter. See her fine clothes. We know where the money came from to buy them.' And I, like a leper, must ever cry, 'Unclean, unclean,' and see those whom I would love flee ever [illegible] before me."

[illegible] made her think again of Joe [illegible] he had loved her be- [illegible] to have wished to [illegible] of such a [illegible]

[illegible] has suf- [illegible] for him [illegible] now her punishment seemed greater than she could bear. "He did love me. He knew, and still loved me. And I drove him away. Well, it was better so; but he did not love me—once. It's better so—for him."

It was now a far more grievous prospect than that of the long years which had confronted her when she had realized the previous day how solitary was to be her way. Then she had had position, power, and pride; now these had been stripped from her, and nothing had been given her in their stead. In a passionate flood of tears she sank to the floor and cried as if her heart would break.

Through it all Little Ella slept, not knowing that in her room was being enacted a tragedy of the heart more profound than any she with all her shallowness could live in a century of heartaches.

CHAPTER XIX.

Grief made Gloria insensible to the flight of time, and how long she had been prostrate on the floor before sounds on the stairs aroused her she did not know. Thinking that it must be Mrs. Hayes returning with a physician, she rose hastily and tried to remove all traces of her tears. She wished above all to avoid explanations, and if none was asked she did not wish to have her grief misconstrued. But it was not Mrs. Hayes, for Gloria could hear the heavy tread ascending to the floor above.

Little Ella was restless and rolled and tossed in her sleep. The daughter of David Kerr looked with pity upon her. Her discipline was too new, her spirit was still too untamed for her to understand fully the kinship of the human race. Although she recognized that she was herself without the caste she thought was hers, she had not come to know that on the last great day there would be only the judgment of the just and the unjust, not of the high and the low, of the rich and the poor, of the wise and the ignorant, of the master and the servant.

"Poor girl," murmured Gloria, "you shall see that I do understand."

There was also much which she could learn from this bit of flotsam cast up by an unkind sea upon a cheerless shore. Seeing that Little Ella was not sleeping soundly, her desire to know more got the better of her duty as a nurse. She shook her gently, and soon was rewarded by seeing her eyes open.

"What you want?" asked the patient.

"Time to take your medicine," Gloria answered unblushingly. This was only a subterfuge, and it hurt her to receive the profuse thanks which it evoked.

"How are we going to begin to make things right down here?" Gloria asked when Little Ella had sunk back upon her pillow.

"Begin?" The girl did not understand.

"Yes, you and I. Things can't go on as they are."

"Why, begin with the boss, of course."

Gloria could not have been stabbed by a more cruel reply.

"Ah, yes," she sighed, "but how?"

"That's up to you and yer pa."

Little Ella recognized that the boss was out of her sphere of influence.

"Yes, yes, I know. Tell me—does—David Kerr," she spoke the name with an effort, "ever—come down here?"

"Him? Naw. We never see nothin' o' him." His daughter gave a sigh of relief. "We don't know nothin' 'bout him much. We don't see him, but we feel him. He lives alone, out in the country."

"Then can he really know?"

"He's a man, ain't he?" demanded the woman of the streets fiercely. "He knows, but what does he care? I wisht he had a daughter."

"What's that?" Gloria asked. The manner in which Little Ella had spoken made her catch her breath with a feeling that was akin to dread.

"I wisht he had a daughter, an' that she'd have to suffer what we down here suffer."

Gloria held up her hand, bidding her cease from even thinking such a thing.

"No, no, no, not that."

"Why not?" the other went on doggedly. "Could she be any better'n I was oncet? I tell you, I'd like to have a daughter of his here, and watch her struggle to keep the breath in her body."

"Have you no mercy?" begged Gloria.

"What mercy hev I had shown me by Noonan—'cept fer his own profit? What mercy from David Kerr? Wouldn't he laugh to see a daughter o' his in this hell hole?" Gloria convulsively covered her eyes with her hands as if to shut out even the thought of such a sight. Little Ella went on harshly, "What a joke it would be! But I'd laugh. I'd watch her, the little darling, to see that she paid the price as I've done."

Gloria could stand it no longer.

"Stop, you senseless girl. You make a mockery of pity and compassion. It's absurd to vent your rage upon something that doesn't exist. David Kerr has no daughter."

Little Ella accepted this answer without question, unmindful that a short while before her visitor had denied all knowledge of the man.

"I wisht he had," she said regretfully.

A door slammed suddenly overhead.

"Aren't you afraid here alone?" Gloria asked.

"Naw. I ain't scared in the daytime, an' at night I'm out most o' the time."

The sound of a scuffle on the floor above brought both women to attention. There came a sudden, smothered cry for help which made Gloria's blood run cold. Then there was a heavy thud as if some one had been felled by a blow.

COMMENCEMENT GOWNS.

Soft and Clinging Fabrics Favored In Their Creation.

EMBROIDERED NET GOWN.

Dainty gowns for the commencement exercises of girls' schools or colleges are now in demand. The style tendencies of the season enable designers to turn out frocks that are not only suitable for the young girl, but that are both dainty and attractive. Soft crapes, dainty nets and similar fabrics are preferred for the purpose. Illustrated here is an attractive gown of embroidered net with wide satin girdle. The tiered skirt has the fashionable pegtop outline. With the gown white suede shoes and a wide satin hair band were worn.

FASHION NOVELTIES.

Some Hints In Regard to the Small Accessories of Dress.

Crochet novelties in new colors and embroidered and printed linen ornaments are used on summer dresses.

There are handsome white silk tassels for use on evening gowns and a wide assortment of buckles or braid and silk in rich and unusual designs.

Tango caps are in metal effects lined with flesh colored silk and trimmed with fancy metal bands, tassels and ornaments. A very attractive cap is of net, with lace motifs appliqued on the crown, novel ear tabs of yellow chiffon bound with tango colored velvet and handsome rose trimming in a delicate French shade.

Roman stripes and Scotch plaids are seen in suit and dress materials, in silks and in ribbons. These stripe and plaid effects even appear in bead embroideries.

Starched cottons of the sheerest kinds, especially organdie, are prominent in neckwear, guimpes and sleeve trimmings. This transparent and crisp material has taken the place of net and chiffon for such purposes.

Buttons are on everything—suits, waists, dresses, etc.—and are in beautiful colors, often matching exactly the article on which they are used. They are mostly conical in shape, Chinese in design and medium in size. Some are decorated in gold; others are in clear and colored crystal.

Among butterflies are the chenille butterflies in natural colors attached to bone hairpins, by means of which they are readily placed at any angle in the coiffure.

Butterflies made of combinations of pearl beads and rhinestones, combined with a white feather, are employed for more formal wear. A butterfly made of black net is studded with jet and pearl beads and rhinestones.

Wicker Birdcages.

Some of the new birdcages are charming in their suggestion of convenience as well as in their beauty. But they are no exception to the old cages. Some of the really antique Japanese cages, made of split willow stained mahogany color and fitted out with little ivory feet and blue and white pottery food dishes, could not possibly be surpassed by modern man. And what can be more attractive than the wicker cages of the peasants of parts of Europe? American dealers in wicker furniture are now selling cages similar to these peasant cages. They are not expensive.

The little glass bathhouses that are hooked over the open door of the bird's cage are a delight to the bird and a convenience to the human being who is caring for the bird, for they prevent splashing of water all over the room where the cage hangs. The bird splashes, to be sure, but he splashes against the little glass walls of his bathhouse.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

WHEN nursing a grouch is a man's constant occupation he should be made to weary it by playing nurse to a strong, sturdy, self willed baby.

Some men are civilized simply because their mothers spanked them sufficiently.

We always feel that friends who are really fond of us have good taste to recommend them.

Goodness itself can't help a man who won't help himself.

Being young isn't the excuse and apology of an old fool.

Of course we all like an old fashioned winter, but we don't care to have it get too old on our hands.

Quality is what most of us want, and that without at all interfering with quantity.

An Occasional Treasure.

The perfect wife is one who will
Not ask a fellow for a bill,
Who takes what money he can spare
And doesn't cause him any care,
Who always keeps her temper sweet
And fixes things that he can eat,
One who is busy all the while
And always meets him with a smile.

She's not extravagant in dress.
She spends a trifle, sometimes less,
For garments, yet she looks as neat
As any lady on the street.
And you should see her hats, handmade
That put to shame the Paris trade,
And if each year she cannot get
A new one she will never fret.

Her temper is as smooth as ice.
She offers only sage advice,
And if it isn't taken, why,
She does not in a passion fly.
She has no hammer in her kit,
But just some steels with which to knit.
Nor does she hang across the gate
And gossip till the hour is late.

She keeps her husband's underwear
At all times in the best repair.
She doesn't gad about and try
To mash some smooth and wealthy guy.
In short, she is a model and
A credit to her home and land.
But, oh, it must a trial be
To live with her, you will agree!

Unsolicited Advice.

"I do wish that people would refrain from unsolicited advice," said a young business woman.

"If I want help in that way I ask for it, and I believe that other people do too.

"But so many never seem to realize this. 'You ought to do this,' 'you ought to do that' are constantly on their lips.

"Unasked for advice irritates me. I never feel inclined to follow it, not even when it is good, and I am sure that many other people are affected in the same way."

REGIMENT BORROWED ARMS TO MARCH IN CHURCH PARADE

Ottawa, June 16.—The Sixty-fifth Regiment violated the spirit of the law but not its letter when, on Sunday, they guarded the Host with arms in their hands, when it was carried through the streets of Montreal in the Corpus Christi procession.

This morning Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes returned from Niagara. He says that "the 65th observed the letter of the law because the rifles they carried were not Government rifles."

It appears that the regulations forbid militiamen carrying their own arms in a religious procession. According to the Minister of Militia, the Sixty-fifth got rifles which did not belong to the government, and carried them in the parade.

It is understood that Colonel Hughes did not give his consent to this manoeuvre, but that he does not propose to disband the regiment or hold a court martial of Col. Ostell or any of the officers of the regiment.

LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE

THE MEETING OF JUNE 26th.

Editor Review,

Sir,—In placing himself at the head of the Conservative party in the provincial contest in West Peterboro with a policy of total abolition of the liquor traffic Mr. R. J. Soden has done a wonderful work. But what thanks does he get from the temperance people? None. They seem to prefer a man who endorses a policy of keeping the shops which means the salvation of the distilleries, the hope of the liquor traffic. While we may wish to give such alleged temperance people credit for sincerity we must question their intelligence. The issue in this campaign is as a speaker in the Opera House said the other night: "Shops (Gillespie and Rowell), or no shops (Soden)." When the great meeting of Friday, June 26th, is held in the Opera House these facts will be made more prominent.

READER.

"SEND ME THE MEN."

Editor The Review,

Dear Sir,—In your issues of the past week, I have noted the effort some of our temperance brethren are making to justify themselves in turning down the right hand bower, of the temperance cause, Mr. Soden.

A writer under the name of "Leader" says he is a Conservative, so am I, but differ with him, and his co-workers on this occasion, as a temperance man. Much could be said, but I will be brief.

Mr. Leader, and his associates profess to be Christians, taking Christianity as their guide, I would call their attention to the parable of the two sons, where the doing, instead of the promises is commended.

Mr. Soden claimed on the platform, that he took off his coat, in other words, left his business and went right out, into the work for temperance while his opponent sat at ease, and Bro. Pogue admitted the truthfulness of the statement, consequently, Mr. Soden was doing Christian work.

It may be possible, that Mr. Leader and others may not have been in the country years ago when we had such battles to have anything in the line of temperance. They may not be aware, while others will try to forget it, of the years of defeats, which we suffered under the government of which Mr. Rowell was then a member. Some of us can well remember the sad days when we would carry a temperance act by a large majority, and at the end of three years, would be glad to repeal it by a large majority and why? Because we had exhausted our resources and could not enforce the law. This was our fate after appealing time and again to that government of temperance, promises for aid to enforce the law, but got nothing but a "live horse and you will get oats."

It is said "the darkest hour precedes the dawn," and thank God, a star appeared, Sir James Whitney, came to the rescue saying "Give me the reins of power, and I shall see that the temperance laws have machinery to enforce them. All I ask is a guarantee that these temperance measures will not be repealed after we have gone to the expense of furnishing the necessary funds to carry out the law, just what any wise business man should do.

To ensure the public he inserts the three-fifths clause. Every honest temperance man should see and admit the wisdom of that clause, knowing as we do, that in the hour of excitement men would come out and vote for local option, then in three months would vote it out. We know that one appeal won is more harmful to our cause than losing three in trying to carry it.

Now then how about the Government and the parable of the sons? The reform government said, year after year, "We will, sir," but did not. Sir James, has done for us just what he said he would do, he goes one better and says "Send me men to support it, and I shall give you all the temperance legislation you ask."

In the name of common sense, what more should be asked of any government? Under Sir James, we have been gaining ground every year. The enemy is now getting afraid that we may get full victory, it resurrects a wing of the old government with its promises, to try to overthrow this man of deeds.

Our Mr. Rowell says "Give me power and I will abolish the bar," the thing that is being done each year, and those that are left are restricted by the present government. Let me ask why Mr. Rowell should ask us, as temperance men and women to abolish the bar, and at the same time, vote to license shops to sell it by the bottle? Yet Mr. Rowell, yea, and our pastors of Christian churches say "License shops." It is in the shop windows for us to behold.

In conclusion, I must confess, I cannot see, in the face of Christian practice, and in the sight of past experience, how clergymen can look on the Rowell policy as a temperance policy, or if it is, what assurance we have, that he will ever do more than promise, as of old." However, I believe every honest voter should vote according to the dictatis of his own conscience.

Thanking you for your valuable space.

Sincerely,
TOTAL ABSTAINENCE.

TEMPERANCE PEOPLE?

Editor Review,

Dear Sir'—It has pained me greatly to read in your valuable journal that people can be found in Peterboro who will say that they are temperance people but that they are in favor of a policy of keeping the shops and the distilleries going. We all know that we are forbidden to compromise with evil. It is a sad thing in more ways than one. "While their hearts are far from me."

Yours,
CONSTANT READER.

REPLY TO REV. R. POGUE.

Editor The Review,

Sir,—The Rev. Mr. Pogue says in a letter to the morning paper today that there are one or two statements in the letter of "Elector" which he says are not correct. He says that the circular submitted to Mr. Soden did contain the word "shops." I find that this is true but the paper I took it from did not contain the fact but I have heard Mr. Soden say that the word "shops" was put into the program of the temperance people at his request. But the second statement of Mr. Pogue is absolutely wrong. Mr. Pogue states that Mr. Soden is not pledging himself to abolish the liquor traffic. I say he is, both on the platform and off, over his own signature and otherwise. He has done far more in this respect than Mr. Gillespie. Take what Mr. Gillespie says according to Mr. Pogue's own statement and according to Mr. Gillespie's address. Mr. Gillespie says that he is in favor of the abolition of the three-fifths clause and on every possible occasion of the abolition of the liquor traffic and that he will vote for either political party. Now that is not Mr. Rowell's program and Mr. Gillespie is just as far from Mr. Rowell as Mr. Soden is from Sir James Whitney. In fact he is farther. Sir James Whitney has said to the people "What you want I will give you but to be in advance of the temperance sentiment of the people is just as bad as to be behind it." What does Mr. Rowell say? Mr. Rowell says that he will retain the shops. He doesn't say that if you want the shops abolished and all other forms of liquor traffic to send Mr. Gillespie and men like him. He says he won't abolish the shop. He will leave that to local option so that we have in those constituencies where liquor loving people have congregated and made local option impossible, centres from which local option will be made impossible elsewhere in the Province and certainly in those municipalities surrounding these centres. The truth is that Sir James Whitney gives the electors a chance to wipe out the traffic. Mr. Soden jumps at the chance and has swung the local Conservative party into line. His record is of the best. Mr. Gillespie on the other hand, cannot go farther than Mr. Rowell except by wrecking Mr. Rowell and from my reading I should say that Mr. Gillespie's address winds up with a declaration of war on Mr. Rowell and his liquor platform. It is due to the electors that men of the standing of Rev. Mr. Pogue and Rev. Mr. Peever who are taking an active part in the campaign should place side by side in short paragraphs the aims of Sir James Whitney and Mr. Soden and the aims of Mr. Rowell and Mr. Gillespie. How any man can say that the possibilities under Sir James Whitney and Mr. Soden are not greater and better than under Mr. Rowell and Mr. Gillespie is much more than I can understand. Even if it be true that Mr. Soden might do more, and personally I cannot see how he can do more, surely it is quite plain that Mr. Rowell might do more, for with the shops as local centres and the distilleries as the great sources of supply "abolish the bar" is only a howling farce.

Yours,
ELECTOR.

MR. SODEN REPLIES TO LETTER OF REV. R. POGUE.

Editor of The Review,

Dear Sir,—In to-day's edition of The Morning Times appears a letter written by the Rev. Robert Pogue, headed, "Mr. Soden's Stand."

In regard to this letter, I would say, that the letter submitted to me for signature did contain the clause for the abolition of shops. It read:—

1. The Abolition of the Bar Licenses.
2. The Abolition of the Club Licenses.
3. The Abolition of the Shop Licenses.

This statement was signed by Mr. Gillespie.

I refused to sign it for reasons given in my address at the opera hous and instead gave a signed statement which was word for word with a statement which I made at the Conservative Convention.

Thus far Mr. Pogue has not misstated the facts, but when he says that I have not said publicly that I will vote according to my convictions, he certainly does not attempt to represent statements as I made them, and evidently in the excitement at the opera house failed to consider what I did say, and has not since read my statements as printed in The Review of June 12th.

If he will read this statement he will find that I said:

"I contend that the platform on this matter that I have adopted, viz: the abolition of the bar, and the shop and the club licenses is the platform which temperance men consider the most advanced. I have, therefore, a right if returned to Toronto to test the sincerity of Mr. Rowell and his party on the question of whether they themselves believe this measure to be the best, and should I be returned I will endeavor to see that Mr. Rowell and his party have an opportunity to say whether they stand for what the temperance people of this riding desire, viz: Abolition of the bar and the shop and the club licenses."

In other words, in the above I have stated distinctly that it is my intention to force Mr. Rowell and his party to vote on the abolition of the bar, the shop and the club licenses.

If Mr. Pogue does not understand my statement as being to that effect he can understand it now, as that is just my intention.

Further in his letter, Mr. Pogue makes a statement which I have no doubt unknowingly to himself, is not correct. He says, "Mr. Gillespie's statement is:—"I am in favor of the abolition of the three-fifths clause. I will vote with either political party for its abolition, and favor a straight majority vote on every possible occasion in the legislature. I will vote with either political party on every occasion for the abolition of the open bar, club license, shop licenses and all other legislation looking for the restriction and abolition of the liquor traffic."

Mr. Gillespie did not say any such thing in his statement. I now give underneath Mr. Gillespie's statement as taken from H. B. Cowan's letter, dated June 13th, and published in The Review. He states that, "Mr. Gillespie has made his position clear in the following words:—'I am in favor of the abolition of the three-fifths clause. I will vote with either political party for its abolition and favor a straight majority vote on every possible occasion in the legislature. I will vote with either political party on every possible occasion for the abolition of the open bar, club licenses and all other legislation looking for the restriction and abolition of the liquor traffic."

You will notice that there is not one word about the shop licenses, but that Mr. Gillespie has dropped them from his platform altogether, although he signed to have them included with bar and club licenses.

Besides this, each day in the columns of The Examiner appear Mr. Gillespie's photograph and underneath it this inscription, "Rowell's Policy is my policy." This is signed. G. A. Gillespie.

Again, the shop is omitted altogether, for Rowell's policy covers only bar and club licenses.

Where, may I ask, is the fairness of the temperance organization or of Mr. Pogue in stating that Mr. Gillespie favors the abolition of the shop licenses.

Furthermore, Mr. Gillespie has not yet answered my question propounded in my address at the opera house, "Is he (Mr. Gillespie) if returned, prepared as in duty bound by his pledge to move an amendment to his leader's policy, insisting that the shops be included with bar and club licenses?" This is his manifest duty, seeing that he signed for the abolition of shop licenses.

I have made my position on this question as plain as any reasonable, common sense elector could desire. I have not moved to the extent of a hair breadth from my original position, yet I am condemned by men like Mr. Pogue, while Mr. Gillespie is allowed to drop the most important item in the statement which he signed without a word of protest from these same individuals.

Trusting that you will give this space in your columns, I remain,

Yours truly,
(Signed) R. J. SODEN.
Peterboro, June 17, 1914.

BIGGEST FLOATING DOCK ON PACIFIC READY THIS YEAR

It is expected that the Grand Trunk Pacific authorities will have the big dry dock at Prince Rupert in operation before the end of the present year. The completion of this great work will mean much to Northern British Columbia and especially to Prince Rupert. That rapidly growing city will have a new industry this coming winter. Many of the big coast steamers that have hitherto been compelled to make their headquarters elsewhere will be overhauled in its harbor. It will be able to boast of the largest floating dock on the Pacific with an equipment including every up-to-date device for handling ships up to 20,000 tons. There are four large buildings to house the various sections of the ship building and repairing plant and practically all the machinery to equip the shops has been made in Canada.

The yard will have a 45 ton locomotive crane. Other machinery includes an 80 foot lathe, capable of turning a steel shaft 50 feet in length; a plate bending machine with a capacity of bending a sheet of steel twenty feet by three-quarters of an inch thick; a big steam hammer and four air compressors. The machine shop, boiler shop and blacksmith shop will have the most complete set of modern tools on the coast.

Adjoining the dock along the face of the harbor are the big new wharves and the railroad has large freight yards here.

For a city that dates back only to 1906, when the Grand Trunk Pacific's staff of engineers made a landing and clearing for the location of their camp preparatory to making the preliminary survey, this is a record of progress that it would be hard to equal.

IMPORTANT FACTORS IN DAIRY FARMING

1. To grow milk-producing feed on the farm and put it up in such condition as to preserve the greatest amount of food value possible.
2. To have cows capable of producing 250 pounds or more of butterfat annually.
3. To have buildings that provide comfort and convenience.
4. To have a systematic method of work that will do justice to the dairy work without extending the hours of labor beyond reasonable time.
5. To have records showing the amount of milk and butterfat production of the individual cows of the herd, the kind, the amount and cost of feed and the profit or loss of the business.
6. To have every cow in the herd freshen every year, if possible.
7. To feed neither too little nor too much, but in proportion to the requirements of milk production.
8. To be acquainted with the symptoms of contagious diseases, so as to be able to apply effective treatment should they appear in the herd.
9. To provide a clean product at all times for the market.
10. To co-operate with neighbor dairymen in the establishment of a permanent market in the form of a co-operative creamery or cheese factory or shipping station.

LORDS CONDEMN GOVERNMENT FOR DELAYING AMENDMENTS

Lord Lansdowne Secures Concession From Premier That Home Rule Amending Bill Will be Introduced in Upper House on Tuesday.

LONDON, June 17.—(C. A. P. Cable.)—Although the Unionist vote of censure on the Government was not forced to a division in the House of Lords yesterday, it led to one result which augurs well for a peaceful settlement in the near future. The Government have yielded to Lord Lansdowne and his demand for the immediate production of the Irish amending bill, and will introduce it on Tuesday.

Lord Crewe also made an interesting statement that Sir Edward Carson had been in communication with the Prime Minister. The subject of the negotiations was not disclosed, but it is no secret that they were chiefly concerned with the suggestion of establishing a statutory Ulster for the purpose of exclusion.

Sir Edward has been invited to give his views on the delimitation of the area in the northeast of Ireland which is irrespective of the existing county boundaries, and would amount to a geographical definition of Protestant Ulster.

Sir Edward Carson stated last night that Lord Crewe was wrong when he indicated that certain communications regarding the "policy" of Home Rule had taken place between the Prime Minister and himself. "The only communication I have received," he said, "was a letter asking for a map showing the position of the different parties in Ulster. Such a map is open to anybody, and I sent the Prime Minister one."

Some of the Unionists who have been the strongest supporters of the Ulster volunteers, including Andrew Bonar Law, Lord Robert Cecil and Leopold Charles Amery, attacked the Government last night in the House of Commons for its failure to suppress the Nationalist volunteers. They declared that the Ulstermen should have been checked in the beginning.

The attack was received with laughter from the Liberal side. Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said that the Nationalists were increasing by 15,000 weekly, but their purpose was purely defensive. The record of 200 years, he declared, showed the futility of British state prosecutions to suppress public opinion in any quarter of Ireland. There was more regard for the law there now than ever before.

A motion to censure the Government was lost by a vote of 288 to 223.

Redmond Gets Control.

DUBLIN, June 17. — John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, has gained control of the Nationalist volunteer movement. The committee in charge of this movement, after much demur, has accepted his suggestion that "the existing self-elected committee of the volunteers should be strengthened by the addition of 25 representatives of the Irish party."

ELABORATE PLANS LAID FOR SUMMER AT PORT NELSON

Twenty Thousand Tons of Freight Will be Taken to Terminal of Hudson Bay Railway—Road Now Half Finished—Specially Built Steamers Will Have to be Constructed in Near Future

OTTAWA, June 7. — During the first week in July the Government will send five steamers from Halifax with materials and supplies for the construction of the railway terminals, elevators and harbor work at Port Nelson. There are altogether 20,000 tons of freight to be taken in this summer. If these first vessels are not unduly delayed by ice in Hudson Straits or the bay they should reach their destination much earlier than the first vessel last year, which arrived only on Aug. 7. The Government has been busy on the construction of dockage, and has also three small steamers built to serve as lighters. The troubles of last year in discharging cargoes are not likely to be repeated.

The completion of wireless communication by means of the stations erected at Port Nelson and at Le Pas, 418 miles west, enables the railway department to keep in constant touch with the work. Over six million dollars has been spent to date on the railway and terminals, and the appropriations voted at the session just closed included $4,500,000 for the railway terminals and elevators.

The Hudson Bay Railway which is being built from Le Pas is now just half finished. The Government will also proceed this year with the establishing of the necessary aids to navigation along the northern route. These will include lighthouses and wireless stations on the Hudson Straits.

A very important feature of this transportation route from western Canada to the old country must be faced by the Government at an early date. It is the question of a line of specially-built steamers. If a private company cannot be induced to undertake such a contract or demands too large a subsidy the Government will have to build and operate a line of steamers of its own.

Nathan Loses In Election.

ROME, June 17. — The entire Catholic and monarchist ticket was elected at the municipal elections held on Sunday, the results of which became known yesterday. Prince Colonna headed the list with over 6,000 votes more than Ernesto Nathan, the former mayor, who led the anti-clerical coalition. Signor Nathan was last but one among the representatives of the minority elected, and he got on the list with only 82 votes to spare.

WANTS RADIUM BONUS.

Assyrian Prospector Says He Has Found It In North.

TORONTO, June 17. — Word has reached Toronto of a reputed strike of radium ore at Sessimika in the district 30 miles to the north of Kirkland Lake. In consequence the lucky prospector, an Assyrian, is on his way to the seat of the Provincial Government to claim the $25,000 reward arranged during the recent session of the Legislature.

T. W. Gibson, Deputy Minister of Mines, has not yet heard of this latest strike, nor has any communication yet been received at the Parliament buildings, but it is thought that the discovery may have been made as the mineral is understood to exist in northern districts.

Mr. Gibson stated last evening that already several applicants to the bonds had appeared, but in each case disappointment followed. Minerals which they failed to analyse, they considered must be radium.

Radium is nearly always found in pitchblende ore.

MANITOBA VOTES JULY 10.

Premier Roblin Expects Forty Out of Forty-Nine Seats.

WINNIPEG, June 17. — Premier Roblin announced in an address at Carman that the provincial elections would be held Friday, July 10, with nominations a week earlier. "I have no fear of the result," he said. He predicted forty or more out of the forty-nine to be elected would be his supporters. In the first day's registration between 10,000 and 12,000 names were put on the list. Speaking of the Liberal advocacy of direct legislation, the Premier declared that "the Liberal party, if returned to power, propose to abolish responsible government in this province. They propose to introduce an element of republicanism that is foreign and repugnant to every man that loves British institutions and the British flag. Members of the Legislature under direct legislation are so many pawns on the chess board, creatures having no power, nothing to stimulate them to action."

Premier Borden's Summer.

OTTAWA, June 17.—The Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden will probably spend the rest of the month in Ottawa and go to Nova Scotia for a few weeks in July. The proposed western trip will likely be made in August.

PETES LAND OUT IN FRONT AFTER FIFTEEN INNINGS

Bob Sterling Travelled the Long Route Alone, While Hams Use d Two Hurlers --- Two Hits Did the Trick in the Fifteenth --- Blount Took Eight Chances

Special to The Review.

Hamilton, July 17.—Curley Blount and his tailenders made it two in a row from the Hamilton Athletics here yesterday afternoon, the encounter going fifteen innings, before the visitors finally got a six to four decision. It was a nip and tuck struggle throughout with the Petes proving that they had the punch by hitting Dougherty for a pair of hits in the final inning and winding up the proceedings. Gorman, the Petes' first baseman, tried hard to hand the Athletics the game in the ninth innings by a bonehead play of Gilhooley's infield hit, but the locals failed to take advantage of the opportunity, and were eventually subdued. Bob Sterling went the full route for the visitors and pitched fine ball, especially in the pinches. He was ably supported, excepting a few cases, and while the errors behind him came at critical moments his team mates generally managed to pull out unharmed.

Frank Dolan started for Hamilton, but was yanked in the ninth to allow Haeffner to hit for him. Dougherty, who heaved Monday's game was then sent in and pitched the last six innings. He pitched good ball, but the strain of 15 innings in two days proved too much and he weakened in the fifteenth innings. Catches by Corns, Dudley, White and Blount featured the long drawn out affair, along with five double plays, three of them being made by the Petes.

As You Like It

Louie Cook, who managed the Ottawa team in 1912 and last year had charge of Guelph, has resigned the management of the Asheville Club in the Carolina Association on account of dissension among his players and the fact that his team has been losing consistently. Cook's easy going method of dealing with his players is mostly responsible for his poor showing.

Good afternoon, did you miss supper last evening in your anxiety over the result ? Fifteen innings is some game. When a game is drawn out to that extent the team that can weather the strain is the victor. A momentary crack in a struggle of that kind usually starts a disastrous rally on the part of the other fellow. Yesterday it was a case of the Petes being the strongest team "nervanically" speaking and the tail end crew jumped another notch nearer the point which will bring them out of the cellar. The game showed that the Petes can fight because any team in the position they are in that can go out and win such a struggle on strange land has fighting spirit galore.

The Erie Yanks beat London while Ottawa split a double bill with St. Thomas. The Brants beat Knotty Lee's Petes. Therefore the battles of yesterday make the race even closer than it was. The win of the Brants pulls Toronto nearer to the Petes as does the win of the Petes put Hamilton in closes proximity to the bottom. The even break of Ottawa and London's loss held the leaders in check and they did not increase their by no means commanding lead.

Peterboro can claim one thing. This is the best city on the circuit for lady supporters. No other city on the league circuit has so many lady supporters as this little burg. When the club is away from home the enthusiasm still exists and it is fifty fifty in the numeer of men and women who phone this office with "how's the score now ?"

The international polo trophy goes back to England. The Britons proved their worth by winning the second game yesterday. It is gratifying to know that the victories were clear cut and decisive so that our American brethren cannot introduce the time worn alibi for which the writers across the lines have become famous. The relay team of Oxford University captured the international relay a month ago which makes the polo triumph the second win of international contests. Here's hoping that the Shamrock IV will add to the international wins by outsailing in every sense the boat that may be chosen by the American defenders to protect the mug.

The Petes hung out longer than the Hams and won a fifteen innings' struggle from the Athletics yesterday. Sterling heaved the fifteen innings for the Petes while Dolan heaved nine and Dougherty six for the losers. Sterling yielded only eleven hits while his team mates had five boots which figured in the run getting. The Petes grabbed thirteen pokes off the two Hamilton hurlers. Sterling whiffed seven and the Hamilton moundmen three each. The game was featured by five double plays of which the Petes had three. The Petes had the game won up until the ninth when an error by Gorman and a hit allowed Hamilton to tie it up.

The men behind lacrosse in this city are taking the right stand in their work to boom the game. On Friday when Havelock will clash with the locals school children will be allowed into Riverside Park free. The game will be called at 4.45 and all the school children will be permitted to walk through the gate without digging down onto their jeans for the usual fee. They will be provided with seats in the right field bleachers. Secretary Doyle of the C.L.A. will handle the game and a stirring encounter is looked for. Every school child either girl or boy should be on hand at 4.45 with his or her rooting equipment in the best of shape.

Bobby Robinson who was born in this city is still there with the anvil. He says that Miller surprised himself when he made a hit which was fair by inches. It would do Bobby good if he would take a peep at the averages and find out that Miller is hitting as well as any of the league backstops.

We agree with Bob on one thing. He points out that Welsh fanned five times out of five times at bat and his work was poor for a third position hitter.

Bob also says that the Petes lack all the qualities necessary to make a ball club. Probably so on Monday's play, but yesterday showed that they had the fight and fight is what is keeping "Shag" and his gang near the top.

The arm of Fox is lauded by the Spec and Frank deserves it.

Patrick Jones of the Herald failed to knock. Pat says that Shears the hurler expected from Jersey City has asked that the deal be called off. Shears cannot be blamed if he is not a blacksmith and then even that trade is dull in Hamilton—in the factories.

Pat thinks that Blount has loads of speed. He bemoans the fact that the Petes have grabbed three out of four from the Hams. Remember that the Petes were up against stiffer opposition than Hamilton in the early stages and now that they have hit the weaker clubs they are climbing, which is quite natural.

Dad Stewart when asked how he felt, in Hamilton, on Monday, replied, "I feel like the bottom of a stove grate." We are surprised to learn that anybody could feel great in Hamilton.

POLO CUP

British Team Carries Off Coveted Trophy

MEADOWBROOK CLUB, WESTBURY, L. I., June 17.—The international polo cup, emblematic of the world's championship, will cross the ocean again, having been won here yesterday by the English team, in the second games of the series, by a score of 4 to 2¾. Although the American defenders made a desperate last ditch stand they were not quite equal to winning.

When the eighth and final period opened the American four were leading by a fraction of a point, but despite their desperate efforts they could not hold the advantage. Each team scored a goal in this period, but the defenders, in their anxiety to clinch the victory, transgressed the rules by sharp crossing, and were penalized for fouling. And so it came about that just as the sun sank in the west, the Britons secured the cup.

PRETTY THINGS FOR BABY.

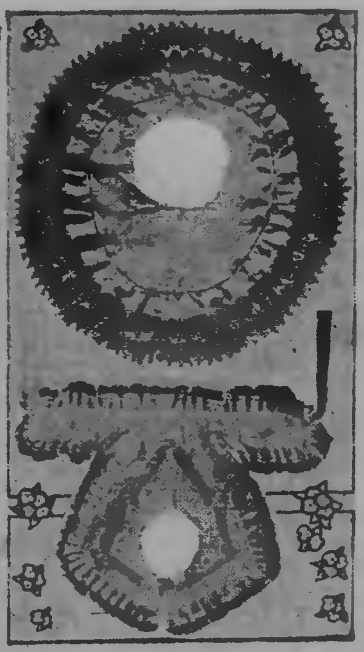
Dainty Trifles Suitable For the Little One's Layette.

Gift articles for the baby's layette are often in demand. This season trifles of the sort shown in the shops are especially pretty and dainty. Many of them may be easily duplicated by the clever needlewoman.

The bibs illustrated here are cases in point. The upper one is framed in a double row of crochet lace. The lower one is of handkerchief linen, with band tucks and embroidery. It is bordered and inset with valenciennes lace. The band passes around the waist and is fastened by the ribbons.



BIBS FOR BABY.

Armlets for that wee little baby whose sleeves never will stay up can be bought in the shops. They are of narrow quilled satin and have tiny ribbon rosettes upon them, fashioned in such a way as to represent the petals of a daisy. There's a little yellow center in each rosette, which completes the illusion.

There are little shoes made of the Irish and princess laces. Some new and very attractive little boots of quilted satin edged with swansdown are seen. Some cunning little kimonos are of Japanese cotton crape in bird, stork and butterfly patterns. They are long kimonos—that is as long as babies' kimonos could be—and they are lined with lawn or silkaline.

Wall Paper Cleaner.

To clean wall paper take one heaping cupful of sifted flour, one tablespoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of kerosene, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of ammonia and one-half cupful of warm water. Mix in a small kettle. Boil until the flour is thoroughly scalded and the moisture is used up, stirring constantly. Now take it out and knead it with the hands, and it is ready for use. Rub the wall paper with balls of this rubbery substance as you would clean paper with an eraser.

EARLY CLOSING OF FURNITURE STORES

Trade Journal Has Reference to Situation Here

The current number of the Furniture Journal has an article on early closing, which refers to the situation in this city. The Journal says:

"Over at Peterboro, Ont., twelve furniture dealers of the city have decided on closing at 7 every week night. This is a move in the right direction. Dealers in many towns and cities have started a similar agitation to close down their furniture stores at a stated time, but on account of one or two, or more, refusing to fall into line, nothing has been done in an official way and all have been forced to keep open.

The furniture business has some peculiarities all its own, as, for example, a great deal of furniture is purchased by one or more parties as by the husband and wife together for instance. Furniture involves a purchase amounting to considerable money and one that concerns the household generally. One member likes to have the opinion af another and does not care to take the entire responsibility. For this reason, furniture stores very often keep open to oblige such purchasers. The evening is the most convenient time for those members of families who work in factories or in places where they cannot get away during business hours to make purchases. The wife at home may purchase a pair of shoes, a hat or a clock, during the day time, but the purchase of furniture is a different matter to her.

This is, perhaps, one of the chief reasons why furniture dealers have formed the habit of keeping open at night. There is, however, ways of taking care of these customers without keeping all the stores in the town open. If the furniture merchants of the town would agree to close their doors at say 7 o'clock. They could agree to taking care of any persons who wished to make purchases at night, as such, of course, could not be refused accommodation. When a dealer finds a man who wishes to come in at night and make purchases, he could take him to his store at any appointed time, turn the key, and conduct the sale in quietness. Dealers could agree on this sort fo procedure without any difficulty.

GRAND TRUNK WILL EXTEND "SAFETY FIRST" MOVEMENT THIS MONTH

The "Safety First' Movement, introduced on the Grand Trunk about one year ago, has been found, after a thorough test, to be such an effective means of preventing injuries to employees, patrons and others that it has been decided to extend the work to the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mr. Geo. Bradshaw, Safety Engineer, who has had charge of the work since its inception will extend the organization to the new system under the direction of Mr. Morley Donaldson, Vice-President and General Manager, who is sparing no effort to give employees and patrons of the system the benefit of every approved method of modern railroad operation.

The remarkable success of the Movement on the Grand Trunk has been due in large measure to the hearty co-operation of the employees who have become not only interested, but really enthusiastic, in carrying on the "safety campaign." There is a most commendable disposition prevailing on the part of employees to see how careful they can be in the discharge of their duties and to see which Division, Terminal or Shop can make the best safety record. There may have been a time on all roads when a careless act of an employee would attract little attention, unless perhaps to mark the man committing it as a "brave fellow," but that day has passed, especially on the Grand Trunk, and the employee who disregards an approved rule or method of safety in doing his work is soon informed in no uncertain terms by his felow employees that "Safety First" is the rule on this road" and the "Grand Trunk does not want its men to take unnecessary chances in the performance of their duties for the sake of saving time or for any other reason."

The members of the Safely Committees, about six hundred in number, are so earnest in their efforts for the correction of unsafe conditions and practices that the rank and file of the employees are becoming imbued with the spirit and for practical purposes the great body of employees are in effect safety committee men." And the best thing about it is that it is a work which appeals to the highest instincts of the men and they have entered into it, not in the least from compulsion, because there is no driving methods and no harsh discipline connected with the Safety Movement, but because they really want to help the Management make the Grand Trunk the "safest road in the country to work for and to travel on."

FLEMMING IS NOT IMPLICATED

Evidences go to Show Lumbermen Paid Into Fund

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 17. — The royal commission investigating the charges made against Hon. James K. Flemming, Premier of New Brunswick, by L. A. Dugal, leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, in connection with the administration of crown lands, opened its session here yesterday morning, with Justice McKeown presiding, and ex-Judge W. Wells and W. S. Fisher, the other commissioners, present.

Mr. Dugal charged that Premier Flemming unlawfully extorted from the lumbermen who hold leases for upwards of a hundred miles $15 per mile.

Yesterday's session, while productive of no evidence against the Premier, indicated that the lumbermen agreed to establish a campaign fund.

John P. Burchill, a former member of the Legislature, and a prominent lumberman of the north shore, testified that he paid $2,000 to W. H. Berry, superintendent of lumber scales, over and above the bonus legitimately charged by the province, Berry having told him that this additional amount was for a political fund.

W. H. Berry's name was called three times by the court crier, but he failed to appear, and John W. Leighton, jr., then testified that he served a subpoena upon Berry at the Parker House, Boston, last week, and that Berry was then in excellent health and was fully able, mentally and physically, to answer the summons of the commission.

Col. T. G. Loggie, Deputy Minister of Lands and Mines, testified concerning the legislation fixing the amounts collected legitimately from holders of crown timber limits under the act of 1913, the bonuses ranging from $100 per square mile to down as low as $20 per square mile. This was the lawful revenue which the Crown Lands Department collected, in consideration of the extension of the leases, and Col. Loggie said that if any further or additional payments were made, nothing had been paid into the Treasury.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING IS HELD AT NORTH HARVEY

Large Gathering heard Conservative Candidate Expound his Platform

Mr. R. J. Soden had another successful meeting when he addressed a large meeting at North Harvey last night. Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., also spoke.

Speaking of the Hydro Electric policy of the Whitney Government, Mr. Burnham said that this policy meant the development of the Trent District. The water powers had been given away by the Ross Government but the Whitney Government, in spite of strenuous opposition have kept them for the people and provide power at cost.

In a country without coal or other fuel this fact means the life or death of the community. To put the water powers in the hands of private individuals is to enrich the few at the expense of the mass of the people. The action of the Whitney Government is the greatest achievement of modern times in popular administration. In a short time the great work of deepening the Trent Canal between Peterborough and Lake Simcoe will be begun at an estimated cost of $1,500,000.00. Of what use would this means of transportation be without cheap power? The future of this district is bound up in these two facts."

Mr. R. J. Soden.

Mr. R. J. Soden, the Conservative candidate was received with much applause when he rose to speak. He dwelt for a few minutes on the radial system outlined by the Whitney Government and explained broadly by Mr. Burnham. Mr. Soden showed how the practical details of the scheme were being worked out by the Hydro Commission and how same would be applied to the local conditions in Peterborough and the surrounding districts. He then stated his stand on the temperance measures of the Rowell policy, pointing out how this policy fell short of what the sincere advocate of safe permanent temperance legislation desired as evinced by the vote of the temperance convention which met a short time ago in Peterborough. He dwelt at length on the evils of the open shop as regards the blacklist men, the women drinkers, the sales to minors and the general evil of the shop as regards Sabbath desecration. He contrasted the results as to temperance of the 33 years of Liberal Government as against nine years term of the Whitney Government, and showed conclusively that the ratio of practical results stood in favor of the Whitney Government in the ratio of 27 to 150. In other words the gain under the Whitney Government was over 500 per cent. greater than that under the Liberal Government, although Whitney had but nine years against 33 for the Liberals. Mr. Soden then dealt with the dual language school question pointing out the dangers arising from instituting such a system in this province, and protesting against the tactics of Mr. Rowell and his supporters who while proclaiming in eastern Ontario his intention of granting such schools, at the same time was silent in Western Ontario on this subject. His supoprter Mr. Gillespie not having so far uttered a word in West Peterborough as to where he stood on this question.

Mr. Soden appealed to the electors present for their votes for the Whitney Government and for himself on the clean, just and progressive record of the Government and on his own record as a supporter of temperance as a man who did and not as a "promiser" only. Mr. Soden was loudly applauded on the conclusion of his address. The meeting was closed with cheers for the King, the Whitney Government and the candidate.

HYDRO

Contracts For Big Dams Are Awarded

TORONTO, June 18. — Contracts for work involving the expenditure of $230,000 were awarded yesterday by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission for the dams, canals and penstocks at Eugenia Falls, on the Beaver river, near Owen Sound. This announcement made by Hon. Adam Beck yesterday marks the fruition of a great deal of preliminary work in this district, and is the second piece of power development undertaken by the commission itself, at other places the power being purchased from development companies.

The municipalities to be served by this development are: Owen Sound, Markdale, Durham, Flesherton, Chatsworth, Meaford, Thornbury, Walkerton, Chesley, Hanover and Mount Forest. When the work is completed this development will be connected with the Severn system at Big Chute, and the commission is also considering the linking up of Wasdall's Falls, where construction work is now under way.

To hurry the construction of the duplicate trunk line between Dundas and Niagara Falls, an order in Council was passed yesterday authorizing the commission to purchase the right-of-way for this new double line. The cost of the land will be about $200,000, and the completed work about $700,000.

Mr. Beck states that work has progressed so well on the Windsor-St. Thomas extension that power ought to be available by the end of July. The engineers are now getting ready to make the connection with the local distributing stations at Windsor and Walkerville. For the low-tension line connecting Dresden, Tilbury, Wallaceburg, Strathroy, Lambeth, Embro, Plattsville, Priceville, Fergus, Elora and other places, orders have been placed for the material, some of which has been delivered.

WHITNEY'S TEMPERANCE WORK

Liquor Licenses Reduced From 2814 to 1600 in Ten Years

ROWELL UPHELD ROSS

During Notorious Era of the Liquor Law Frauds, Liberals Twice Defied the Temperance Sentiment

Mr. Rowell bases his hope for victory on the seductive power of a single campaign cry. That the electors of Ontario may be blinded to the other great issues seems the chance of success into which he is throwing all his efforts. The Whitney Government's request that the electorate express their opinion on the Workmen's Compensation Act, the highways improvement proposals apportioning $30,000,000 to new roads, and the Hydro radials legislation, excites Mr. Rowell only to an expression of agreement, or the most meagre criticism. Even upon the single issue which he has selected, the Government of Sir James Whitney is doubly willing to have the judgment of the electors. Placed side by side the records of Sir James Whitney and Mr. Rowell in regard to temperance are precisely as follows:

Rowell Upheld Ross

"Mr. Rowell supported by his votes and numerous platform appearances the long era of Liberal rule in Ontario during which two Liberal Governments pledged themselves to enact the largest measure of prohibition in their power, although upon receiving large majorities favoring prohibition deliberately disregarded either promises or plebiscites. Mr. Rowell stood shoulder to shoulder with his party in those twin fiascos. The notorious administration of liquor laws by the Ross Government brought from him no word of condemnation, even though the laxity of law enforcement and the misuse of the licensing power excited distrust throughout the ranks of Liberal electors, and caused in part the downfall of that administration.

With that as his political past, Mr. Rowell resurrects in 1914 the old Liberal device, the promise of partial prohibition, trusting that memories may not recall the dismal associations which Liberalism has contributed to the cause of temperance in Ontario.

Against Mr. Rowell's third-time offer of the Liberal sudden-cure, Sir James Whitney and his Government place the demonstrated facts of an enormous advance towards real temperance since the term of their administration began.

The Ross Government left the province with 2,814 liquor licenses in 1904. In ten years under the Whitney Government's plan of constantly strengthening the hands of the temperance forces, no less than 1,214 licenses were cut off. In the past eight years the number of municipalities under local option has increased from 96 to 347, while the taxes placed on the liquor trade have been exactly doubled. Only by the strictest and non-partisan enforcement of the license laws, and by over two-score important amendments to the Act, has such striking progress been possible. The ill-working local option bylaws of the old government was rendered practicable and clear, the power of the municipal councils over local option votes was cancelled, and the expressed will of the people was otherwise made supreme and easy of application.

Unsolicited Testimonies

Testimonies to the Whitney Government's achievements in the interests of temperance have come from all quarters. The Pioneer, the organ of the Dominion Alliance, said on Nov. 11th, 1910: "One of the best forms of local option is in force in the province of Ontario."

General Booth, on Ontario's management of the liquor traffic: "In this respect Ontario leads the world."

The Pioneer, March, 1910: "The liquor laws are carried out in a manner that reflects creditupon the Government in general and in particular upon the gentleman at the head of that department."

Mr. Joseph Gibson, President Ontario Alliance: "You did your duty. You said at the start that you would make the license holders keep hotel, and you did."

STEERING GEAR OF THE EMPRESS OUT OF ORDER?

Counsel for Storstad Owners Springs Sensations at Inquiry

Canadian Press Despatch.

Quebec, June 18.—A suggestion by C. S. Haight, counsel for the owners of the Storstad that the Empress steering gear was out of order and his promise that evidence would be called in this connection, was the sensation of this morning's session of the inquiry. Mr. Haight was questioning Robert Liddell, third engineer of the Empress about the steering gear when Lord Mersey interrupted saying: "Do you suggest, Mr. Haight, that the steering gear was out of order?" He asked Mr. Haight why he had not questioned Capt. Kendall on that point but was assured that he had only recently been advised of it. Chief Engineer Samson of the Empress who then took the stand said the steering gear was in perfect order. After Samsan had stated that he had no complaints about the steering gear, Mr. Haight sprung a sensation by suggesting that the C.P.R. had made attempts to send home to England, Quartermaster Golway who was on the bridge at the time of the accident and who had contended that the steering gear was jammed on the last westward trip for five minutes. He also suggested that a trimmer named Fournier who was on the deck at the time the accident happened, had stated that he Empress was moving rapidly at the time of the accident. Fournier was missing he claimed, having left Quebec with a C.P.R. official. Lord Mersey jumped on Mr. Haight for holding this information up his sleeve and immediately called Captain Walsh, Marine Superintendent of the C.P.R. who denied there was any desire to get rid of either men. Golway was immediately subpoenaed to testify this afternoon.

Quebec, June 18.—Lord Mersey showed a further disposition to save time and expense with superfluous testimony after inquiry court opened this morning. After Geo. Smart, a first cabin passenger on the Empress and John W. Black, a second cabin passenger had testified both to much the same effect and nobody had expressed a desire to cross-examine either of them, Lord Mersey said, "I don't think it will increase our knowledge of the accident to call more of these witnesses."

Mr. Newcombe said: "Mr. Black's wife is here.

Lord Mersey: "I don't think it is necessary to put a lady to the pain of coming here.

MAY MUTINY

Hindus Are Notified They Must Leave

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 18.—The agent for the owners of the Komagata Maru have formally notified Gurdit Singh that the vessel would have to leave for Japan. The Hindus insist they will fight if any attempt is made on board to move the ship, or even hoist an anchor, while they are on board. Just how to place guards aboard, or otherwise to assist the departure of the vessel is a problem that is puzzling the authorities.

An International Affair.

OTTAWA, June 18.—The situation regarding the Komagata Maru, the vessel which brought 400 Hindus from India to Vancouver, is causing grave concern at Ottawa.

It is evident that the news of the captain's fear of a mutiny has reached the Japanese authorities, for two Japanese cruisers are on their way to Vancouver and will reach there on Friday. It is expected that these cruisers will escort the Komagata Maru to sea. When they have gone beyond the three-mile limit the Hindus will be under Japanese control.

Hon. Geo. H. Perley who is in England was cabled yesterday to confer with the British authorities on the question. The Hindus are British subjects and can command British protection. The difficulty is that beyond the three-mile limit the Hindus will be in Japanese territory in a Japanese ship, manned by Japanese.

The affair, therefore, has assumed an international aspect, and Mr. Perley's answer is awaited with considerable anxiety.

St. John's Choir.

St. John's Choir will practice tonight in the Church at 8 p.m. Boys at 7.30. The choir excursion will take place next Thursday at 8.30 a.m. going from the new wharf. All choristers ate asked to be on hand tonight promptly as another meeting is to be held shortly after 9 p.m.

KAISER WILHELM MAKES PORT WITH BIG HOLE AMIDSHIPS

Just After Leaving Southampton With 1,640 Persons Aboard Leviathan is Struck by Grain Steamer Incemore —Both Vessels Saved by Bulkheads With Watertight Doors.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., June 18.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., which left Southampton shortly after noon yesterday, bound for New York with 1,000 passengers and a crew of 640, lies at anchor off Netley, three miles to the southeast, with a big hole in her side amidships, caused by a collision with the Liverpool grain steamer Incemore, bound from a Black Sea port for Antwerp.

The Incemore, a smaller craft than the German steamer, of 3,000 odd tons, is in dock here with her bows badly smashed.

The collision occurred in the English Channel, 13 miles south of the Nabe lightship, in a dense fog. Just how it occurred and on which vessel lies the responsibility cannot be ascertained at the present time. The officers of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. have permitted no communication to be held with anyone on board, and they themselves have refused to give out any information whatever. Such scant details as have been obtained came from the Incemore. That vessel, it is stated by those aboard had virtually come to a stop because of the danger continuing under way in such a thick fog, when suddenly there loomed up just ahead of her the huge bulk of the Kaiser Wilhelm.

Both captains did their best to avert a collision, but the short distance separating the two vessels rendered their efforts ineffectual, and the Incemore struck the liner on the starboard side, amidships. The force of the impact crumpled up her own and tore a big gap in the Kaiser Wilhelm's side. It was the impression of those aboard the Incemore that the hole was entirely above the water line.

The two steamers stood by each other until it was ascertained that neither needed immediate assistance: then both started slowly for Southampton.

The forepeak of the Incemore rapidly filled with water, but the stout bulkhead confined it there and, although so much down by the bows that the propeller was half out of the water, she managed to crawl into port. There it was found that the damage to the bows extended for a length of twelve feet and a width of ten feet.

Saved By Bulkheads.

LONDON, June 18.—The London office of the North-German Lloyd Steamship Co. made the following statement last night regarding the collision:

"The Kaiser Wilhelm II. was run into a 3.30 o'clock this afternoon by the steamer Incemore in a dense fog, ten miles southeast of St. Catharines Point. The Incemore rammed the Kaiser Wilhelm at right angles and scraped along for some distance, but the watertight doors in the bulkheads kept back the water, which leaked into one compartment. Directly the fog came on Capt. Dahl had closed his watertight doors, to be ready for any contingency.

To Test New Device.

LONDON, June 18.—An interesting experiment in navigation in the fog will be carried out by the Canadian Northern steamer Royal George, which left Avonmouth yesterday for Quebec. She is fitted with an apparatus enabling a vessel in the thickest weather, without the aid of compass or sextant, to ascertain her position, when she is within a radius of fifty miles of a fixed wireless station or a wireless-fitted ship whose position is known.

PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1914

WHY MR. ROWELL AVOIDS ISSUES.

ELECTORS of West Peterborough would be interested in hearing what Mr. Rowell or Mr. Gillespie has to say of the social legislation of the Whitney Government. It is not strange that this aspect has received so little attention in the discussion taking place at Liberal meetings. Grits are trying to blind the electorate to every issue save that of temperance, but electors, especially independent electors, should not forget that a Government is concerned with more than one question, and that it is essential to the well being of Ontario, that the Liberal party give some opinion showing how they intend to deal with the other questions before the people. Practically no commitment has been made by the Liberal party on the Good Roads proposal of the Whitney Government, involving an expenditure of some thirty million dollars, nor have they given an opinion on the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Hydro Electric Policy, Bi-lingual Schools, or the policy for the development of New Ontario. The whole Liberal platform consists of a temperance plank, and has none of those constructive features that characterized the appeal of Sir James Whitney when he was first called to preside over the Ontario Legislature. Premier Whitney came into power with pledges on several questions, which he has fulfilled to the advantage of the people. Premier Borden, likewise, had declared his intention on several important issues besides that of reciprocity. But the Liberals, making an appeal to govern this province, are attempting to ride to power on the temperance plank alone, like a hunter going to the woods with a single shot in his gun. Naturally, the execution of the Liberal forces is not expected to be excessive.

Mr. Rowell has advocated, through amendments in the Assembly, the creation of several new Departments, to deal with Labour conditions, Unemployment, Social Problems and Northern Ontario. He has even had the courage to advocate a Minister of Unemployment. It may be said that this is the constructive policy of the Liberal party on those issues other than temperance, but there is really nothing constructive in such proposals. When Mr. Rowell says, "I advocate the creation of a separate department with a Minister of Health to deal with social problems," he has evaded the important point, because he has not said in any particular how such a department would act. He has not outlined the plan it would adopt and the plan to be followed is the constructive feature, not the means by which that plan would be operated. The electors of Ontario know no more about Mr. Rowell's plans for the issues, other than temperance, before the people, than they do of his plans for raising ostriches in the Trent Valley District.

The Hon. W. J. Hanna outlined in the session just closed of the Legislature the work that had been done by the Government along social lines. In the first place, there is a Public Health Act which has been reviewed with approval by the London Lancet, perhaps the highest authority in the world on matters relating to medical science. Water Supply and Sewage Disposal has been successfuly dealt with and epidemics have been scientifically handled. The Act provides, among other things, free vaccine to the public for the prevention of typhoid fever. Provincial health exhibits have been given and there is circulated an extensive system of pamphlets and bulletins. Housing legislation has been passed, and, greatest perhaps of all, has been the system of prison reform, which aims to reclaim rather than punish those who have been unfortunate in straying from the path of virtue. The Hydro-Electric and Workmen's Compensation Act might be included in the list, but enough has been given to show that the Ontario Government is second to none in passing social legislation. Mr. Rowell says Ontario is behind in social legislation, in spits of all that the Government has accomplished. Yet in view of this misleading and incorrect statement, he outlines no constructive policy for his party save that of war on the bars. Not temperance, but office is the real aim of the Rowell Opposition.

CANADA IS O.K.

HORNE PAYNE, presiding at the meeting of the British Empire Trust, assured the meeting that Canada was a sound place for investments. The depreciation in Canadian securities was due to monetary conditions that prevailed all over the world. Canada would shortly recover, and the march of Canadian development resume its former vigor. That is exactly the position of affairs. Canada is recovering from the financial stringency as rapidly and with as little friction as possible. The indications are that the change will soon be quite marked.

Concerning the arrangement of Premier Borden with the Canadian Northern, Mr. Payne says:

> "I fear that during the last four months you have all heard many disparaging statements about the Canadian Northern system, and those responsible for it. These statements have been put into circulation by a few paltry, unscrupulous enemies. The whole affairs of the Canadian Northern have been subjected to a thorough and prolonged investigation by the Government of Canada, with most satisfactory results. Nothing further need now be said, but I should like to tell you that at no moment was money invested in Canadian Northern securities in danger of loss. The Canadian Northern is now certain of immediate completion, and it is constructed in such a manner that ensures as economical and rapid movement of traffic as any railway on the American continent, and its very great success can be regarded as absolutely certain.
>
> "A shareholder who inspected all the company's Canadian undertakings last year assured the meeting of his conviction of Canada's fundamental soundness. Canada was obliged to borrow enormously if she was to go ahead."

MR. GILLESPIE AVOIDS ISSUES.

ACCORDING TO the report in our evening contemporary of two of Mr. Gillespie's meetings, there was no discussion of Good Roads, Bilingual Schools, Workmen's Compensation Act, Hydro-Electric, Education or any of the important issues before the people, save that of temperance. The meetings were temperance meetings and nothing more. It is evident Mr. Gillespie is playing on the sentiment of the electors and endeavoring to blind them to the real issues in this election. If he is not, why does he not discuss these questions, and if he does, why is he not reported?

MR. SODEN'S MEETINGS WELL ATTENDED.

A REMARKABLE FEATURE of the campaign in West Peterborough is the enthusiastic reception accorded the Conservative candidate, Mr. R. J. Soden. The meetings he has held up to the present time, have been well attended, the meeting held at North Monaghan having the largest attendance on record, in the opinion of one leading Conservative. The electors are giving Mr. Soden an attentive hearing, and his ability as a platform speaker has enabled him to speak convincingly to his hearers. Every place in which he has spoken he has carried his audience with him, and an "old hand" is quite convinced that Mr. Soden will carry the election on June 29th. The reception he has received shows that he is growing in popularity and in the confidence of his constituents.

BETTER OUTLOOK.

ONE OF THE SIGNS of the times pointing to a better feeling among business men at large is the more cheerful tone among the iron and steel manufacturers. Sentiment in the steel trade has improved in recent time, and it is expected that buying will be resumed in the near future. Railroads, at least those that can make financial arrangements for buying, are said to be about ready to place orders for rails and car equipment and to some extent locomotives. Many of the more important lines must have equipment to move the crops and provide for the heavy passenger traffic that will arise when the San Francisco fair shall open. Also betterments to trackage must be provided to facilitate and safeguard such traffic. That the orders being placed call for immediate delivery is noted, which shows that delayed commitments have necessitated speedy action. Some of the steel plants are resuming after a period of idleness.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

CITIZENS of Peterborough will be gratified at the appointment of a local man in the person of Mr. Ross C. Dobbin, B.Sc., to be superintendent of the waterworks here. Mr. Dobbin is well trained for the position and should discharge his duties with credit to himself and to the city.

IT has been asserted that the minister as the custodian of morals, and spiritual expert in morals has a right to be in politics. Possibly. But if we judge by the majority of sermons we hear in which inconsistency and contradictions are ingredients, we would question very much the general claim to expertness in morals.

WE have just ushered a lady bug out of the editorial sanctum. Lest we be misunderstood, we will inform our readers that the bug in question was not a suffragette.

HOW MUST honest temperance men vote? says a contemporary. Why not ask a hard question. Every temperance man should vote for Soden.

ARE Mr. Gillespie's speeches worth reporting? Our evening contemporary apparently does not think so.

JUST because the Toronto Globe says bi-lingualism is not an issue is a good reason that it is.

Where the Trouble Lies.

Springfield Republican

One private estate in Mexico is as large as the state of Connecticut. And there are others. That makes the land question, and the land question makes revolutions easy.

The Guide Always Was in Wrong.

Montreal Evening News.

The Grain Growers' Guide, having viewed askance the Mackenzie-Mann-Canadian Northern guarantee, thinks it is time the Government loaned money to Western farmers at four per cent. The logic of this fails, when one considers that the money markets of the world would make short work of such a proposal. The Guide should discriminate between a condition and a theory.

Safeguarding the Ballot.

St. Thomas Times.

Under the new naturalization law introduced by the Hon. C. J. Doherty, an alien must reside in Canada five years before he can become a British subject, and then he can only be so by appearing before the courts and showing that he is entitled to that citizenship. Under the old regime three years' residence was all that was required, and naturalization papers were issued by persons who were often not qualified for the responsibility. In rendering the acquirement of Canadian citizneship more difficult, the present Government has performed a genuine service for democracy. It has thrown another safeguard around the sanctity of the vote. In times past a vote for the right party was considered sufficient merit for citizenship in this country, with all its privileges. The Liberal party in the West flaunted Canadian citizenship before the eyes of the foreigners as something which could be purchased by the casting of a ballot. They degraded that citizenship. They struck at the very foundations of representative government. Under the new Act glaring injustices will be righted, election corruption and perjury made less easy. The ability to meet well defined obligations will be asked in return for glorious privileges.

THE BEE

By Walt Mason

The busy little bee is called a model, by some bores, for it has never loafed or stalled while doing up its chores. It scoots around in frantic haste, and bumbles as it flies; it lets no moment go to waste, and that, we know, is wise. And as from flower to flower it bolts, unless you stand aside, it sends about a million volts of lightning through your hide. Now, industry is bully goods, but it should seasoned be, e'en in your most impatient moods, with tact and courtesy. Because the bee has lots of biz, it has no moral right to make its red-hot stinger whiz into me out of sight. The bee's no model for the gent who'd do the proper thing, for he, though on his business bent, will not bystanders sting; he captivates, by winning ways, the ancient and the young, and, as he stings no other jays, he'll not by them be stung. The bee is always out for scraps, its head is always sore, it shoots its venom into chaps it never saw before; and e'en the ladies and the kids it stings, as home it flees, and so we ought to put the lids upon the bumble bees.

REVERSING THE GENERAL ORDER OF THINGS

OLD Ben Thompson, who was the hardest-workin' farmer in all Zone Township, allars said thet he believed a change was as good as a rest. Said thet when he got tired plowin' he hitched the old bays onter the harrows and rid fer a spell. And ther's quite a lot in what Ben said too. We need a change occasionally. The general order of things needs to be reversed a leetle. I reckon the best housekeeper in the province gets tired of jest keepin' house sumtimes and at sech times she's liable to think thet the man out in the hot, dusty field has the best of it.

There comes a time in the life of every man an' woman when he or she is plum willin' to swap jobs with anybody else and right then is when a change is needed; right then is when the order of things needs to be reversed a leetle.

HOBHOUSE UNFAVORABLE.

British P. M. G. Throws Cold Water on Deputation of Empire Leaguers.

LONDON, June 18.—(C. A. P. Cable.)—A British Empire League deputation urged the Postmaster-General yesterday afternoon not to increase the magazine postage rates to Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. G. H. Perley, acting Canadian High Commissioner, said that the use and sale of British magazines had largely increased by the facilities given by Canada.

Mr. Hobhouse, in reply, pointed out that the whole of the penny-a-pound now charged for postage was absorbed by the cost of transmission from the office of posting to the port of departure. The cost of lowering existing rates to New Zealand, Australia and South Africa, would mean a loss of revenue of £27,000 a year, with an extra expenditure of £80,000.

"What's it all about?" she cried, springing to her feet in terror.

"Nothin'. Stay where you are. We're safe as long as we don' open that door."

The sounds of the affray grew louder. Again came the cry for help.

"What's going on? I must know. Some one's in trouble. Didn't you hear some one call?"

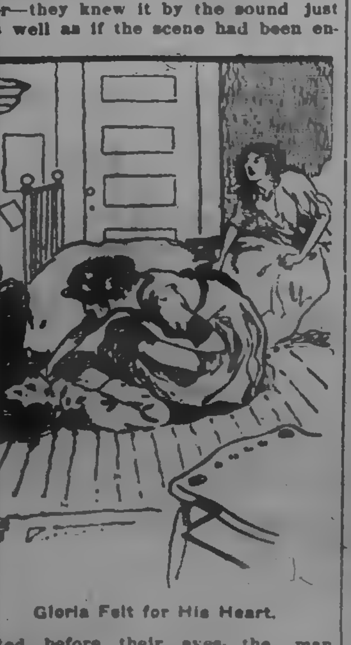
"They're maybe just foolin'." Ella was listening intently. "Don't you butt in."

"But I can't stand here doing nothing. I must see what's the matter."

One could never accuse Gloria of lack of courage. She had never seen the horse she was afraid of, and a sailboat in a heavy sea made her laugh the more the louder the wind whistled through the rigging. Her feeling of personal power, inherited from her father, had been strongly developed. She had by this time overcome her first fear, and now she intended to know what the trouble was all about. Some one was in distress and to do what she could was her one thought as she started toward the door.

"Better not open that door," Little Ella pleaded.

Even as she spoke, they heard a door slam at the head of the stairs above. Some one lurched heavily to the stairway, and then to their horror—they knew it by the sound just as well as if the scene had been enacted before their eyes—the man tripped and plunged down the narrow stairs.



Gloria Felt for His Heart.

"I must know what's going on," Gloria cried.

She rushed across the room and wrenched open the door. At the foot of the stairway just before her was the body of a man, limp and motionless.

"It's a man. He's hurt," she called back to the sick woman as she knelt to examine him.

He had fallen so that she could not get a good look at him in the dark hallway, and she rolled him toward the door to get him on his back and see his face. As she gazed upon his countenance the fingers of death itself seemed to seize her by the throat. Her heart gave one great leap and then stood still. On the floor before her lay the body of the man she loved.

"Joe!" she screamed. "What are you doing here? Joe, Joe, speak to me!"

But there was no answer. His eyes were closed, and the pallor of death seemed to be upon his face.

With strength beyond what she had ever known herself to possess, Gloria seized the motionless form and dragged and rolled the man into Little Ella's room. Before she turned to him again she closed and bolted the door. Then she bent over him and begged him to speak to her, to open his eyes and know that she was with him.

"Joe, don't you know me?" she pleaded. Then to Little Ella, "He's dead, he's dead. See, he doesn't move."

"Yes, he does," answered the other woman. She had been sitting up in bed, an excited spectator of all that had transpired. "He's breathin'. Tear open his shirt and feel his heart beat."

Wright was a pitiable object as he lay on the floor like one dead. His coat and waistcoat were gone, and his collar and cravat had been torn away. On his white shirt were bloody stains. Gloria felt his heart and was rewarded by its feeble beat. She next dashed water from the pitcher over his face, but without avail. He showed no signs of returning consciousness. From a wound just above his temple on the right side of his head the blood began to trickle down over his face, making its pallor all the more ghastly. She had no means of knowing how serious this was, and naturally came to the conclusion that it was a death-wound. There was only one thing to do: get a physician.

As she started to her feet she heard two men running down the stairs and making a search from room to room on her floor. These must be the men who had attacked him. She could not let him fall into their hands, and therefore she could not leave him to go for aid. The impotence of her position made her feel like screaming to relieve the nervous strain.

"What do you know about this? How did he come here? What has happened to him?"

"I dunno," answered the woman. "There's somethin' doin' all the time in this dump."

A sudden knock at the bolted door chilled Gloria with terror.

"What's that?" she whispered.

"Somebody's at the door," replied Little Ella, in the same low tone. This fact was obvious.

Again came the knocking, louder and more insistent.

"I can't let anything happen to him," murmured the unhappy girl in agony, remembering how the day before she had demanded that he be punished. "Joe, Joe, what does it all mean?"

But Wright made no answer. He lay like a log as the girl he had loved bent over him, wiped the blood from his face, and brushed back his disheveled hair.

With the next knock came the voice of a man demanding entrance.

"Ella, Ella, open this door."

Gloria rushed over to the bed.

"Tell him you can't get out of bed," she implored in a whisper. "Tell him there's nobody here."

"I can't git out o' bed. There's nobody here," Little Ella called.

This answer did not pacify the man.

"That's a lie," he shouted. "There's somebody in there or the door wouldn't be locked. Open this door, do you hear me, or I'll bust it down."

The tone of his voice made Gloria feel that he would make good his threat. There in the center of the room in full view lay the man whom they were seeking. Once they burst the single barrier they would be upon him, to do what further harm she knew not. It might be that he was now already beyond all human aid. He still breathed, however, and Gloria was willing to fight if there was even only one chance in his favor. Hence it would not do for them to find him the minute they broke down the door. She must hide him somewhere to give her time to parley with his assailants. She looked vainly about for some place to put him.

"For God's sake, help me hide him," she beseeched. "I can't give him up. Where does that door lead to?" She pointed to the door close by the one which led into the hall.

"That's only a closet under the stairway," was Little Ella's whispered explanation. "They'd find him there in a minute."

"You wouldn't let them kill him, would you?"

"I can't help you. I'm so weak I can hardly turn over in bed."

"Open this door, I say," came from the man without as he pounded on the door ominously, "or I'll crack you over the head."

Gloria understood that there was no time to temporize. She must do something and that quickly. Close by where she stood next the bed, and on the side away from the door, was Little Ella's trunk. Behind it on hooks hung a number of garments, and on a chair were more clothes. It was the only chance and Gloria took it.

How she ever maneged to get him, a dead weight, across the intervening space and safely stowed behind the trunk she never knew. She dragged she hauled, she pulled, she rolled, and the forlorn hope that she would save him yet gave her strength. As she snatched skirts from the hooks and all the clothing from the chair to pile upon him, the pounding upon the door became more and more vindictive. The girl was out of breath, but as she bent over the prostrate form of the man she loved, she managed to gasp:

"Joe, listen to me. If you can hear me, dear, listen. Don't stir, don't you hear me, Joe?" But he was deaf to all entreaties. Seeing this was so she turned to Little Ella: "Get him to go away. Offer him anything, promise him anything. I'll do it; only keep that man on the other side of that door."

To be Continued.

FREE OF ALL THREE DISEASES

"Fruit-a-tives" Brought Him Perfect Health

AVON, ONT., May 14th. 1913.

"I am younger since I have been taking "Fruit-a-tives". I was troubled very badly with Piles, Constipation and Stomach Disorder, but I found "Fruit-a-tives" was the panacea for the whole three.

Now I am free of all these diseases and enjoying perfect health, and able to work whenever I like. Five years ago, I started taking "Fruit-a-tives". I took two every night and they worked wonders for me.

No other medicine I could get was so good and I took lots of different remedies before I found out how good "Fruit-a-tives" were.

I keep "Fruit-a-tives" on hand all the time, and am never without them. I even take them with me when I go motoring, so I can have them handy. "Fruit-a-tives" are worthy of every good word I can say about them. The fact that they cured me of Piles, was something to be everlastingly thankful for"

FLEMMING UNSCATHED.

Evidence Shows No Offence On Part of N. B. Premier.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 18. — The hearing of the charges brought by L. A. Dugal, M.P.P., against Premier Flemming of New Brunswick, that the latter exacted toll of lumbermen for campaign funds was continued yesterday. The witnesses brought by Mr. Dugal were lumbermen who testified to having made contributions upon the request of W. H. Berry, a civil servant who made a round of them.

J. B. Snowball, trustee for Lawrence MacLaren said he had paid $7,200 after July 10, the date on which timber lands were classified. This, declared counsel for Premier Flemming, ruled it out of the scope of the hearing, but the commission permitted the evidence. The court expressed the view that such testimony would not affect Mr. Flemming unless it was shown that he directed Berry to make the levy or assented to the transactions subsequently.

The payment of $4,500 by the Miramichi Lumber Co. to J. W. Branklay for a political fund was described at yesterday morning's session.

Angus McLean, manager of the Bathurst Lumber Co., told of interviews with Premier Flemming respecting the renewal of his own leases, and said that Mr. Flemming had stated that nothing could be done until the whole matter of leases generally was settled. He was going to employ Mr. Berry to work it out. No one else but Berry, however, had come to witness about payments. The Bathurst Company paid in $15,000.

Allan Ritchie, in describing a payment of $4,500 into Brankley's office, said he was told to take it there by Berry and put it on the table.

Evidence was given indicating that the lumbermen interested held a meeting to discuss whether or not they would yield to Berry's demands. At that meeting it was decided to do so.

The Dominion Pulp Co. paid in $4,500 and the Sinclair Lumber Co. $3,000.

Many Would Be Volunteer Sailors.

At present the Department is working out the preliminary organization, framing the rules and regulations, and making all preparations for establishing the force.

Murder of Babes Widespread.

LONDON, Ont., June 18.—Rev. A. B. Clarke, who is organizing an orphanage in connection with the Anglican Church here, startled the synod yesterday by quoting a prominent medical man to the effect that 200 infant murders could be anticipated annually if such an institution were not established.

It is probable that the moral reform branch will take up the matter, as it was the impression of the ministers here that immorality was not so widespread.

Knights Templar In Session.

COUNSEL SAYS STORSTAD MUST HAVE CHANGED GAIT

Day's Proceedings at Quebec Enquiry Into Wreck of Empress of Ireland Only Serves to Make the Confusion Worse.

QUEBEC, June 18.—Out of a welter of testimony that threw very little fresh light on the loss of the Empress of Ireland, which sank off Father Point after a collision with the collier Storstad on May 29, the Dominion commission enquiring into it yesterday managed to extract a few new points, which only serve to make the confusion worse.

At the morning session Butler Aspinall, K.C., acting for the C. P. R., extracted an opinion from Chief Officer Tuftenes of the collier, that, according to a diagram that had been drawn of the respective positions of the ships when they saw one another just before the collision in the fog, he thought the Empress, which was traveling fast, should have cleared the Storstad. Mr. Aspinall tried to prove by this the C. P. R. claim that the liner was standing still, otherwise she would have passed across the Storstad's bows, but the witness clung fast to his contention that the Empress was moving. Later, Mr. Aspinall sought to show that because the collier rammed herself straight into the liner for 12 feet, the Storstad must have been going at a high rate of speed, while the liner was stationary, because if the coal boat was going slow the only other way this could have been accomplished would have been by the Empress approaching her like a crab, and that was ridiculous.

To substantiate the theory of the Storstad officers that the collier struck the Empress a glancing blow as she rushed across her bows, Mr. Tuftenes contradicted Capt. Kendall's claim that the boilers were pierced, as shown by the sheet of flame that poured out at the collision.

The witness said he only saw friction sparks, while there was no rebounding of the Storstad, as sworn to by Capt. Kendall, only a slight jar being felt.

Capt. Andersen of the Storstad dealt a heavy blow to Mr. Aspinall's theory that the 12 feet penetration of the collier's nose indicated that her speed supplied the striking power, by saying that, loaded as his vessel was she would have gone clear through the Empress, traveling at ten knots.

From the comments made by Lord Mersey, the fact that Mr. Tuftenes, who was in charge of the Storstad just prior to the accident, did not call Capt. Andersen directly he saw the fog coming, in accordance with his instructions assumed a grave aspect, though Capt. Andersen while agreeing that he should have been called earlier, said it would have made no difference, as his reversal of his engines directly he came on deck was only due to the appearance of the Empress, which was not expected. Lord Mersey pointed out that had the Storstad's engines been reversed earlier the calamity would not have occurred.

Edward Jones, first officer of the Empress of Ireland, who was on the bridge when the collision happened, told much the same story as did Capt. Kendall. He claimed the Empress was stopped and the collier moving, and C. S. Haight, acting for the Storstad owners, tried to indicate by his cross-examination of this witness that the Empress' master had disobeyed the navigation rules by stopping in the fog when the regulations required him only to go slow and under the other ship's stern after ascertaining the position of the Storstad. The confusion over the whistles—that is as far as the stories of the two sides are concerned — was only heightened by Mr. Jones, Mr. Haight claiming that misleading signals were given. Lord Mersey pointed out that the officers of the Empress seemed to have followed the rules in this connection.

AMONG THE BREAKERS IS GIVEN BY STRONG CAST

T.A.S. Dramatic Section Responsible for Some Good Acting

"Among the Breakers," the comedy drama in two acts, presented in St. Alphonsus Lyceum last evening, by the dramatic section of St. Peter's T.A.S. was fairly well attended despite the ideal weather for out of door pleasures. The play deserved a capacity house as its equal has not been attempted by amateurs of this city. Filled with emotional acting and punctuated by a slight vein of comedy it was thoroughly enjoyable.

The plot was not too deep but exceedingly interesting and fastinating. Like all other dramas, the black cloud is hanging over everyone till the last and then lifted to the utmost satisfaction. For an amateur production it was well executed and all the finer points brought out in good style.

The work of Miss Lillian Simons would be hard to excel while Mr. V. McCabe as the keeper of the lighthouse aquitted himself very creditably. He was just a rough coast man who had seen better days but through his spendthrift ways had been reduced to almost abject poverty and believing that he had drowned the daughter of his enemy, his conscience was by no means at ease. When the thought of his horrible act kept coming before his mind there was abundance of opportunity for good acting, and in Mr. McCabe's hands it was all that could be desired.

Mr. F. Grady, depicting a Home Ruler, Mr. E. White, as a coon and Mr. Bain as a cub reporter provided no small amount of much enjoyed comedy. The work of the latter was especially well done and he was just as keen on landing a big scoop as any regular scribe.

Between acts one and two Messrs. J. Minicola and E. Hanrahan rendered solos. Miss Marion Gorman played the accompaniments. The cast was as follows:—

David Murray (Keeper of Fairpoint Light)—Vincent McCabe.

Larry Divine (His Assistant) — Frank Grady.

Hon. Bruce Hunter—Ed. Boyle.

Clarence Hunter (His Ward) — Wm. Collins.

Peter Paragraph (A Newspaper Reporter)—George Bain.

Scud (Hunter's Colored Servant) —Elric White.

Minnie Daze (Hunter's Niece)— Miss Josephine Collins.

Bess Starbright (Cast up by the Waves) — Miss Lillian Simons.

Mother Carey (A Reputed Fortune Teller)—Miss Annie Simons.

Biddy Bean (An Irish Girl)—Miss Kathleen Carr.

The small stage was used to good advantage, the credit of this being due to Messrs. J. Hanrahan, S. Houlihan and J. Condon.

WERE DISORDERLY ON STEAMER

Fines of $10 and Costs Are Imposed

For creating a disturbance on the Steamer Geneva on June 3, three young men were fined $10 and costs by County Magistrate Edmison this morning. The accused pleaded guilty to the charge. Captain Harris, Fireman Thompson and the boat's engineer testified that the men were using profane language on the return trip from this city. There were many ladies aboard the occasion, being the picnic of the collegiate institute.

E. L. Goodwill acted for the boat company and asked that the maximum fine be not imposed as the company wished only to make an example. The magistrate held the same view and stated that although the charge was a serious one, he was led to take a lenient view of the charge because the men had answered the summons of the court and had pleaded guilty and also he thought they did not realize the seriousness of their actions.

C. E. MOORE IS RE-ELECTED FOR FARMERS' INSTITUTE

After Long Service Wm. Collins Resigns as Secretary and is Succeeded by Allan Mann

At the annual meeting of West Farmer's Institute, Peterboro, yesterday afternoon at the farm of J. H. Garbutt, Smith, C. E. Moore was re-elected President for the third term.

The meeting was largely attended by a most representative gathering giving indication that agriculture is no mean issue amongst the general populace of West Peterboro. One unfortunate feature was the resignation of the Secretary, William Collins. Mr. Collins declined re-election owing to his health and long service. He has been secretary of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute for over seventeen years. In that time he has experienced the many ups and downs that fell to his lot in connection with the carrying on of the work. A resolution of regret was accorded Mr. Collins on motion of J. H. Garbutt and J. A. Telford.

President's Remarks.

President C. E. Moore in his opening remarks commented on the enthusiastic gathering present. In the past five years they had made fairly good progress. One feature to be dealt with however was the apathy of the farmers in the interests of the Institute and the great work they were carrying on. He strongly urged the farmers to attend the various lectures held throughout the year and not to let the greatest opportunity of their time pass. He referred to the short stock judging course they held every year. Last year the course held in Peterborough was very poorly attended. The attendance at these meetings was falling off and something had to be done to stem the decrease.

They were not by any means embracing the opportunities offered them by the meetings being held and also the stock judging course which were of the utmost importance to every farmer.

Excellent advantages were to be derived from these meetings. The financial end of the Institute was not as cheerful as possible. The lack of holding their annual excursion was partly due to this stringency in the treasury department. The annual excursion was going to prove a success once more. Continuing he spoke of the re-introduction of plowing matches to bring out the farmers and win co-operation. An agitation has been commenced last fall for plowing matches but that matter had been dropped. He concluded by making a strong appeal for a big attendance of members.

J. H. Garbutt in a few appropriate words spoke of the decrease in membership. He had found the same drawback when President of the Institute himself. Great benefits were to be derived from the institute meetings. Unless the farmers got busy it would die a natural death. Nobody wanted to see the Farmers' Institute, after such good results, to die such a death.

J. H. Burnham, M.P., said he was greatly surprised to notice by Government reports that the farmers of West Peterborough were not showing the interest in the Farmers' Institute meetings that they should. Farmers in Manitoba, British Columbia, Western Ontario and Western Canada and various belts were making a success in connection with the Farmers' Institute meetings. The agricultural spirit was decaying in some parts. And it usually does when interest is lost. The United States farmers were using every energy to increase their lands. The people here were not taking advantages. The farmers of Western Ontario were away ahead. They were taking advantages of Hydro-Electric. People were leaving the cities and going to the country. They are making good. The women are using every possible energy to make things go. The apathy of the man was evident.

Plowing Matches.

He referred to plowing matches being conducated. He had offered a silver cup for the best plowman, and had written Mr. Collins to that effect. Mr. Collins had acknowledged the letter and offer. Then, they fell asleep. The exhibitions were falling off. They were no such exhibits now as thirty years ago.

Mr. Collins in answer to the statement of Mr. Burnham, said he had tried to do his duty, but could not get any backing to carry on the forming of a club for plowing competitions.

It was decided to have the meetings held in the future the same as in the past by a standing vote of the members.

Election of Officers.

The election of the officers then took place, resulting in the following being elected:

President—C. E. Moore.

Vice President—A. MacGregor.

Sec. Treas.—Allan Mann.

Board of Directors—Messrs. C. E. Moore, William Collins, J. H. Garbutt, T. H. Graham, J. N. Telford, D. Crough, G. W. Mann, E. M. Elliott, T. J. Milburn, Fred McKee, S. Harrison, T. J. Cullen, H. C. Garbutt, M. Braden, J. Brown, T. W. Houston, S. Deyell, R. Chambers A. Wilson, Clayton Telford, A. B. Northey, Clayton Handbridge and T. D. Young.

Auditors—Messrs. John Riddell, Jos. Barnard and William Collins.

F. C. McRae, B.S.A., District Representative, in a short address described the various advantages obtained by attending the meetings of the Farmers' Institute. The decrease of membership was evident in very few places. West Peterborough was evidently one of the few, and he strongly urged for a decided increase. All work carried on by the district representatives was done free. He was sorry to see Mr. Collins resigning. Mr. Collins had been a zealous and earnest worker in the interests of the Institute.

The other speakers were Messrs. R. J. Soden, G. A. Gillespie, E. A. Peck, and E. M. Elliott.

The supper provided by the ladies was heartily enjoyed. Before the gathering dispersed three cheers were given for Mr. and Mrs. Garbutt.

Secretary-Treasurer's Report.

Peterborough, May 30, 1914.

To the members of West Peterborough Farmers' Institute:

Gentlemen and Ladies:—On behalf of the Executive committee and directors, I beg leave to submit to you for approval the 27th annual report of this Institute.

Since our last annual meeting, which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Graham, many important changes have taken place in our fair Dominion, and also in the Empire, of which we, as Canadians, form an important part. We are enjoying peace and plenty while other countries have had some very terrible wars. However, we hope the day is far distant when our people will have to engage in war and bloodshed.

We held our regular meetings at Ennismore and Lakefield on December 1st and 2nd. Our audiences were small, owing largely to inclement weather. At the former place we had an audience of 40 in the afternoon and 160 in the evening. At Lakefield the number present was 55 in the afternoon and 150 in the evening. The delegates sent by the Department were Messrs. Paget and Denyes. In addition to these were our local speakers, Messrs. Smith, Peck and Elliott, McDowell and Gillespie. We had good meetings, although the attendance was small at both places.

The supplementary meetings were held on February 10th, 11th and 12th under very trying circumstances as the mercury was playing along at from 23 to 32 below zero. Hence our meetings were small, but they were good, and we cannot speak too highly of the delegates, Messrs. Murphy and James. At the 4th line the attendance was only one hundred, and thirty-eight at Stewart's Hall. We only held the evening meeting with thirty-five in attendance at Buckhorn, or Hall's Bridge. In the afternoon twelve were in attendance and in the evening eighteen came out.

Now, owing to our small meetings, as explained before, our membership has fallen off very materially, and we are at a loss to know how to increase it, as it is impossible for the executive to keep things going without the help of the other directors. We are sorry that the Women's Institute at Lakefield have discontinued holding their meetings.

We decided, along with East Durham and East and West Peterborough to run the Farmers' Institute excursion to Guelph, which we have done, but owing to the fact that the railways, making their rates for excursion so high, we had a very small excursion, and Prof. Creelman says it will be advisable to cease running them until the railway management realize that they are discriminating against their best friends and patrons.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. COLLINS,
Sec.-Treas.

THE COMPENSATION ACT

Great Measure Introduced by Whitney Government Comes Into Effect on Return to Power

On May 1st, 1914, there was placed on the Statute Books of Ontario the Workmen's Compensation Act. It is admitted on all hands that the Act is the most advanced piece of legislation that has yet been enacted in any province of the Dominion, or in any State of the Union, or any of the countries of the Old World.

Some of the salient features of the Act are as follows:—

(1). If a workman is injured he is entitled in every case to compensation, unless the injury was caused solely by his serious and wilful misconduct, and even where the injury was caused solely by his serious and wilful misconduct, compensation must still be paid if the injury results in death or serious disablement.

(2). There is no waiting period during which no compensation is payable. It is true that the injury must last more than seven days, but if it does the compensation dates back to the date of the injury.

In most states and countries a definite period, generally of at least two weeks, is fixed during which no compensation is payable.

(3). All law suits are done away with. The workman simply sends his claim to the Board. The Board receives a report from its local official, and awards the compensation without ever seeing the workman or his employer. Nothing is deducted from the compensation to pay costs.

(4). The compensation cannot be garnisheed or attached by a creditor.

(5). The scale of compensation is generous—

1. Where the injury results in death.
   - $75 for burial expenses.
   - $20 monthly to widow and $5 monthly for each child under 16.
   - $10 monthly to each child where there is no widow.
   - If the widow marries again she gets a lump sum equal to the per cent. of his average total of the weekly payments for two years.
2. Where a workman is permanently disabled he receives a weekly payment during his lifetime equal to 55 per cent. of his weekly earnings.

Under most laws there is a limit to the total amount which a workman may receive, but under the Ontario Act there is no limit fixed, because he receives 55 per cent. of his wages as long as he lives. If his wages run as high as $2,000, and he lives forty years after his injury, he will have received a total of $44,000.

(6). Payment of compensation out of the Accident Fund is practically guaranteed to the workman by the province provision being made for payment out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario wherever the Accident Fund runs short, and the Board is also required to raise, by assessments on the employers, reserve funds sufficient to meet all future payments for compensation. The province contributes annually $100,000 towards the cost of administering the Act, and a further $26,000 to pay the salaries of the members of the Board.

Suffragette Chained To Statue.

LONDON, June 18. — A militant suffragette yesterday created a diversion in the centre of the city by chaining herself to the statue of the Duke of Wellington in front of the Royal Exchange. She then shouted on the passing business men calling on them to intervene in behalf of the imprisoned women. She was eventually removed by the police amid the jeers of a large crowd.

Not Very Much.

"I always sympathize with the under dog."

"Do you?"

"Yes."

"Did he ever notice it?"

Right, Oh!

"Well?"

"He need never fear being buried alive."

"Dead one now, is he?"

Lesson XII.—Second Quarter, For June 21, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark x, 17-31. Memory Verses, 25-27—Golden Text, Luke xvi, 13—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Our lessons for many weeks have been found only in Luke's gospel, but now we have one recorded with nearly equal fullness in Matthew, Mark and Luke. Why the committee should turn to Mark instead of Luke I cannot tell, but we will look at the harmony of the three records. The preceding passage concerning the little children is also found in these three gospels, but a little more fully in Mark, for he tells us that Jesus was much displeased with His disciples and also that He took the children up in His arms and blessed them (Mark x, 14, 16). Both Matthew and Mark say that He put His hands upon them. We shall not understand the lesson of today concerning the rich young ruler unless we get first that main thought concerning the children.

If the number of times that an event is recorded gives an idea of its importance these two items concerning the children and the young man must be of special importance and those recorded in each of the four gospels of still greater importance. The other records of this lesson are in Matt. xix, 16-30; Luke xviii, 18-30. Mark alone tells us that Jesus had gone forth into the way and that the young man came running and kneeled to Him. As in the case of Zaccheus, he was certainly in earnest and had no thought of his dignity as a rich man, for he ran and kneeled on the road. The next item is nearly the same in each record. "Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?" as is also our Lord's reply: "Why callest thou Me good? There is none good but one; that is God." If to this young man Jesus was God, then he should be willing to submit fully to Him. If He was not God He was not good and should not be so addressed. All who now profess to receive Jesus Christ as a good teacher, but will not believe that He is truly God, should side with the Pharisees and utterly reject Him for making Himself equal with God (John v, 18; x, 33).

The young man's question reminds us of another under different circumstances "What shall we do that we might work the words of God?" (John vi, 28.) Our Lord brought the young man face to face with the commandments with the desire to convince him of sin, that He might bestow upon him freely the eternal life which he seemed to be seeking so eagerly, but he did not see himself as a sinner and thought that he had kept all the commandments from his youth up. The heart of our Lord went out greatly to him, and Mark says that "Jesus, beholding him, loved him" (verse 21). Because He loved him He sought still further to convince him of sin, and by asking him to sell all he had and give to the poor he would show him that instead of keeping all the commandments he was continually breaking the first one by thinking more of his earthly possessions than of God, who gave them to him, and that while he seemed to want life eternal he really wanted his present possessions more than treasure in heaven and his present life in a mortal body was more to him than the life beyond. Only in Mark do we find that Jesus said to him, "Take up the cross." The cross means dying to self and wealth and all that comes between us and God, and he was not ready for it. It was a hard proposition, but the Lord Jesus knew his man, for He knew all men, and it was the only way to deal frankly with this man.

Not many congregations or ministers or sessions or committees would deal in this way with a rich, moral young man today. Many would be only too glad to receive him and be careful not to ask him too many questions for fear of offending him. Some would be glad to take him in for the sake of his wealth and influence and ask him no questions. But our Lord saw the value of his soul rather than all else and never sought wealth or favor from any one. He came to give, not to receive, and the only way to obtain eternal life is to come empty, helpless, believing, and receive the Lord Jesus, in whom alone is life, as the free gift of God to every truly seeking soul (John i, 12; iii, 16; iv, 10; v, 24; vi, 47; Rom. iii, 24; vi, 23; I John ix, 11, 12). It is impossible to obtain it by works or wealth (Rom. iv, 5; Ps. xlix, 6, 7).

It is next to impossible for a self righteous or wealthy person to obtain eternal life, for it is so difficult for such to see or realize the need or emptiness in reference to things eternal. Yet Zaccheus was a rich man, and Saul of Tarsus was a self righteous man, and both became truly saved. "With God all things are possible."

Peter now comes to the front by saying: "Behold, we have forsaken all and followed Thee. What shall we have therefor?" Matthew, Mark and Luke each record the reply concerning the hundredfold now and in the world to come life. In Mark it reads, "for my sake and the gospels," but in Luke "for the kingdom of God's sake." The gospel is the way to the kingdom, so it is virtually the same. Mark also adds "with persecutions," and if we are wholly for God in this present time we will find it true that "all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution" (II Tim. iii, 12). In Matthew only do we find mention of the twelve thrones for the twelve apostles, but Luke records the same on a later occasion (Lu. xxii, 30).

Messrs. J. Huffman and G. Andrews accompanied by Miss M. P. Williams and Miss Mabel Andrews motored to Toronto on Thursday last.

Misses Lillian Reynolds and Ethel Taylor of Toronto are visiting at their homes here.

Mrs. R. G. Lawlor has returned from Trenton where she attended the convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church as a delegate from the local branch.

Mr. L. C. Pattricks of Winnipeg spent a few days in town last week.

Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh and Miss J. Manson of Toronto are visiting at the home of the former's son, Mr. J. E. Roxburgh.

A number of local young people attended the opening of the Pavillion at Trent River on Monday night.

Mr. V. Hay of Campbellford was in town on Sunday.

Misses Vandervort and Riley of Havelock were in town on Monday evening.

The local lacrosse boys were defeated in a game with the Havelock ten on Friday evening, the score being 7-2.

Mrs. A. B. Greenbank and Miss Lillian visited in Peterboro on Monday.

Mr. S. McBride of Peterboro spent Saturday in town, in the interests of the Peter Hamilton machinery.

The death occurred on Tuesday of last week of Mr. Alexander McGee, a well known and respected citizen of the village in his 70th year. The funeral which was very largely attended was held on Thursday last, Rev. G. A. Copeland officiating. A family of nine grown up children and a sorrowing wife are left to mourn the loss of a loving father and a devoted husband.

Mr. Geo. Isles has resigned his position as baggageman at C.P.R. station and Mr. Karn Hendren has taken his position.

Mr. Nelson Beavis of Hastings was in town on Saturday.

E. J. Laing, local dealer for the John Deer farm machinery held a demonstration of the John Deer low down spreader in Norwood last Saturday. Many farmers looked over the machine and were almost unanimous in the opinion that the spreader with "the beater on the side" is the best they had seen.

Mr. Harold Elliott who was awarded the contract of the cement walk on Ridge St., is engaged with a gang of men putting down the walk this week. He has about half the walk completed and appears to be doing a very creditable job.

On Saturday evening of this week a temperance mass meeting will be held in the Norwood Town Hall. An election campaign is a good thing for Norwood as it increases considerably the revenue from hall rents.

The Public Library Board has the matter of a Carnegie grant for a free library well under way. It is expected a vote of the ratepayers will soon be taken with the object of having the village assume the library. A public meeting will be held some time in the near future to put the matter before the people so that they may be able to vote on the by-law intelligently.

Quite a number of our young men left here on Monday morning to attend the military camp at Petawawa.

The farmers in this vicinity are busy putting in their statute labor.

Motorists will find the roads in many places quite unpleasant on account of the fresh gravel which has been applied.

Strawberries are being harvested but unless we have some good showers at once the crop will be short.

BIGGEST FLOATING DOCK ON PACIFIC READY THIS YEAR

It is expected that the Grand Trunk Pacific authorities will have the big dry dock at Prince Rupert in operation before the end of the present year. The completion of this great work will mean much to Northern British Columbia and especially to Prince Rupert. That rapidly growing city will have a new industry this coming winter. Many of the big coast steamers that have hitherto been compelled to make their headquarters elsewhere will be overhauled in its harbor. It will be able to boast of the largest floating dock on the Pacific with an equipment including every up-to-date device for handling ships up to 20,000 tons. There are four large buildings to house the various sections of the ship building and repairing plant and practically all the machinery to equip the shops has been made in Canada.

The yard will have a 45 ton locomotive crane. Other machinery includes an 80 foot lathe, capable of turning a steel shaft 50 feet in length; a plate bending machine with a capacity of bending a sheet of steel twenty feet by three-quarters of an inch thick; a big steam hammer and four air compressors. The machine shop, boiler shop and blacksmith shop will have the most complete set of modern tools on the coast.

Adjoining the dock along the face of the harbor are the big new wharves and the railroad has large freight yards here.

For a city that dates back only to 1906, when the Grand Trunk Pacific's staff of engineers made a landing and clearing for the location of their camp preparatory to making the preliminary survey, this is a record of progress that it would be hard to equal.

Villa's Men Seize Telegraphs.

EL PASO, Texas, June 17.—The bureau of information and the telegraph office at Juarez in control of Carranza officials, were taken over forcefully last night by soldiers under Col. Tomas Arnelas, military commander of Juarez, and a Villa supporter.

Just after the bureau of information had announced to the press the receipt of a message from the front above Zacatecas, Arnelas' soldiers entered the telegraph office and the bureau and ordered that no paper be touched. These soldiers, in personal command of the Juarez commander, shortly before had taken over supervision of the telegraph office adjoining the bureau.

Italy Regaining Equilibrium.

ROME, June 17.—Italy, which last week was facing revolutionary risings in various parts of the kingdom, has apparently come back to a normal state of affairs. The threatened strike of the railwaymen and the general strike, which included only a comparatively small section of the working people, seem to have come to a definite ending and resumption of work everywhere has served to re-establish normal conditions.

Immense material damage has been done; a few persons have been killed and many wounded; possibly fifty of those caught red-handed in acts of violence have already been convicted and many others under arrest are awaiting trial.

Bennet Burleigh Is Dead.

LONDON, June 18.—The death occurred yesterday of Bennet Burleigh, oldest and most widely known of war correspondents. A Scotsman, born in Glasgow nearly seventy years ago, he early followed the drum, for he joined the ranks of the Confederates in the Civil War and fought through the entire campaign, being twice captured and sentenced to death by the Northern troops.

Later he turned to newspaper work and reported a number of campaigns for a news agency. In 1882 he began the connection with The London Daily Telegraph, which lasted till his death.

Fishing Vessel Foundered.

ST. PIERRE, Miq., June 18.—The foundering of the French fishing vessel Pere Jacques of St. Servan, became known yesterday when the St. Malo brigantine Jeanne came into port with 25 men of the Pere Jacques' crew. The vessel sprang a leak on the grand banks and sank Friday.

The Pere Jacques was a wooden barquentine, built at Nantes in 1877, and registered 160 tons net.

ATHLETICS WERE HELD BACK WHILE PETES WERE POUNDING OUT VICTORY

Schettler's Pitching Was Too Much for Yatesmen and Bloantmen Cleaned up the Series

Louie Schettler's masterly heaving had the Athletics completely baffled at Hamilton yesterday, and the Petes cleaned up on the series and made their record for the last nine games read seven wins and two losses. It is on to Brantford to-day, and a win of the series will surely remove us from the cellar. Schettler was opposed by Dr. Yates, and the Petes connected safely ten times. Blount had three pokes, one of which was a triple, while Stewart had two, one a double, and Welsh two. The other swatsmiths were Byrne, Gorman and Miller.

The despatch from Hamilton says:

Hamilton, June 18. — Hamilton dropped the fifth game in two consecutive series to Peterboro, when the latter won yesterday's game by a 4-1 score. The credit for the winning of the game is entirely due to the excellent pitching of Schettler, who allowed only three singles during the entire contest. The Petes fared a little better with Manager Dr. Yates, who did mound duty for the Athletics. Ten hits were secured off his delivery, which included a double and a triple. Six of these came in the fourth and eighth periods, during which time the Petes counted their runs. The features of the games were two nice double-plays pulled off by the Petes, while a triple by Blount and Stewart's double also added to the excitement of the day.

BOBBY ROBINSON CHANGES TUNE AND BOOSTS CURLY BLOUNT

Hamilton Spectator.

Some were of the opinion that the Petes were a lively outfit. Lively with their tongues is about right. If they were all possessed of the earnestness which marks Dad Stewart's efforts, they wouldn't be down in eighth position. The veteran takes each game with all seriousness, and is a good example to the younger element on the team.

The best ball player the Petes have got is Curly Blount, who is putting up a brilliant article of ball, even though weighed down with the managerial cares. Same cares are never light with a tail-end outfit. Miler, Byrne, King and Fox have all played good ball in the present series, but Welsh in left field and Gorman, particularly the latter, have been very weak. Blount's greatest need seems to be that of a first baseman. Gorman is the worst seen here this year. Blount could do worse than give Art Dolan a trial.

HAMS. HELD THE DRAFTING ROOM TO SMALL SCORE

C.G.E. Nine Won Mercantile Fixture by 3 to 1

STILL ANOTHER ROSE

The mid-week fixture in the Mercantile League last night in which the Drafting Room and the Wm. Hamilton Co. met in battle resulted in a win for the C.G.E. by a score of 3-1. The Hams opened wih a counter in the first but their opponents sent three across in the second and from then till the end of the fifth both teams went scoreless. Lornie Rose was on the slab for the Hams and with a little better support should have won. This is the third time a Rose has been on the mound for the Hams. The opener with the De Laval was twirled by Gus Rose; the game with the Typos a younger brother "Abbie" was worked and last night Lornie another one of the family was on the rubber. That's pretty nearly a record.

Paddy Gorman, formerly of East City but now a peaceful resident of the south ward was in the box for the men of fine art and showed good form. When "Mordecai" is at himself he's hard to beat.

The teams :—

Hams—Ahern r., Murphy 2b., Ross c., Rose p., Giroux s.s., Condon 1., Murty m., Neary 3b., Crane 1b.

Draftsmen—Stanton c., Gorman p., Walker 1b., Olson 2b., Barrie s.s., Jackson 3b., Henderson 1., Metheral r.f., Cranfield m.

Umpire—Andrews.

JIMMIE DIRECT AND MONTALVO FIRST DAY WINNERS AT LOCAL MEET

Some good racing was furnished at the opening of the local meet of the Central Ontario Racing Association at exhibition park yesterday afternoon. Although the feature race which was the 2.15 class was a walk over for Jimmy Direct the competition for second and third places was keen. Jimmy Direct had a perfect day and the stallion did not break once nor show any signs of doing so. Montell and Susie Hall fought it out for second place and staged a merry battle in each heat with Montell getting the place twice. In the 2.30 class My Girl hopped out in front in the first heat and won rather easily from Ora Medium who seemed to be under restraint. In the other heats My Girl broke very badly and Montalvo had little opposition and won quite handily over Ora Medium who performed fine but could not seem to catch the big bay. The place was given to My Girl. The time set was very good in both events although when the judges continued to announce the same time in three heats of the 2.30 and two in the other event the people in the stand began to think that the timer was using an eight day clock. The track was in fairly good shape and although Dr. Sinclair had some difficulty in getting the bangtails away from the post the starts were very good.

Summary.

2.30 Class, Pace.

Montalvo (Hodgins, Orillia) 3 1 1 1.

COMMENT

As You Like It

Yesterday's win thinned the breach between the cellar and out of it. While the Petes were rubbing it in at Hamilton Knotty Lee's Beavers booted away a game to the Brants and the locals are now but one game and a half behind the Beavers. There is also but fifty points or a matter of three games between fifth and last place so the situation does not look as hopeless as it did a few weeks ago.

Today the Petes open a three game series with Rube Deneau's Brants. The Dykeville crew have not been going any too good and as the Petes seem to be fielding in snappier style and hitting the pill with more consistency they should cop the series. The pitching staff is going very good although Creswell and Tracey are complaining of sore wings. Stark formerly with Erie and latterly of Hamilton has been signed and will be carried until the pitching squad is fit.

St. Thomas are looming up as a serious contender. They took two out of three from Ottawa. London again beat Erie by a one run margin the Cockneys seeming to be the fortunate team in the close struggles. Ottawa hits Erie today while London will be entertained by Knotty Lee. St. Thomas pairs with Hamilton. The Saints have yet to win a game from the Athletics.

The racing provided at the exhibition track yesterday was worthy of a larger patronage. Although Jimmy Direct practically walked away with the 2.15 class there was keen competition for place and show and every heat proved enjoyable. One book operated and the boys broke about even with the maker.

Baseball may claim the highest prestige among the sport lovers of the continent but when it comes to raking in the sheckles in a hurry, hats off to polo. In the two games played between the British and Americans the total receipts totalled about $200,000. The expenses amounted to $50,000 so each team will receive $75,000. Lord Wimborne who financed the British team is said to have won $14,000 on the matches.

That old crippled up guy without any wing by the name of Mathewson let Pittsburg down with five hits yesterday and the Giants won by the shut out route.

Dunn's Baltimore Orioles have been sold. The club will be transferred to Richmond, Va. It is stated that the best of Dunn's club will be sent to the big leagues which means that the Richmond club will not be as strong as the present team of Birds. The invasion of Oysterville by the Feds is responsible for the sale and change in the Barrow circuit.

FORESTERS' FIELD DAY

Over 600 Visitors in the City To-day

Over 600 people from Bowmanville, Port Hope, Belleville, Trenton, Oshawa, Cobourg, Campbellford and other points assembled here to-day, the occasion being the second annual Field Day held by the Ancient Order of Foresters. The guests arrived in the city about ten o'clock this morning. The morning was spent in a trip over the Lift Lock and viewing other places of interest. The Port Hope Court were accompanied by the Port Hope Band, while the Bowmanville Court were accompanied by the Dominion Organ and Piano Band. The 57th Band also turned out for occasion and paraded.

The afternoon was devoted to a trip over the Lift Lock and a monster parade to Riverside Park at 2.30, where an excellent program of sports was run off.

Mayor Buller extended a hearty welcome to the city, as did also Ald. Stratton and Messrs. R. J. Soden and G. A. Gillespie.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARD MISS BROAD

Told of Travels and Work in Heathen Lands

A large audience heard a most interesting address at George Street Methodist Church last evening on the work which is being done to civilize the heathen and the customs of the heathen, delivered by Miss Lucy Broad who has spent time and travel in the work. Miss Broad was attired in a Korean bridal costume. Her remarks were chiefly of a missionary nature. They proved instructive in every sense. She told of the tortures the missionary endured in the foreign lands and how they had triumphed after severe trials. In Korea the Church had been successful in partially wiping out the liquor traffic evil. One of the principles of the Korean religion was total abstinence. The speaker cited a case where one of the church members had taken a drink but had been barred from the church until he faithfully pledged himself not to take another. One of the principles of the faith was that the Church member should not touch liquor, another was that he or she must show proof of their belief in God and another that no Christian should marry a non-Christian. On one occasion a Christian church member married a woman who had not been accepted in the church. He was struck off the roll until such time as his wife had qualified herself a member. The speaker stated that there were no bars or drinking places in the country but numerous distilleries were being operated.

The speaker also explained how readily the foreigner was taking up the work of God. The missionary field was still a vast one and numerous places had not been touched but the workers were making great progress notwithstanding the opposition supplied by the bodies opposed to Christianity. A free will offering was taken up and a neat sum realized for Miss Broad, which she will use to carry on her work. She will leave Canada in ten days for the foreign field after having covered about 25,000 miles during her career as an evangelist for the cause of missions.

AMERICAN VISITORS APPRECIATE THIS CANADIAN HOTEL

Mr. A. T. Folger, the Resident Manager, receives many appreciative letters from visitors from the United States commenting on the excellence of the service and the magnificent equipment of the Chateau Laurier at Ottawa. Here is a letter just received from the Vice-President of one of the large corporations in the middle west of the United States:—

"I recently had the pleasure of stopping at the Chateau Laurier and received from my room clerk the usual room card showing the number of my room and the rate per day. I note on the reverse side of this card a statement that if anything in connection with the management of your hotel was not satisfactory to call it to your notice. I am merely writing to say to you that it has never been my pleasure to stay at a hotel where I was treated with such uniform courtesy as I received while a guest at your house. I feel that everything was so pleasant and the service so excellent and the room so clean and the employees so courteous that I must congratulate you upon being able to operate such a splendid hotel."

ANTI-BAR TICKET

Toronto Alderman Will Run in Riverside

TORONTO, June 18. — Following upon the retirement from the campaign of Mr. Doughty, who declared himself an abolish-the-bar candidate after his nomination as a straight Conservative candidate, the temperance advocates of Riverdale last night, nominated Ald. W. W. Hiltz to carry their banner in the coming election. The contest is made more piquant by the fact that the temperance standard-bearer is a Conservative in politics. A big meeting was held in Armstrong's Hall last night and several names were put into nomination, three of them Conservatives. Mr. Hiltz at first withdrew but finally allowed his name to stand.

"Gentlemen," he said after his nomination, "I am a Conservative and must follow the dictates of my conscience. I care not whether my leader be N. W. Rowell or Sir James Whitney. I will favor any form of legislation that will put an end to the liquor traffic."

LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE

REV. MR. POGUE'S REPLY.

Editor Review:

Dear Sir:—I crave space in your columns in which to make reply to the letters of Elector and Mr. Soden in to-day's Review. I shall deal first with the letter of Mr. Soden. Mr. Soden repeats the misrepresentation of Mr. Gillespie's position which Elector made in his letter of a few days ago. I repeat again that Mr. Gillespie did sign all the questions submitted to Mr. Soden, and that these questions included the one referring to the abolition of shop licenses. When the Temperance deputation waited on him the question was put to him point blank: "Suppose the Whitney Government should be returned to power, and suppose they should 'go one better' than the Rowell party and should introduce legislation including all three, bar-room, shop and club licenses, would you, if elected, even though your party should oppose you, vote with the Whitney Government in favor of the abolition of the shop licenses?" His answer to this question was without equivocation: "Yes, I would, in that case, vote against my party in favour of the doing away of shops." I hope that is clear enough for Mr. Soden.

But again, in Mr. Gillespie's appeal to the electors, which is being circulated in printed form, he includes the word "shops." Mr. Soden charges me with making a statement which is not correct. He gives the statement and then adds: "Mr. Gillespie did not say any such thing." Let us see which of us is right. I quote again from Mr. Gillespie's printed appeal and which is scattered broadcast over the city and county. His words are: "I will vote with either political party on every possible occasion for the abolition of the open bar, club licenses, shop licenses, and all other legislation looking for the restriction and abolition of the liquor traffic." Here is a something which I should like the editor of the Review or Mr. Soden to explain. Mr. Soden quotes from a letter which appeared in the Review, written by the Temperance Association, and which appeared in the Examiner of the same date. In the original copy of that letter the word "shops" occurs. It also appears in the same letter in the Examiner. It does not appear in the article in the Review, for whose insertion the Temperance people agreed to pay at the regular advertising rates. I should like an explanation and so would your readers of this omission. Was it deliberate and of malice aforethought? Surely if politicians can descend to such methods as this, it is nearly time that Christian men should enter politics and attempt to clean things up. Your readers will now see which of us is wrong, Mr. Soden or myself, in our statement of Mr. Gillespie's Temperance Creed.

And now for Mr. Soden's Temperance position. Elector says that it is due to the electors that men of the standing of Mr. Peever and Mr. Pogue should place side by side in short paragraphs the aims of Sir James Whitney and Mr. Soden, and Mr. Rowell and Mr. Gillespie. If you, Mr. Editor, will publish these statements as I shall now give them there will be no need to continue this discussion further, for Temperance people will see how impossible, absurd and useless, for the Temperance people of Peterboro, Mr. Soden's position is.

For the city of Peterboro, Sir James Whitney's program is twelve open bars, three shop and one club licenses. On two occasions, by an overwhelming majority, the Temperance people of Peterborough have tried to change this condition, but have been hindered by the three-fifths handicap. Sir James Whitney refuses to do anything for us beyond what we now have. What is Mr. Soden's position? He stands for the abolition of all three, bar-room, shop and club licenses. But of what use is his stand for his constituency when he has no one in his party to stand with him? Sir James Whitney will not stand with him. He asks, therefore, that the Temperance people of this city and riding send him up to Toronto as their representative to do a thing which he knows in his heart he is unable to do. I stand for the abolition of all three, as does Mr. Soden, and for the abolition of the breweries and distilleries besides. But could I secure this legislation if I were sent to Toronto as your representative and as a member of the Whitney Government? No more than Mr. Soden can secure that for which he now professes to stand. If the Temperance people vote for Mr. Soden, they vote for a man, who, if elected, and who, if the Whitney Government is returned to power, can do nothing to wipe out the twelve bars and the three shop and club licenses which exist in this city.

What now is the position of Mr. Rowell and Mr. Gillespie? If Mr. Gillespie is elected and Mr. Rowell returned to power all three drinking places will be wiped out in the city of Peterboro. Its bar-room and club licenses will be wiped out by special legislation introduced for that purpose. And its shop licenses will be wiped out by a straight majority vote of the citizens of Peterboro. Mr. Gillespie can therefore redeem his promise when he goes to Toronto, for he goes there as a member of a Government whose legislation for the city of Peterboro covers all three evils and will succeed in wiping out all three.

And what about all Ontario? If Rowell is elected, 1300 bar-rooms will be closed, 57 club licenses, and fully one-fourth of the 215 shops now in existence would be wiped out. There has been a great deal of misrepresentation on the part of many of your correspondents, and in the Tory press, on Mr. Rowell's relation to shops. Rowell's policy will reduce the number of shops we now have. We have now 1300 bars, 57 clubs and 215 shops engaged in this deadly work of making drunkards. Does any sane man believe that a reduced number of shops with bar-rooms and club licenses wiped out, can do as much evil as 215 shops, plus 1300 bars, plus 57 drinking clubs? Come, Mr. Soden, be honest, and answer me this question.

ROBT. POGUE.

Readers of Mr. Pogue's letter would be inclined to think the Review had "doctored" the letter of the Temperance Association. This is not the case. Mr. Cowan passed the proof as it appeared in the Review, which is not responsible for any omissions that may have occurred.—Ed.

MR. LEADER WRITES.

Editor Review:

Dear Sir:—In your issue of this evening, in a letter signed "Total Abstainer," who states he is a Conservatives, but differs from me in his views on Temperance. Well, sir, that is possible and his privilege. I do not expect every one to share my views at any time, especially when an election is pending. But from his letter I very much doubt whether he has all the material at hand to enable him to judge the matter clearly. Mr. Soden has contrived with a cloud of words to so confuse an issue which appears to plain men like myself to be an exceptionally clear cut one, that I am not surprised to find men who do not get all the facts at first hand, hard beset to know the rights and the wrongs of it. Would Mr. Soden mind for the benefits of such men answering the following questions.

1. Why he will pledge himself privately as he has, to myself and others, to vote for the abolition of the bar, shop and club licenses, either together or separate, and yet persistenly refuse to promise this vote publicly?

2. Is he free to give such a pledge if he so wishes.

3. How can he vote conscientiously to abolish the bar and the club which he stated to me he would do if he failed to get the word shop inserted and yet believes as per his telegram to the Toronto Star, 13th inst., "I am for abolition of shops as well as bars and clubs and regard Rowell's policy as even more dangerous to true temperance than the present arrangement. Will any impartial thinking man say we have any hope of support for temperance measures except such as may be brought forward by the Conservative Government from Mr. Soden.

As temperance men we cannot with a great cause at stake and an opportunity such as we have today, we cannot I say afford to be hoodwinked or fooled. It is a clear cut issue and only a clear cut answer would satisfy us. This Mr. Gillespie gave out and Mr. Soden refused, and as impartial men we had no option but to do as we did and I feel we have the right to ask all voters who have the temperance cause at heart to vote for Gillespie on June 29th.

Yours, etc.,
GEO. LEADER.

HAS A KNOCK FOR COMPENSATION ACT.

Editor Review,

Sir,—G. G. S. Lindsey, K.C., of Toronto, who is touring with Mr. Rowell, took a slap at the Workmen's Compensation Act, while speaking at Kingston the other evening. No doubt the Act as formulated is rather distasteful to Mr. Lindsay, who is cut out of exhorbitant fees taken from the pockets of the working man.

Freddie Bancroft had his eyes open when helping with this piece of legislation and cut out any chance of these "money suckers" from gobbling up everything in the shape of damages to the injured workman.

It looks to me as if this same Mr. Lindsey is following up Mr. Rowell, not as an endorser of his policy, but with the view that, if by some mishap Rowell should wiggle into power, he will have a chance, backed up by Mr. Wegenast and the manufacturers, of opening up this matter again and slaughter the whole bill.

Mr. Lindsey had better stick with the side show "Abolish the bar."

MADE HUERTA ANGRY

VERA CRUZ, June 18. — British subjects who arrived here from Mexico City yesterday report a recent clash between Provisional President Huerta and Sir Lionel Carden, the British Minister.

The dispute arose out of the advice volunteered by Sir Lionel that the President should resign and leave the country immediately. The British Minister also offered Huerta a British safe conduct and a warship to take him away to any port he might name, together with his family.

Huerta is said to have threatened to arrest Sir Lionel if he ever repeated the proposal.

Yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Stallibres, while putting a patent preparation on the floor, she apparently put a vessel containing the mixture on a stove to melt. ## THREE FINES OF $7.60

Motorists Appear Before Magistrate Dumble

That the Police Court intend carrying out the traffic regulations was evident from this morning's Police Court when three motorists appeared before Magistrate Dumble for infraction of the traffic by-law. Each was fined $7.60.

"These fellows say they don't think. They will think when they kill a person and we are going to enforce this by-law," remarked Magistrate Dumble.

HE CHEERED THE BOERS.

During Mr. Lindsey's speech at the Opera House last night he referred to a streamer which was strung across the curtain with the following words on it :

"Rowell, the Lloyd George of Ontario."

"Yes, he is the Lloyd George. Did you ever hear the story of Lloyd George ?"

"Yes, I heard him cheer the Boers at a meeting in Birmingham," shouted one of the audience. Loud cheers followed.

Mr. Lindsey then proceeded to tell his story which was something about Lloyd George climbing into a hay mow to escape from some women whom he had taken sides against on a question up for friendly debate.

CAPACITY HOUSE GREETS THE LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION

Mr. Rowell Deals Particularly With the Question of Temperance---He Makes Promises--- Local Candidate Made Short Speech

There was a splendid audience in the Opera House last night to hear the leader of the Liberal party, N. W. Rowell, speak on the policy of that party in the present campaign. The audience was very orderly there being but few interruptions and really no questions asked of the speakers. Mr. Gillespie spoke very briefly and was disappointing to his supporters who expected a more vigorous and extended statement from their candidate. Mr. Anderson did not make any speech merely thanking the meeting for support. Mr. Lindsey spoke at some length criticizing the record of the Whitney Government. As was expected Mr. Rowdelivered the main address and acquitted himself well. He was given an attentive hearing.

The chairman, J. J. Hartley, called the meeting to order as soon as it was thought auspicious. He said it was gratifying to see the Opera House so well filled and that he hoped they all felt in favor of abolishing the bar. The question was before the people for a considerable time. He hoped they would support a leader respected by all and that they would give him power to do his duty. He then called on Mr. G. G. S. Lindsey of Toronto, to address the audience.

He said he had just been reading a note handed him by the editor of the Examiner that this was the anniversary of the battle of Waterloo. The memory should bring to every man and woman great emotions for it was that day that settled the destinies of Europe. It recalled the battle of Trafalgar where Nelson displayed his famous signal that England expects every man to do his duty, and he hoped that every elector would do his duty on the 29th of June.

Mr. Lindsey claimed that the Conservatives had gerrymandered the Province and referred to only two or three constituencies, Riverdale, where Mr. Doughty retired, Cochrane where he said the candidate did not suit Mr. Hanna and Essex where Dr. Reaume did not secure the nomination. He offered a place in the Liberal fold to Mr. Peck and would not ask him any awkward questions.

The speaker was somewhat confused on the place of residence of Mr. Flavelle who comes from Lindsay and read an extract from a letter of Mr. Flavelle's brother J. W. of Toronto to Mr. Hanna when he resigned as License Commissioner for Toronto several years ago. The speaker set forth that the commissioners wanted to administer the License Act in a non-partizan manner but that the Government desired otherwise.

"Pot calling the kettle black," chimed in a voice from the audience.

"That's a fair question," said the speaker, "but will my friend explain what he means by it ?"

"You ought to know sir." (Laughter.)

"What is the party going to do ? It is going to abolish the bar. Will you vote for it ?"

"No sir !" (Calls for Rowell).

Mr. Lindsey referred to the Scott Act that came up in three counties of Ontario last January and said that the Government did not want the legislation passed and made no inquiry into charges. He claimed that in the office of a Mr. Spencer it was explained that it was undesirable to pass the Canada Temperance Act and his challenge to Mr. Hanna was unanswered.

Why was there an election now, costing in the neighborhood of $100,000 to pull off ? Perhaps they did not want to face the Snider charges. Perhaps Hanna wanted the mantle of Sir James Whitney. They don't say they have any policy. They have the supoprt of Mr. Rowell for the Hydro-Electric and for the Workmen's Compensation Act up to a certain point. Why an election ? They talk about their record, of Liberal deficits and Conservative surpluses. Mr. Lindsey then proved to his own satisfaction the inaccuries in certain Conservative campaign pamphlets and tried to show that there was no surplus and no Liberal deficits. He referred to page 36 of the Public Accounts for 1904 and stated that it showed a revenue of $6,128,000 less a cash balance of $151,000 and not four and a half millions as stated in the pamphlet. On page 169 for 1913 the revenue was $11,188,000 less a cash balance of $149,000. He said the Dominion Government gave roughly two million dollars to the Ontario Government which had added in the account interest on it four years when neither principal nor interest should have been there. Accounts were chopped in two at convenient points and they had spent not $10,860,000 but $16,091,000 in 1913 which left them no surplus. They had increased the public debt from eleven million in 1904 to forty million in 1913. That's going some.

Now, how are they spending this money ? the speaker asked. There is the new Government House near the jail on the Don flats. A residence costing $50,000 or $100,000 would be an expensive enough place for the Lieut-Governor, but this one costs nearly a million. Then the committee for revising the statutes which cost $80,000 in Sir Oliver Mowat's time in eight years costs $273,000. The grant for rural schools he stated was cut 28 per cent. Mr. Lindsey's voice broke into a high note here which called for some merriment and he went on to say that a timber limit of 185,000 acres had been purchased for $185,000 that had very little good timber on it. You've got to be a friend of the Government to get a square deal. They have suborned the constitution so that the people have not control of the money. They borrowed $5,000,000 for development in New Ontario when they spent only $400,000 and did not need any more and diverted the money to other uses.

The people should arouse themselves. He was going to make way for another speaker (claps). You have two splendid candidates. He wanted Rowell for the next Premier who was a clean open man with no doubt about his standing. Mr. Rowell had every clergyman behind him. This was the church's fight and Rowell was going to be the next Prime Minister of Ontario.

The Candidate Speaks.

G. A. Gillespie the candidate in the west riding lauded the work of Adam Beck and the Conservative Hydro-Electric Commisison and the good they had accomplished. He stated that it was through no fault of the Liberal party that the temperance question was being made an issue in the present election. Mr. Rowell had offered to work hand in hand with Premier Whitney for advanced temperance legislation. Temperance was however the most important question all over the riding. Referring to Mr. Soden the speaker stated that he went one further than the Rowell policy and would abolish the shop also. The abolishment of the bar and clubs was all that the temperance people asked of Mr. Rowell and had they asked for more he would have advocated it.

G. A. GILLESPIE
The Liberal candidate in West Peterboro.

"Adam Beck is a man I greatly admire. He and his colleagues have done wonderful work for the people of the province with the Hydro development. I think he is sincere in what he does."

The above words were cheered loudly by the audience which concurred with the speaker in all the nice things he said of the Conservative party's Hydro-Electric policy.

Mr. Anderson the candidate for the east riding hardly spoke above a whisper. He said he did not come to the city to make a speech. He was receiving the support of Liberals and Conservatives in the riding and expected to win.

The Liberal Leader.

Mr. Rowell had no reason to complain of the reception he received from the audience after the chairman had introduced him as the coming Premier. He said that as he had been travelling up and down the Province as far west as Fort William and as far east as Cornwall, he found the same public interest and it was a great pleasure to come to Peterboro and find the people of the East and West ridings just as alive to the issues of the day. He was glad to come on behalf of the candidature of Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Anderson, both of whom he said were good men. Mr. Rowell threw out the optimistic suggestion that the winners had been picked.

He had anticipated that Mr. Peck would be the candidate of the Conservatives of West Peterboro. While they had been on opposite sides of the House, he could truthfully say that neither had said an unkind word about the other and he wished to add that there was no more courteous member in the House than Mr. Peck. But he was not the government candidate in this election, but even if he were, he would still find it his duty to come to Peterboro—not that he did not like him or approve of Mr. Peck—but in this election, the candidates stand for different principles and different policies and he was present to explain the principals and policies for which the Liberals stand.

The speaker went on to say that he had found the conditions elsewhere the same in Peterboro. He said everything points to a great uprising

MUSKOKA TURNS DOWN PROHIBITION BY 400

Three Out of Four Incorporated Towns Give Majorities in Favor of Canada Temperance Act, But Townships Reject Measure by an Overwhelming Majority—Organizers Explain.

BRACEBRIDGE, June 19. — The Canada Temperance Act was defeated in Muskoka by a majority which is estimated at about four hundred votes. The largest majorities against the act were in the townships while in the incorporated towns and villages the tendency was in favor of the act. Bracebridge gave a narrow majority of four for the act. Huntsville gave a majority of 42 for the act, Port Carling the large majority of 84 for. Gravenhurst defeated the proposal by sixteen votes.

Temperance organizers, when asked last night concerning the result, said the light vote for the act throughout the rural sections was explained by the fact that voters were unwilling to lose time on this polling when the provincial elections were so near at hand. They had expected the contest in January last.

The results in so far as completed at present are as follows:

Bracebridge town—Ward 1, 35 for, 59 against; Ward 2, 73 for, 43 against; Ward 3, 59 for, 54 against; Ward 4, 50 for, 57 against. Total: 217 for, 213 against.

Township of Cardwell—Majority for, 64.

MR. SODEN AT BUCKHORN AND MONTGOMERY'S SCHOOL

Many Ladies Were Present to Hear the Conservative Standard Bearer

A GOOD CLEAN RECORD

At Buckhorn and Montgomery's School House, where Mr. Soden spoke, there was a very large attendance last night, both of ladies and men. The ladies at both places were particularly pleased with Mr. Soden's manly stand for the abolition of the liquor traffic.

Mrs. Harrison was chairwoman at Montgomery's.

The attempt to make use of half-measures as a political dodge to gain the support of both liquor men and church people will fail.

Mr. Burnham said that he found that the people thoroughly appreciated the clean record and good business qualities of the Whitney administration. As the campaign progressed it became plainer that the people would place once again on record their unmistakable appreciation of the Whitney Government. People were amazed at the revelation of the action of the Laurier Government in granting a lease of the great Burleigh Falls power to a private company for 59 years at one dollar a year or a total of fifty-nine dollars, about the annual rent value of a fourth-class stable. If there had been no Whitney Hydro Commission to take this power over for the benefit of the people of this country, it would have been necessary for the Borden Government to devise such policy when they cancelled the Laurier-Graham lease. The value of this power now rescued for the benefit of the people will be incalculable to the farmers and manufacturers of the northern part of this county, who in a few years would have no fuel to generate power with and would have been placed in a helpless condition. This would mean the ruin of the people of the northern part of this county particularly. They would have had to pay a private company all that they could possibly scrape together for power that had been theirs and yet had been given away, or else go out of business altogether. The result would have been the depopulation of the northern townships and the transmitting of the power elsewhere. Mr. Burnham read the letters of former Postmaster General Mulock and Hon. Richard Harcourt, ex-Minister of Education, to the former Minister of Railways and Canals, urging them to hand this power over to their company. How can people expect the ordinary rank and file to withstand temptation when prominent men were going to act like that?

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE IN TWO RIDINGS
Mr. Hilkiah Martin of Berlin, Ont., though twice defeated in his efforts to win a seat in the Ontario Legislature, is back in the fight again having accepted the nomination of the Socialist party in both North and South Waterloo. In 1892, at the age of 18 Mr. Martin joined the 29th Waterloo Regiment as a private and he advanced rapidly step by step till in 1904 he took command of the regiment as Colonel. Today he is an anti-militarist.

NEWS FROM THE TEMPLE BAND

The Review is in receipt of a letter from Adjutant McElhinney. He touches on the sad deaths of so great a number of the army members, and more especially on the death of Mrs. Peryer, mother of the local bandmaster, and mother-in-law of Bandmaster Sandiford. He reports that the party is bearing up well under the circumstances and is looking forward to a successful congress in London. Numerous fogs were encountered on the trip. The local band will be the only Canadian musical organization at the congress, and the adjutant writes to say that the members will do all within their power to advertise Peterboro for the ultimate benefit of the city. In closing the adjutant wishes the Review to extend his kind regards to all.

REPRESENTATIVE OF EMPRESS BUILDERS GIVES EVIDENCE

Canadian Press Despatch.

Quebec, June 19.—At the wreck inquiry this morning Percy Hillhouse, representing Fairfields of Glasgow, who built the Empress, testified that the ship was carrying boats to accommodate three hundred more than she had on board. Even with two large compartments in the middle of the ship filled, she would have floated, so that water must have come in somewhere else. Captain Staunton, life saving superintendent of the C.P.R., said life boats, belts and other equipment were tested at Quebec May 23 when it took thirty seconds to close the engine-room water tight doors and between three and four minutes to close other compartments.

George Odonovan, one of the Empress engineers, said he inspected the steering gear every day, and had never found anything wrong with it and he never had any complaints.

James McEwen, a junior engineer also testified and both told of the terrible rush of water which drove the men out of the engine room and stokehold.

BROTHER OF REV. R. E. KNOWLES IS KILLED AT PORCUPINE

Was Struck on Head With Milk Bottle, Following Altercation With French Canadian

Canadian Press Despatch.

Porcupine, June 19.—James Knowles was killed on the street here this morning in an altercation with a French Canadian named Emil Lebrie. Knowles was struck on the head with a milk bottle and died from concussion of the brain. He was a lawyer, forty-eight years of age, recently from Satkatchewan and a brother of W. E. Knowles, M.P., for Moose Jaw, and Rev. R. E. Knowles of Galt, the well known author.

Lebrie is under arrest. Knowles had been in a number of campaigns including the Jameson Raid in the Transvaal and carried eleven bullet wounds in his body. The wound in his head resulted in having silver plate inserted in the skull and this aided Lebrie's blow in causing sudden death.

AN ACTION TO RECOVER COMMISSION OF $125

For the Sale of Dr. Amys' Property on Charlotte Street—R. J. Kidd Plaintiff

A special sitting of the county court, presided over by Judge Huycke, was held this morning to deal with the action of Robert J. Kidd vs. Dr. Amys for the recovery of $125, claimed as commission for alleged negotiations of the sale of the doctor's residence on Charlotte Street to Robert Hicks. After hearing evidence and argument for both sides, his Honor reserved judgment. G. N. Gordon acted for the plaintiff and Daniel O'Connell for the defendant. The whole case hinged on a question as to whether Kidd was really engaged by the doctor or whether he was acting for Mr. Hicks, as he had acted for the latter in another deal.

The first witness called was Robert Hicks, who purchased property on Charlotte Street in April, 1913, from Dr. Amys. The witness had purchased some land adjoining Dr. Amys' residence, and after the first deal had been completed, Mr. Kidd informed the witness that Amys property was for sale. Mr. Kidd spoke to him several times and on one occasion, Kidd quoted a price of $5,000. Afterwards the witness was introduced to Dr. Amys on the subject of the property. The witness then went to Dr. Amys' office by appointment, but no deal was completed. Mr. Hicks said Mr. Kidd kept talking up the property, and the witness stated he was only willing to pay $4000. Afterwards he signified his intention of paying $4,500. Eventually he bought the property for $5,000, the deal being completed in Dr. Amys' office. No one else was present.

MR. ROWELL'S ADDRESS.

THOSE who attended the Liberal rally in the Opera House last night to hear N. W. Rowell, the leader of the Liberal forces in Ontario were repaid for their pains by hearing a good speech. Mr. Rowell's style lacks polish or finish, his language not being rounded into the smooth periods that characterize the addresses of the Hon. R. L. Borden, the Hon. Arthur Meighen or Sir Wilfrid Laurier. But his style is very forceful, straightforward and earnest, while his language is well crosen, precise, and the arrangement of his matter good. On that account one can forgive certain plausible arguments that, in a strictly disinterested speech, would not appear.

In the first place, according to Mr. Lindsey's address, the Province of Ontario is hopelessly involved in debt and on the verge of ruin. He threw figures up in the air by dozens, caught them and juggled them to the satisfaction of himself and of his supporters, just as any circus performer plays with bottles and balls. He did not explain how the prosperity of Ontario could exist, as it does exist, along with the mismanagement that he pictured. He presented only a very few details of what he called the gerrymander, and a careful review of his speech shows that he lacked data to enforce his charges against the Government. This fact, together with the support of Mr. Rowell for the Hydro-Electric policy of the Whitney Government and for the Workmen's Compensation Act, is good evidence that the Conservatives have discharged their obligations with credit to themselves and benefits to the people. Mr. Rowell, we are glad to say, did not try to prove everything to be bad that the Conservatives have done.

His promise for creating new Departments, as of Labour, contained nothing constructive, or tangible, save a new excuse for a bill of expense. He proposes new machinery but gave no conception of what it was to do. Thus, he says, we will legislate to adjust social and economic conditions so that the toiler gets a fair chance. What does that mean? It is merely a promise to legislate—to do something that may be bad or good. There are no details, no lines showing what course the proposed legislation will follow. It is indefinite and a fine spun theory to catch the unwary.

Mr. Rowell's support of the Workmen's Compensation Act was given with a reservation that it should have been passed years ago. This position is in keeping with a fundamental weakness of Liberalism, that always tries to outstrip competitors in a passion for reform. There is no reform that was ever passed, either by Conservative or Liberal administrations, but of which it might be said that it should have come sooner. History is replete with examples. One wonders why the people of England did not reform the Poor Law of Elizabeth until the thirties of the last century. But they did not. Why was not legislation passed years ago to give the people of Ontario the advantages of Hydro-Electric or of the Workmen's Compensation Act? There is only one reason in all these cases—the time had not arrived. To move with public opinion and pass reforms when they are needed, when public sentiment demands them, is one of the principles of Conservatism, and a safeguard of law and government. Take electoral and social reform in England for example. The great Reform Bill of 1832, which did away with pocket boroughs, had a predecessor in the days of Cromwell and his Ironsides, as did also legislation for Sunday observance and other social reforms. But when Cromwell died, his reforms were undone, because public sentiment was two hundred years behind him. It is useless to say the Workmen's Compensation Act should have been passed years ago. It is expounding a dangerous principle to say so, in that it foreshadows legislation before its time. No effective reform comes before its time except by unnatural means, as in the case of Cromwell, who governed with an army, and these reforms are bad because they are not permanent and because the resulting condition is worse than the first. Mr. Rowell's position is that his reform, even if not wanted, should be foisted on the people. That is not sound legislation, nor will such legislation be permanent.

Conservatives have as a principle the rule that legislation to be permanent must be in harmony with public opinion. That is why Premier Whitney says to the temperance people, if you want advanced temperance reform, send me the men who will favour it. They must show in this manner that public opinion is in their support. That is why temperance people should support the candidature of Mr. R. J. Soden and the excellent record of Sir James Whitney. The people have to choose, in this election, between a Conservative Government policy that even Mr. Rowell does not wholly condemn, and between the untried policy of the leader of the Liberal party, some features of which are as dangerous as premature reforms can well be.

WE have just received a blue book entitled the "Compiled Reports of the International Waterways Commission." It is a weighty volume, consisting of one thousand, two hundred and twenty-four pages, with a large number of inserted maps in addition. Naturally, we have laid this work aside for future reference.

TEACHING NEW SETTLERS FARMING.

RAILROADS are peculiarly adapted to certain forms of educational work. As these large enterprises are deeply interested in farm lands in the West, and carry yearly thousands of new tillers to the prairie homesteads, educational work for their benefit is a distinct advantage to all. Many new settlers have little training for farming and hence instruction is very valuable to them.

On June 16 the C.P.R. "better farming" special trains, operated in connection with the Manitoba Government, will be on duty in the interest of intelligent and scientific farming in the West. These trains will contain specimens of noxious weeds, most troublesome in the province, and lectures will be given to teach the effectual methods of eradication. There will be models of weed seeds, so that identification will be easy; Manitoba birds, with instructions as to their habits, whether destructive or beneficial; injurious insects will be illustrated on the moving films; a car with cattle, sheep and hogs, in connection with which lectures will be given to young men, especially; a car devoted to home economics for women, where lady demonstrators will teach nursing, sewing and so forth. To show how thorough and real and close this instruction is meant to be by the C.P.R. and the Government, it may be stated that field crops and miniature lay outs of farm buildings will be shown in two cars for the purpose—while instruction will be given as to the protection of such buildings. Saskatchewan is in need of mixed farming, and there will be special features on two large cars, which will be devoted to stock. On the Saskatchewan train lectures will accompany; and instruction will be given in everything practically appertaining to the life of the farm. This idea is intended, of course, chiefly for the new settlers, who may have but a hazy idea of farming. The object both of the C.P.R. and the Government is that the people should farm to the best of their knowledge and ability, so as to extract from the soil what nature is ready to give, if she be properly coaxed. In carrying out this idea railroads should be willing to spend money, knowing that good farming anywhere in the Northwest will mean, ultimately, better and more profitable business for themselves.

AN ADVOCATE OF TEMPERANCE.

ALL THE MINISTERS are not supporting the Rowell party. Rev. W. J. Spence of Chatham, was an indefatigable worker in the local option contest in that city. He believes the Whitney method is the safest and best method of handling the liquor traffic that has so far been proposed, for he advises every temperance elector to support Mr. Sulman, the Whitney candidate in West Kent.

So far as this riding is concerned, there are a lot of temperance people who are saying nothing, but who will quietly mark their ballot in support of Mr. Soden, who is an advocate of advanced temperance legislation.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

REV. ROBT. POGUE seems to think that Mr. Gillespie is a better man to support even if he were sure Whitney would be returned to power. Such a view is odd, for it is reasonable to expect more support for temperance and more progress from the aid of men of the dominant party than of the Opposition.

THE FRONT page of the Toronto Globe looks more like the Pioneer every day now.

Easily Accounted For.

Toronto Star.

When you hear a man declare that popular government is a failure you may be sure that some cause has proved to be less popular with other people than it is with him.

Wouldn't Anybody Be Happy With His Money?

Montreal Evening News.

Once again, Andrew Carnegie announces that he is the happiest man in the world. Each time he says this, Andy makes it a little harder for Sunday school teachers all over the world.

Running a Risk.

Moncton Times.

For the Government to continue its present ineffective method of dealing with these Bedlamites is to run the risk of an exasperated mob lynching some flagrant female offenders. Then the ringleaders of the mob would be expeditiously hanged.

A Ridiculous Assumption.

Sarnia Canadian.

The proposition that temperance members of the Methodist church, or of any other religious body, are in conscience bound to support Mr. Rowell's banish the bar but save the liquor shop policy, is an assumption that will not stand a moment's consideration.

Mr. Rowell's Tax.

Guelph Herald.

Mr. N. W. Rowell may be a single taxer when it comes to assessment, but he was a sure enough double taxer on his charges as counsel for the Dominion Government in the Oka Indians case.

The Last Place for a Rest.

Montreal Journal of Commerce.

An Ottawa despatch states that "Premier Borden will leave for Halifax about the end of this week for two weeks' rest." Mr. Borden will find grim amusement in reading the report. A Minister's own constituency, especially if it be an urban one, is about the last place in the world to which he would go for "rest."

There Are Many Exceptions.

Calgary News-Telegram.

The best adapted and most efficient clergy are those who before entering the ministry have had some commercial or industrial training, men who have been in actual touch with daily developments in the social and industrial world; and the most inefficient are those who proceed direct from school to theological college and hence into the ministry, without any rubbing up against the business world or any general knowledge of men and matters.

A Bad Time for Labour Disputes.

Montreal Gazette.

Some ten thousand workers in Pittsburg electrical and allied factories have gone on strike. The men want recognition of their unions, which means that only workers of whom they approve shall be employed in the shops they control, better working conditions, and the elimination of the bonus, premium and piece systems. These systems have as their general purpose to increase output by making it profitable for the superior man to turn out more work than the average employee. They secure higher pay for higher class men and help to reduce in some way the average cost of production. Many men prefer to work under them. The majority, however, evidently do not. The strike comes when the factories are on short time. It will not help to put them on full time.

THE BROAD VIEW

By Walt Mason

No doubt the girls deserve the rights for which they clamor, days and nights, and men should patient be and fair; I love the women passing well, but when they raise their "rebel yell" I'm glad my granny isn't there. The women ought to have a hand in governing this happy land—they have that right, and more to spare; this cheerfully I grant each maid—but when I see a suff parade, I'm glad Aunt Agnes isn't there. The dames, who help to bear the yoke, should have the right to chew and smoke and play cheap politics and swear; but when the wives neglect their homes, and chase around with batty domes, I'm glad my grandniece is'nt there. I'd like to see the women gain all blessings that they would obtain, and all imagined laurels wear; but when I think of politics, with all its cheap and sordid tricks, I'm glad my sister isn't there. Let other's sisters, aunts and wives go forth and sacrifice their lives, and resolute and paw the air; their sacred cause is all O.K., but I am thankful, every day, that Cousin Susan isn't there.

JUNE SONGS

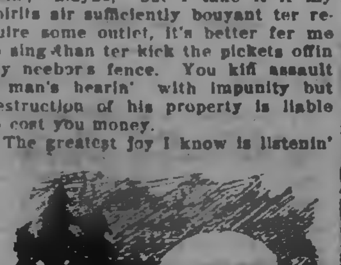
I'VE never been accused of havin' anythin' like a singin' voice, but I sometimes sing, jest the same. Nobody 'cept myself knows what I'm doin', maybe, but I take it if my spirits air sufficiently bouyant ter require some outlet, it's better fer me to sing than ter kick the pickets offin my neebor's fence. You kin assault a man's hearin' with impunity but destruction of his property is liable to cost you money.

The greatest joy I know is listenin'



to the June songs of birds, frogs and insects. Take, when the moon is above the lake, and the whipoorwill is callin' from the shaggy copse, the bull-frogs from the marsh, the night-hawk from the sky and a thousand and one other live things voicin' their gladness fer bein' alive, you've got somethin' really wuth while. You kin be a pauper, a man without a home er a friend, but if you've a pair of eyes and a pair of ears and kin sit beside a lake flooded by a June moon, you're a rich man.

"What is so rare as a day in June when we feel exactly like working."

THREE WOMEN ARE DROWNED

A Passenger Train Goes Through Culvert

LONDON, June 19.—Three women were drowned and it is feared that a dozen other persons perished yesterday when a passenger train went through a culvert and into a torrent at Carr Bridge, 28 miles south of Inverness, Scotland.

A thunderstorm that ravaged the north of England and Scotland was responsible for the accident. The train from Perth was crossing the culvert and became derailed, and the culvert, which had become undermined, collapsed, and the passenger coaches fell into the water. It is feared that besides the known drowned a dozen other persons were caught in a submerged coach.

Many persons on the train escaped from the cars, but drifted about in the stream and were badly injured before being rescued. One of the passengers, a man from New York, saved himself by gripping a tree.

"There's at least two of 'em."

"That doesn't matter—a thousand—it's all the same. Get them to go away."

This was easier said than done, but Little Ella was willing to make the effort.

"You git away from that door, an' leave me alone."

"Open this door, you she-devil," threatened the besieger, "or I'll—"

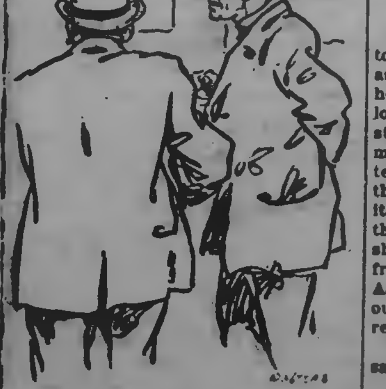
And then interrupted another voice with a suggestion that made Gloria grow faint.

"Aw! Let's bust it in. He's in there all right."

"Let 'er go," answered the first one.

Then came the heavy thuds as the men threw themselves against the door. The knocking at the gate in "Macbeth" had no more portentious sound in the play than had this attack upon her stronghold to Gloria. She felt all the nervousness of troops under fire that must remain inactive awaiting orders. There was nothing she could do but wait until the door was battered down.

This was not long in happening. As she stood in front of the trunk nervously twisting her handkerchief in her hands, at one last mighty effort the bolt yielded, the door flew open and two men stumbled into the room. Little Ella recognized them both instantly. They were Buck Kelly and Turkey Ryan, notorious denizens of the underworld. If ever there were two vicious-looking cutthroats, these men answered their descriptions. To make their ruffianly appearance worse they bore the marks of their recent encounter. Kelly's left eye had swelled almost closed, and Ryan had a long cut across his cheek where Wright's ring had left its mark with a slashing blow. He had done even more damage than this, but these showed the plainest. Needless to say, their tempers had not been sweetened by the episode.



"You Can't Fool Us With That Soft-Soap Talk."

"Now, damn you—" Ryan began savagely.

"Stop!" Gloria commanded. "What are you doing here?"

Until she spoke they had not seen her, and both men were taken much aback. To find a lady there was something they had not expected.

"What the—" Ryan gasped, but checked himself and then continued in a slightly more respectful tone. "I begs yer pardon, miss, but what are you doin' here?"

"That's none of your business. You clear out, both of you."

This encouraged Little Ella to take her part in the discussion, which she did with her most strident tones.

"What do youse mean, buttin' into here? Beat it, you two. I'm a lady, an' when I have a lady frien' avisitin' me they ain't no place for bums. On yer way."

It was not this tirade which had the most effect upon them. Both quailed before Gloria, who stood eyeing them sternly. Then they looked at each other, and without a word of apology shambled out into the hall.

CHAPTER XX.

If Gloria believed that she had put to flight for all time such gentlemanly assassins as Mr. Kelly and Mr. Ryan, her feeling of triumph did not last long. As the door into the hall was still open she did not dare make a move in Wright's direction. She determined to close the door and pull the washstand in front of it, wedging it under the knob, before trying further to succor the injured man. When she walked toward the door, it again framed the forms of Ryan and Kelly. As a result of a short conference just out of earshot, they had decided to return and get their man.

"What do you want?" Her heart sank.

"We're lookin' fer a man," Kelly snarled.

"And he come into this room, too," Ryan added doggedly. "We don't want to make you uncomf'table, lady, but we gotta git that man."

The way he said it made Gloria feel that he meant business. All she could do was play for time and pray for Mrs. Hayes to return.

"There's no man here," she explained in her most winning manner. "You can see that plainly for yourself. I came over from the mission to take care of this sick woman. You are only making her worse by bursting into her room in such a rude fashion. Please go out gently; she must have it perfectly quiet."

Turkey Ryan so far forgot himself in the presence of his betters as to grin at this explanation.

"We don't want to have to make you give 'im up."

BRITISH PREMIER CONSENTS TO MEET SUFFRAGETTES

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst Forces Release From Prison by Hunger-Striking and Immediately Takes up Her Vigil on Parliament House Steps.

LONDON, June 19. — Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, was released last evening from Holloway Jail. She had been imprisoned since June 10, when she was arrested while paticipating in a procession from the east end of London to Westminster, where she had intended to demand an interview with Premier Asquith.

Premier Asquith has capitulated to the demands of the suffragettes, and has consented to receive a deputation of east end working women in Downing street Saturday morning.

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's attempt to carry out her threat of a hunger strike at the entrance to the House of Commons unless the Premier yields to the demand that he listen to a delegation of women, was largely responsible for the Prime Minister's decision. The efforts of James Keir Hardie, the Socialist Independent member of Parliament, and George Lansbury, an ex-member, with the Premier, helped the militant suffragette leader to bring him to his knees.

The victory is a distinct one, because Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested about a week ago for attempting to lead a procession of east end women to Westminster to demand the audience which Mr. Asquith has now promised.

When Holloway Jail opened its doors last night to release Miss Pankhurst, who was weak and pale after her eighth successive hunger strike, but still determined, she drove to Westminster in a motor car with a woman chauffeur, and rebuffed Mr. Keir Hardie's efforts to persuade her to go home. She was sitting on the steps of the central entrance to Parliament House, propped up with cushions and supported in the arms of friends, when Mr. Lansbury came out with the news that Premier Asquith had surrendered.

Rifles Landed For Nationalists.

DUBLIN, June 19.—Large quantities of rifles and ammunition were landed during the night on the Connemara coast, in the west of Ireland, for the Nationalist Volunteers. The consignments are supposed to have been brought by mysterious vessels, which had been sighted cruising along the coast for a week past, but had refused to reply to any signals.

Torpedo boats have been ordered to patrol the coast to prevent further gun-running. The rifles are said to be of the latest American pattern.

Transatlantic Flight.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Lieutenant Porte, chief pilot of the Rodman Wanamaker transatlantic flier, admitted that he was practically decided to shape his course from Newfoundland to the European continent via the Azores Islands.

Belfast Officials Decline Invitation.

LONDON, June 19.—Belfast Corporation yesterday afternoon decided to decline the invitation of the Countess of Aberdeen to attend the civic exhibition in Dublin on the grounds that the intensity of the political situation precluded those holding different opinions from attending the meeting without such an action being misinterpreted.

Damage To Boats Slight.

BREMEN, Germany, June 19.—The North German Lloyd yesterday issued the following statement concerning the collision between the Kaiser Wilhelm II. and the Incemore:

"The Kaiser Wilhelm II. was struck on the starboard side, opposite her third group of boilers. She sprung a leak which, however, could be kept under control.

The damage to the Kaiser Wilhelm II. apparently is less considerable than was at first supposed. Repairs probably will require only a short time and will be undertaken at Southampton."

British Papers For Canada.

Some time ago a clergyman in Western Canada caused an announcement to appear in a London paper, thanking an unknown friend for sending a daily paper to him.

It is not generally known that the useful work done by the Victoria League includes the postage of British papers and magazines to persons in Canada, and that last year 65,000 of the best and most representative newspapers and magazines published in the United Kingdom were sent by members and their friends to persons asking for them in Canada. This is done without fee.

MEXICANS BITTER

Commander is Openly Discourteous to Americans

VERA CRUZ, June 19.—A distinct change of feeling between Mexicans and Americans was noticeable yesterday morning at the railway gap at Templaderas, where the train from Mexico City stops daily. The Mexicans are advancing their outposts, and the Mexican commander yesterday morning was openly discourteous to Capt. Thomas Manderson, jr., of the Seventh Infantry, in charge of the American outposts.

Military men here fear trouble at any time, for they know that the Mexicans are strengthening their positions in the neighborhood.

President Huerta has cancelled all the trains from Mexico City except those over the Mexican Railway to Vera Cruz. Other branches are running only military train. These carry a few passengers, but no freight except food.

Guadalajara is isolated, the railroad having been cut on both sides of the city.

Landowners in the States of Guanajuato, San Luis Potosi, Aguascalientes, and Jalisco have risen in arms against Huerta on account of the depredations committed by the Federal forces. Some of the landowners who have arrived here says they were forced to take this action in order to protect their properties.

Villa Sends Ultimatum.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, June 19.—That Gen. Villa has presented an ultimatum to Gen. Carranza, demanding the absolute separation of the civil and military branches of the Constitutionalist Government, was the substance of despatches received at Constitutionalist headquarters in Piedras Negras yesterday.

A committee of three officers was said now to be in conference with Gen. Carranza at Saltillo presenting Villa's plan.

City's Fate In Doubt.

DURAZZO, June 18.—The fate of Durazzo is still in doubt. The Mussulman insurgents returned to the attack on the city yesterday and were repulsed, but loyal troops sent against the insurgents on one of the outlying hills were completely defeated after fierce fighting.

West, Minstrel, Is Dead.

WESTBROOK, Conn., June 18.—Edward West, the minstrel, is dead at his summer home here of pleurisy.

LISTEN TO THE PEOPLE

W.C.T.U. IN POLITICS.

Editor Review,

Dear Sir,—I understand that Mr. Rowell at last night's meeting promised to give women the ballot if he were returned to power. He would be a most ungrateful man if he refused them the ballot, considering the use he is making of them in this campaign. His own sister, Mrs. Gordon Wright is at present, president of the W.C.T.U. for the Dominion and is using her position to swing that organization into the political arena to place her brother in power. Time was in Peterboro not so very long ago, when the Ross administration was in power that no member of the local W.C.T.U. dared express an unfavorable opinion of even a man running for a town council, if he were a Liberal but she was called down and accused of political leaning.

Now women campaigners are everywhere to be found addressing political meetings under the auspices of the W.C.T.U., urging the women to get their husbands and brothers to vote for Rowell and distribute campaign literature, with a slogan "a vote for Whitney, is a vote for whiskey" and this at the call of the president of the organization, who is Mr. Rowell's own sister.

Yours sincerely,
ELIZABETH KENDRY.

Peterboro, June 19, 1914.

TOUCH A MATCH TO THE HAYSTACK.

Editor Review,

Sir,—Mr. Rowell in his speech at Woodstock and Cornwall says "that he does not see why French should not be taught in the public schools if the parents want their children taught their mother tongue."

The Polocks jump at this straw in Mr. Rowell's platform and immediately petition the Ottawa school board to have their language taught in the public schools.

It is rumored that the Chinese of Peterboro will petition the school board of this city to have their language taught in the public schools. They have a perfect right too. Just another vote catching straw of Mr. Rowell's.

Will someone please touch a match to the haystack and put an end to this comedy.

CITIZEN.

HYPOCRISY.

Editor Review:—

Dear Sir:—So this is to be on the Liberal side a campaign of hypocrisy! They believe in prohibition, but from motives of guile will conceal the fact. Meanwhile they will stand up for the bottle. Is it any wonder that the churches are going back? Mr. Soden stands fearlessly forward like a man and is not afraid. The rest are self confessed politicians. "O, Sir Henry Vane! Sir Henry Vane! The Lord deliver me from Sir Henry Vane!"

Yours,
ELECTOR.

MR. ROWELL BACKS UP THE DEPLORABLE INEFFIENCY.

Editor Review:

Dear Sir:—The deplorable state of inefficiency in some of the French schools which was inaugurated by the Liberal Government, backed up by Mr. Rowell, and which was one of the heritages left for the Whitney Government, is still being fathered by Mr. Rowell.

Mr. Rowell in his speech at Cornwall and at Woodstock shows every evidence of a secret understanding between himself and the extreme French element, which demands equality for the French language in Ontario.

There are significant sentences in the speech of the Liberal leader at Woodstock. He said:

"The Liberals have one policy; one statement, no matter what class of electors are addressed, no matter whether they are English or French. It is the duty of the Province to see that every child receives a good education. They are not getting it today because we are not getting trained teachers. Consistent with this, French can also be one of the languages in the schools. I see no ground for objection by any elector. We must see that every child gets a good English education, but in addition to this, if his parents want their child to learn the mother tongue, there can be no objection. The man with two languages is better equipped for life."

PICNIC WAS FINE SUCCESS

Splendid Patronage Given Father O'Brien's Program

Ideal weather and abundance of enthusiasm enabled Rev. Father Fergus O'Brien's picnic at Lakefield yesterday to be a shining success. Autos, boats and trains carried hundreds of people into the generally peaceful little village and in only one section of the village was there any excitement or any stir, that was at the Fair Grounds where the picnic was held. From early morning till a few minutes previous to the last call for supper hundreds kept winding their way to the grounds and it is hardly necessary to state that they had a splendid time.

Father O'Brien's picnic like all other picnics had a list of sports and strange though it may seem Downeyville and Ennismore did not monopolize all the laurels. Local young men were on the job and succeeded in carrying away the following:

100 yard dash, under 18 years—Austin O'Brien, 1st.

Run, hop step and jump, under 18—Austin O'Brien, 1st.

Running broad jump—Austin O'Brien, 1st.

Standing broad jump—W. O'Connell 1st, A. O'Brien, 2nd.

100 yd. dash, men—W. Hatrick, 1st.

220 yd. dash, men—W. Hatrick, 1st; Dr. Frank, 2nd.

Running high jump—W. Hatrick, 1st, Dr. Frank, 2nd, L. Kennedy, 3rd.

Running hop step and jump—Dr. Frank, 1st, W. Hatrick, 2nd.

Running broad jump—Dr. Frank, 1st, W. Hatrick, 2nd.

Shot put—Dr. Frank, 1st.

The Young's Point booth was under the guidance of Miss Carney while that of the Lakefield parish was managed by Mr. A. G. Lawless. The ladies in charge of the kitchen were Mrs. D. Maloney, Mrs. Dr. Gibson and Mrs. M. Towns. The gentlemen in charge of the dining room were:—Messrs. Wm. O'Connell, D. Maloney and A. Coughlin.

Excellent music for the dancing was supplied by Miss L. Garvey and Messrs. J. Fanning and L. Fanning.

The baseball game between a Lakefield nine and a local aggregation was won by the locals by 6-3 in ten innings.

of the people. It was a great uprising in favor of progressive legislation in the province and particularly against the open bar.

One of the great significant features of the development of the province was the growth of our industrial centres. The population was increasing by thousands and hundreds of thousands and side by side with the growth of the cities has been the declining rural population. And it was bound to continue.

With the bringing together of the masses of the people, certain problems inevitably present themselves. In the large centres we are compelled to face the situations to be found in parts of the old land and in the older and better settled portions of the United States.

With the increase in cost of living, the average man, that is, the honest toiler, in many cities and towns finds it difficult enough, many in some centres, practically impossible to provide a home of his own and feed, clothe and educate his children and lay aside something for a rainy day. In a country with natural resources such as Ontario possesses and with its production of wealth, the speaker argued that it should be possible to make some adjustment of social and economic conditions whereby the toiler would not be in the position mentioned. To confess inability to meet the situation was to confess failure to meet one of the great problems of modern civilization.

Men of wealth and large opportunities were well able to help themselves, but the toiler, under modern conditions, deserves the earnest and sympathetic consideration of the men intrusted to act for him. Anything that could be done to improve the condition of the toiler is something good, as the helping of one branch of a community, meant the improving of the standard of all.

The time had come, the speaker held when the machinery of the Government should be so readjusted so that the conditions of the workingman would be improved. "If," said Mr. Rowell, "we had a cabinet Minister worth his salt and one who is in sympathy with the social problems, we would not have had to wait till 1914 to secure the Workmen's Compensation Act. He claimed that since 1907 up to 1911 when a commission was appointed the Government had failed to show any action other than the giving of promises. A commissioner was then appointed to investigate conditions in other countries when, had there been a Minister who was in sympathy with social conditions, all that information would have been filed and the government would have been prepared to go into the question years ago.

Unemployment.

A more serious problem was that of unemployment. It was the duty of the government to study the problem in other countries and to seek by legislation to minimize unemployment also to see that provision is made that an honest toiler will receive such assistance as will not put him and his family in distress. "The time has come when we should address ourselves to the solution and if we are returned, we will create such a department to seek a new and better era among the toilers.

The question of Tax Reform was, the speaker said, one of very great importance but in regard to it, he made but a very brief reference. If returned however, the Liberals would put upon the statute books, legislation that would permit any municipality to shift a part of the municipal tax which now falls upon improvements, to the land so that the handicaps now imposed might be removed and so that less land could be held for speculation.

Continuing his remarks on social problems, Mr. Rowell said that in all efforts toward improvement, we were face to face with an institution recognized by law and existing by law. As Mr. Lloyd George had said you may turn your slums into garden cities but if you leave the public house untouched, it will turn your garden cities into slums. Every man must recognize the evil of the open bar. What is the situation today? We have in connection with the retail sale, hotel, club and shop licenses. The hotel and club licenses run up to 1,300 or perhaps more, the shops about 250. Let me state to you what is our policy and let me tell you some of the history of that policy.

In 1902, Mr. Rowell explained, the referendum on the liquor act was submitted to the people but it was not endorsed at the polls not because of the number of votes cast but because there was not the number of votes required under the statute. The leaders of the churches met in Toronto to consider what action should be taken.

Birth of the Policy.

The speaker then proceeded to show what action had been taken then and also the subsequent action. This in brief was the passing of strong resolutions and the request to the government to abolish the bar, the treating system, drinking in clubs and to improve such other restrictions as might be necessary. It was at this meeting he said that the policy of abolish the bar was born. The policy was endorsed year after year by temperance organizations and submitted to the government. The Ross Government did not adopt it: neither did the Whitney Government. In the meantime representative gatherings of churches declared it to be their policy.

Mr. Rowell gave other instances where the Anglican Church, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, the Roman Catholic Church, the Baptists and the Methodists passed resolutions condemning the traffic. No more clear cut statement was given than by the Catholic Church, he said. At a meeting of bishops in Quebec in 1909, a pastoral letter dealt with the liquor traffic.

In 1912, the representatives of recognized temperance forces waited on the Government and urged that the policy be adopted. Whitney refused to do so. Then they waited upon the speaker and his colleagues and asked them to adopt the policy, and after consideration it was submitted to the House.

Mr. Rowell said that by this policy, every hotel and club license in the Province would be wiped out and once wiped out they would be out forever. The shops were dealt with in a different manner. This would be by local option not on a three-fifths vote but on a simple majority. He would go one step further in some counties of the province there are small communities where the shops now exist. "We will make local option county wide, so that every county of the province can remove by a majority vote of the whole county, any stray shop license that may prevail. Also they would give the municipal franchise to married women to give an added force, to help. Hon. Mr. Hanna, he said, makes the statement that the government has given temperanse legislation as fast as the people want it. While the leaders proclaim that doctrine, they criticized him, for not going further.

Reference was made to the newspaper reports of a statement said to have been made in London by Mrs. Rowell. This was to the effect that this was the last time, Mr. Rowell would bring up the policy if it was turned down at the coming elections. In the first place, he said, his wife was not at London; secondly, she did not make a speech, and thirdly she did not say that or anything in connection with it. On the other hand, Mr. Rowell said, Mr. Hanna would not allow inquiry into his conduct. He would not face the music.

The statement that the Liberals would abolish the bar and substitute the shop was without foundation. No shop would be reestablished in any municipality, in lieu of any hotel that had been wiped out.

Mr. Rowell claimed that the maps showing the proportions of the temperance movement were not correct. One map showed 26 dry municipalities when the Whitney Government came into power, but the actual fact is that there were 108. Algonquin Park was shown to be wet under Liberal rule and dry under the Conservatives, when it never had a license, since Adam first walked this earth down to the present time. The County of Peterboro was shown entirely wet when Whitney took power and practically dry at the present time.

A second map showed where bars had been wiped out, but did not show where 400 bars still remained. Another thing which was not shown was the number of bars which would have been wiped out had the government not imposed the three-fifths clause. It did not tell the tale of the open bar and the crime and misery that would have been prevented but for the clause. What had been done was not accomplished by the government, Mr. Rowell asserted, but by the people in spite of the three-fifths clause.

At the time of asking for reduction of licenses in Toronto, he had been on the platform but he had failed to meet a member of the government. The Chief License Inspector made a statement that appeared in the press, urging the electors not to vote for license reduction. He had not met Mr. Hanna on the platform, while he himself had done what he could to assist in the passing of the by-laws.

The churches were solidly arrayed in hostility to the traffic and on the other side were the liquor interests looking to defeat the policy "not because I am N. W. Rowell, but they are trying to defeat the cause and me because I have acted on the action of the churches and the organized temperance forces—their enemies—and we are submitting it to the people!"

"You have got to go to the polls and face the issue; you can't shirk it. It's an issue of the home, the family and the future of the province. I carried out my pledge and I put upon you, the responsibility of the decision. I say this in all solemnity that upon the conscience of every man who believes the bar to be a curse, and votes for its continuance, must rest until his dying day, his share of the responsibility for every home wreck, every life wrecked and every child denied a fair chance and did not receive it, through the existence of the open bar."

Mr. Rowell went to Haldimand for a story and he related how that a Conservative elector had made the statement that he was going to vote Liberal this time. He had, he said, a grown up family. It might be that one son might go wrong, but said he, "he will never be able to say, father, I went wrong through the open bar. You had a chance to help wipe out liquor, but you preferred the party to me. I'm down and out now, and you are responsible for it. That's a responsibility I will not take and I will vote for you and abolish the bar." That's a responsibility every man must take, said Mr. Rowell, if he does not vote to wipe it out.

Men who neglect this great opportunity must bear their share of responsibility for in this issue every man who is not for us is against us. Every man must take a stand one way or the other. I have tried to do my duty as I have seen it. What more is there that I could have done. I have tried to do my duty by you and I ask you to do your duty not by me but to yourself and to the homes of the women and children of Ontario. How can you do it in Peterboro? You can do it by sending to Toronto, the men who are pledged to wipe out the open bar. Will you do it?

Voices from the audience answered, "Yes."

"I believe you will," continued the speaker, "for I have confidence that the men of this county are big enough, patriotic, and have enough of the Christian spirit to rise above party and pronounce their verdict against the bar."

PREPARE FOR WAR

Mines Planted to Resist Greek Attack

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 19.—Turkish refugees from Macedonia, who assert that they have been driven out by the Greeks, have arrived in considerable numbers on the Asiatic coast where they have taken possession of entire villages deserted by their former Greek inhabitants, who have crossed over to the islands of Chios.

There has been some pillaging in the district along the coast of Asia Minor, and altogether the position there is generally regarded as a dangerous one, although Turkish officials are using great efforts to keep the people in check.

At the same time preparations are being made by the Turkish authorities to meet any possible Greek attack. The Turkish Minister of War has gone to Smyrna and the Turkish troops have planted mines at the entrance to the gulf.

SHOULD LEARN ENGLISH

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 19.—Addressing the convention of French-speaking Canadians, Hon. Louis Coderre urged strongly the preservation of the French language and said, "British subjects, speaking their mother tongue of French, should be prepared to make some little sacrifices." While they preserved the French, they should also learn English. That would benefit both Canada and themselves.

Roosevelt Loses Voice.

LONDON, June 19.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is suffering from an affection of the larynx, as a direct result of the hardships he endured in his recent Brazilian trip, which will effectually prevent him from taking part as an orator in the political campaign in the United States this fall and compel him to exercise the greatest care for some months to come.

ANOTHER COLLECTOR.

Commercial Traveler Named Teed Brought Into N. B. Probe.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 19.—When the royal commission inquiry into the Dugal charges against Premier Flemming and the Hon. H. F. McLeod adjourned for luncheon yesterday there had been disclosed up to date payment of $60,197.50 into what is called a campaign fund, by holders of crown land lumber areas in New Brunswick.

W. H. Berry had been the one to broach the matter to those who testified up to yesterday, but in the morning E. R. Teed, a commercial traveler, was brought into the evidence as having approached F. E. Sayre for a contribution.

Arthur Hilyard, manager of the Dalhousie Lumber Co., of which he said the International Pulp & Paper Co. are real owners, said they leased 423 1-2 miles. He said Berry asked for a contribution to a campaign fund, but the president, Mr. Stern, refused to pay. He did not contribute, but his licenses were renewed.

J. W. Brankley, manager of the Miramichi Lumber Co., a subsidiary of the International Pulp & Paper Co., said the company's president would not and did not pay the $16 a mile asked for. He said Berry wanted him to be treasurer of the fund. He said he and Berry went to Premier Flemming's room in a Fredericton hotel. Flemming and Teed were there. Flemming went out, but first said: "Anything Dr. Berry tells you about this man is all right." The witness understood he meant Teed. Berry introduced him to Teed and said: "This is the man you are to give the money to." Witness said he received eight parcels from lumbermen. He gave them to Mr. Teed.

F. C. Beatty told of the biggest payment yet. He said in his evidence that $20,000 had been paid by Stetson, Cutler & Co. for themselves and other affiliated companies.

Before adjournment Mr. Carvell said Berry had been communicated with by telephone, and there was a reasonable hope that he may come to give evidence.

CROP PROSPECTS

J. Bruce Walker Says Outlook is Better Than for Years

WINNIPEG, June 19.—"I have just returned to Winnipeg after a tour of the western prairie provinces reaching into districts far removed from travel," said J. Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration, this morning. "I went through Southern Saskatchewan and Alberta and find that with the copious rains during the latter part of last week there is every reason to believe the crop prospects to-day are better than they were at this season last year, or even for many years. Wheat is looking unusually well, roots are strong and healthy, and the plants growing up with amazing rapidity."

No Women's Vote In Synod.

LONDON, Ont., June 19.—As was the case last year, the Anglican Synod of Huron, in annual session here, again yesterday denied women a voice in the vestries of the church. A motion providing for the enfranchisement of women, so far as vestry deliberations are concerned, was introduced by John Ransford of Clinton, but was defeated by the following vote: Clerical vote for 77, against 46; lay vote for 55, against 37. A two-thirds vote was necessary.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION STEAMSHIPS

It would be interesting to know how many of the persons living along the great lakes and who watch the big boats pass to and fro can tell by their striped smoke-stacks to which steamship lines they belong. That there are hundreds goes without saying and many, many times during a summer do they point to the great ships in the offing and tell friends and inquirers by which lines they are owned and the ports to which they ply.

No line of boats traversing these waters has as striking a marking for its stacks as the Northern Navigation Company. They start from the boat a bright red. Midway, as they tower upward, is a band of white, and at their tops is a band of black. The colors are easily recognizable and those who waited at the Brush Street dock to greet the beautiful Noronic on her maiden trip from Sarnia, were able to single her out from the other river shipping without the slightest difficulty.

A novel extension of this insignia is being made by the Northern Navigation Company at the suggestion of W. J. McCormack, superintendent. The spiles of the company's docks at all the ports of stoppage are being painted in identically the same fashion—red where they leave the water, then white and their tops black. The work has been completed at Sarnia and Point Edward and the spiles in their bright, new colors resemble a row of miniature smoke-stacks.

"The railroads have found that the travelling public chooses to patronize the lines where the depots and grounds are attractive over those lines where slight attention is given these things," says Mr. McCormack. "Spiles dressed in fresh, clean paint give a far better appearance than the dingy ill-kempt looks which characterizes many steamboat landing places. The colors add attractiveness to what otherwise would be an uninteresting and uninviting water front and they furnish an advertising asset which should not be disregarded. All persons who pass have the message borne to them. I believe other lake lines will see the possibilities of the idea and adopt it for their own properties."

WAITING FOR WARSHIPS.

Officials Think Japanese Cruisers Will Solve Hindu Trouble.

OTTAWA, June 19.—The arrival of the two Japanese cruisers at Vancouver to-day is awaited by the Government with no small degree of anxious expectancy. The Government is firmly resolved that the Hindus on the steamer Komagata Maru shall not be allowed to land, and also that there be no violence or disorder if it can be avoided. The fact that the Hindus, however, are in an ugly mood, not only towards the immigration officials, but also towards the Japanese captain and crew of the ship, and to some extent towards Gurdit Singh, the charterer of the vessel, makes a serious situation.

The Government cannot very well do anything, but will be very glad if the arrival of the Japanese cruisers leads to some arrangement by which the troublesome ship will leave Canadian shores.

Royalty Not Expected.

OTTAWA, June 19. — Ottawa places no credence in a report in a special cable from London that the King and Queen are coming to Canada after visiting Australia and Africa next year.

Inquiry at the offices of the Governor-General and the Prime Minister yesterday elicited in each case the declaration that nothing has been heard of such a plan, with a denial that it has been discussed between the British and Canadian Governments, as was reported.

Montreal Civic Inquiry.

MONTREAL, June 19.—A sweeping investigation of the sewer department at the City Hall will be made as a result of discoveries made by the controllers and the chief engineer's department in regard to sewer construction work in Notre Dame de Grace ward and in the east end.

The city, it is said, paid out from $70,000 to $80,000 for work which was never done.

"One of the hardest things in all the world to ascertain accurately is the question of just what constitutes our own business."

EMPRESS QUARTERMASTER BLAMES STEERING GEAR

Lord Mersey, However, Says He is Inclined to Doubt Value of Testimony of James Francis Galway and Suggests in His Questions That Current Caused Vagaries of the Wrecked Liner.

QUEBEC, June 19.—Assertions by James Francis Galway, a quartermaster, that the Empress of Ireland did not steer well, that her wheel jammed only a few hours before the collision which sent her to the bottom of the St. Lawrence on May 29, that she swerved badly in the river and that the crew of the steamer Alden could verify these statements, and the denials of these claims by responsible officers of the lost liner made yesterday's session of the Dominion commission enquiring into the wreck one of quickly changing and gripping interest from start to finish.

Lord Mersey seemed alone among those in court in his decision not to be excited by the promise and the ultimate production of Galway's evidence. He began by stating that he did not attach much importance to it, and wound up by putting questions to the witness who was in charge of the wheel of the liner just a few hours before she went down which seemed to indicate that the current of the St. Lawence was responsible for the Empress' misbehavior, as his lordship styled Galway's description of the ship's disobedience of the helm.

Evidence to rebut Galway's story and also the suggestion made during the day that the C. P. R. had tried to get him to leave the country before testifying, was supplied by John Murphy, the quartermaster who relieved him, and who contradicted his statement about warning him that the ship was steering badly, and was also supplied by Adelard Bernier, the pilot in charge of her when the jamming was said to have occurred, and several of the Empress' officers.

Galway got a severe gruelling from Lord Mersey and Butler Aspinall, K.C., counsel for the C.P.R., but though very much flustered, as might be expected, he stuck to the main part of his accusations against the Empress' steering gear.

Lord Mersey asked Galway why, when he considered the steering gear of a ship the "main asset in life saving," he had not mentioned the alleged defect in the Empress apparatus in giving his story to the C. P. R. lawyers and to a Montreal newspaper. His lordship also scored Counsel Haight for what he said was an attempt on the part of the Storstad legal battery to keep the Galway testimony up their sleeves.

Late in the afternoon Lord Mersey initiated a conference among the lawyers and it was decided that the charges of cowardice lodged against some of both the Empress and Storstad crews were unfounded.

Before the question of the vessel's steering qualities came up the C.P.R. lawyers had introduced Robert Henry Brenan and Robert Liddell of the engineering staff of the Empress to corroborate Captain Kendall's statement that after leaving Father Point the ship had been ordered "full speed ahead," "stop and full speed astern," and then "stop." Haight, in cross-examination, indicated a skepticism about the officers' statement that the ship was put from full speed ahead to full speed astern in three minutes, though the engineers were emphatic in claiming that it had often been done before.

Captain Walsh of the C. P. R. said that Galway, after the collision occurred, so he had heard, rushed to his room to get his life belt and not to the boats, as it was his duty to do. He was the one man who had failed.

Mr. Haight said he was informed that Galway went to his room to awaken his companions.

BIG FREIGHTER IS LAUNCHED

Takes to the Water at Collingwood

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., June 19.—More than 10,000 persons witnessed the launching here yesterday afternoon of the steamship "J. H. G. Hagarty." Amid the screech of whistles and cheers of spectators the giant freighter slid slowly down the ways and plunged with a tremendous splash into a dock containing 16 feet of water. The vessel, which is the largest inland waterway craft in the Dominion, was built by the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co., Ltd., for the St. Lawrence and Chicago Steam Navigation Co., to replace the steamship Carruthers, which was lost in Lake Huron last November. The owners yesterday declared the vessel the last word in the construction of bulk freighters, and said they had spared no expense to make her the best of her kind, and also to assure the greatest amount of safety possible.

THRILLING RESCUE.

Holding Child In Teeth Carried Her To Safety.

READING, Pa., June 19.—Holding a two-year-old child in his teeth by the waistband of her little blue calico dress, Stephen Circelli bore her to safety from the rotten high bridge of the slag dump of the old Seyfert furnace on the White House road, while a gaping and heart-sick crowd watched the rescue 100 feet below with tongues glued to the roofs of their mouths.

The little tot led by that inborn curiosity characteristic of children, had crawled out on the decaying structure spanning the tracks of the Reading. There it clung paralyzed with fear.

The youngster lapsed into unconsciousness upon feeling the firm clasp of Circelli's big arm. With his teeth fastened in the dress he made his way to the slag bank and thence to the ground amid ringing cheers from the crowd.

Bomb Placed For Czar.

BERLIN, June 19.—A special despatch from St. Petersburg says an attempt was made to wreck the Russian Imperial train with the Emperor and his family on board near Tschudovo yesterday when a bomb was placed on the rails.

A postal train which was preceding the Imperial train as a pilot, struck the bomb and caused it to explode. Many of the coaches of the mail train were shattered and several persons injured.

The Emperor and his family on the Imperial train passed the spot a few minutes later and arrived at Tsarskoe-Selo without further incident.

Militants Blamed For Big Fire.

GLASGOW, June 19. — Damage amounting to $500,000 was done yesterday by a fire at Kingston Dock, in the centre of Glasgow. Four schooners, several freight sheds and a number of neighboring houses were burned.

The outbreak was caused by a man while emptying hot ashes into water, letting some fall on the deck of a schooner which caught fire. The flames spread rapidly to some barrels of creosote on the wharf, and everything in the vicinity was soon alight.

Standing to prevent skidding is now being introduced for automobile use.

Three Convicted of Murder.

CALGARY, June 19. — Afanacy Sokoloff, Max Manelick, and Joe Smith, Calgary, Russians, were found guilty of murdering Paymaster Wilson, of the Canada Cement Co., at Exshaw, on May 22nd, and sentenced by Justice Walsh to be hanged at Macleod on August 26.

The jury recommended mercy on Manelick's behalf.

Salvaging Contract Let.

QUEBEC, June 19.—The contract to salvage the Empress of Ireland has been let to the Canadian Salvage Association.

It is expected that the salvaging will take two months, and it is not yet decided whether attempts will be made to raise the hull after the valuables and bodies have been removed from her.

ALL THE PETES WERE HITTING IN GAME AGAINST BRANTS

Frank Fox Had Circuit Wallop—Locals Won Out in Ninth

Every man jack of the Petes had a bingle or more in yesterday's win over Brantford. Frank Fox smote the hide over the Dyke for the circuit in the sixth while Blount had a double. The victory came as the result of three healthy clouts in the ninth. The Petes also negotiated a neat double play which brings their double play record up to a good mark as they have pulled one or more in eight of the last ten battles.

The despatch says:

Brantford, June 18.—A ninth-inning rally is not unusual, but today two were pulled off between the Brants and the Peter. With the score 4 to 3 against them in the ninth the Petes went on and by three timely hits drove in two runs, giving them the lead 5 to 4. The Brants rallied in their half and succeeded in getting a man on, then failing to push him round and the Petes won. Both teams hit the ball hard, but the Petes' drives off Asher were more timely than the Brants off Tracey. Wagner has been released outright and Honeck will be sent to Niagara Falls for seasoning. Fox had a home run.

GIFFORD BOY AND DR. JOHNSON DIVIDE FIRST MONEY AND MANOR KING TAKES SECOND RACE

The local race meet closed yesterday before a very small attendance. The racing was of high order and deserved better patronage. Every heat was interesting and there were no walk overs. The free for all was called off, owing to lack of entries and Manuella was deprived of a chance to smash the track record. The 2.25 class furnished all sorts of excitement, and the bettors were at sea, as it was a toss up between Gifford Boy and Dr. Johnson after the first heat. My Girl captured the first heat in the race the same as she did the day before, but after that was a serious contender only in the final stages, as she broke frequently. Gifford Boy landed in fourth position in the first heat with Dr. Johnson second, and the wise guys did not figure that the bay had a chance. The dope was upset when Gifford Boy won in a driving finish from My Girl. In the third heat Gifford Boy won over Black Diamond, who was figured as the rank outsider. Dr. Johnson was last in that heat, but came right back and won the fourth and fifth, much to the surprise of the talent. First money was divided between Gifford Boy and Dr. Johnson.

Manor King was the best of the 2.30 flock. After running third in the first heat, which was won by Pickett Boy, Manor King came back and won the second, fourth and fifth and the race, although Sadie Bell made him fight all the way and two of the heats were won by a hard drive up the stretch. Sadie Bell got away bad in the first and just failed to get up to Pickett Boy.

LOCALS DEFEATED LAKEFIELD NINE

A Victory of 6 to 3 After Ten Innings

In connection with Father O'Brien's picnic at Lakefield yesterday the bankers were supposed to play a game of ball with a picked team of Lakefield but owing to the numerous clerks being out of the city on holidays they were unable to do so. Mr. Dan McCabe then had the job of rounding up a team on short notice and although the crew wasn't punctuated with stars they succeeded in slipping a 6-3 defeat over Lakefield although it took them ten innings to do it. Through the generosity of the officers of the Sacred Heart T.A. S. the suits belonging to that society were used by the locals.

Lornie Rose went on the mound for the first three innings and when replaced by O'Connell the score was 1-1. Right off the reel they fell on O'Connell's offerings and secured two runs but after that he held them scoreless. In the eighth the Peterboro team secured a counter and with two down in the ninth Milloy secured a scratch hit, stole second and scored on Murphy's liner to left field. Murphy died at second. Lakefield attempted a rally in their half of the ninth but nothing resulted and the game went another innings. Singles by Carson, Neary, Gorman and O'Connell sent three runs across for Peterboro in their half while Lakefield retired in order.

The teams:—

Peterboro—Taylor c., Rose, O'Connell p., Neary 1b., Carson 2b., Rose, O'Connell s.s., Murphy 3b., O'Hearne l.f., Milloy m., Gorman, r.

Lakefield—R. Knox c., Charleton p., Morrison 1b., Hull 2b., Blewet s.s., McDonald 3b., Perry l.f., A. Knox m., Tanner r.f.

GAMES AT 4.15

The directors of the baseball club have decided to experiment on the idea of commencing the games at 4.15 instead of 3.45. The change will take effect on Monday when the Petes return home. Some of the fans intimated that a latter start would be more satisfactory so the directors decided after receiving numerous requests to try the later start. There are others of course who feel that the present time of calling play is late enough.

NO GAME TO-DAY

On account of weather conditions to-day, the game at Brantford was called off. Two games will be played to-morrow.

COMMENT

As You Like It

Morally the Petes jumped out of last place by yesterday's victory over Brantford. The standing of the club reads 15 wins and 21 losses but as the forfeited game will have to be replayed in all events the standing should account for only 20 losses which would give the locals a percentage of .428 and a fraction. On the other hand Toronto is credited withone more win than it really deserves and exclusive of that game the Toronto club's work to date should read, 14 wins and 19 losses or a percentage of .424 and a fraction. Technically however the Petes are in last place as when President Fitzgerald ordered the game to be replayed he ordered that "the game" be replayed whereas the local directors have appealed and are asking that is merely be played from the first of the tenth innings until a winner is decided. Under those circumstances the question of the game is under advisement yet and therefore the Petes will have to win a few more before they go up.

Any team that can come from behind in the last innings usually has the fight within the ranks. Yesterday the Petes demonstrated that they had the courage even in the face of defeat and slammed out a victory in the ninth after Rube Deneau had tucked the game away in his bat bag. For a tail end team Curly Blount's men are displaying all sorts of stuff. In the last ten starts they have won eight games. Two of these games went ten innings and one fifteen but the Petes captured the extra innings affairs in each case and now they show further signs of fight by breaking in with two runs in the ninth of yesterday's game and winning by 5-4. The club suffered from all the bad breaks at the commencement and naturally the players were a little down in the mouth. Evidently the wins we have scored have injected all sorts of confidence.

Hamilton Spectator.

The Petes uncorked the snappiest game they have shown this season. Miller threw well and caught a splendid game, while Curly Blount was again very much in evidence. The five victories in the last six starts have given the Petes a lot of confidence, and there is no doubt but that they will move out of last position very shortly. They pulled off two fast double plays yesterday, and again showed some speed on the bases.

Hamilton Herald.

Some of the ball players are complaining that the new sign boards in center field interfere with their vision. Welsh, who fanned five times on Monday, has shown up better since the painters have covered up the white spots on the boards, and there seems to have been some reason for the complaint.

anything said about it. It's new to me."

The witness had no recollection of Kidd submitting an offer at any time.

Mr. Kidd was re-called and denied that he had told Dr. Amys that he would reveal something to him about a prospective purchaser.

Cross-examined witness said he might have said a hide business was to be started next door and it would depreciate the doctor's land. It was after the Carton property had been sold to Hicks. The witness said it was easy enough to sell it again.

The case was concluded about two o'clock after his honor had heard argument of counsel.

WITHIN IT'S RIGHTS PUTTING INTO EFFECT NEW RATE ASSESSMENT

Chief Justice, R. M. Meredith, dismissed on June 11th George Craigner's action against the Canadian Order of Home Circles in so far as plaintiff's injunction, which he asked for, restraining the order from putting into effect the new rate assessment passed last March, is concerned. Plaintiff is, however, awarded $100 damages. Mr. Graigner joined the order in 1888, taking a $2,000 policy. At seventy years of age he became entitled to $1,000, which, by a later regulation, was made payable in $100 annual instalments. From 1909 to 1913 plaintiff got such instalments. On the 1914 by-law it was alleged plaintiff must rejoin the association, owing to his present age, and pay a much increased premium.

The Chief Justice said the case was not one for an injunction. Plaintiff must stand by his bargain, whether wise or foolish. He might have maintained his rights by tendering the old assessment, were that the extent of his obligation, or defendants could have sued for a new assessment in the Division Court. The effect of the judgment means that the order is within its rights in increasing the assessment, but cannot cut off to members who pay such rates the life expectancy benefits.—From Canadian Insurance.

NOVELTY IN CORPORATE MANAGEMENT

Wider Scope of Modern Life Insurance—Superintendent Emmet Warmly Commends Metropolitan Company

The report of the New York State Department of Insurance on the triennial examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has just been published by the State. Under the law, revised by Governor Hughes, this examination must be made every three years. About twenty examiners of the Insurance Department devoted nearly a year to the work, and Mr. Emmett, as Superintendent of the Department, wrote an extended review of the report. In this review Commissioner Emmett not only made an analysis of the Company's condition as a business corporation, but of its activities along the broader lines of social service among industrial workers, health education and the conservation of human life. He points out that the Company, now having more than thirteen million policies outstanding, has assumed such proportions that it is practically brought into immediate contact with approximately one-eighth of the population of the United States.

Here are extracts from Superintendent Emmet's report:

"The fact is, the history and achievements during the last decade of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and of one or two other of our large life insurance companies, present such shining examples of efficient and enlightened business management—with in some cases a dash of statesmanship thrown in—that it seems to me to be quite as much the duty of a supervisory official, when an appropriate occasion arises, to comment favorably upon such cases of successful public service by business coroporation under private control, as it would be his duty under present conditions to administer sharp criticism if the tendency had been in the other direction.

"The fact that the percentage of lapses due to the abandonment of their insurance by policy-holders is constantly decreasing, speaks eloquently to the same effect. This last mentioned development is perhaps the most convincing evidence which could be offered that the Company's policy-holders are, broadly speaking, very well satisfied indeed with what they get in return for the premiums they pay. A very remarkable showing altogether.

"If the men in charge of such a Company grow reactionary in their tendencies, or blind to the social progress of the age, the movement toward an absorption of their powers by the State itself will, as matters stand, proceed very rapidly. But in the case of the Company under consideration there has been such a frank and fearless recognition of its new responsibilities that it is easy enough, after all, to understand how it has happened that in the field of industrial insurance the movement toward State operation and ownership has experienced a setback."

A MAGNIFICENT VOICE AND FAULTLESS METHOD

Eva Mylott, the Australian contralto (who scored a complete triumph in her American and Canadian tours last fall), possesses a pure contralto voice of exceptional richness, with the lower register equal to that of Clara Butt. The greatest critics of the world have paid glowing tributes to her wonderful voice, artistic temperament and superb interpretation, while her diction has been described as the finest of any singer new before the public.

Miss Mylott inherited her musical gifts from both parents. At the age of seven her voice was already attracting attention, and while yet a mere child she was famous all over the continent. Mme. Melba, returning to the land of her birth, heard her and with the magnanimity of the truly great artist, recognized her unmistakable genius, and taking the warmest interest in the young singer, personally introduced her to Mme. Marchesi in Paris.

Miss Mylott, at the close of her studies under this great teacher, created a furore at the pupils' concert in the Salle Hoch, and Mme. Marchesi referred to her as a "favorite pupil," and said: "I have no hesitation in prophesying for Miss Mylott a great future in the artistic and musical world, from her great power and compass, artistic perception and temperament.

Miss Mylott has a striking stage presence and a charming personality. This, added to the rich, powerful organ quality of her mellow contralto voice, which she controls with perfect ease and faultless method, it is small wonder that she has roused vast audiences to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, and that in the land of her birth it is a nation's pride that bestows on her the affectionate title of "Australia's contralto."

Miss Mylott comes to the Grand Opera House, Peterboro, one night only, Wednesday, June 24th. Box Office open for sale of seats Monday morning at 9 a.m.

AN ACTION TO RECOVER COMMISSION

land?" asked Mr. Gordon.

The witness replied that he could not answer as he thought the court should decide.

His Honor upheld the witness. Mr. Gordon said he was merely taking a chance on the answer.

"You had better let me take the chances," said His Honor.

The witness stated Kidd was the only person outside of Dr. Amys whom he met during the negotiations.

Cross examined by Dan. O'Connell, the witness stated he bought the Carton property adjoining the Amys property. He failed to complete a deal himself, and in the latter part of 1912, he employed Kidd to make the purchase which was eventually effected after several offers had been revised. He paid Kidd for closing the deal.

The witness stated he did not know Kidd was a real setate agent when he acted for him in the Carton deal. He knew Kidd dabbled a bit in realty affairs, but would not say he was an out and out agent.

Kidd had told the witness the Amys property was a good buy. He did not mention a price at that time, but quoted one of $5,000 a day or so later. The deal was as good as off for a few months following, and during the latter part of March. It was necessary to enlarge the coal sheds and plant and the Amys property was again discussed, and a deal closed.

On the day the deal was closed, Dr. Amys had said, he wondered if Kidd would be standing in for commission.

The Plaintiff.

R. J. Kidd said he had entered into the real estate line in December, 1912. He met Dr. Amys about December 1, at the latter's office. He asked the doctor if he could list his property, and he replied he could, and Dr. Amys quoted $5,000. The defendant inquired regarding commission, and the witness told him his rate was two and one half per cent. The doctor figured that on $5,000, and stated $125 was O.K. The doctor stated he wished to sell the property as it was a noisy district. He interviewed Hicks and quoted him the price of $5,000, but he was not inclined to buy at that price at that time. Hicks was willing to pay $4,500 and the witness conveyed the offer to Dr. Amys, but he would not accept it. Mr. Hicks did not wish his name mentioned in the deal. Later, however, he agreed to let his name be known, and the witness introduced Hicks and the doctor at the latter's place. After the deal was completed, the doctor told the witness that he, the witness, had made a good deal, and everybody concerned were satisfied.

The witness said he was not giving his services as a matter of friendship, as claimed by the doctor, as he and the doctor were not wrapped up in friendship's bond.

Cross examined by Mr. O'Connell, the witness stated he was at one time a newspaper man, but latterly was a real estate agent and insurance agent. He started in the real estate business in 1911 and closed two or three deals other than the Amys and Carton lands. Books were produced to show the properties listed and transactions completed. The witness stated he listed the Carton property and received an offer from Mr. Hicks. It was lower than the price asked by Carton, but Mr. Carton accepted the offer on condition that Hicks would pay the commission, which he did.

G. N. Gordon at this juncture read the evidence of Dr. Amys on his examination for discovery. In the examination the doctor stated he had not engaged any agent, but had discussed the sale of the land with Mr. Kidd. He stated Kidd told him he had something to reveal. Kidd said something about Hicks. The physician had mentioned that he wondered if Kidd would be looking for a commission.

Dr. Amys in his evidence on the stand said that although he was not very anxious to sell his property, he was always willing to sell if he could get the price. In December, 1912, Mr. Kidd approached him and said he had something to reveal as a friend. He told the doctor that two people were after the Carton land and one of the prospective purchasers intended to operate an obnoxious trade. The other party was Mr. Hicks and he did not object to his name being known. He said Hicks had an option on the Carton property, but would not buy it unless he could secure the witness' property. Kidd then asked for a price and the witness replied he would sell for $5,000. He denied that commission entered into the conversation. Witness could not remember having told Kidd, the latter had made a good sale. A few days after Kidd had interviewed the witness, Hicks phoned and said the price was too high. Kidd might have negotiated again but he could not say for sure, but at any rate he could remember that Hicks and Kidd came to his home on the day the deal was finally closed.

The witness met Mr. Kidd later and the latter tried to sell him other properties including the Clementi property on Water Street and the McGraw on George Street. The witness stated that all through the negotiations he believed that Mr. Kidd was acting for Mr. Hicks.

Cross Examination.

Cross examined by G. N. Gordon, Dr. Amys was closely questioned regarding his statement, "I wonder if Kidd will be looking for a commission."

"Why did you have a doubt if you knew Kidd was not going to get a commission?"

"I wanted to find out if Mr. Hicks was going to pay him or if he was employed by him."

He admitted interviewing Hicks several times since the action started to see if he could remember saying that he, Hicks, said Kidd would not be looking for a commission or he was doing some work for him. Hicks could not remember it. The witness also stated he had interviewed Mr. Hicks to find out how many times Hicks called on the witness.

Kidd had introduced Hicks and an another occasion had spoken to him about buying Hicks' home. As far as the witness could remember Kidd was present when the deal was closed.

The witness said he did not know anything about Mr. Kidd asking him before the property was sold about moving the fence.

"Then how did Mr. O'Connell know of it?"

"There was never a dispute or

ROWELL COAXES HELP OF FRENCH-CANADIANS

Liberal Leader's Promise to Retain Their "Mother Tongue" in English Schools.

That N. W. Rowell, leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, is seeking by every means in his power to strike a pre-election bargain with French-Canadian voters throughout the province is by this time abundantly clear. Challenged again and again to make his position on the bi-lingual issue plain to the electors, he has evaded a direct reply, smothering his meaning in round-about phraseology.

In his manifesto to the people of the province while he deluges the Minister and Department of Education with abuse, he cunningly omits any mention of bi-lingualism. But not so when he finds himself before an audience at New Liskeard on June 10th. There the topic of the rights of the French language in the public schools of the Province looms almost as big in Mr. Rowell's hands as "Abolish the Bar." These were his words:

> "But as there are children in this Province belonging to other races, as English is the language of commerce, so is their's the language of diplomacy and of literature and of science, and it is only natural that they should desire to retain their mother tongue, and so, consistent with a good English education on the one hand, I would be glad to see, and I believe all public-spirited citizens would be glad to see, the children of our French-Canadian fellow-citizens receive an education in their mother tongue as well." (Loud applause).—Toronto Globe, June 11, 1914.

Again at the nomination of Mr. Racine in Russell, Mr. Sam Clarke of Northumberland, one Mr. Rowell's most zealous supporters in the Legislature, declared on a public platform that the Toronto attitude on the bi-lingual question was to be attributed to "the ignorance and miserable suspicions that the Conservatives entertained."

In other places, speakers have pointed to Mr. Rowell as the man who would "settle" the bi-lingual question.

Before that opportunity reaches Mr. Rowell the electors will have an opportunity to express an opinion.

BECK AND HANNA

Magnificent Work For Hydro-Electric Cause and Prison Reform Awaits Electors' Endorsement.

The people of Ontario will be called upon on June 29th to express approval along with other matters, of the admittedly great work accomplished by Hon. Adam Beck for Hydro-electric development and by Hon. W. J. Hanna for Prison Reform. That either man could be spared from the public's service may well seem inconceivable, and yet the summary dismissal of both from tasks which even Mr. Rowell admits have been magnificently managed is one of the grave consequences which Mr. Rowell asks the people to permit.

Hon. Mr. Hanna has, by his personal enthusiasm for prison reform, upset the old regime of stone walls, striped clothes, armed guards and shackles. At the Guelph Prison Farm and the various Industrial Farms now dotting the province the reclamation of unfortunate men has attracted attention from all over the world, and the public purse has been relieved by making the institutions self-sustaining. Mr. Hanna's reforms in the methods of treating the insane in the asylums and in managing the hospitals have been as radical and quite as successful, gaining the heartiest approval of the medical profession.

Hon. Adam Beck's whole public career is written in the success of the Hydro-Electric movement, which though now of mammoth proportions is only at the commencement of its usefulness. In 1913 there were over 63,000 customers for light and over 3,500 for power, enjoying rates much below the old monopoly standard. The demand for public-owned power has become universal in the province and estimates are prepared and surveys made in new sections as quickly as the engineering department can take the different sections up. Hon. Mr. Beck capped the climax of his endeavors so far when at the last session the Government unanimously endorsed his measure to construct hydro-electric radials.

Mr. Carruthers is the first blind graduate to sign the Ontario barristers' roll. He will practice in Toronto with G. O. Plaxton.

EXPERIMENT FAILED.

Canada Not Successful In Colonizing Reindeer In Northwest.

All but three of the forty reindeer that were sent by the Dominion Government three years ago to Fort Smith, in the Mackenzie River country, have died or escaped. The experiment in deer colonization, so far as the Canadian territories are concerned, seem to have been a failure. The animals were brought from Dr. Grenfell's herds in Newfoundland and taken by a long rail and water route to Fort Smith, reaching there in such condition that the experiment looked at first very hopeful. But the colonization has been harder than the transportation. The reindeers from Newfoundland never were disposed to make themselves really at home in the Canadian North, and as aliens in a strange land they have, one by one, pined away or broken from the captivity that fenced them in.

What led the Dominion Government to make the experiment was the remarkable success which had resulted from a similar trial in Alaska. Some fifteen or twenty animals were imported from Siberia, about twenty years ago, by one of the missionaries then working in Alaska, and the experiment gave such promise of working out satisfactorily that the Government was later induced to take it over and develop it on a larger scale. There are now said to be fifty thousand thrifty reindeer grazing on Alaskan moors and wilderness pastures that are the descendants of these first Siberian colonizers, and of those imported at subsequent dates after the Government took over the project. All the herds are now let out on easy terms to the native herders, under Government control, and already the profits have been 300 per cent. on the original investment.

The results of this deer colonization in Alaska have been just what our own Government had hoped for in the Mackenzie country. The Alaskans were, generally speaking, a poor and thriftless people, without any permanent industry, and always on a narrow margin of food supply. But now they have no fear of starvation, for the reindeer gives an unfailing supply of meat and milk, while its skin makes warm and serviceable clothing in a country where substantial raiment is a necessity.

Never was there a more complete social revolution, the domesticated reindeer proving nothing less than a benefactor to mankind. The responsibility of taking care of the herds has developed the natives from rather shiftless hunters and trappers into men of regular and thrifty habits. Even their dwelling-places have changed, and from wretched hovels they have become comfortable and sometimes well-furnished homes. The rindeer, in short, is not only feeding and clothing the people, but is giving them the economic and domestic benefits of a permanent occupation.

WHAT A LIBERAL PAPER HAS TO SAY OF MR. SODEN CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE

(Midland Free Press)

Mr. R. J. Soden, an old Midland boy, has received the Conservative nomination for the riding of West Peterborough. We need hardly say that though opposed to us in political creed, we wish him success. Mr. Soden, while in Midland, was one of our most progressive citizens, and it was through him that the Canada Iron Furnace Co. was induced to locate its plant here. Always an ardent politician, he took an active part in all municipal and parliamentary affairs, and while a staunch Conservative at all times, he still made many friends among his opponents on account of the clean, fair methods which he always adopted in furthering the cause of his party.

He will make an energetic representative for any riding, and West Peterborough, if it elects him, at the coming election, will secure a clean, just and aggressive member, who, from our knowledge of him, will not allow any consideration to outweigh his convictions of what is right in all matters affecting the province.

Mr. Soden has made a clean-cut statement regarding his stand on the temperance question. He is even willing to go a little farther than the Rowell policy of abolish the bar. He is in favor of doing away with the shop and club license as well. It is up to the temperance people of this Province to stand together, regardless of politics, if they ever hope to rid Canada of its greatest curse.

OLD GOVERNMENT HOUSE PAID THE ENTIRE COST

Handsome Building to House Ontario's Governor Places no Burden on Taxpayers.

In securing for Ontario a new Government House the Whitney Government has used only the money derived from the sale of the old Government House. This money could, under the law as it existed, be used only for Government House purposes. Originally the property belonged to the Dominion of Canada, but was transferred to the province on the undertaking that the property, or the proceeds of any sale of it, would be utilised for a Government House.

Too Good For Ontario?

Accordingly, a new site was obtained and a building erected which will in every way be a credit to the province. The chief objection the Opposition has to it is that it is too good for Ontario, but the better the building is the better is the bargain Ontario has secured. So far the province has spent $608,000 on the site, laying out the grounds and erecting the building, which is nearly completed. There remains on hand a balance of about $200,000 to pay for the completion of the undertaking, so that the land given to the province for Government House purposes and sold so advantageously by the Whitney Government will about provide a new and modern Government House for the province.

Uses of Government House

It should be remembered that the Government House is more than the official residence of the Lieutenant-Governor. It is a building in which the people of Ontario offer accommodation at the Capital for the Governor-General, his family and staff from time to time. Here also are entertained, sometimes at the request of the Imperial Government, the representatives of foreign nations, as well as distinguished men from different parts of the British Empire. The Government House is also used on behalf of the people of Ontario to show respect to great public bodies promoting philanthropic, religious and industrial enterprises who may visit the capital of the Province. Considering that the structure now approaching completion is intended to meet the requirements of the province for perhaps a long period, it is evident that those who think the Government House is too good for Ontario fail to appreciate the future of this province and its importance as a part of the Empire.

MILK PRODUCTION

The manufacturer perhaps more than the retailer looks closely after the matter of cost knowing that his principal hope of making a good profit lies in attaining economy in the actual production of the article, for no profit can be expected if the selling price is below the cost price.

Is not the dairy farmer a manufacturer? So it would seem to be wisdom to look the more closely after cost, especially as he does not expect the selling price of milk to soar. Assuming that the farm is in good condition and carefuly handled. What does milk cost per hundred pounds? That can be ascertained only by keeping records of each individual cow.

This is all the more necessary because "men (and cows) were deceivers ever." They may appear to be good, heavy producers, but their value as economical producers can only be determined when their yield of milk and fat is checked up by the scales and test. Of what us is it when the factory pays 95 cents per 100 pounds to keep cows whose milk costs $1.25 per 100 pounds just for feed alone? This is what often happens till cow-testing is taken up. Milk and feed record forms are supplied free on application to the dairy division, Ottawa.

It is quite possible to have one dollar's worth of feed return two dollar's worth of milk through good cows, that is cows selected by the test. This is both economical and profitable milk production. The average cow is not an economical producer because she has not been selected, but, like Topsy, "just growed." A dairy farmer will prove his business ability as a manufacturer when the herd is composed of economical producers. Make each cow pay a good profit.

Big Words Were Wasted.

"Did the deceased articulate prior to his demise?"

The Irishman, catching only the sound, and not the sense of the words, answered impatiently: "Rats and mice nothin'! All I know is that the man's dead!"

$30,000,000 FOR ROADS

Whitney Government Meets Great Need of Farmers —How Money Will be Spent.

That the people of Ontario should spend thirty millions of money upon good country roads is a recommendation of the Public Roads and Highways Commission made at the last session which the Government is carrying into effect as quickly as township and county plans can be completed. The proposal includes the construction of 7,500 miles of township roads, covering practically every highway in Ontario. The provincial subsidy for county road construction is to be increased to 40 per cent. with a like grant for maintenance, and the province will make a grant of 20 per cent. for township roads. Of the $30,000,000 the province and the counties will each pay $12,000,000 and cities $6,000,000.

CANADIAN PEACE CENTENARY ASS'N

Movement for Peace Celebration Taking Rapid Hold in Canada

The movement for celebrating the hundred years of peace between the British Empire and the United States is, judging by a circular just issued by the Canadian Peace Centenary Association, taking rapid hold in Canada, Great Britain and the United States.

The general proposals contain four features, (1) Monuments and other memorials, (2) Thanksgiving Services in the Churches, (3) Educational Propaganda, (4) Festivities.

The Circular enumerates various suggestions regarding the erection of monuments, and states that the matter has been referred to an International Committee.

February 14, 1915, has been selected for Thanksgiving Services in all the churches of the British Empire and the United States. This date is the nearest Sunday to February 17, 1915, the centenary of the ratification of the Treaty of Ghent.

The educational propaganda includes several important features among which may be mentioned the preparation of a series of pamphlets dealing with the various treaties which have made the long peace possible, which it is intended to send to all the schools in Canada. Tableaux and masques are in course of preparation which will also be sent to the schools for production upon a date to be hereafter arranged. A somewhat unique proposal is that schools in Canada and the United States in places bearing the same name should be invited to exchange shields. It is intended to ararnge for the writing of competitive essays on Anglo-American relations and provision is being made for Provincial and Dominion prizes.

About 100 centres have been chosen for special celebrations in Canada and strong local committees have been arranged for in a majority of these.

The circular also reports the progress made in Great Britain and the United States and contains replies received last Christmas from world rulers to a message sent in connection with the celebration by the American Committee.

The Dominion Government has arranged for an appropriation to meet the preliminary organization expenses. In announcing this the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden said: "The cause which the Canadian Peace Centenary Association and the corresponding bodies in the United States and the United Kingdom have set before them is one with which we are warmly sympathetic. It is a triumph of humanity that during a century of rapid development, despite the existence of serious international differences and problems, the British Empire and the United States have found wiser and more humane methods of adjusting differences than the arbitrament of war. We welcome the achievement of a century of peace, and hope that it still be prove to be but the first century of peace, the forerunner of a long series stretching into the future as far as human anticipation can trust itself.

The list of members is most representative one and contains the names of all the Lt. Governors, all the Ministers of Education and nearly all the Premiers in Canada. Among those prominent in this province who have identified themselves with this movement may be mentioned:—

The President of the Canadian Peace Centenary Association is Sir Edmund Walker of Toronto, and the Honorary Secretary Major Hamilton of Ottawa.

Those desiring copies of the Circular should address Mr. E. H. Scammell, Organising Secretary, Hope Chambers, Ottawa.

A PROMISE

It Was Well Kept and Did Great Good.

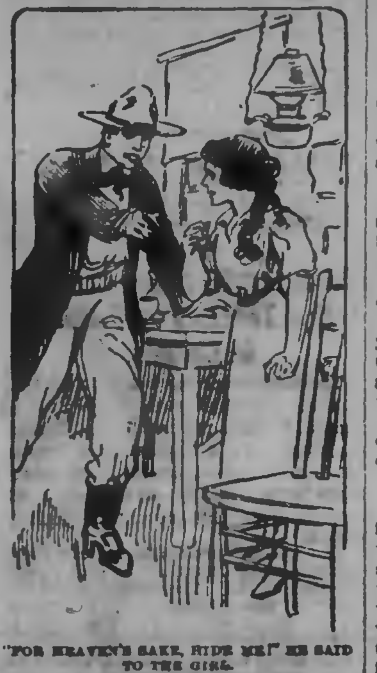
By EVERITT P. CLARKE

About the middle of the nineteenth century, when the wild and woolly west deserved the appellation, a girl in a frontiersman's cabin was getting supper in anticipation of her father's coming home from attending to his daily duties. She was about fifteen years old and seemed to be made up principally of arms and legs. Nevertheless her face was pretty, and she gave promise after passing the filly age of making a comely woman. While she was standing over the cook stove she heard a clattering of horse's hoofs without, which grew rapidly nearer, and in a few moments a horseman galloped up to the door and threw himself from his animal, which he struck on the haunch and sent on its way.

"Hide me! For heaven's sake, hide me!" he said to the girl.

His haste made it plain that there was no time for explanation, and the girl, moved by his piteous condition,



"FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE, HIDE ME!" HE SAID TO THE GIRL.

led him to an upper story of the house and put him in a closet. Then, going below, she waited breathlessly for what might happen. But a few minutes elapsed before half a dozen men broke into the clearing and came toward the house. All passed on but one, who pulled up at the open door and called out to the girl:

"Seen a man go by here just now?"

"Yes."

"Which way did he go?"

"I heard his horse gallopin' into the timber over there," pointing.

The man started off and joined the others. After awhile the fugitive came downstairs. He was not over twenty-five years old and good looking, though his face was ashy pale. He went up to the girl, took her hand in his and said feelingly:

"You've saved my life."

"What did they want with you?" she asked.

"They wanted to hang me."

"What for?"

"Well, I'm the slickest gambler in the territory. I went into the settlement down the creek and cleaned 'em all out. Besides, I've done more shootin' than all the rest of 'em put together. They decided that I am too desperate a character to have around, so they concluded to git rid of me."

The girl listened to this with a sober countenance.

"What makes you look so sorry?" asked the man.

"I don't like to think of you as a gambler."

He seemed touched by her interest in him. "What difference does it make to you whether I'm good or bad?" he asked.

"Reckon I'd rather save a good man from the vigilantes than a bad one. I suppose I should have given you up."

The man looked at her intently for a few moments, then, "But you didn't," he said. "Would you have given me up if you had known I was a gambler?"

"I don't know that I would."

"Would you rather I wouldn't be a gambler?"

"Yes."

"Or a shooter?"

"Yes."

"Little girl, give me some of that supper you're cookin'. I'm hungry and need sustenance."

The girl, who had been frying some bacon and potatoes, put a part of them on a plate and set it on the table. The young man sat down, and she poured him a cupful of coffee. He had somewhat recovered his nerve and ate heartily. When he had finished he rose and, pouring out on the table a heap of money that he had won by gambling, looked at her as much as to say, "Will you take it?"

She shook her head.

A look of disappointment crossed his face.

"What can I do," he asked, "to repay you for saving me from the vigilantes?"

"Stop gamblin' and shootin' and all the other things."

He made no reply to this, but seemed to have been deeply moved. He stood looking out through the open door in the direction the vigilantes had taken and listening. Presently he said:

"I reckon I'd better git out of here while I have a chance. They'll overtake my horse and, seein' no rider on him, will know that they've passed me. They'll come back for me."

He took the girl's hand and looked earnestly into her eyes.

"Say, little gal, if it hadn't been for you I'd be swingin' now. You own the rest of my life. For you I'll stop gamblin' and shootin' and the other things. Goodby."

He bent down, kissed her, then struck out for the timber on that side of the clearing from which he had come.

II.

In a gambling house a man was dealing faro to a motley crowd, few of whom possessed some claims to respectability, while the most of them were roughs. A young clergyman, whose calling was denoted solely by a white necktie, entered and announced that services would be held that evening in the building commonly used for a dance hall and he hoped that all in the room would make it a point to attend. No one paid any attention to him. Presently his attention was arrested by a girl of twenty who entered the room, walked up to an elderly man who sat at one of the tables where a game of poker was being played and, placing her hand on his shoulder, said persuasively:

"Come away, father."

The clergyman watched her, looking into her face inquiringly. When she spoke he started. Memory seemed to be working within him. Then suddenly something was recalled, and his face lighted up.

"You go home with your daughter," he said to the man the girl was trying to get away, "and I'll play your hand for you."

Every one at the table looked at the speaker wonderingly, for a clergyman to gamble, even for another, was remarkable. The man he addressed looked up at him curiously and saw something in the resolute face that led him to obey. He rose from the table and gave the clergyman his seat. The girl, too, looked at the latter curiously, then took her father by the arm and was leading him away when the clergyman asked:

"How much have you lost?"

"All I had—$1,200."

The father and daughter passed out, and the game went on. There were three men at the table besides the one in the white necktie, and every one of the three was a card sharp. There were old tricks and new tricks practiced by the sharpers. The clergyman seemed a bit unfamiliar with the new, but thoroughly versed in the old. However, he had not played long before all schemes were alike familiar to him. The game was simply one of wits against wits. When a player was detected in cheating he returned his winnings. He was not abashed, and no one objected. As the game went on a number of persons stood about the table watching it, especially interested in the clergyman's sleight of hand. Slowly, but surely, the pile of bank bills and gold pieces before him increased. It was not only his skill in card manipulating that attracted attention, but that one of his calling should be so versed in the ways of card sharps. At last he called a halt and counted his winnings. They figured $1,200. Shoving the $60 over to the others, he scooped the rest into his handkerchief and, rising from the table, said:

"Gentlemen, I trust you will all be at the services this evening."

What five years before had been a clearing had now grown into a town. True, there was but one street in it, but the clergyman, leaving the gambling den, pursued that street, stopped before a house and knocked at the door. It was opened by the girl who had led her father from the game.

"I have brought you," said the latter, "the sum you told me you had lost to those card sharps."

And he emptied his handkerchief of its contents on the table.

Both father and daughter looked at him with the same continued astonishment.

"Do you remember some years ago," said the clergyman to the girl, "saving a man's life from a vigilance committee?"

"I do."

"He was to repay you by abjuring his evil ways and trying to be of some use in the world."

"You are that man?"

"I am."

"You are no older looking than then, but you are different looking, else I would have known you."

"I have kept my promise. I find I can do most good among the people with whom I was familiar in those days, now horrible to me, when I was a card sharp and a desperado. It is to you I owe my reformation as well as my life." Then, turning to the father of the girl, he added: "The men with whom you were playing are cheats. You are no match for them. What they took from you dishonestly I got back honestly, for we all knew that it was not cards we were playing, but sleight of hand with cards."

The fame of the clergyman who had beaten card sharps at their own game spread abroad and curiosity to see him brought him a large assemblage at the meeting he had announced for the evening. Many were moved by his eloquence. Before he left the place he had reformed it, and with him as his wife and coworker went the girl who, by reforming him, reformed many others.

Influx Declines.

A big dropping off in immigration into Canada is told by the statistics for the month of April prepared by the Department of the Interior at Ottawa. The decrease is shown in the arrivals from all countries. The total immigration to the Dominion for April last was 35,432 as against 73,285 for April of 1913, or a decrease of about 52 per cent. British arrivals for April last totalled 10,032, as against 25,566 for the corresponding month last year. American arrivals totalled 11,748, as against 19,260 for the corresponding month last year, while continental and other arrivals totalled 13,652 as against 28,459 for the corresponding month last year.

THE BROWN THRUSH.

Canadian Songster Is a Musician and a Great Fighter.

No Canadian, parrying on the defensive when the occasional taunt is heard about our having no song birds, ever omits the thrasher, or brown thrush. This migrant unfailingly sets its arrival from the South for the end of April, and when the first week in October marks its departure again none of the feathered community is more genuinely missed. To hear this bird uttering sweetest melody from the topmost branches o' some isolated park tree is one of the cheeriest, most inspiring impulses of a pleasant spring morning or evening. For the major part of the day its habit is to resort to the thicker clumps of low bushes, so that one runs the best chance for renewing old acquaintance on the town outskirts.

About the size of a robin, the thrasher cuts no mean dash in its upper plumage of rich cinnamon red and the white of its lower portions the latter with variations of darkish streaks in attractive relief. The tail, which is rather more than five inches long, is a prominent feature.

They come by this musical gift naturally, for, although termed "thrushes" from some similarity in feeding habits, in reality they are of the mocking bird family, like the catbirds. The thrasher's solo is not quite so varied as the catbird's, nor is he the same accomplished mimic, but his notes are of fuller tone. Very soon the thrashers will be nesting, choice being made of a scrubby, close thicket, a few feet from the ground. Sometimes the nest—with its four or five white eggs (a palest suspicion of green), thickly, but finely, dotted in reddish brown—is found right on the ground. It were well if all our small friends would show fight like the thrashers. The conduct of the female when nesting is nothing short of surprising, if her rather shy traits at other seasons are remembered. More than a few young bird-stalkers have been startled out of their wits when a mother-bird, far from retreating upon the intruder's approach, would dart out—literally hissing mad. She will attack men or dogs with equal vehemence. A black snake is the thrasher's special object of vengeance, and one who has perhaps just arrived and is contemplating a pleasant fledgling breakfast, is generally given his quietus by repeated blows on the head inflicted by the enraged parent.

Caterpillars and beetles, worms and grubs, are this bird's chosen food until small wild fruits ripen, with which its diet is then varied. Its aid as a diligent pest exterminator should not be underestimated.

A Speculator.

"What is the matter with you?"

"I dunno."

"Let me give you a pill."

"What is it good for?"

"I dunno."

"Then why should I take it?"

"If you don't know what ails you and I don't know what this pill is good for it seems to me that the two would go well together."

Paradoxically.

"He has money to burn."

"Indeed!"

"You bet."

"And does he burn it?"

"Never."

"Why?"

"He wouldn't have it if he did.

Hard to Please.

"It is so hard to pay a compliment to a fat woman."

"Tell her she is getting so thin that she ought to call a physician."

"No; she would know that was flattery."

"Then say that she is all wool and a yard wide."

TUB FROCKS.

Washable Crapes Are Popular For These Costumes.

STRIPED MORNING GOWN.

Crape is the popular fabric for tub gowns this season, and fortunately the manufacturers are able to give it to us in qualities that survive the effects of washing. Though they look so dainty and delicate and in many cases cleverly imitate the appearance of silk, yet they will emerge unscathed from the water if they are carefully handled. For this reason many of the practical morning gowns for spring are carried out in crape. They are simply and attractively made with straight, flowing lines. Usually the bodice opens over a dainty chemisette of white organdie, while the lines of the skirt may be broken by a box plait down the front.

A practical feature of the tub frock is the detachable tunic. A novel idea is to wear with the tub gown a detachable tunic of taffeta. These are effective over skirts of white crape, lace or embroidered net. Girdles and sashes are also used to give the touch of color which is demanded.

Illustrated here is a pretty morning frock of striped material. It has collar and cuffs of white organdie, and the note of color is imparted by the fringed sash of soft blue silk.

COMMENCEMENT GIFTS.

Dainty Tokens Which Are Suitable For This Purpose.

Ribbon decorations are seen in all kinds of forms and shapes. A little ribbon ornament utility case or bag fashioned from ribbon would make a very acceptable remembrance.

The ribboned hatpins are very nice. To make them ribbon is formed into small roses and then glued into the pins. An unusual ribbon rose, for a dress or a hat may be made by having the outer petals of cream lace. Gold lace can be substituted for the cream with very rich effect. This combination of ribbon and lace in the making of a rose creates a very good looking flower.

A bunch of roses or even a single rose in a small hat shaped box covered with Dresden ribbon would be an extremely dainty yet useful token.

Flower Muffs.

Flower muffs are not new, but their charm is such that they are revived in some form each year. They are especially favored for bridesmaids and matrons of honor, who find them a picturesque substitute for the bunch of flowers. Illustrated here is a large muff of violets worn with a little lace hat in which a cluster of violets is nestling. Violets also appear in the flowered pattern of the taffeta gown.

VIOLET MUFF.

Fumigating with sulphur will kill water bugs.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Buttermilk will insure much softer and lighter hot rolls than plain milk.

If a glass jar refuses to open set it top down in an inch or two of hot water.

When bacon is good and sweet the lean is firm and bright and the fat quite white.

Sandwiches made of chopped sweet peppers are delicious for the school lunch basket.

If potatoes are being cooked for salad boil them with the skins on. They will be less soggy.

If you want to keep fruit cake moist for a long time put a piece of bread in the tin box with it.

SUMMER GOWNS.

Suits and One Piece Costumes of Washable Materials.

Interest has been shown in suits of linens, ratines, eponges, novelty cords and other wash fabrics, says the Dry Goods Economist.

They are made on similar lines to those of the serge and gabardine suits, some showing the new long tunic skirt and others the simple tailored skirt with side front pockets.

The very short jackets are the best sellers, but new models with coattails in the back are also being shown.

Perfectly plain, man tailored suits of linen or of crash are looked upon with favor and are expected to be good sellers during the hot weather.

CRAPE GOWN.

Blue cotton crape was pleasing used in the creation of this attractive summer afternoon gown. A touch of sheerness was imparted to the gown by the vest of lace and organdie. Flowered crape was used for the cuffs and girdle. The tunic was embellished by a ripple flounce.

LARDED DANDELIONS.

Wash and cut up fine four pounds of dandelions and put them in a stew pan. At the same time beat an egg and add it to a large cup of cream, mixing the two on the fire until thickened. Then add a piece of butter the size of a nut, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, salt and pepper to please. Turn this sauce on the leaves, mix and stir until they are tender. Serve garnished with little pieces of fried bacon.

Of course this must mean that the greens are cooked before the sauce is added.

The One That Counted.

Her boy had just enlisted and she was sorely distressed, said the woman who saw. Her friends were trying to ease her mind with futile comparisons and hopeful assurances. "It won't last long and won't be very bad," they told her. "It just can't be. And what's 'four killed,' or even a dozen or a score, to the gory wars of times gone by?"

"A score or even half a dozen's quite some!" she sighed and brushed away a tear. "You talk to me as a Russian crowd once talked to a mother," she continued vindictively. "It was during a Crimean war skirmish, and they were gathered round the newspaper bulletin to get the latest account of the engagement. A peasant woman was loudly bewailing the fearful slaughter. 'That's neither a slaughter nor is it especially fearful,' explained a pompous bystander. 'Why, there's hardly any one killed at all! Only one Cossack!' 'It was a fearful slaughter,' wailed the woman, 'for that one Cossack was my Cossack!'"—New York Sun.

POPULAR BOWSER

He Enters a Church Contest for a Walking Stick.

By M. QUAD

[Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.]

"BY George, but there's a chance for some fun!" exclaimed Mr. Bowser as he looked up from the paper.

"What is it?" asked Mrs. Bowser.

"Your church is to hold a festival Saturday evening, isn't it, and a gold headed cane is to be voted to the most popular man in town?"

"But where is the fun?"

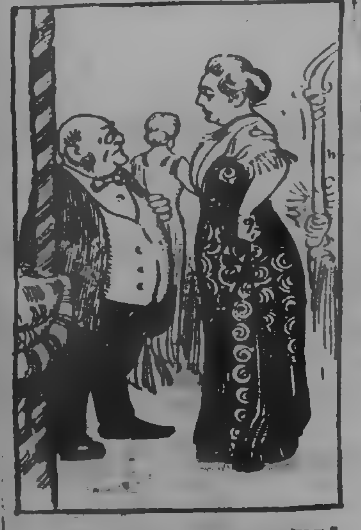
"In getting the stick. Say, now, but we'll be on hand, and if I don't get that stick over all the other candidates you may call me a goat! It's a fifteen dollar stick and just what I want. You must have known about the festival, as you go to that church very often."

"But you see"— began Mrs. Bowser, and then checked herself.

"What do I see? The stick goes to the most popular man in town. Conceited old Brown will think he's sure of it, and Jackson will grin and tumble over himself, but they won't be in it with me. It will be just like rolling off a log to win."

"I—I hadn't thought of going," stammered Mrs. Bowser.

"Well, you can make up your mind to go. Indeed, I should think you'd be proud to have me bear off the prize. Won't it please you to discover that I'm the most popular man in town?"



"OUR PASTOR SHOULD CALL ON YOU."

"Y-e-s, of course, but suppose it shouldn't turn out that way?"

His by Right.

"But it's got to turn out that way—got to do it. Haven't I been asked to run for alderman? Haven't I contributed to the free ice and sick baby funds? Don't we give to every charity, and don't all the children on the street run after me? Why, I gave $25 in cash to help build that very edifice. If there's a more popular man in town than I am I'd like to know him."

"Then, if you shouldn't get the cane, then you'd—you'd"—

"Then I'd what? It looks to me as if you didn't want me to get it. Perhaps you had intended to vote for some other candidate? Well, you go ahead and vote for whom you please, but I'll walk home with that cane just the same. We go to the festival Saturday evening."

That settled it, and Mrs. Bowser had no more objections to offer. Mr. Bowser took hold of the matter in his enthusiastic way. He let it be known that he was in the hands of his friends and that his friends were expected to vote early and often and pull him through. For four days and evenings he went about talking of the matter, with the result that "popular candidates" appeared in all directions. Mrs. Bowser had fears and doubts, but whenever she threw out a hint Mr. Bowser drew himself up and replied:

"I'll win, and don't you worry about it. It looks as if there might be a dozen candidates, but I'll smash 'em to squash as soon as the voting begins. I've had no less than seven men ask me if I would run for mayor next year, and I believe I'll take a nomination."

Merely Mrs. Bowser's Husband.

When the fateful evening finally arrived the Bowsers were on hand at an early hour. It didn't take Mr. Bowser over ten minutes to discover that things were not exactly as he had explained. In the first place, it was 10 cents a vote, and in the next he was a stranger to most of the church people, and none of them seemed to have marked him down as a candidate. He soon came upon a stern, severe looking woman, who made inquiry of him:

"I understand that you are Mrs. Bowser's husband, and how does it come that we never see you here of a Sunday with her?"

"I—I am not much of a churchgoer," he stammered in explanation.

"That is, you don't feel it a duty to set a good example to others?"

"I hope I am not a bad man."

"Did it ever occur to you that you had a soul?"

"Of course."

"I am afraid it hasn't. Poor Mrs. Bowser! We often talk about and pity her. I think our pastor should call on you and have a serious talk."

Uneasy, but Determined.

A little later on Mr. Bowser met a male acquaintance who expressed great surprise at seeing him there and asked if he intended to rent a family pew.

"I'm after that stick," was the reply.

"But you—you can't expect to win it."

"I'd like to know why not."

The man looked at him with a pitying expression, but had no explanation to make. A doubt crept into Mr. Bowser's mind for the first time, and he hunted up Mrs. Bowser to say:

"I believe this crowd has put up a job to beat me."

"I don't think so," she replied. "But suppose we go home? It's crowded and uncomfortable, and I know you are not enjoying yourself."

"When I go home that cane goes with me!" he announced as he set his jaw. "I'm either the most popular man in town or I'm not, and it's a good time to find out how I stand."

A Dead Game Sport.

When the voting for the cane began Mr. Bowser stood alone. He saw that he was out of it, and Mrs. Bowser made another effort to get him home, but his mind was made up to die game. He bought a hundred of Bowser tickets at one swoop and deposited them in the box, and these put him up far ahead of any other candidate. His period of exultation was brief, however. It was the crowd against Bowser, but he was a fighter. He had $00 in his wallet, and not till the last cent was gone did he abandon the struggle. When the ballots were counted up he found he had lost by over 200 votes.

"I'm so sorry!" whispered Mrs. Bowser as she followed him out of the church.

He made no reply.

"It was awful that you paid out $00 and didn't get the cane after all!"

She heard him gritting his teeth, but he answered never a word.

"You are probably the most popular man in town, but they combined against you."

Mr. Bowser Sees It All.

Still not a word. Side by side they walked home and entered the house. Mr. Bowser turned up the hall gas, hung up his hat, and as Mrs. Bowser sank down into a chair he shouted:

"Woman, this is the end!"

"W-what do you mean?" she asked.

"You worked your little game and got me downed. No excuses or explanations will go!"

"But what did I do?"

"My lawyer will be here about 10 o'clock in the morning. You can doubtless have yours meet him at that hour. It won't take long to arrange matters."

"But I—I"—

"That is all, Mrs. Bowser—all except the divorce and alimony. As I have some papers to prepare for the business tomorrow I will bid you good night—good night!"

"But can't"—

"Good night, Mrs. Bowser!" he repeated as he bowed and waved his hand and retired to the library. "Good night!"

Smallpox.

Smallpox appeared to have been first described by Rhazes, an Arabian physician living about 900 A. D. It was introduced into southern Europe in the time of the crusades and slowly spread into the more northern regions. In 1517 it was carried from Spain to Santo Domingo and thence to Mexico, where it is said to have swept off 3,500,000 of the natives. It spread rapidly all over the new world and whole villages, and even tribes of Indians were carried off by it.

A Church of Peace.

By one of those strange twists which sometimes occur in the history of nations, a charming bit of sentiment will be spun out of the present deliberations of the A.-B.-C. peace advocates in the war-worn Niagara peninsula. A little gray church, Our Lady of Peace, which has been standing on the c restabove the falls for more than two hundred years, harbored for a few moment of devotion one Sunday recently all South American delegates who cling to the Roman Catholic faith. Rev. Father O'Neil, who has labored in his parish in one sense extends a religious privilege, and in another repeats in an almost identical fashion a similar peace-seeking occasion in the history of the continent.

This little edifice which stands within a rifle shot of the Falls, was founded in 1668 by a pioneer missionary, Father Hennepin. During his peregrinations among pagan Indian bands, he came to the brow of the river and for the first time gazed upon the glory of the waterfall. Falling on his knees, he raised the crucifix in the air, and vowed to establish a chapel. When the war of 1812 occurred, the Archbishop of Toronto knelt within the walls which had arisen and prayed for peace. Then by permission of the Pope came the dedication, "Lady of Peace." Here, yet a hundred years later, voices will again be tuned with the same appeal for a ready acquiescence has been made.

Lost Their Teeth.

It is estimated that nearly two hundred dollars' worth of saws have been stripped of their teeth and utterly ruined at the Knechtel furniture factory here during the past few weeks through encountering steel sap spiles in the logs that are being cut up in the saw mill. The Good Friday storm of 1913 would seem to have blown down a few sugar bushes in this section, judging by the number of logs with sap spiles imbedded in them, which have found their way to the Knechtel factory here. As only a start has been made sawing up the two and a half million feet of timber in the company's yards here and already nearly $200 worth of damage has been done to the saws, the ultimate outlook seems good for a big bill of costs if the present gait keeps up.—Walkerton Herald-Times.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

PERHAPS women don't mean everything they say, but they always even things up by not saying everything they mean.

Not every time a man comes around and says a nice thing about you is he making ready to have you turn the grindstone. The trouble is you have no means of determining the happy time.

It is hard to convince a man he is a fool and entirely unnecessary. You can fool him without convincing him.

Some people are known by the skin games that they always let alone.

A smooth worker makes an easy dollar.

Liquor improves with age, and that's a hunch not to disturb a good thing when it is doing well.

The things we are going to do far, far outnumber the things that we arrive to do.

By Right of Capture.

Who gave us permission,
I'd just like to know,
To harness the horses
And tell them to go,
To hitch to a wagon,
A cart or a dray
The large, handsome creatures
And bid them obey?

A horse may have feelings.
He'd much rather spurn
The dust of the prairies
Than labor to earn
His oats, though the measure
Were full to the brim,
And hay in the manger
Were furnished to him.

Pray, how would you like it
To stand by a fence,
Tied there in cold weather
And call it horse sense?
You'd act rather balky
If you were a nag,
Kick over the traces
And chew up your tag.

Who gave us permission?
We took it; that's all.
When called on for labor
Our strength was too small,
So straightway we captured
The beautiful steed,
Employed him, returning
His pay in his feed.

Exacting.

"Some people are so hard to please."

"For example?"

"My wife."

"How about it?"

"I have just given her a check book, and what do you think she says?"

"Search me."

"Wants me to give her the bank, saying they will be so lovely in a pair."

So Clear.

"How did you like the speaker?"

"Very well."

"Did you understand what he was talking about?"

"Certainly."

"Then that is where you had the advantage over him."

Easy.

"A man never knows what to do when a baby cries."

"Oh, doesn't he?"

"No."

"You bet I do."

"Well, what?"

"Make a getaway."

Made Him Scarce.

"See as much of Jonesy as you used to?" asked the friend who had been away for some time.

"I don't think I do."

"He used to be quite devoted."

"Oh, that was before we were married."

Obvious.

"They say that she is a woman with a past."

"Yes, I think she is."

"I don't see how she shows it."

"Doesn't she look as if she has had ample time to accumulate a past?"

Broken In.

"Jones is always so happy. I don't understand it."

"Why not?"

"He is married."

"Oh, but he is used to it by this time."

She Felt It.

"Don't act that way or people will say you married me for my money."

"What do you care what they say?"

"Of course I care. You know the truth always hurts."

The Rotundity.

"Think there is a fourth dimension?"

"Oh, yes."

"What is it like?"

"My rich uncle's vest is cut to fit it."

Good Idea.

"I have a great deal of trouble."

"So do I."

"What do you do with it?"

"I give a lot of it to my landlord."

Sufficient Cause.

"She doesn't like him a bit."

"Doesn't she? I wonder why."

"He remembers her from fifteen years ago."

WIRELESS LIGHTING.

It Will Be a Scientific Development Said Nikola Tesla.

It is now ten years since that brilliant electric investigator, Nikola Tesla, wrote: "When the great truth accidentally revealed and experimentally confirmed, is fully recognized that this planet, with its appalling immensity, is to electric currents virtually no more than a small metal ball, and that by virtue of this fact many possibilities, each baffling imagination and of incalculable consequence, are rendered absolutely sure of accomplishment; when the first plant is inaugurated and it is shown that a telegraphic message, almost as secret and non-interferable as thought, can be transmitted to any terrestrial distance, the sound of the human voice, with all its intonations and inflections faithfully reproduced at any other point of the globe, the energy of a waterfall made available for supplying light, heat or motive power, anywhere—on sea or land, or high in air—humanity will be like an ant-heap stirred up with a stick. See the excitement coming!"

A few days ago he declared to a correspondent: "We surely are on the eve of the transmission of the voice across the world without wires—not merely signals, but the spoken word. Not only that but the transmission of power; and not only the transmission of power—all these things are wrapped up in the wireless transmission of 'energy'—but the wireless transmission of light to isolated places."

That will mean electric light in every house ultimately, in countries like ours where water power for the generating of power is common.

Tesla remarked further: "Once Marconi told the Royal Society we wouldn't have wireless telephony for two hundred years. When a man begins to see possibilities he begins to be helpful. We are about to see tremendous developments. When proper plants are up the voice will fly around the world—and that time is not distant. From my station at Wardencliffe, Long Island, I'm hoping to announce that I'm the first to send the voice around the world." Those who writhe under the yoke of telephonic monopoly, will add their prayers for the hastening of the time!

Had Cause For Doubt.

"Is that Justice with the pair of scales?"

"Certainly!"

"I'll bet it is a long while since the city inspector of weights and measures has put his O. K. on them."

How Could He?

"Do you ever save any money?"

"No; certainly not."

"You should."

"I should be glad to, but I never caught a dollar hollering to me to come and rescue it."

CHANGE OF ANGLE.

YOU may have noticed that the man
For law has great respect
And wants to see it all enforced,
Though fortunes should be wrecked,
Unless in getting these results
He tumbles in its net,
And then he isn't quite so sure
It's safe on that to bet.

If he can see his neighbor trimmed
In very proper style
Because he cracked an ordinance
He's pretty apt to smile,
But when the tall policeman comes
And says, "Old man, you're it"—
At such officiousness as that
He almost throws a fit.

It all depends, as you may guess,
On where his interests rest
Just how he wants the law enforced
When brought down to the test.
The man who robs his chicken coop
The deepest dregs should drink,
But when he breaks a law himself
He thinks it ought to wink.

Though he should organize a trust
Or go in a combine,
He doesn't think the law should rise
And soak him with a fine,
But if a highwayman should say,
"Hold up your hands, old sport!"
He'd want to see the limit fixed
By some discerning court.

Protestant Schools Fall Off.

In 1902 there were 899 Protestant elementary schools in Quebec, and in 1912 this number had fallen to 829. The pupils in 1902 numbered 27,693, and 1912 totalled 95,643. The city of Montreal accounted for 18,539 of these.

The number of Protestant pupils attending Roman Catholic elementary schools in 1912 was 453. The Roman Catholics attending Protestant elementary schools was 1,768; 279 Protestant pupils attending Roman Catholic model schools, and 155 Roman Catholics attending Protestant model schools. The totals worked out at: Protestant pupils attending Catholic schools of all kinds, 1,105, and Catholics attending Protestant schools, 2,118.

Canadian Handicraft In England.

With a view to popularizing in England some of the handicrafts of the women of Canada, Mrs. Scott Griffin, daughter of Sir William Mackenzie, has loaned her house in Curzon street for an exhibition.

Miss F. B. Symons has arrived from Canada, taking with her a number of most interesting specimens of handicrafts. The Canadian habitant homespuns to be shown are really beautiful specimens, excelling in variety and taste some of the best work of the women of Donegal and the Highlands.

Antiquities In the West.

Mr. Martin Harvey, in an address before the Women's Branch of the Antiquarian Society of Montreal, made an eloquent plea for the preservation of old buildings and other historic landmarks connected with the early days of Canada. He prefaced this serious portion of his address with some humorous comment.

"Perhaps the only regret that I felt when embarking on my present Canadian tour," said Mr. Harvey, "was that for several months I would be out of touch with those opportunities for antiquarian study and a necessary part of my daily life. I found, however, that I was mistaken, and that antiquarianism is, after all, only a relative term. One day, as we were being motored through one of those magnificent young cities of your West, I said to the leading citizen, who was the conductor:

"What is that large brick building on our right?"

"That building?" he rejoined. "Oh, that's the old Normal school, built about eight years ago. I'll show you the new one further on."

The lingering emphasis which our guide placed on the word "old" impressed me greatly, and I realized that after all I was once more in close association with my beloved hobby of antiquarianism.

CELEBRATES HIS JUBILEE

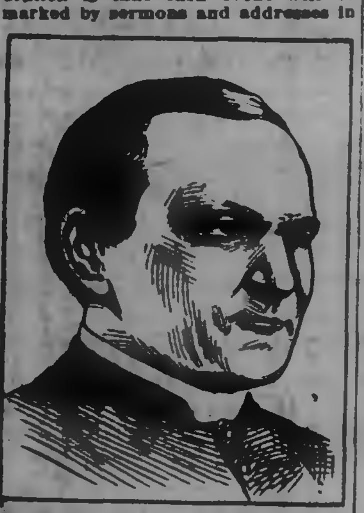
Mgr. Routhier Has Been 51 Years in Orders

Roman Catholics of every church in the archdiocese of Ottawa, will unite in a great celebration soon which will mark the golden anniversary of the ordination to the priesthood of Mgr. J. O. Routhier, vicar-general of the diocese, and parish priest of the Basilica de Notre Dame.

The occasion is deserving of special notice on account of the personality of the venerable clergyman and the unique nature of the event. The vicar general has spent a long and useful life in the services of his church and also in the broad field of charity and Christian kindness, which knows no ecclesiastical restrictions or limitations. His jubilee is a recognition, in a measure, of the intimate development of many of the capital's most practical movements for the benefit and assistance of the less fortunate of our fellow citizens.

A significant feature of the celebration is that each event will be marked by sermons and addresses in French and English so that the celebration will appeal to all. The opening ceremony will be the celebration of a solemn high mass at the basilica, which will be attended by a large number of distinguished clergymen. Immediately after a banquet will be given at the archbishop's palace and later addresses and presentations from the clergy and laity of the diocese will be tendered the venerable guest.



VENERABLE MGR. ROUTHIER.

Mgr. Routhier was born at St. Benedict, Que., in 1836, and is a member of a distinguished French family. At an early age he began to study and prepare for a life in the service of the church. He was ordained by Bishop Bourget at Montreal and was appointed parish priest of St. Therese. For many years he was director of the Catholic College there and in 1868 he had the honor of being chosen chaplain of the Papal Zouaves at Rome. In 1876 he was selected as parish priest of L'Orignal, in the Ottawa diocese, and some time thereafter was transferred to St. Anne's parish, Ottawa. In 1882 he became parish priest of the basilica and in 1890 the papal see conferred on him the title of monsigneur.

Mgr. Routhier's pastorate in the capital has been crowned in every way with success. The basilica has flourished under his rectorship and his kindly sympathy and charity have endeared him to all who knew him.

"Ethel wouldn't you like to have a little baby brother left at your house?"

"Baby brother?"

"Yes."

"Indeed, no."

"Why not?"

"Because babies are too common for anything. It's just like our washerwoman."

Making It Plain.

"You write to your girl friends on a typewriter?"

"I do."

"Isn't that bad form?"

"I don't know about that, but it is safest. I write such a miserable hand that when they can't make out a sentence they take it for a proposal."

The Lady Explained.

A young woman with fifteen bundles boarded the street car the other afternoon when I was on my way to my suburban residence. She was returning from a shopping tour. I helped her upon the car and piled her bundles about her. A man got on at the same time and took a seat on the other side of the lady. When the car came to my street I was surprised to see her rise and begin to pick up her bundles. Instantly my sense of chivalry prompted me to help her off the car, and, as I was going in the same direction, I asked permission to carry her bundles. The man got off also and started on ahead. I was loaded down like a camel crossing the desert. We trudged along about a half mile. The man turned in at a gate. When we reached the gate the young woman thanked me and said:

"This is as far as I go. I live here. Thank you very much."

"But the man ahead of us, the man who came out on the car with us, turned in here too."

"Yes," she said. "He is my husband, but he hates to carry packages through the street."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Very Little Girl Who Is an Accomplished Swimmer.

FEARLESS IN THE WATER.

Trained in Aquatic Feats as Soon as She Was Able to Walk—Daughter of a Professional Swimmer—Many Things of Interest to Little People.

Probably the most finished swimmer and diver in the world is small Miss Katharine Brown, who is only four years of age. The photograph shows her performing her aquatic feats at a water carnival held at Flushing, N. Y., last year, when she was only three. Fancy a tot of that age swimming and diving like a duck! Thousands saw her and were simply amazed at her skill. Her father is Commodore Alfred Brown of the American Life Saving society, Flushing bay district. Mr. Brown is a famous professional. Last November he swam from the Atlantic ocean to the Pacific through the Panama canal. Previously he swam from the Battery, New York city, to Sandy Hook, a feat that had been attempted many times, but never before accomplished. So Katharine takes naturally to the water. Her father taught her to swim as soon as she was able to walk and talk. She has absolutely no fear of the water, but her father remains close at hand when she is swimming.

The Camel's Stomach.

The stomach of a camel is divided into four compartments, and the walls of these are lined with large cells, every one of which can be opened and closed at will by means of powerful muscles, explains a writer in the Presbyterian. When a camel drinks it drinks a great deal. Indeed, it drinks for such a long time that you really would think it never meant to leave off. The fact is that it is not satisfying its thirst, but is filling up its cistern as well. One after another the cells in its stomach are filled with the water, and as soon as each is quite full it is tightly closed. Then when, a few hours later, the animal becomes thirsty all that it has to do is to open one of the cells and allow the water to flow out. Next day it opens one or two more cells, and so it goes on day after day until the whole supply is exhausted. In this curious way a camel can live five or even six days without drinking at all and so is able to travel quite easily through the desert, where the wells are often hundreds of miles apart.

Friday Superstitions.

In olden times it was not a proper occasion either in England or Holland to engage a new servant, nor would any servant go to service in a new place, on Friday.

Portuguese sailors have a custom of dressing their ships in mourning on this day and of scourging and hanging an effigy of Judas at the yardarm.

The Talmud tells us that Adam was created, sinned and was chased from paradise on Friday. Mohammed, to prove his prophetic powers, declared the same.

It has been claimed as a lucky day for America. Columbus discovered land on that day, the pilgrims landed on the same day, and Washington was born on Friday.

Many persons reverse the rule and declare that this is to them a lucky day. Dickens said that it was fortunate for his undertakings, most of which were successful when begun or ended on Friday.

Theatrical Deadheads.

In the museum at Naples is a case of theater tickets found in the Theater of Tragedy at Pompeii. They are curiously formed of bone, metal and ivory.

The little tickets for the Pompeian gallery were in the shape of pigeons, and to this day the upper gallery of an Italian theater is called the pigeon loft.

There is also a set of tiny skulls modeled in ivory. These were used by those who obtained admission free. Possibly our word "deadhead" for such a person was derived from this.

The Big Bandman.

The band comes marching down the street
And fills the air with music sweet.
The big bass drum says: "Bum! Bum! Bum!"
The little drum calls: "Here we come! Here we come!"
"Tirry la-la-la!" the bass horns blow;
"Tweedle dee dum dee!" the cornets go;
And "Pilly willy winktum!" plays the fife.
Oh, I never have heard such a band in my life!

"Do it again! Do it again!" cries the baby then,
And you never could know if you heard him crow
That the big bandmen, who number ten,
Are his fat little fingers all in a row.

New York State has 122,411 registered autos.

TO THE PUBLIC:

THE State of New York, through its Department of Insurance, has completed the examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company which it is required by law to make every three years. The Chief Examiner, in concluding the report, said:

"The treatment by this Company of its policy-holders in the prompt payment of their claims, in the voluntary payment of millions of dollars in bonuses, and in its social welfare work—are features of the Company's business which deserve commendation."

The Superintendent of Insurance, the Hon. William Temple Emmet, in approving the report, wrote an extended review from which we make extracts:

THE COMPANY'S GROWTH AND MANAGEMENT.

"The administrative officers of the Company * * * have so increased the assets of the Company as to make these equal the resources of many states and even nations. They have at the same time steadily cheapened the cost of insurance to policy-holders, both by direct means and by the distribution of bonuses."

[The report shows that the Company has given back $35,367,293 in bonuses to Industrial policy-holders in nineteen years.]

"They have extended the Company's business to such an extent as to bring it into contact now with approximately one-eighth of the population of the United States."

[The number of policies outstanding December 31, 1913, was 13,957,748.]

"That this notable growth has involved no sacrifice of efficiency in the handling of administrative details, but, on the contrary, has been the direct result of constantly increasing efficiency, is shown by the comparatively small losses sustained by the Company in proportion to the large investments made."

ITS POLICY-HOLDERS SATISFIED.

"The fact that the percentage of lapses due to the abandonment of their insurance by policy-holders is constantly decreasing, speaks eloquently to the same effect."

[The lapse ratio of Industrial policies has decreased 31.7 per cent. in eight years.]

"This last mentioned development is perhaps the most convincing evidence which could be offered that the Company's policy-holders are, broadly speaking, very well satisfied indeed with what they get in return for the premiums they pay. A very remarkable showing altogether."

ITS SOCIAL SERVICE.

"This Company waited for no changes in existing law before striking out as a pioneer among insurance companies along the pathway of social service on a huge scale.

"For years it has maintained for its policy-holders a nursing service upon a great scale; this has latterly become a veritable marvel of efficiency and practical helpfulness."

[Metropolitan nurses made 1,127,022 visits to sick policy-holders in 1913, for which the Company paid the bills.]

"Leaving out of consideration the mere numbers of those who have been directly benefited by these activities, I think that the example which the Metropolitan has set to other great business organizations by its early recognition of the new responsibilities attaching to all business enterprises which have attained a certain size, is one of the most beneficial of recent occurrences in the field of American business. For years it has through its publications upon the question of health conservation been serving multitudes of people as a sort of University of beneficial instruction upon this most important subject."

ABREAST OF MODERN THOUGHT.

"This great institution, having so very recently been under our critical scrutiny and presenting so many admirable illustrations of what an efficient and enlightened modern business organization on a large scale can do in the way of keeping abreast of modern thought, seems to be in a position where I may properly use it as an illustration * * * that private initiative and enterprise are at their best still capable of doing the finest possible work in fields from which, latterly, all the talk has been that these agencies should be compelled to retire."

WINDOW BOXES.

Timely and Attractive Finishes to Windows and Porches.

Flower boxes make attractive additions to the decoration of porches, windows, arbors, etc. The demand for these has brought about a great variety.

Study any one type of these numerous flower boxes and it will be found to be thoroughly practical and within the reach of the modest pocketbook. A few sturdy geranium plants for the upright bloomers and the hardy, much enduring variegated vincas, the ivy leafed geranium or trailing pelargonium and glossy green periwinkles and ivies may form the nucleus of the simplest or the most elaborate flower box.

Other bloomers and trailers may be added as expert knowledge of requirements and indifference to cost may allow, but for general use, under unfavorable conditions, there are few plants more acceptable than the hardy varieties mentioned for continuing year after year and serving for inside decoration when freezing weather checks their growth and beauty out of doors.

Consider the fact that fine varieties of sturdy, free blooming geraniums and any of the different varieties of trailers mentioned may be bought for 10 cents each or probably less by the dozen and that very few will be required to fill a long box, as they all grow rapidly in rich soil and will soon begin to crowd their space.

Then consider the fact that any of these plants may be propagated with amazing rapidity by simply nipping off the overgrowth of geranium branches and the trailers that are reaching far beyond their prescribed limits and tucking them beneath the old plants in the moist, rich soil.

As the slips and cuttings are propagated in the closely crowded boxes other boxes may be made ready to receive them when well rooted and, with one or two of the large plants that are beginning to crowd, may give the newly started box the appearance of having been long established.

BIGGEST FLOATING DOCK ON PACIFIC READY THIS YEAR

It is expected that the Grand Trunk Pacific authorities will have the big dry dock at Prince Rupert in operation before the end of the present year. The completion of this great work will mean much to Northern British Columbia and especially to Prince Rupert. That rapidly growing city will have a new industry this coming winter. Many of the big coast steamers that have hitherto been compelled to make their headquarters elsewhere will be overhauled in its harbor. It will be able to boast of the largest floating dock on the Pacific with an equipment including every up-to-date device for handling ships up to 20,000 tons. There are four large buildings to house the various sections of the ship building and repairing plant and practically all the machinery to equip the shops has been made in Canada.

The yard will have a 45 ton locomotive crane. Other machinery includes an 80 foot lathe, capable of turning a steel shaft 50 feet in length; a plate bending machine with a capacity of bending a sheet of steel twenty feet by three-quarters of an inch thick; a big steam hammer and four air compressors. The machine shop, boiler shop and blacksmith shop will have the most complete set of modern tools on the coast.

Adjoining the dock along the face of the harbor are the big new wharves and the railroad has large freight yards here.

For a city that dates back only to 1906, when the Grand Trunk Pacific's staff of engineers made a landing and clearing for the location of their camp preparatory to making the preliminary survey, this is a record of progress that it would be hard to equal.

Strong Presumption.

Lawyer—You say that the defendant ran his automobile into the show window of a millinery store; but that doesn't show he was intoxicated, does it? Officer—Well, no; but when I arrested him he was trying on the hats!—New York Globe.

A MENTAL MISHAP.

A TRAIN of thought is not equipped
With whistle and with brakes,
Which may be why such violent
And sudden stops it makes,
With no attachment to the wheels
Its airy flight to check,
And that is why you often hear
About it in a wreck.

When the conductor of the train
Sits in his easy chair
It runs along without mishap
And takes him anywhere.
But if his wife should motion him
To go and fix the grate
The mishap to that train of thought
Is sad to contemplate.

When all conditions are in tune
And level is the track,
Oh, how that train securely glides
To Halifax and back!
But when a bill collector calls
And there is cash to pay
At once the engine sideways jumps
And spoils the right of way.

A pleasant line on which to ride—
The passengers are gay.
No ticket puncher comes along
And says, "Get off or pay."
But, oh, it is a risky trip,
Although the hurt is slight,
For there may be a dozen wrecks
In just a single night!

RENTING ROOMS

The total amount of rent money paid for furnished rooms in this city each week is enormous! Nobody knows how much. It goes to thrifty people, who like to lessen their own rent or living expense by sub-letting one or more spare rooms to an agreeable person. If YOU have a desirable extra room you can become a receiver of rent by ordering a "Furnished Room to Let" ad. in the Review. The cost is nominal—one cent a word for first insertion and half a cent a word for subsequent insertions, run consecutively.

Do not blame the landlord for the mattress. This will make hard feelings, also.
